JAPANESE OFFICIALS DISSATISFIED WITH WASHINGTON REPLY

Chinda Is Urged to Press Tokio's Views on Terms of Treaty.

Ebara Says the Orientals Should Be on Basis With Europeans.

Statesmen Studying Situation Predict Peaceful Solution.

Tokio, May 22.—The reply of the United States government to the Japanese pretest in regard to the California allen land ownership legislation, in saying that it does not involve any violation of the treaty between the United States and Japan, has caused great disappointment in official and other circles here.

The Japanese foreign office considers it unsatisfactory, as it does not mention any intention on the part of the government at Washington to take official steps to nullify the act passed by the California legislature.

Secretary of State Bryan's proposal to refer the question to a referendum in the state of California is not received with favor here as the result is considered doubtful.

Is Lawyers' View.

Washington, May 22.—The basis of the state department's contention that the California allen land act does not in terms violate the treaty of 1911, was a careful scrutiny by all the lawyers of the cabinet of the language of the law and the treaty. Save upon the single point that in depriving Japanese in California of the right of inheritance to real estate, they concluded there was no ground for complaint. And in view of the expressed declar-

JAPANESE EMPEROR SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL

EMPEROR YOSHIHITO.

Tokio, May 22.—Emperor Yoshihito of Japan, was taken ill today. The physicians in attendance declare that he is suffering from inflammation of the lungs.

The emperor is in a state of high fever. Eight court physicians are in constant attendance.

The emperor of Japan succeeded his father on July 30, 1912. He is in his thirty-fourth year and has three sons, the eldest of whom is Crown Prince Hirohito, just 12 years old.

The emperor previously has suffered from lung trouble, and in the course of one attack, in 1908, his condition was very serious.

STRIKERS DISOBEY LEADERS OF I. W. W.

Picket System at Paterson Silk Mills Is Abandoned.

Paterson, N. J., May 22.—Not more than twenty strike pickets turned out today to jeer the hands that have returned to work in the Price silk mill, and there was no disturbance of any kind. The call of the Industrial Workers of the World leaders for a general turnout of pickets failed to meet with general response, and shops and mills that have been picketed regularly in the past had none on hand this morning.

The manufacturers assert that the strike is breaking at all points except in the big mills. The strike leaders, on the other hand, say the defections have been few and that the strike will go on unabated.

NEBRASKA MOB FOILED AGAIN

Armed Men in Motors Storm Jail to Get Prisoner.

Hiawatha, Kan., May 22.—A second attempt by a band of men from Falls City, Neb., to lynch Walter Ballew, a negro held in jail here charged with an attack upon Mrs. Anna Keller of Falls City last Sunday night, was frustrated early today by Sheriff Moore and Under-Sheriff Bartlow, who repulsed a desperate attack upon the jail in the course of which the door was battered down with a heavy log, window panes broken and walls scarred by a fusillade of bullets.

Came in Motor Cars.

Five motor cars bearing more than a score of armed Falls City men drove up to the jail shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. The sound of gunshots and the patter of bullets on the walls was the first signal of attack. Under-Sheriff Bartlow, whose residence is in the jail building, had stationed deputies in anticipation of trouble.

Four of the men of the mob burst open the heavy door leading into his living apartment. In the corridor they were confronted by the under-sheriff who at the point of a revolver forced them out of the building. Deputies guarded the way of communication between the sheriff's apartments and the cell rooms, and also every window.

Meanwhile the shouts and shooting had attracted scores of citizens. Their arguments and the determined stand of the officers finally induced the departure of the assailants. They returned to Falls City after being assured that Ballew would be returned to Nebraska for trial as soon as legal formalities were complied with.

Was Second Attempt.

The first attempt to wrest Ballew from the hands of authorities occurred Tuesday night. At that time a Falls City party, after a demonstration about the jail building, was induced to return home by arguments of the officials.

MILLIONAIRE WALKER DEAD

Macon, Ga., May 22.—After bravely facing for a week the inevitable result of his mistake in taking a poisonous tablet, B. Sanders Walker, the young Macon banker, died this morning at 1:35 o'clock. Members of the family had gathered at his bedside several days ago, when the doctors announced there was no hope for him.

When the end neared today Walker gave no sign of flinching, but went to his death with a resignation that has rendered the case more than usually interesting throughout the country. During the last day Walker was under the influence of opiates most of the time, but in conscious intervals gave evidence that he was not suffering.

Doctors Are Reticent.

Scores of sympathetic messages were received by the family, and many of them were in the nature of inquiries as to the treatment being given Mr. Walker. It has been impossible to find out definitely what course the physicians took, as they have refused to talk, except to trace briefly the progress of the poison's slow but deadly, effect.

Members of the family are quoted as expressing much dissatisfaction with some of the reports that have originated in Macon. They declared that Mr. Walker remained constantly in his bedroom after it was discovered that he had taken the tablet of poison in mistake for a headache remedy.

Iowan Attempts Suicide.

Sioux City, Iowa, May 22.—Robert Palmer, a city salesman, who took several poison tablets last night with suicidal intent, while in the lobby of a leading hotel, was still in a critical condition today. Doctors held out a slight hope for recovery because antidotes were quickly given and the contents of the stomach were pumped out.

Palmer formerly was a star baseball, football player and track athlete. The poison he took was the same as that taken by mistake by B. Sanders Walker of Macon, Ga.

DANIELS DEMANDS PROBE OF HILL'S FATE

Secretary of Navy Not Satisfied With Official Report.

Washington, May 22. — Secretary Daniels has called upon the commanding officers at the naval academy for a supplemental report on the recent mysterious death there of Lieut. Richard Hill, U. S. A., whose end was thought to have been self-inflicted.

The young officer's death followed almost immediately on a visit to his fiancee, Miss Henrietta Erwin of St. Louis, who was visiting relatives here. The young couple were to have been married shortly, and apparently Hill was looking forward eagerly to the event.

The report returned by the navy academy authorities was said to be so meager and to throw so little light on the circumstances of the officer's death that Secretary Daniels insisted that the record in the case be made more complete.

FARRELL QUIZZED ABOUT PRICES MADE BY STEEL COMPANY

New York, May 22.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States corporation, took the witness stand for cross-examination in the hearings of the government's suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. He was first questioned by Judge Dickinson, counsel for the government, on the price list published by the corporation's subsidiaries. He reiterated that by means of these lists "it is generally true that our prices are known to the trade."

"Did the United States Steel corporation have a secret agreement with the Harriman lines by which they were given preferential prices?" asked the government attorney.

No Secret Agreement.

"There was no secret agreement," said Mr. Farrell. "A great many know of the agreement. There were contracts between the Harriman lines and our companies and the sales were distributed broadcast among our salesmen."

"Did you ever have a secret contract with the American Can company."

"The Can company was given a price lower than other buyers, but that is because it is a larger buyer," replied the witness.

He did not consider the agreement secret. He added that with some

INVESTIGATE PAY OF GIRLS IN ST. LOUIS

Missouri State Senate Subpoenas Managers and Employes.

St. Louis, Mo., May 22.—The state senate wage investigation committee today subpoenaed the managers and girl employes of candy and box factories to testify as to working conditions in those plants.

This action was determined on by the committee after it had been informed that the girls in such places are poorly paid and work long hours.

WISCONSIN CHICK HAS 1 EYE, 2 TEETH, 6 TOES.

Marinette, Wis., May 22.—The old saw "scare as hen's teeth," is threatened with annihilation if Marinette hens continue to hatch chickens like one exhibited today by Andrew Gipp, a local chicken fancier. He had a little chick which had two tiny teeth visible in its bill. It lived only a few minutes after it had pecked or gnawed its way out of its shell. The freak had only one eye and only three toes on each foot.

JAPS WILL SPEND $600,000 AT EXPO.

Tokio, May 22.—The committee of the Japanese parliament today made a favorable report on the proposed appropriation of $600,000 for the representation of Japan at the Panama-Pacific exhibition to be held at San Francisco in 1915.

EPISCOPAL WOMEN'S PLEA MADE IN VAIN

Oregon Diocese Tables Request for Equal Representation.

Portland, Or., May 22.—Efforts of the Oregon Equal Suffrage association to extend the sphere of women into the governing body of the Protestant Episcopal church failed last night when the twenty-fifth annual convention of the diocese of Oregon unanimously laid on the table a resolution demanding representation in the diocesan convention.

Chancellor R. L. G[illegible] explained that whatever voice [illegible] women of Oregon might have in the government of the commonwealth, the constitution and canons of the Episcopal church plainly were antagonistic to according to them representation at this time, and it was beyond the province of the Oregon diocese to grant the demand.

A resolution was adopted memorializing the general convention to change the name of the church by striking out the word "Protestant."

BERLIN BECOMES RENDEZVOUS OF ROYALTY FOR WEDDING

Berlin, May 22.—The gathering of three emperors—those of Germany, Russia and the British dominions—for the wedding on Saturday of Princess Victoria Luise and Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, has made the German capital the center of European interest.

Beside the three great rulers, the only daughter of Emperor William is to be surrounded at her marriage by such a gathering of princes and princesses as rarely has been brought together. Berlin has made elaborate preparations for the occasion. The city is gay with bunting, the people are in holiday humor and the streets swarm with brilliantly uniformed soldiery.

Great Precautions For Safety.

Extensive precautions have been taken for the safety of royal personages, the Prussian police being assisted by large bodies of Russian and British detectives, while the soldiers at the stations and lining the routes

HERO OF PACIFIC BOAT ADVENTURE MISSING

Capt. Frank Wilson Has Disappeared From San Francisco Home.

San Francisco, Cal., May 22.—Capt. Frank Wilson, who was formerly in command of the Alaska-Pacific passenger liner Buckman, has been missing for more than three months. He left his home here on Feb. 1. Three days later he was seen in Los Angeles, but no trace of him has been found since.

Wilson was the hero of the pirate episode on the Buckman in 1910, when two robbers attempted to seize gold treasure when the vessel was off the coast of Oregon. After Capt. Wood had been shot, Wilson, then mate, overpowered them.

1,000 MINERS IN NEW RIVER REGION QUIT

Martial Law Still Prevails in the Kanawha District.

Governor Hatfield Says System Will Continue for Present.

Twelve Men Arrested By Troops Are Given Their Freedom.

Charleston, W. Va., May 22.—Disputes in the West Virginia coal fields took a new angle last night when 1,000 miners employed in the New River coal field, with their families, left their homes and sought the protection of the United Mine Workers of America. It is said that all of them intend to live in tents.

The action of the New River field miners in beginning a strike is said to have complicated a situation that is already mixed and serious.

The coal strike originating in the Kanawha coal field has been of long duration. Thrice martial law has been proclaimed and is still in effect, although but twenty soldiers are in that field.

Under Martial Law.

All three orders for martial law were issued by Former Governor William Glasscock since the beginning of the mine trouble April, 1912. Governor H. D. Hatfield, who succeeded Governor Glasscock March 4, last, has announced that troops are to remain

QUIZ BREEN ONCE MORE

Denies Reported Talk With Atteaux About Manufacturer.

Boston, Mass., May 22.—John J. Breen, the undertaker who has confessed that he distributed dynamite at Lawrence during the textile strike of 1912, was ready to continue his testimony under cross-examination when the trial of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen company; Fred Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, charged with conspiracy to "plant" the explosive was resumed before Judge John C. Crosby in the superior court today.

Breen's testimony today was awaited with great interest by the crowd that filled the courtroom, principally because of his declaration just before adjournment yesterday that he refused several months ago to accept an offer of $7,000 made by the attorney conducting the cross-examination, Daniel H. Coakley, senior counsel for Mr. Atteaux.

Sued By Several.

Breen said that he had been engaged by Atteaux to plant the dynamite, and that later he had been sued by a number of persons who were arrested when the explosive was found on their premises. He had sought financial assistance from Atteaux to settle the cases, he said, but because of the con-

NEGROES DEMAND LIFE OF NEGRO MURDERER OF HIS WIFE AND CHILD

Five Hundred Maddened Colored Men Surround Lockup.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—Five hundred negroes surrounded a police station in the negro quarters today, howling for the death of Wesley Robinson, one of their race, who last night confessed, the police say, to slaying his wife and daughter with a hatchet last Saturday night. After a determined stand by the police, the negro was taken through the mob to a motor car and carried to the police headquarters.

The negroes, armed with clubs, assailed the police station shortly before 11 o'clock. One of their number was sent in as an emissary to demand that Robinson be turned over to them for them to "deal with."

A squad of police was immediately sent from police headquarters. When they arrived the messenger had already been thrown into the street and the patrolmen regularly stationed at the precinct office had, with drawn revolvers, cowed the mob.

Crime "Revealed By Dream."

Jennie Hill, a negress whom Robinson is said to have implicated in his confession, was locked up in the same police station. Her screams could be heard above the mob's cry.

The dismembered body of Robinson's wife was found in an outbuilding at his home, by other negroes. The arms and legs had been cut from the torso. The search for the body came after Jennie Hill had told of seeing the dismembered body of Mrs. Robinson in a dream.

Robinson was arrested last night in Lee's Summit, Mo. The police say that in his confession he referred to Jennie Hill as his affinity and ascribed to her a part in the crime. He said the body of his 11-year-old daughter had been thrown into a pond near his home. The police dragged the pond today without result.

IT CAME TOO LATE.

Fargo Pauper Buried Day News Comes of $20,000 Inheritance.

Fargo, N. D., May 22.—Just as the funeral services of Edward H. Reedal, who died at the county poorhouse Monday, was concluded and the grave in the potter's field was being rounded up yesterday, information was received that an estate in Norway had been settled and Reedal had been awarded $20,000 as his share. Reedal was a pauper and had been buried at the expense of the county. He had been a resident of Fargo for thirty years, conducting, in the earlier period, a harness business. He met reverses and, becoming too feeble to work, was sent to the poor farm a few years ago. He had long anticipated the legacy that came too late to be of material use to him.

DULUTH TO CLASP HANDS WITH NORTH DAKOTA TOWNS

Will Travel 2,351 Miles and Visit 148 Towns.

On Sunday evening, June 1, at 6:15, nearly 100 Duluth business men, accompanied by the Third Regiment band, will leave for North Dakota to spend six days making Duluth better known and appreciated in the Flickertail state. They will travel 2,351 miles, visit 148 towns and return to Duluth Sunday morning, June 8, at 8:35.

The trade extension committee of the Commercial club now has the signatures of a sufficient number of business men to make the trip financially possible and a success in the numerical strength of the party. The committee is now busy making the final arrangements. Caps, penants and badges will be furnished the travelers, a liberal amount of literature will be arranged for distribution, and the boosting of former trips will be surpassed in spectacular features and intensity.

The territory to be covered lies along the main line of the Great Northern from Grand Forks to Minot and on all lines running north from the main line. From Minot the return to Duluth will be made via Fargo over the Fargo-Surrey cut-off, a new territory recently opened and made available as Duluth trade territory.

Fifth Trade Excursion.

The trade excursion is the fifth undertaken by the Commercial club, two having been held in 1911 and two in 1912. Each of the former trips required only three days, but on account of the extent of the territory to be covered this year, six days will be given and the boosters will require a great store of energy to maintain the pace through the six days.

Duluth is the natural gateway to North Dakota. The city has gained a firm financial footing in the state, and has the friendship of the people. The business men of Duluth will go out to make a friendly call on the towns along the route and will also take the opportunity of learning something of the commercial and industrial progress of the towns visited.

On account of the large number of towns to be visited, the stops will necessarily be short, and the travelers will depart from a former rule by traveling at night. The Monday night stop will be made at Grand Forks, and the train will leave there at 11:30 p. m. and travel to Hannah, a four-hour trip. The second night, a trip will be made from Sarles to Hansboro, five hours. There will be no traveling the third night, the train lying at Dunseith. The fourth night will be spent at Maxbass and the fifth night at Minot. The final night will be occupied with the run in from Fargo to Duluth.

The detailed itinerary for the trip follows:

PUT ON TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

Prisoner Who Escaped From Police Facing a Jury.

Paul Morris, a handcuffed prisoner who escaped from the police last April making a clean get-a-way and who was rearrested at Peoria, Ill., and held for the sheriff's office of this county, was brought to trial in district court before Judge Cant and a jury this morning on a charge of grand larceny, first degree.

Morris, the state expects to prove, stole $50 from Nicola Randanchich on April 22 last. He has pleaded not guilty to the charge and is being defended by Attorney H. E. Fryberger. Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, is appearing for the state.

While in court, Morris is being attended by a deputy sheriff, who has instructions to carefully watch that the prisoner does not make a break for liberty.

STATE CALLS ENGELS' WIFE

Court Trying to Determine Who Blinded Delaus Rensaa.

Josie Engels, former proprietor of the North Star lodging house, over the Egdahl saloon at 509 West Michigan street, was called as a witness by the state in the prosecution of her husband, Matthew Engels, charged with having brutally assaulted Delaus Rensaa on the evening of Sept. 3, 1912. Rensaa had his eye kicked out while in the corridor between the saloon and the rooming house. Two men are under indictment for participating in the fracas. One is Engels, who is on trial today, and the other is James Fitzgibbons, who is accused of second degree assault. The state expects to prove that Rensaa was set upon twice.

Mrs. Engels, although called as a witness by the state, testified that Rensaa took the aggressive and courted trouble. She claimed that he came to the door of the sitting room in which she and her husband were sitting with another woman and man, and that when her husband, Engels, asked him what he wanted around there, he was informed that it was none of his "d— business," whereupon Engels jumped up and started for the door. Outside a squabble ensued. Mrs. Rengels testified that she saw Rensaa strike her husband, but admitted that blows were exchanged and that in the end Rensaa was lying on the floor crying for help. She said that there was blood on his face and testified that she picked him up and helped him to one of the rooms, where she washed the blood from his face.

Fastens Blame on Fitzgibbons.

Mrs. Engels also testified that she attempted to get someone to take him from the place and that she asked Fitzgibbons to take him out. He refused to do it, she claimed. Later, she testified, Fitzgibbons started to fight with Rensaa. According to her testimony, it was Fitzgibbons and not her husband, Matt Engels, who kicked Rensaa blind.

Mrs. Engels admitted on the witness stand that she only claimed a common law marriage with Engels. She stated that she had lived with him for about three years and had been known as Mrs. Engels during that time. Around the rooming house, she was better known as "Josie."

Saw Start of Fight.

Mrs. Ida Tiensun admitted that she came over from Superior with Bristol late in the afternoon of that day. Asked why she went to the lodging house, she stated that Bristol had brought her there so that he could visit with her.

Bristol, who was a witness in the damage suit against Gust Egdahl, brought by Mrs. Rensaa this year, stated that at that time that he was a painter. He claimed that he painted pictures and sold them to lumberjacks in the saloons.

On the witness stand today, both Bristol and Mrs. Tiensun stated that they witnessed the start of the fight between Engels and Rensaa. Mrs. Tiensun declared that the first blow had been struck by Engels. She said that she left the place immediately after the fight started.

Rensaa was on the stand all of yesterday afternoon and most of the morning. This morning he testified that two weeks prior to the alleged assault, that he had an altercation with Engels in which the latter had called him a string of vile names. This occurred, he claims, in the Egdahl saloon, which connects with the lodging house.

BAPTISTS TO HEAR OF MISSION FUNDS

Condition of Church Colleges Also Is Considered at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—The principal business before the Northern Baptist convention today was the report of the finance committee as to the progress of the "$3,000,000 campaign." This movement was instituted last year to double the approximate amounts spent by the Baptist church of the Northern states in home and foreign mission work.

Sessions devoted to the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society and the American Baptist Publication society were scheduled for later in the day.

One of the important subjects to be considered by the convention is the condition of a number of Baptist colleges throughout the country. These colleges are of the partially endowed or unendowed class and they cannot be assisted by the $49,000,000 Rockefeller foundation because they have not reached the required standard. About 2,000 delegates are attending the convention.

MORE SPACE IS NEEDED FOR COURT

Judge Lanners' Quarters Prove Too Small With Growth of Business.

Business at the West Duluth branch of the municipal court is increasing so rapidly that arrangements will soon have to be made for some larger place than the office of Judge H. W. Lanners. Yesterday this court had ten cases come before it, four drunks, one assault in the second degree, one for allowing cattle to roam at large and three for assault on a street car.

The corridors of the Silvey block were crowded with spectators and people interested in the outcome of the cases. Many of the interested parties were unable to get into the room where the hearing was held because of its small size.

The commissioners will be asked immediately to provide some other place which will give more room. The West Duluth Commercial clubrooms have been offered for this purpose and are said to be recommended by the business men until such a time as the city is financially able to erect a special building for a police station and court rooms combined.

William Lendo, who was arrested charged with having used a knife effectually on Nick Routelle and Victor Salo on Tuesday evening was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree. Routelle and Salo pleaded guilty to having been drunk on that night and were fined $1 and costs. Sentence was suspended in each case.

Mrs. Mary Szubart was found guilty of letting her cow roam at large and was fined $1 and costs amounting to $5.74.

John Bavich, a Raleigh street saloon keeper, who was arrested a week ago on a charge of disorderly conduct, was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday afternoon.

Roy Drake and Roy Murnian pleaded guilty to assault on a street car conductor when they appeared before the court. The assault took place on Sunday evening May 11. A similar charge against Lawrence Carey was dropped for lack of evidence and a new warrant issued charging him with drinking beer on the car. He pleaded not guilty to this charge and will be given a hearing this afternoon. Sentence on Drake and Murnian was deferred until this afternoon.

PUPILS HAVE $2,846 IN BANK

Pupils of the Irving school have probably the largest amount of savings to their credit of any school in the city. Since the savings department was started in the schools the children of this institution have deposited $2,846.96.

Every Thursday morning the children of the various rooms line up at the principal's office to make their deposits. The amounts vary from 1 cent to over a dollar, indicating that the children are taking a great deal of interest in saving for the future.

"It is getting to be a regular habit with the children to save," said Principal S. A. Foster this morning. "They are spending much less for candies and other stuff and are depositing their pennies in the bank. From the way some of them save they will become great financiers some of these days."

TWO REPORT ROBBERIES

August Schneider Beaten, Robbed and Locked in Box Car.

Andy McIntosh Set Upon By Three Men in Nicollet Hotel.

August Schneider, an ironworker, was robbed, beaten and locked in a boxcar some time last night and early this morning Andy McIntosh, a woodsman, was strong-armed and robbed in the Nicollet hotel.

Neither victim knew how much money he had lost. Schneider said that he had $30 or $40 when he got drunk yesterday afternoon and McIntosh had between $8 and $12 and a 21-jewel watch taken from him.

Schneider was found in the boxcar in the N. P. yards near the foot of Third avenue west about 1 o'clock this morning by a special officer of the railroad. He heard the man beating on the door and yelling to be released. Releasing the fastening he slid back the door and found Schneider inside. Schneider was taken to the police station, where he was detained over night. This morning he said that he had been drinking yesterday and the last he remembered was that he had gone to the shipping office at the foot of Fifth avenue west. Of what happened after that his mind is a blank up until the time the railroad flycop let him out of the boxcar. His pockets had been rifled and he had been roughly handled as evidenced by the bruises on his body and the finger marks on his throat. He hasn't the slightest idea of the identity of the men who took his money and then pitched him into the boxcar, locking the door on him.

Pulled Into Room.

McIntosh knows more of what happened to him. He said that as he was returning to his room from the lavatory on an upper floor of the Nicollet hotel on the Bowery, a door was suddenly thrown open and he was jerked inside. Three men grabbed him, threw him to the floor and went through his pockets, taking what money he had with him, some $8 or $12, and his watch. When he was thrown out into the corridor again he made his way downstairs and reported his loss to the clerk. Together they summoned Patrolmen Westerlund, Harling and Ricketts. The trio of bluecoats went to the room pointed out by McIntosh and found three men inside. McIntosh identified them positively as the men who had relieved him of his wealth. At the police station they gave their names as William Pflager, Peter Gray and Charles K. O'Neil. The first said he is a sailor and the other claimed to be marine firemen. A search of their clothes and the room failed to discover the money, McIntosh said he had lost. They were not arraigned in police court this morning but will probably be brought in this afternoon.

KIRBY PRAISED BY MANUFACTURERS

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—The National Association of Manufacturers concluded its annual convention here yesterday and today the delegates went to Battle Creek as the guests of C. W. Post. Before the trip is concluded it is expected that Col. George Poe of Hartford, Conn., will be elected president for the ensuing year.

The following new vice presidents were elected: Albert E. Cox of Massachusetts, and A. J. Thorntree of Rhode Island. The new directors at large are W. J. Frank of Pennsylvania, E. S. Spear of Massachusetts and A. J. Farnsworth of Connecticut.

Gave Kirby $10,000.

John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, retiring president of the association, was presented with a check for $10,000 by the delegates attending the meeting. Resolutions adopted stated that the gift was in recognition of his efficiency as president and his "fearless battle against militant labor unionism, which have been as effectual as those of any one man in the country in establishing the principle of the open shop."

Just prior to the conclusion of the convention, resolutions were adopted urging the establishment of a Federal department of manufactures; denouncing the principle of the closed shop; urging adequate precaution for all American industries; protesting against the "abridgement of the rights of courts of equity to grant injunctions in labor disputes;" protesting against all "class legislation as un-American and detrimental to the common good;" pledging loyalty to the judiciary; urging further and more efficient enactment of workmen's compensation legislation, and approving the immediate enactment of all important and necessary labor laws.

Many of the delegates opposed the policy of having Federal agents investigate conditions in factories where wages may be reduced on account of the new tariff law, as proposed by Secretary Redfield.

Today's contests consisted of two 18-hole match plays which will reduce the championship field of thirty-two to eight players. The third and semi-final rounds will be decided tomorrow and the final at 36 holes on Saturday.

The Triple C Suit Price $19.50

We have realized for a long time that there are thousands of men who wish to wear the very best and how some who feel that their means will not permit it are easily led to fall for the luring offers of the unscrupulous suit man; while we know that the suits we have always sold at $25.00 are just a little bit better,—a little bit more stylish and a little better made —than most $25.00 suits, yet in order to fill the gap and cater to the wants of everybody we have put out the "CCC Special" at $19.50. This suit embodies every point of a $25.00 garment, in fact, includes many of the values that we heretofore marked at $22.50 and $25.00.

The great success of our "Colombo" $14.50 suit was an incentive for doing this. When we told you that we would give you $18.00 and $16.50 values at $14.50 we had an immediate response, far beyond our expectations. We are selling three suits at $14.50 where formerly we sold only one at $16.50 and $18.00 and the volume of our business is so increased that the aggregate of our profits remains normal.

CHOP HOUSES PRESERVED

Ordinance Amended So As to Overcome Objections of Business Men.

Opposition Develops to Plan for Divorcing Saloons From Brewery Control.

When the new liquor ordinance introduced by Commissioner Hicken comes up for its third reading at the next meeting of the commission, which will probably be next Monday afternoon, the part which prohibits chop houses in saloons will be eliminated.

Considerable opposition has developed to that part of the ordinance. The sentiment has been that it is unreasonable and would be equivalent to confiscation in many instances. The eating places in saloons are among the best known in the city and are patronized by many business men, who assert that to shut them out would be an injustice. The free lunches, music and gambling devices will go, however, and no tears will be shed over them.

The same ordinance prohibits any saloon from obtaining financial aid from any brewery or any of its agents. In short, the ordinance eliminates all connection between breweries and saloons, except so far as they may have business dealings with them in the purchase of their product, and they must be strictly upon an independent basis.

Opposition to that has also materialized. It was stated this morning that brewery control of saloons is not desirable but that those saloons should not be put out of business at one sweep. It was pointed out that it will chop $75,000 to $100,000 from the general fund at once, which might seriously interfere with the city's finances under present circumstances. The sentiment expressed was that the change should be made on a more gradual basis, dropping such saloons one or two at a time, giving the city an opportunity to adjust itself to the new conditions.

BANK MESSENGER FIGHTS ROBBERS

New York, May 22.—James T. Wintress, a bank messenger, gave battle in the street today to four highwaymen who leaped into his carriage and attempted to wrest from him the payroll of the Nathan Manufacturing company. Resisting their efforts to subdue him with a rifle, a revolver and clubs, he fought to such good purpose that he saved the money, although he was shot in the arm and his scalp laid open with a blow from a club.

Policemen on fixed posts heard the shooting and ran to his aid. At their approach the highwaymen fled. One of them was shot by a bluecoat; another was captured after a thrilling chase; two of them escaped. Wintress was taken to a hospital.

ARREST MAY SOLVE MILL CITY ROBBERY

Man Held as Vagrant Said to Be Day Hold-Up Artist.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man giving his name as H. M. Combs, arrested today as a vagrant, is locked up at the police station here, charged with the daylight robbery of several hundred dollars from H. J. Breilaim of St. Paul, on May 7.

The robbery occured on a prominent street in Minneapolis and was seen by several people, but none of them, it is said, realized that a robbery was being committed. The robber backed his victim up against a wall and took his valuables away from him.

FIVE RESCUED ON LAKE MICHIGAN

Chicago, May 22.—Five men were rescued from the pleasure launch Commoner, tossing helplessly in Lake Michigan, five miles northeast of the mouth of the Chicago river early today by Capt. Charles Garland and his crew of life savers.

The men were exhausted, and benumbed by water splashing over them when the power boats of the life saving crew located them in the darkness. For nearly four hours the occupants fought desperately to keep their craft out of the trough of the waves.

"You came just about in time," gasped one of the passengers through blue lips and chattering teeth. "We couldn't have stood it much longer. It was pretty tough out here."

Tons of water were being hurled against the craft when the life savers reached it. The waves were running high and breaking on the launch. The five men were busy pumping out the boat.

"Liverpool" Smith, the owner, said they had been out on the lake about six hours. His passengers, whose names he did not know, had asked him to take them on a pleasure trip.

Gen. Lomax Has Broken Hip.

CITY MADE NO CHANGES

Improvement of Twenty-Third Avenue Ordered Along Lines Suggested.

Original Petition Specified Crushed Rock Above Fifth Street.

Property owners along Twenty-third avenue west are having a merry squabble among themselves relative to the character of the improvement.

The petition for the pavement of the avenue from Michigan street to Piedmont avenue was ordered circulated by the old council and paid for by the city. Bides were advertised for at the instance of the former administration. Except that one block of paving has been added the contract awarded by the commission is for the improvement called for by the petitioners.

The petition asks that the avenue be paved from Michigan street to Fourth street, with the remainder improved with crushed rock. The contract awarded by the commission calls for brick from Michigan street to Third street, sandstone from Third street to Michigan street to Third street, sandstone from Third street to Fifth street, and crushed rock macadam from Fifth street to Piedmont avenue. Sandstone was deemed advisable because of the street grade above Third street, and except that the paving has been extended to Fifth street, instead of stopping at Fourth street, the original petition has been followed.

List of Petitioners.

The petition with the names of the signers, some of whom have been in the limelight in the present controversy, is as follows:

"That Twenty-third avenue west be regraded from Michigan street to Piedmont avenue; that said avenue be paved from Michigan street to Fourth street; that a roadway twenty-six feet wide be constructed from Fourth street to Piedmont avenue, with rough stone gutters on both sides, and that the roadway be well covered with crushed rock; that all work be done which is necessary to said improvement; that provision be made for the drainage of surface water, and that the washout due to defective drainage be replaced by the city.

CHILD BREAKS SAVING BANK

Six-Year-Old Boy Gets in Serious Trouble—Parents Away From Home.

While the parents of an East end family were away from home this afternoon their little 6-year-old son returned from school and went into the house to change his shoes to go out and play. While running around he accidently knocked over his strong savings bank standing on the sideboard filled with pennies, scattering them all over the floor. Just then his mother came home and found the little boy in tears on the floor picking them up as fast as he could. Why, my son, she exclaimed, what's the matter. "I've broken my savings bank," he said, "but it was an accident." "Never mind, my son, mother knows it was and she handed him 10 cents and told him to go to the store and buy some Bonnie Butter Bites, that delicious confectionery, made by the National Candy company, liked alike by young and old.

DRAINAGE MEN AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Thirty-Three States Represented in Petition to the President.

Washington, May 22.—Thirty-three states, with a population of approximately 75,000,000, comprising more than 75 per cent of continental United States, are represented at a meeting of the general education committee of the National Drainage congress here today.

The committee arranged to present to President Wilson resolutions adopted at the third National Drainage congress at St. Louis in April, which take the form of a petition for the creation of a Federal department of public works and the adoption of a national policy of flood protection and swamp land reclamation, in co-operation with states, municipalities and land owners. After calling at the White House the committee had an engagement with Secretary Garrison.

Tomorrow Speaker Clark, Vice President Marshall and Secretaries Houston and Lane will receive the visitors.

NEW YORK EAST SIDE "ANGEL DOCTOR" DEAD

Life Spent Helping Poor People Comes to Sudden End.

New York, May 22.—The Lower East side is in mourning, for "The Angel Doctor" is dead. Thirty years ago he came to Little Hungary, and since that time had endeared himself to the poor of the district by administering to their ills and steadfastly refusing pay.

Few of his neighbors knew more of him than that, but when he died in his barren room yesterday they hastened out to spend their pennies for candles. They marched up the narrow stairs by twos and threes, and stood in awe about the blanket covered figure.

"The Angel Doctor's" real name was Dr. Karoly. He was born in Hungary, 60 years ago and came here in 1881. Soon after he arrived here he changed his name, calling himself Dr. Frank Charles. He practiced on the Pacific coast and in Chicago for a time, and in 1883 settled on the East side. He is said to have been able to speak seventeen languages and was a profound student of medicine.

Yesterday he was chatting with a friend when suddenly he started from his chair.

"Joe, I'm going; before it's too late I want to tell you the great secret of my ——"

That is as far as he got before he fell forward dead.

DR. REILLY'S LAST HOPE HAS VANISHED

Grand Forks, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. J. J. Reilly of Milton was rearrested last night and will be taken to the state penitentiary to serve ten years for manslaughter in the first degree.

His recent application to the supreme court for a re-hearing was decided yesterday against him, and he was taken into custody at Larimore on a train while en route to Grand Forks. He had not been apprised of the decision up to the time of his arrest.

Dr. Reilly, heretofore confident that he would evade the prison sentence imposed by the jury that found him guilty, is broken in spirit. He declares the conviction unjust.

The death of Mrs. William Drury, through an illegal operation, was responsible for the manslaughter charges against Dr. Reilly.

HEADQUARTERS CHANGE.

Mail Clerks Would Like to Run Out of New Rockford, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—New Rockford wants to be division headquarters of railway postal clerks running out of the Twin Cities when the new line is used by the Great Northern fast mail. Delegates representing that city were here yesterday conferring with Division Chief McBride on the question. It is not expected that the mail train will be operated over the line till in August.

Most of the mail clerks affected live in Devils Lake. Those who reside in St. Paul would not be affected by the change except in so far as their western terminal is concerned.

New Rockford is also busily engaged in an effort to secure the construction of a Great Northern line from Larimore to New Rockford.

TWO FALL WITH HYDRO-AEROPLANE.

San Diego, Cal., May 22.—Lieut. Samuel H. Breerton, United States military pilot, and J. D. Cooper, instructor at an aviation school here, had a remarkable escape from death when the hydro-aeroplane in which they were flying over San Diego bay became unmanageable and plunged from a height of 150 feet to the water.

Cooper, who was piloting the machine, made a poor landing because his control wires became clogged. The impact threw both aviators from the seats in the machine. The motor, which continued running, sent the hydro-aeroplane 100 feet onward without them. Then it turned over and fell into the bay.

Breerton and Cooper were severely jarred, but waded ashore, the bay being shallow where they struck.

PARTS OF BODY FOUND IN SEWER.

Madrid, May 22.—A gruesome crime has been unearthed here. The victim was a well-known club man, Garcia Jalon, who disappeared two weeks ago after winning $1,000 at cards.

Portions of Jalon's body have just been found in a sewer under the military college, near the quarters occupied by Capt. Sanchez and his daughter.

The police allege that Sanchez's daughter lured Jalon to their quarters, and with the aid of her father robbed and murdered him. Both have been arrested. The police further allege that Sanchez has a bad record, and they fail to understand how he obtained a position in the military college.

PHYSIO-MEDICAL BODY ELECTS.

AIM TO REACH EVERY CHILD

"Safety First" Workers Will Visit Every School in Duluth.

Preventing Accidents Is Work of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes.

By Friday night fully 15,000 Duluth school children will have heard safety talks from either Mr. or Mrs. Frederick S. Hughes of Los Angeles, representing the American Safety league.

Since beginning their work in Duluth Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have visited about half of the city schools, including the public and parochial schools and by Friday night they will have completed their work. Even the smaller buildings are included, and the aim is to impress on every child in Duluth the first principles of safety and watchfulness.

"To learn how to avoid being run over by a street car, an automobile, a motorcycle or a wagon, or be electrocuted by a live wire, or be burned by a bonfire, is just as important a part of a child's education as to learn to read," is the position taken by Mr. Hughes. "It takes but a few minutes to impress on children the necessity of having their wits about them on the city streets, and we believe it prevents many accidents in the course of a year. If we can save only one child's life in a year, it is worth while."

Today Mr. Hughes spoke at the Merritt, Fairmont and Polish West end Catholic schools and Mrs. Hughes spoke at the Radisson, Whittier, Webster, Ensign and Polish East end Catholic buildings.

Saturday, after completing their work in the schools, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will hold a series of shop meetings. They have already given three lectures to street railway employes, and before they leave the city it is estimated that they will have directly reached 25,000 people, and as many more indirectly through the children who talk to their parents about the lectures, the newspapers, the buttons passed out and other methods of advertising.

They will be in Superior next week.

CONTROL BOARD AT SANITARIUM

Walker, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the state board of control looked over the state sanitarium for tuberculosis patients near here yesterday and after an investigation of charges that patients are not properly treated found patients have little cause for complaint.

A careful questioning of the 104 patients present brought out no complaints. Past complaints of one or two patients on the quality of meat, was from those who preferred mutton on the bill of fare when roast beef was served, and vice versa. As to the distribution of gifts received at the sanitarium office from friends to patients, it appears that only such gifts as interfere with the rules of the institution are not given the patients. Parcels of sweetmeats and other delicacies are withheld owing to the health of the patient. A checking up of those making complaints in the past, shows that a very large majority of the dissatisfied ones are those who have been sent to the institution at the expense of their county, so the members of the board of control state.

Patient Denies All Are Satisfied.

Mrs. Bolusky, a patient at the sanitarium for the past eleven months, on being interviewed, claims that the report of the officials who visited the institution are somewhat exaggerated when they state that none of the patients complained of the food. Mrs. Bolusky states that all the patients, including herself, were closely questioned and that many of them complained of the cooking and the variety of food placed upon the tables. "The medical treatment" continues Mrs. Bolusky, "is all that any one could expect, but the quality and quantity of food is such that a majority of us are weak for want of proper sustenance. The authorities have pronounced me cured, and if that be the case, I return to my home in Minneapolis tomorrow, cured—and starved."

Isaac Rosenberg, also of Minneapolis, applied at the special coach of the visitors and asked to be taken to the Twin Cities. He arrived at the state institution Monday from a Twin City hospital and claims his application as a patient had been favorably acted upon. After partaking of the food for a day and then by permission, scanning the bill of fare for the week, he left the institution, giving as his reason the preponderance of pork served in various forms. As the name implies, Mr. Rosenberg is of Jewish descent, and notwithstanding his stringent circumstances, did not propose to seek health at the expense of his religion. The officials failed to find a place for him in the special car, and he appealed to the village authorities for assistance, being without funds to return home.

Sites for the various buildings to be erected this year, were selected by the visitors and work will commence within the next six weeks. The sum of $167,000 will be spent.

P. J. Swensen and Charles Vasaly represented the state board of control while Doctors Taylor, Schofield, Hall, Camp and Smith of the advisory board were at the institution. Other members of the party making up the special car were C. H. Johnson, architect; Charles Pillsbury, engineer; Dr. Charles Miller of Missouri and Dr. Dougherty of Pokagama sanitarium; and Mr. Merrell, landscape engineer.

CONSOLIDATION IS EFFECTED

Merger of Giroux, Butte & Ely and Other Properties Completed.

According to a report received here last night from Wilmington, Del., the rumored consolidation of the Giroux Consolidated Copper company and other companies, has been effected, Joseph B. Cotton of Duluth concluding the merger movement at Dover, Del., yesterday. While the merger is a large one and of great importance to many Duluth people, the news in connection with it has been discounted by the rumors which have been printed in The Herald and which had the matter in correct detail.

The principals in the consolidation are J. B. Cotton and T. F. Cole, both now in the East. The companies that will come into the consolidation, which will be called the Consolidated Copper Mines company, are, besides the Giroux, the Butte & Ely, the Copper Mines company, and the Chainman Consolidated. J. B. Cotton of Duluth, E. F. Gray of Phillips, Alaska, and J. W. Allen of Elizabeth, N. J., were the incorporators at Dover yesterday, the charter calling for a capitalization of $8,000,000.

It is understood that the stock will consist of 400,000 shares at a par value of $20 each, and it is said that the new company will issue $3,500,000 of bonds, these to be convertible into stock, and the money to be used for a concentrator and a smelting plant for the consolidated mines which are located in the Kimberly, Nev., district.

It is understood that under the proposed plan of reorganization Giroux stockholders will receive one share of the consolidated stock for ten of the Giroux, Butte & Ely will be traded in at the rate of one share for twenty-five, but as to the other two properties the plan is not announced.

HOUSE, HARTLEY AND CRAIG

Speakers Chosen for Public Affairs Committee Meeting, Which Boys Will Attend.

F. E. House, G. G. Hartley and C. P. Craig will be the speakers at the meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club tomorrow evening when the sons of members of the club will be guests.

Letters have been sent to all members of the club urging them to attend the meeting, accompanied by their sons over 14 years of age. Many of them have already responded to the invitation and a large number of men and boys are expected to be present.

The meeting will be the regular May session of the public affairs committee and the regular business will be transacted. The boys will see how the public spirited men of Duluth deal with civic affairs, and that in itself will be an education to them. After the regular business talks will be given for the benefit of the boys.

A special committee with W. J. McCabe as chairman has been appointed by the Commercial club to bring the boys of the city into closer touch with the organization. In a few years the boys of today will be the men of Duluth, and they will be called upon to take an interest in civic affairs. By giving them insight tos ffairs now, the Commercial club believes that they will take up civic work at manhood with greater interest and greater enthusiasm.

before the senate met that his resolution would go over until Monday, when he expected it would be passed. The senator believes the subcommittee to be appointed under the resolution will go to West Virginia next week.

Emperor Nicholas of Russia arrived here this morning to attend the marriage of Princess Victoria Luise, only daughter of Emperor William, to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland.

Czar in Armored Train.

Emperor Nicholas' journey from the frontier station at Eydtkuhnen to Berlin was made in the Russian imperial armored train. The arrangements made by the Berlin police authorities for the protection of his majesty were very comprehensive. The police were assisted in carrying them out by a considerable force of Russian detectives.

The inhabitants of Berlin, whose passion for spectacles is well known, were today able to obtain full gratification of their desires in that respect. The crowds were even greater than those of yesterday. People packed sidewalks, windows, balconies and roofs, whence they had an almost constant view of passing and repassing royal processions from 8 in the morning until after noon.

Very early in the day the dowager duchess of Baden, the emperor's aunt and the senior living member of the royal family of Prussia, arrived. She was followed shortly afterward by the duke and duchess of Cumberland.

On each occasion Emperor William, the empress, Prince Ernest August of Cumberland and his bride-to-be, the Princess Victoria Luise, together with a large contingent of Hohenzollern princes and princesses, drove to the station to escort the arriving guests to the castle.

All the processions followed the same route, from the Anhalt terminus through Koeniggratz street and the Avenue of Victory and along Unter den Linden to the castle.

Kaiser Spluted to Train.

At the arrival of the venerable duchess of Baden, Emperor William—always a model of punctuality—was late, probably for the first time in his life, and the spectators on the station platform were treated to the spectacle of his majesty in a hasty run endeavoring to reach the halting place of the railway car before his aunt stepped out. He lost the race.

Beside the principal guests a swarm of minor princes and princesses arrived at the other stations in Berlin, each adding a flash of bright color to the streets while passing to the castle, the palaces and the hotels where they are to be lodged during the wedding festivities.

The throngs on the streets were good-naturedly enthusiastic in their demonstrations, and there was an almost constant roll of cheering throughout the day. The weather was again fine and the streets presented a very animated appearance with the lines of soldiers of the guards of the army corps, in their brilliant uniforms which the members of the bugdet committee of the imperial parliament this week demanded should be abolished for more practical clothing.

The police handled the crowds along the route with suavity and skill.

ation in the Webb law that it was not to be construed as abrogating any treaty provision which, thereby appeared to assure the Japanese against lawful escheatment of their property, it was felt that the national government could do nothing less than admit that the framers of the Webb act seemed to have succeeded in their purpose to make it proof against attacks in the courts.

Opening for Legal Minds.

Officials gather from the Tokio dispatches that the negotations are drifting into the stage of pure disputation, where the international lawyers on both sides will have ample opportunity to exercise their full resources in determining the exact relation between the California law and the treaty of 1911. Some expect that the result will be an invocation by the Japanese government of the right of arbitration guaranteed by the special treaty of 1908.

Jap Meeting at Frisco.

San Francisco, Cal., May 22.—Soroku Ebara and Ayao Hattori, the Japanese statesmen who have come to California to make an investigation of the Japanese situation, went to San Jose today to continue their inquiry.

The mass meeting at which they spoke here last night was attended by 4,000 of their countrymen. The meeting was orderly, the large audience listening attentively and with great interest to the addresses of the distinguished visitors.

Dr. Kuroza, vice president of the Japanese Association of America, presided. All of the speakers expressed the belief that a peaceable solution of the controversy over the recently enacted alien land holding law would be reached.

Came Under Old Agreement.

Mr. Hattori said:

"Japan entered into treaty relations with the United States after the persistent persuasion of Commodore Perry. In their first treaty Japan and the United States agreed that each country should be entitled to free immigration into the other. By that invitation we came here, trusting our lives and property into the hands of the American people.

"In one respect we have more freedom in this country than in others. White or negro may marry with the Japanese without interference on the part of the law.

"The gentlemanly agreement of 1907 was strictly observed by Japan, and no fault was to be found with that country.

"We believe the United States government will solve the present question according to the principles of justice and humanity."

Mr. Ebara, who counselled patience and calmness, said it was the duty of the United States, and not merely an obligation, to give fair and equal treatment to the Japanese.

"Duty and Right."

"And it is a duty and a right," he continued, "for us to claim treatment by the American people equal to that accorded European immigrants."

Coolheadedness and moderation were urged upon the Japanese residents of California at a mass meeting here last night by Soroku Ebara, a member of the house of peers and of the government party, who is one of a commission sent to this state to investigate the Japanese land holding controversy.

The venerable statesman pointed out that it was the unanimous desire of the people of his country to reach a satisfactory settlement of the difficulty, and it undoubtedly could be accomplished by peaceable means. The relations between the two countries, he said, had been such in the past as to preclude the possibility of anything but an amicable settlement.

For Peaceful Solution.

"The whole of Japan—the government, the political parties and the commercial bodies—is unanimously endeavoring," he said, "to solve this California question peacefully. And it seems to me the Japanese government is fully competent to settle this difficulty satisfactorily. There is absolutely no need for you to pack up your things to go back to Japan in fear of something happening.

"California is only one part of this great country, after all. Fortunately for you, you have the sympathy of the Federal government and a greater part of the citizens of this country. Even in California you have a great many supporters and sympathizers.

"I have always admired the American people for their greatness—for their sense of justice and fair play. With these qualities in mind, you must wait patiently. Attend to your work and business just as usual, without any fear.

"You are now as though on a ship on a stormy sea. But the captain is commanding the ship. Trust your destiny to him. The ship cannot be directed by everybody."

Few Become Citizens.

Of fifty Japanese born in Honolulu and eligible to American citizenshp, but fifteen have availed themselves of the opportunity, according to the statement of Gilbert D. Metzger, a Honolulu contractor who has arrived here.

"It has been my observation" he said, "that Japanese are absolutely loyal to their own government and do not care to become American citizens or permanent residents, even when they may."

Up to the opening of today's session none of the testimony had connected Mr. Wood with the alleged conspiracy.

The alleged purpose in "planting" the explosive was to create a suspicion that the strikers planned to blow up the mills and thus prejudice the public against the labor element.

Collins Was Recalled.

Before the cross examination of Breen was resumed today, Collins was recalled to testify to a conversation with Breen after the latter's conviction. The witness could not remember that Breen had said "I am going to get back at those people because they gave me a raw deal," and did not think that he had told anyone of such a conversation.

Breen then took the stand and was questioned regarding a telephone conversation with Police Inspector Rooney of Boston, on the night of Jan. 19. He said that when he told the inspector not to come to Lawrence until the next morning it was not because he had not finished "planting" the dynamite. Some of the explosive was placed after Rooney's arrival at Lawrence.

Reference was made to the suits for damages brought against Breen by those who had been arrested after dynamite had been found on their premises. The witness could not recall that he had agreed with the attorney for two of the plaintiffs to settle by a cash payment to each of the parties of $300 nor could he remember having postponed the promised payments.

"Did you say to Atteaux when you came to him for $13,000 that your trial had bankrupted you?" asked Mr. Coakley.

Denied Reference to Wood.

"I don't remember. I may have," replied the witness.

He denied that he had said to Atteaux: "If you asked Mr. Wood don't you think he would help me out?" and that Atteaux replied: "I would as soon think of taking Mr. Wood by the throat as of mixing him up in such a nasty mess as this is."

Referring to the telephone conversations between Atteaux and himself, Breen said he could not recall one during which he said to Atteaux:

"There's going to be an explosion one of these days." And to which Atteaux replied: "I hope it won't be dynamite," and hung up the receiver.

The witness denied emphatically having said to Atteaux over the telephone on another occasion:

"I wonder how your rich friend would like to have the labor men know about this?"

Sent Him to Lawyer.

Breen said that Atteaux finally referred him to William B. Watts, a former chief inspector of the Boston police, and Watts in turn sent him to Attorney Coakley.

Winonians Deny Guilt.

Zanders of Owatonna pleaded not guilty in United States court here yesterday to taking away from the express offices copies of a notorious Bismarck publication and their case was continued to the November term, or until after the trial at Bismarck of Sam Clark, the publisher.

changes the contract had been renewed since the filing of the present suit.

"I know of no reason why there should be a secrecy about prices," he continued. "I know of no contracts made with anybody that might not be made with anybody else for large quantities."

Ore Reserve Ownership.

Because the United States Steel corporation owned some 75 per cent of the ore reserves of the country it would have been impossible in 1901 to have organized another corporation its equal, Charles M. Schwab, first vice president of the corporation, testified during yesterday afternoon's session. The testimony was in cross-questioning by government counsel.

Mr. Schwab said, however, that ores could have been imported from foreign countries and a corporation as big as the United States Steel corporation organized, provided its plant were located in the East. He conceded, on the other hand, that there were no other financial interests in the United States as strong as those which went into the corporation, namely, J. P. Morgan & Co., the Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests, the Carnegie interests and the W. H. Moore "group."

Mr. Schwab completed his testimony and in the face of persistent efforts on the part of Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, the government attorney, to gain admissions tending to show that the corporation was organized chiefly to prevent destructive wars among competing steel corcerns, defended the company at every point.

Never Talked of Threat.

In his conversations with J. P. Morgan that led to the organization of the corporation he had never, he declared, discussed the alleged threat of Andrew Carnegie to build a tube plant in competition with the National Tube company, one of the concerns afterward taken over. This alleged threat, the government maintains, was one of the factors which precipitated the organization.

In connection with present conditions in the steel industry, Mr. Schwab testified that "if I live long enough and have the money," the Bethlehem Steel corporation, of which he is now chairman, will manufacture every product now produced by the Steel corporation.

He said that the Steel corporation, on account of the advantage of owning the principal facilities, was able to manufacture rails $4 cheaper than other competitors, but said that was only "because the Bethlehem Steel corporation has not got the resources to build railroads of its own."

"How long after the formation of the corporation did the plan of developing export trade take foundation?" asked Judge Dickinson, the government lawyer, of Mr. Schwab.

"I couldn't say exactly. I brought Mr. Farrell from Pittsburg to take charge of the export business shortly after the corporation's formation, and the business has developed constantly since."

Statistics Shown.

Statistics put in evidence by the government showed that export sales immediately after the formation of the corporation were smaller than immediately before.

Taking up the price of steel rails, Judge Dickinson wanted to know whether the Steel corporation did not make a larger profit on its rails than its competitors.

Mr. Schwab conceded that the profits which the corporation's railroads made in transporting these materials ought to be substracted from the cost of making its rails.

NEW STRIKE IS BEGUN IN WEST VIRGINIA

A few weeks ago Governor Hatfield submitted to the miners and operators of the Kanawha field a peace proposal which was accepted by both sides. Although there was no previous recognition of the miners' union, both sides agreed and the strike in Kanawha field was declared at an end, but troops were not withdrawn.

The strike in the New River field last night is charged to the operators because of their alleged dismissal of men affiliated with the union.

Twelve Prisoners Freed.

Throughout the entire strike trouble has run a period of bloodshed and rioting. It has been impossible to check the violations as they were scattered and occurred in isolated mountain spots.

After a conference with military advisors and others, which lasted until 2 o'clock this morning, Governor Hatfield ordered the release of twelve men held under martial law. All were released on their own recognizance.

Inquiry By the Senate.

Washington, May 22.—Senator Swanson, chairman of the sub-committee which framed the resolution authorizing a broad investigation of conditions in West Virginia coal fields, was ready today with a report in favor of such an inquiry. The resolution closely resembled that of Senator Kern, who led the fight in the senate for an investigation. With the backing of the education and labor committee and many prominent senators on both sides, Senator Swanson hopes that it may be agreed to with little debate.

Senator Kern, however, announced

OWEN PROPOSES TO MUZZLE THE SENATE

Will Add Another to Many Efforts to Curb Debate There.

Washington, May 22.—Senator Owen's announcement at the White House that he would fight for a limit on debate in the upper chamber was received with interest today at the capitol. Many attempts have been made in former years to shut off debate, and all have proved unsuccessful. A spectacular feature of senate procedure long has been the one man or two-men filibuster, and on many occasions a single determined senator has been able to "talk to death" a bill to which he was opposed.

The resolution probably will be presented in a few days. It will go to the rules committee and may never come out, although Senator Owen said he expected to make a vigorous fight for its adoption.

MINE AT SMYRNA WRECKS FRENCH SHIP

Five Men Are Killed and Six Dying of Their Injuries.

Smyrna, Asia Minor, May 22.—The French liner Senegal lies beached on the harbor front here today, half of one side torn out by the accidental explosion of a mine as she was leaving port late yesterday. The explosion was a terrible one, instantly killing five persons and fatally injuring six others.

Fortunately for those on board, the liner was close to shore and in shallow water, and maintained enough headway after the explosion to enable the captain to run her aground. All the uninjured members of the crew and the passengers were landed safely.

The steering gear and most of the other machinery escaped injury from the explosion, and owing to this fact the captain and his engineer were able to beach the vessel, thus in all probability saving the lives of most of those on board.

How to Make Your Hair Beautiful.

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous, and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de composee), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 1 oz. Bay Rum and ½ dr. Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

SOCIETY WOMEN TO CLEAN UP THE SLUMS

Washington, May 22.—With a one-day collection of $5,400, of which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson contributed $100, society women of Washington today took the first steps toward cleaning up the slums of the capital. Mrs. Wilson, on at least two occasions, quietly has investigated the noisome alleys and narrow courts in which several thousand persons are huddled, and knows personally the conditions that prevail in those sections.

The money was collected at a meeting of the Washington section of the woman's division of the National Civic Federation, and will be turned over to a corporation headed by Brig. Gen. George M. Sternberg, former surgeon-general of the army. It will be used to aid further in the elimination of insanitary dwellings in the slums, and the substitution of clean and wholesome houses that can be rented at nominal cost.

Among those who subscribed was Former Chief Forester Clifford Pinchot, whose donation of $3,000 was the greatest individual sum. The campaign is to be continued.

HITCH DEVELOPS IN MEXICAN LOAN

Deputies Claim Best Offer of Money Was Not Accepted.

Mexico City, May 22.—The discussion of the remaining article of the bill authorizing the issue by the Mexican government of a loan of $100,000,000 at 6 per cent, has developed a hitch in the chamber of deputies which may delay the completion of the transaction.

The charge was reiterated by many deputies at last night's session that the best offer for the loan had not been accepted by the Mexican government. The assertion was made that the minister for war, Gen. Manuel Mondragon, had negotiated a better offer. A resolution was then passed by the deputies to call him to the chamber and ask him for a declaration on the subject. At 10 o'clock last night the deputies declared the chamber in permanent session until the matter had been settled.

Provisional President Huerta had in the meantime sanctioned the acceptance of the offer of a loan by French financiers which had been agreed to yesterday by the members of the cabinet and also in principle by the deputies.

ROBBED AND THROWN IN MINNEAPOLIS LAKE

Wisconsin Man Tells of Adventure With "Real Estate Agent."

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beguiled to the edge of the lake in a city park under the pretense of inspecting a site for a home, John Walker of Siren, Wis., today was robbed of $60 and thrown into the lake by a newly-made acquaintance who claimed to be a real estate dealer, according to the story Walker told the police.

Walker arrived in Minneapolis yesterday on his way to work on a farm near Anoka, Minn. The stranger told Walker that he owned the property, and offered to sell him a lot adjoining the lake for $250. While the prospective buyer was peering into the water to discover a number of "goldfish" that the "real estate man" said would get with the lot, the latter snatched Walker's pocketbook from his hip pocket, threw the owner into the lake and fled.

ROLL BANDAGES.

Doctors' Wives Give Linens for City Nurse.

The social afternoon planned for the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. W. Rowe, 2334 Woodland avenue, proved a most delightful affair. The members responded most generously to the plea of the city nurse for bed linens and towels for a chest to be used in her work and during the afternoon the members rolled four dozen rolls of bandages.

Mrs. A. E. Walker, president of the association, read a humorous selection which was generally enjoyed, and Mrs. Horace Davis entertained the members with two vocal solos, "A May Morning" and "I Hear You Calling Me."

ENGAGEMENT.

Farewell Dinner Party Occasion of Announcement.

The affair was made the occasion for the announcement by the hostess of the engagement of her daughter, Millie, to George E. Hickok of Portland, Or. The wedding will take place in June. The table and rooms were prettily decorated in blue and white for the occasion.

Students' Please.

Pupils of Miss Mabel Fulton delighted parents and friends who were guests at a studio recital last evening, the capacity of her studio in the Winthrop building being taxed.

Vocal and instrumeneal numbers formed a well balanced program with Henry and Maurice Lavick, violinists, assisting.

Probably the biggest number on the program was the "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," sung by Miss Marguerite McDonald and Miss Borghil Dahl, with an accompaniment of the two violins, which was repeated in response to prolonged applause.

Miss Bernice Haverty in her piano number was most enthusiastically received and Master Sheldon Johnson also did exceptionally well in his piano number. Mrs. E. C. Smith was unable to sing on account of illness and her number was filled by Miss Marguerite McDonald who sang, "Ellegie" by Messenet delightfully.

All of the pupils, both piano and vocal, reflected credit for careful training and study. Others who appeared were: Grace Rossman, Earl Gartto, Anna Brand, Ruby Patterson, Gurdun Thrana, Pearl Hart, Sheldon Johnson, Ruth Larson and Florence Mattson.

Two two-piano numbers were exceptionally well done and the accompaniments were played by Miss Fulton and Miss Violet Flaaten.

Amusement Notes.

Blanche Bates will be seen for the first time in this city as Stella Ballantyne in A. E. W. Mason's four-act piece, "The Witness For the Defense," at the Lyceum Monday.

The ruin that impends over Stella Ballantyne for the justifiable murder of her husband is the kind of ruin brought about not by enemies but by friends. Stella Ballantyne is in India, married to a drunken bully, living in abject misery. Her husband is on the verge of delirium tremens. Thresk, an early friend of Stella, visits her just as her husband is in the act of striking her. After Thresk leaves Stella kills her husband in self defense. She is arrested, but soon acquitted on a plea of self-defense, largely because of Thresk's testimony. Stella leaves India, and two years later is living in Sussex, England. Richard Hazelwood, a young soldier, has fallen in love with her. They are to be married. Again Henry Thresk comes upon the scene, drawn there by the suspicions of Hazelwood's relatives. Thresk believes that Stella should not marry again without confessing the murder of her fiance. In the night Stella begs him to be silent and let her marry Hazelwood and be happy. It is at that moment that they are discovered by Hazelwood. Stella is forced to risk all her future by confessing her ugly past. But her woman's instinct to win the man she loves drives her on.

Today the Empress management is presenting its patrons the musical comedy attraction, "The Girl Question," with the clever comedian Raymond Paine. Coming from the fertile brains of three men who have made national reputations in the light musical comedy field, Adams, Hough and Howard, this piece scored one of the greatest successes that any musical play ever produced at the La Salle theater, Chicago. It ran over 300 nights in Chicago and was acclaimed on all sides as one of the brightest, catchiest and cleanest shows that ever held undiminished patronage through the sultry summer months of a Chicago season.

The story deals with the love of Jo Foster and Con Ryan. Jo is a waitress in the restaurant that Con presides over in the capacity of manager. Jo loves Con and he never suspects the love of the girl. Con is in love with Elsie, the cashier, and her smile holds a world of brightness for him.

Old man Sears with more money than he knows what to do with buys the restaurant and turns it into a real estate office. Con is thrown out of a job and takes to selling books to keep the wolf from the door.

Jo comes into a fortune large enough to keep two young people during their lives. She meets Con and notes his plight. It is here that Con first learns of the love of the girl, a love that has remained loyal to him through the ups and downs of their acquaintance.

The love affair of young Sears for Elsie, the coming of Baron Von Tasman and the part he plays in the life of Jo and Con all go to make a very interesting story.

WHO HAS HEALTHIEST BABY?

Duluth Physicians Will Compare Infants at Masonic Temple Friday Afternoon---Good Attendance at Infant Welfare Exhibit Which Is Now Open to Public.

Tomorrow will be the big day at the Infant Welfare Exhibit being held this week at the auditorium of the Masonic Temple. For upon tomorrow afternoon a committee of Duluth physicians will take their future into their hands and will declare who are the three healthiest babies in Duluth.

The baby contest is absolutely free. Any mother in Duluth may enter her small son or daughter. Each baby will be measured and weighed and tested and height and age and weight, teeth, disposition and other points depending on health, will be compared, and proud will be the mothers who take home with them the healthiest babes of the city, pronounced so by the most competent judges in all of Duluth.

The speaker at tomorrow afternoon's session will be Dr. O. W. Rowe, who will most opportunely have for the subject of his talk "Feeding." The lecture will be free and mothers are urged to attend. Dr. Rowe will speak at 4 o'clock.

The exhibit is attracting many visitors. In spite of the inclement weather of yesterday afternoon, many mothers gathered at the Temple to hear Dr. S. H. Boyer's talk on "The Prevention of Infant Diseases." Dr. Boyer gave a short and interesting and most practical talk on the simple but distressing symptoms that almost every mother encounters in the care of her children. He was heard with much interest and profit by the audience. The lectures in connection with the Welfare Exhibit are proving a most interesting and valuable feature of the week. Last evening Dr. J. J. Eklund was the speaker and this afternoon Dr. C. H. Schroder addresses the mothers. Tonight Dr. J. M. Robinson will talk on "The Eye, Ear and Throat in Relation to Infant Diseases."

The invitations to the exhibit have so urgently mentioned the mothers of the city that there has been a doubt in the minds of several whether men were welcome. The committee in charge most cordially invites the men of Duluth, and the evening sessions are especially planned for the men who are occupied during the day. If the baby cries all night there are usually two people kept awake, at least, the father and the mother, and "Dad" is as welcome to learn more about his offspring as any one. The evening hours are from 8 to 10:30 o'clock.

But tomorrow afternoon especially every mother in Duluth with a baby under 3 years of age is invited to visit the Masonic temple and to bring her baby with her. He may be the healthiest of three in Duluth.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Mistake for Mothers to Leave Children's Care to Others.

The modern tendency of parents, particularly mothers, to shift the burden of caring for their children onto others is deplorable, if not, indeed, alarming. Where formerly it was the custom only of the wealthy to employ nurses to care for the children and governesses to teach them, nowadays, to judge from the daily procession on city streets, it has become the custom for many people in only moderate circumstances to have a nurse-girl for the baby.

It is my idea that a mother who feels that she needs help with the children should get help in the kitchen—a cook and housekeeper and take full charge of her children herself. In this way, she can have help with the little ones whenever she needs it, and if she has someone on whom she can rely, she can get relief from time to time from her exacting duties as a mother, by mingling with her friends.

No woman who is worthy to be a mother wants really to get away from the burden of caring for her children. She may get out of patience a bit at times, and sometimes fret at the confinement and the sacrifice she is compelled to make, but she will feel ashamed of herself afterwards that such thoughts or feelings should mar her motherhood. The true mother finds her greatest happiness and pleasure in taking care of the little ones whom God has given her, and she is even apt to be a bit selfish about sharing her privileges with anyone else.

Motherhood, and fatherhood as well, involve sacrifice—sacrifice of business and social pleasures alike. The mother with a baby is, to a large degree, "tied down," but those friends of hers who are worth while will not desert her, or think her foolish for giving up her social duties, but will honor her for it.

The mother who turns the care of her children over largely to others, especially those whose only attachment is that of servant, who labors not for love but for money, takes a terrible risk. She risks the child's physical, moral and mental well-being. She may console herself into thinking that she is supervising the child's bringing up, and may be, to a certain degree, careful and conscientious about it; but she cannot vouch for the result as she could if she were the sole factor in the situation. There is always more or less of a conflict of purpose and authority where two or more, one of them outside the parents, have a sense of jurisdiction.

The mother who wants to get the greatest pleasure out of motherhood, as well as to discharge her duties faithfully, is wise to take charge of her children herself, and employ servants to do the tasks that they can do as well as she.

CHILDREN GIVE PROGRAM

Delightful Entertainment Marks Close of Miss Wilson's Elementary School.

From the opening march by all the pupils of the school to the end of the little play, pupils of Miss Wilson's elementary school acquitted themselves with glory at the closing entertainment given this morning at the Young Women's Christian association before an audience of parents and friends which filled the hall.

Master Stephen Jones, and little Misses Margery and Dorothy Merritt and Mary Roswell Horr were charming and naive in solo parts with a lack of self consciousness unusual for such little tots. Under the direction of Miss Berta Schmeid they have developed a sense of rhythm and free expression and grace truly remarkable.

Miss Grace Woolworth played the accompaniments for all of the numbers, except the piano solos played by Stephen Jones and Margery and Dorothy Merritt, and little Miss Horr.

A group of French games and scenes were given by the different grades with good accent and pronunciation and the closing number was the little play, "The Spirit of the Giant Mountains" in three scenes given by the children of the third grade.

Miss Mary Cotton as "Elsa" who is stolen from a group of friends, picknicking in the mountains, by the "Spirit of the Mountain" and five little gnomes, was delightful in her part, and Master Harvey Williamson as the "Spirit of the Mountain" did remarkably well. The group of girls were Ruth Williamson, Joan Robson, Florence Draper, Charlotte Dowling and Louise Bridenthal and the five gnomes were Donald Welles, John Magie, Caroline Robinson, Ruth Wanless and Stewart Peyton.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 25.

Genesis xliii: 18-34; Joseph and Benjamin.

CONNECTION.

The boys took their corn back home, leaving Simeon in prison in Egypt as a hostage, and were instructed not to return without their younger brother, Benjamin. That demand almost broke the heart of old Jacob and he didn't allow them to go for a second supply till they could not get along without it. Then he reproached them and urged them to go without the lad but Judah pledged himself and his own children for his safety and they went again taking back the money they had so strangely brought home in the mouths of their sacks and extra money for the second supply. The money was not coined is is ours but was weighed out. On arriving in Egypt they reported at headquarters and an official took them to Joseph's house and informed them they were to eat there that lay. That alarmed them.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Brothers Meet the Steward. 18-25.

"And the men were afraid, because they were brought to Joseph's house; and they said, Because of the money that was returned in our sacks at the first time are we brought in; that he may seek occasion against us, and fall upon us, and take us for bondmen, and our asses. And they came near to the steward of Joseph's house, and they spake unto him at the door of the house. And he said, Peace be to you, fear not: your God, and the God of your father, hath given you treasure in your sacks; I had your money. And he brought Simeon out unto them. And the man brought the men into Joseph's house, and gave them water, and they washed their feet; and he gave their asses provender. And they made ready the present against Joseph's coming at noon; for they heard that they should eat bread there."

1. FEAR.—They "were afraid" when they were taken to Joseph's house, because their consciences had perhaps always been in an active state and they could not fail to think there was some connection between their treatment of Joseph and by him. "The thief doth fear each bush an officer." "The fiend in his own bosom peoples air with kindred fiends that hunt him to despair." Adam hid when he did wrong. The thought that they might be punished for taking away the money was only the occasion not the cause of their fear. Now that they are brought to the house of the ruler instead of to the business headquarters their fears grew. To be invited to dine with the ruler might mean a plan to make their sufferings all the more severe, as Oriental despots often showed special mercy to their victims only to make the persecutions the more acute.

2. PEACE.—The steward relieved them in part by telling he had played the trick of putting their money in their sacks. The release of Simeon was further relief. The attentions paid them, with water for their feet and food for their asses, might allay fears but might not. The presents they brought, as everybody brought presents to a ruler, gave them a little hope. Everything was as comforting as it could be till they could find out what it all meant. It was a terrible state of suspense and hope. It was superbly arranged by Joseph and it was having its desired effects. They were being disciplined and tested.

II.

They Meet Joseph. 26-34.

"And when Joseph came home, they brought him the present which was in their hand into the house, and bowed down themselves to him to the earth. And he asked them of their welfare, and said, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye spake? Is he yet alive? And they said said, Thy servant our father is well, he is yet alive. And they bowed the head, and made obeisance. And he lifted up his eyes, and saw Benjamin, his brother, his mother's son, and said, Is this your youngest brother, of whom ye spake unto me? And he said, God be gracious unto thee, my son. And Joseph made haste; for his heart yearned over his brother; and he sought where to weep; and he entered into his chamber, and wept there. And he washed his face, and came out; and he refrained himself, and said, Set on bread."

1. KINDNESS.—His interest in their old father, of whom he inquires with Oriental minuteness, still puzzles them. We know how he was feeling but they didn't. To be guests in his house, to be invited to a special feast and to be asked in such a kindly manner about their father was so different from the treatment he had given them, in accusing them of being spies and keeping Simeon and requiring them to return with Benjamin, they could not fall to be still afraid.

2. LOVE.—The sight of his little brother with whom he used to walk when the latter was only 3 years old, the son of his own mother, Rachel, was too much for Joseph. The emotions long pent up in the strange land and now by his efforts to try out his brothers and see how they felt toward their father and their young brother, welled up in an uncontrollable tide that threatened to overflow and reveal his identity before he had fully carried out his plans. They didn't know why he left the room so suddenly but must have detected some unusual feelings in him. We can imagine the thoughts of them all, especially of Benjamin. It was the most natural thing in the world that he would give way in private and have to wash and straighten up before returning.

III.

The Mysterious Feast. 32-34.

"And they set on for him by himself, and for them by themselves, and for the Egyptians, that did eat with him, by themselves; because the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews; for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians. And they sat before him, the first-born according to his birthright, and the youngest according to his youth; and the men marvelled one with another. And he took and sent messes unto them from before him; but Benjamin's mess was five times so much as any of theirs. And they drank, and were merry with him.

1. ORDER.—They didn't know how a stranger could seat them in the order of their ages. That puzzled them more. No Egyptian could eat with a Jew or such a foreigner without ceremonial degradation, just as a strict Mohammedan cannot eat and drink with Christians, nor a Hindu of one caste with one of another caste. For that reason Joseph ate apart; also because of his rank. In fact it was a condescension in him to eat in the same room with them and must have surprised even those who knew his fraternal and democratic spirit.

2. HONOR.—They had a double honor in being feasted in the same room with him and in having special portions, such as were always given to a distinguished guest. It was a special honor to Benjamin because he was given the amount usually given to a king, "five times" as much as the rest. The honor bestowed on Benjamin was both an expression of Joseph's superior love for him and it was a test of the others. He was trying by every means to get a line on those fellows. It would be very foolish in him to treat them in a way to cultivate their selfishness and cruelty. He must first find out what their spirit is. If they show no resentment toward him or Benjamin for this special honor it will be a good sign. They endured the test all right.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

We all recognize the dangers of an emotional religion, but there are almost equally great dangers in a religion from which all emotion is entirely banished. A perfectly dry eye is blind and a perfectly dry religion has no sight. You always have the clearest vision when there is some moisture in the air and a personal sentiment has its appointed place in the vision of God.—Jowett.

A man is no richer or happier than his good opinion of other men. I have in mind a man who receives a salary of $5,000 or $6,000 a year, and has hundreds of men under him. He lives in a lovely home, in the most beautiful surroundings, and has a most lovable woman for his wife, and a darling child. He saves a large part of his income, has some good investments, and is young enough to become a wealthy man before he dies, for he has great ability. But he is one of the poorest and least to be envied of all the men I know, because he suspects everyone with whom he has dealings of mean motives, and is continually embroiled in petty quarrels. Even if he is oblivious to the contempt in which the community is coming to hold him, he is poor because of the low estimate he puts on his neighbors.—Cowan.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How does conscience so trouble us?
2. How does not forgiveness confirm men in their sins?
3. Why was Joseph justified in testing his brothers so thoroughly?
4. How was it just in Joseph to show them such mercy?
5. Had those men really repented of their sin against him?

ANTHONY COMSTOCK MEETS REVERSAL.

New York, May 22.—Chief City Magistrate McAdoo has refused to put a han on picture postcards illustrating the turkey trot. He discharged a postcard dealer brought before him by Postoffice Inspector Anthony Comstock and advised Mr. Comstock if he considered the dance itself unlawful, to direct his attention to some of the "fashionable places" where it was danced.

YAWKEY ESTATE IS CLOSED UP

Probate Court Disposes of Property Valued at $6,000,000.

Final accounting was made in probate court yesterday in the estate of William C. Yawkey, Detroit millionaire, who owned interests in mining properties on the Mesaba iron range which have been valued at $6,069,160.

Under the will, the estate is to be divided between a son, William H. Yawkey, one of the owners of the Detroit baseball club, and a daughter, Augusta L. Austin, his only heirs. There are also a number of bequests to relatives, servants, charitable institutions, etc., amounting to about $60,000.

The holdings of the Yawkey estate in St. Louis county, included fee interests in the Ruddy, Kellogg, Yawkey, Commodore, Schley, Larkin and Alpena mines. Including the Minnesota holdings, the estate has been valued at about $20,000,000.

NEW SIGNAL CODE FOR NATIONAL GUARD.

When the annual encampment of the Third Regiment, M. N. G., is held at Camp Lakeview near Lake City, June 16-25, the improved continental code of field signal work, which has been adopted by the war department, will be used instead of the old Meyer code which has been in vogue for years.

Between now and the time for encampment, local militiamen will be instructed in the signal work as exemplified in the new code. This instruction will be given by Lieut. F. E. Smith, battalion quartermaster and commissary of the Third regiment. He has been detailed to meet with the men at regular intervals for the purpose of teaching them the new code.

MANIAC MURDERS FIVE ROOM MATES

Inmate of Idaho Asylum Crushes Men's Heads With Table.

Blackfoot, Idaho, May 22.—Peter Bradovitch, an insane Austrian confined in the Southern Idaho insane asylum here, killed his five room mates by beating them over the head with a table as they lay asleep yesterday. The dead:

GEORGE RACE, Pocatello.
GEORGE PEDE, Boise.
HYRUM PATTERSON, Idaho Falls.
ELIAS BAGLEY, Moreland.
GEORGE SHEPHERD, Pocatello.

There was no evidence of a struggle between the maniac and his victims, except on the body of Patterson. Two bruises on his arm showed that he had tried to ward off the blows which Bradovitch was raining on his head.

So quietly did Bradovitch accomplish the killing that guards sleeping across the hall were not awakened. The heads of all five men were completely crushed.

Bradovitch was committed to the insane asylum two years ago from the state penitentiary, where he was serving a life sentence for murder.

SHAW RENIGS.

Former Cabinet Officer Doesn't Want to Buy Railroad.

Atlantic, Iowa, May 22.—Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury of the United States, whose bid of $294,000 for the Atlantic, Northern & Southern railroad was accepted by the United States district court last Friday, announced yesterday that he had instructed his attorney by telegraph not to bid on the property, and began efforts to stop payment on the certified check for $14,700, put up as a forfeit with the bid.

Shaw's attorney, J. J. Hess, declares the telegram was not received until after the sale had been completed.

Judge Thomas Arthur, whose court has had charge of the road for some time, set June 2 as the date of resale if Shaw succeeds in repudiating his bid.

Receiver E. S. Harlan, who has managed the road for more than a year, resigned, but Judge Arthur refused to discharge him pending an investigation of charges of misapplication of funds of the company. Freeman Reed was appointed to make an investigation of the receivers' books and records.

MRS. MOORE HEADS CONDUCTORS' WIVES.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—Mrs. J. H. Moore of Toledo, Ohio, was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors at the final session of the convention, which has been in session here since May 10. Indications were that the conductors would not conclude their sessions until next Tuesday.

DIES IN SAFETY DEPOSIT BOOTH.

New York, May 22.—Henry Wright Hubbard, for thirty-four years treasurer of the American Missionary association, was found dead last night in a private booth in the offices of a downtown safety deposit company. Following his daily custom, Mr. Hubbard went to the safety deposit offices shortly before closing time. A clerk who was waiting to receive his deposit found the body. Death was due to heart disease, according to the coroner.

Mr. Hubbard was born in 1844 at Elgin, Ill. He entered the New York office of the American Missionary association in 1873, and six years later became its treasurer.

FATHER OF 36.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 22.—Col. Francisco Perea, delegate from New Mexico to the thirty-eighth congress and a delegate to the Republican national convention at Baltimore in 1864, which re-nominated Abraham Lincoln for president, died at his home here yesterday, at the age of 83 years.

Col. Perea was present at Ford's theater the night Lincoln was shot, occupying a seat in the orchestra just below the president's box. He was the father of thirty-six children, being twice married and each wife bearing eighteen children. At the outbreak of the Civil war he was soon made a lieutenant colonel by Governor Connelly and served throughout the war. He was a descendant of one of the oldest Spanish families in New Mexico.

KILLS FRIEND OF DIVORCED WIFE.

Joplin, Mo., May 22.—After John Thralls, a miner, shot and killed Edward Skelton, a Republican politician, in the latter's store here last night, a mob of several hundred men formed and threatened to lynch the slayer. After arresting Thralls the police secreted him for a time in an alley, and later he was taken to the jail at Carthage, Mo.

Believing that the prisoner had been taken to police headquarters, the mob gathered there, but the men dispersed when they learned of the ruse by which they had been baffled.

Thralls charged Skelton with being attentive to Mrs. Thralls, who was divorced from her husband three years ago. This charge led to the shooting.

KILLED DEFENDING HER SMALL SON.

Washington, Kan., May 22.—Mat Snyder, a young farmer, slashed his wife to death with a razor and then attempted suicide with the same weapon.

Snyder took his 4-year-old son with him to "gather the eggs" in the Snyder barn. Fearing he might harm the child, Mrs. Snyder followed them to the haymow. When she saw her husband draw a razor she grasped his arm. Snyder knocked the woman down with a pitchfork, slashed her to death with a razor and then opened the veins of his wrist and cut his own throat. The child was unharmed.

Snyder was reputed to be wealthy. Before becoming unconscious he told his physicians the hiding place of $2,000 in the cellar of his home. The money was found as described.

FREEMAN OUT ON $150,000 BAIL.

New York, May 22.—Albert Freeman, convicted with Julian Hawthorne and others of using the mails to defraud investors, has been released in $150,000 bail, pending appeal. He is under a five-year sentence and had been in jail since his conviction on March 14. Loyal friends gathered in court recently and supplied the funds and securities for his bond.

PUTS LID ON SISSON.

President Talks With Him About Speech on Japanese.

Washington, May 22.—President Wilson sent for Representative Sisson of Mississippi yesterday and urged him not to make any speech that would offend the sensibilities of Japan.

Mr. Sisson, who recently made a "war speech," had given notice of his intention to speak in the house Friday on the legal phases of the Japanese alien land question. He had a twenty-minute conference with the president, during which, however, he assured Mr. Wilson that he would not discuss the pending negotiations or touch on anything of incendiary character, limiting himself to an argument on alien land ownership.

It is indicated at the White House that the American note just sent and the tenor of future exchanges will be to assure Japan that the majority of Americans have a genuine respect and admiration for the achievements and character of her people.

STRATTON TAKEN TO ROCK ISLAND.

Pekin, Ill., May 22.—Clyde Stratton, notorious safe robber, who made a sensational escape from the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., last March, by crawling through an eighteen-inch sewer for half a mile, has been taken to Rock Island, Ill., to answer to an indictment charging him with the murder of Cashier Crowder of the Silvis, Ill., National bank, which was robbed last December.

ELDRED MAN LOSES BRIDE

When Couple Seek Parental Blessing They Are Cruelly Pulled Apart.

Crookston, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—To be wed at 2 p. m., be persuaded to take his bride to her home for the parental blessing and there have her torn from him and receive a greeting from his mother-in-law in the form of an attempt to throttle him, and finally to be denied the privilege to enter his bride's home at all while she was retained there was among the wedding surprises faced by Robert H. Jackson, who departed for Eldred last evening without his bride.

"I will allow her to remain home a few days," said Mr. Jackson last evening, "and then I will return and claim her, peaceably if possible, and, if not any way I can get her. She is mine; I love her and she loves me. I regret there should be trouble, but nothing can keep us apart."

Mr. Jackson had attempted to induce Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace of this city to consent to his marriage to their daughter, Annie Janet Wallace, but Mrs. Wallace objected to her daughter marrying outside the Catholic church. The two were determined to wed and yesterday afternoon they walked to the office of Clerk of the Court Waage, secured a license and crossing the court house hall had Probate Judge Hovland tie the knot.

Mrs. Wallace heard rumors of the affair and sent a scouting party after the couple and the residence of Father Wurm was watched and while the watchers were there the happy couple walked down from the court house husband and wife.

They were finally persuaded not to depart for Eldred where Mr. Wallace is in charge of an 800 acre farm, and he dismissed the automobile he had hired for the get-away and the two proceeded towards the Wallace home.

Mother Separates Couple.

Before they reached it Mrs. Wallace spied them and bore down on the luckless Jackson, tore his bride from him, hustled her home and after attempting to choke him and giving him a few sidelights regarding himself he had never heard before, entered her home and slammed the door in the face of the crestfallen Lothario.

Jackson consulted an attorney, who went to Judge Gossman to get out a writ of habeas corpus, but the judge being a close friend of the Wallace family, persuaded Jackson to delay action. Through the strategy of friends Mrs. Jackson met her husband at the home of a neighbor for a few minutes, about 10 o'clock last evening and they agreed that she should remain with her mother, who was still suffering from hysterics, for a day or two, when he will claim her, and if necessary bring the militia from Eldred to enforce his right to his bride. The bride is of age, being just past 21. The affair caused a big sensation.

BACK AT REFORMATORY.

Parole Breaker Returns All the Way From Seattle Alone.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 22.—Coming voluntarily and alone from Seattle, Wash., to St. Cloud to give himself up to the authorities of the reformatory, Adolph Bennewitz has returned to the institution. Bennewitz had been out about a year and had broken parole. He went to Seattle, where he has relatives and there his father and sister induced him to come back.

Bennewitz said he wanted to do the right thing and thereby remove the stain, as far as possible, from his name. He said that he was ready to again resume his service. He was placed at work in the field and is a trusty.

Bennewitz had served three and a half years in the reformatory and had been paroled about a year ago. After being out about four months he broke parole and went West. It is likely that he will be paroled again when the board has been satisfied as to his intentions.

The work of reconstructing the railway will be started at once. According to the present program the track will be brought up to the Great Northern tracks, placing the Chautauqua depot opposite Kelly avenue.

In the meantime the matter of a viaduct and other features will be taken up with the Great Northern railway. A committee will make the trip to the general offices very shortly.

One-half of the subscription amounts will be collected at once and work will be put under way immediately on permanent improvement.

HONOR SLAYTON MAN.

Dr. Williams Elected Head of State Homeopathic Institute.

St. Paul,-Minn., May 22.—Dr. A. L. Williams of Slayton, Minn., was elected president of the state homeopathic institute at the annual convention here last night. Other officers were named as follows:

Dr. A. G. Ahrens, St. Paul, vice president; Dr. G. R. Machan, Minneapolis, second vice president; Dr. Ethel E. Hurd, Minneapolis, secretary (re-elected); Dr. Margaret Koch, Minneapolis, treasurer (re-elected).

"What is good for the breweries is good for the babies," declared Dr. P. M. Hall of Minneapolis in advocating the adoption of brewery methods in the handling of milk. The pasteurizing system adopted by the breweries, and the use of the metal cap, were urged by Dr. Hall as the proper solution of the milk question. He spoke on "Milk and the Public Health."

Pasteurizing and the use of the metal top and bottling on the farm would not only mean much to the public health, but milk so treated would keep for two weeks in good condition, he asserted.

The successful treatment of appendicitis and the use of horse serum as a cure for certain diseases were also discussed yesterday. Dr. L. G. Wilberton of Winona read a paper on the treatment of appendicitis, and Dr. B. H. Ogden of St. Paul discussed the use of serums.

About 100 doctors from all parts of the state were present.

FORMER BAUDETTE OFFICIALS SUED

Emil Peterson, Contractor, Seeks Big Damages for False Arrest.

Crookston, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A local attorney has brought suit in the state courts against the village of Baudette council members of 1911 and others for Emil Peterson, a contractor, to recover $24,600 damages for false arrest.

C. R. Middleton, who was attorney of the village in 1911; Halvor Robestad, John Norquist and Gilbert Roan, members of lumber concerns at Roosevelt, are also made defendants.

The members of the 1911 council who are defendants are: J. U. Williams, who was mayor; George B. Partridge, who was clerk, and J. A. Lindsey, George Arnold and E. Riley, who were trustees.

Why Peterson Sued.

The action is the result of the arrest of Peterson on a charge of grand larceny about two years ago. He was the contractor who built the wagon bridge across the Baudette river for the village at that time, and also the dock at the foot of Second street. When the work was completed he stated that he owed nothing for labor or material furnished in the work, and he was paid in village orders. Shortly afterward Halvor Robestad, representing Roosevelt lumber companies, placed a lien on the bridge on the claim that Peterson had secured lumber from them and had not paid for it. Peterson's arrest followed and the case came for a preliminary hearing before Judge Schmidt, but was dismissed. This was the last heard of the case for nearly two years, or until Peterson entered suit in the amount named above.

In his claim Peterson alleges that he was earning $7,000 a year when he was arrested, and that as a result of the arrest he lost most of his business. In consequence he asks $14,000. He also claims he was arrested and imprisoned for eight days and he asks $10,000 for the mental anguish he endured on this account. He states also that he paid $640 in attorney's and legal fees and he wants that sum in addition to the others.

SHOES TOO SMALL.

So Minneapolis Thief Could Not Prove Title to Property.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—If Charles Johnson's feet had not been so large, he wouldn't have gone to the workhouse for forty-five days. He was arrested on a charge of having stolen a pair of shoes from A. Wilbsky.

"I bought those shoes in Duluth a year ago," he told Judge C. L. Smith.

"Put them on; let's see if they're yours," said the judge.

Johnson took off his shoes and began to put on the ones he was charged with having stolen. He tugged and twisted. Then he spat on his hands and took another grip on the shoe strap. He stood up and jumped on the floor. The shoe was half on. Then he turned to the judge. "I can put 'em on, but it will kill me to do it."

"Forty-five days," said the court.

EXPRESS RATES CUT.

Wisconsin Railroad Commission Orders Sweeping Reductions.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—Changes of express rates of sweeping importance were ordered yesterday by the Wisconsin railroad commission in its decision in the case brought by the Milwaukee Merchants' and Manufacturers' association. By an order of the commission, every express company operating in Wisconsin is included in the purview of the ruling. The average reductions ordered are about 20 per cent.

As the order sets no date for its becoming effective the new rates will go into effect twenty days from date as provided by law.

The hundred pounds basing rates between points are considerably altered and the graduate scales on which the charges for the various weights are computed are completely changed.

LOST IN BAD LANDS.

Montanan Is Found Nearly Dead After Terrible Experience.

Aberdeen, S. D., May 22.—When two Montana homesteaders read an advertisement on May 15 in a newspaper asking for information regarding H. B. Briner, a neighbor who was lost, they remembered that on May 1 they had seen an object moving slowly over a butte in the Bad Lands several miles from their shacks. They investigated and found Briner wandering about lost, carrying his shoes, which he had removed from swollen feet and had been unable to replace. He had been more than a month without food.

Briner, who lives near Wibaux, Mont., has been brought to this city by his brother-in-law, D. T. Wegner, to recuperate from the effects of his experience. He now weighs less than 100 pounds, having fallen of eighty pounds during his adventure.

A heavy rainfall caused a mist in the Bad Lands while Briner was walking from Wibaux to his claim, and he became lost. He ate a half dozen doughnuts and some rolls that he had in his pocket, the first day. Thereafter and until he was found he had no food, though fortunately he found water.

The man is 50 years old.

COURT AT AITKIN.

Aitkin, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The May term of district court opened here Tuesday with Judge Wright of Park Rapids presiding. There are forty-one civil and three criminal cases on the calender.

WALKS HIGH PLACES.

Daredevil Italian Furnishes Excitement in High St. Paul Building.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—"It's a cinch to walk these things, why I could do a cake walk on them, watch me."

With this statement as a preliminary, an unidentified Italian climbed over the railing and began to walk across the narrow beams that span the areaway on the fifteenth floor of a local business building yesterday. His abilities did not come up to the standard his words had set for himself, and he began to totter when ten feet from the railing.

He was pulled to safety by Nathan Michaels, elevator operator.

The man had all the courage taken from him by his narrow escape from a drop. He refused even to ride down in the elevator.

NEW FARGO BUILDING.

Armory-Auditorium Expected to Be Completed By Next Fall.

Fargo, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plans for the Fargo armory-auditorium, which is expected to seat 3,500 people, will soon be ready and bids will be asked. The structure will be completed by fall. It will combine an auditorium with a large seating capacity and a stage large enough to accommodate the biggest theatrical attractions. The first floor will be devoted entirely to the militia and will give them a drill room, gymnasium, tub and shower baths, officers' quarters and all other armory conveniences. It will cost $85,000.

Eastern Men of Affairs Are Inspecting Wisconsin University.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—The Wisconsin capital was host last night for a party of 120 men of affairs of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg and Boston and their wives, who are here for a three days' inspection of the state university. The delegation is headed by Rudolph Blankenburg, mayor of Philadelphia.

"We have come to acquire some knowledge of the practical way in which education is served the people of Wisconsin," the mayor said. "This university is pre-eminent among the universities of the Union in its functions for serving the people of the whole state. We hope to apply some of the lessons of this visit to the college of Pennsylvania."

Governor McGovern and President Charles Van Hise of the university held a reception in the capitol and later the work of the university was reviewed.

INDIANS CELEBRATE CHURCH FESTIVAL.

Couderay, Wis., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several hundred Chippewa Indians are at Reserve, the Indian village in the Couderay Indian reservation, to take part in the Corpus Christi celebration today.

See First Locomotive.

Schafer, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—McKenzie county citizens have celebrated the arrival of the first real locomotive in McKenzie county. The contractors have had dinky engines at work for some time but the first railway engine came down from Williston on a barge constructed by the contracting company. It will be used for heavier work on the grading and later on general construction.

Get Big Creamery Checks.

Ashley, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers of this vicinity have received checks for $8,861 from the local creamery. This is the best record ever made at this season. It is all the more remarkable because the creamery was shut down for changes and repairs during a part of February and March and some patrons shipped to cutside points.

Motor Boats Close Call.

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 22.—Loaded with 5,000,000 pike fry from the state hatchery at Oshkosh, two motorboats after crossing Lake Winnebago in a terrific gale and one of the roughest seas ever known in these waters, before daylight yesterday, arrived safely at Lakeside park. The boats were in command of Burgess Amory and Frank Lallier. The fry constituting the year's allotment for this end of the lake, would have perished had the boats been out another day.

The boats were carried miles out of their course by the storm and many times were on the point of swamping.

To The Young Expectant Mother

Women of Experience Advise the Use of Mother's Friend.

There is some trepidation in the minds of most women in regard to motherhood.

The longing to possess is often contradicted by the fear of distress.

But there need be no such dread in view of the fact that we have an effective remedy in what is known as Mother's Friend. This is an external application that has a wonderful influence and control over the muscular tissues of the abdomen. By its daily use the muscles, cords, tendons and ligaments all gently expand without the slightest strain; there is no pain, no nausea, no nervousness; what was dreaded as a severe physical ordeal becomes a calm, serene, joyful anticipation.

In almost every community there are women who have used Mother's Friend, and they are the ones that recovered quickly.

Mother's Friend is prepared after the formula of a noted family doctor by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 228 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them for their instructive book to expectant mothers. You will find Mother's Friend on sale by all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle.

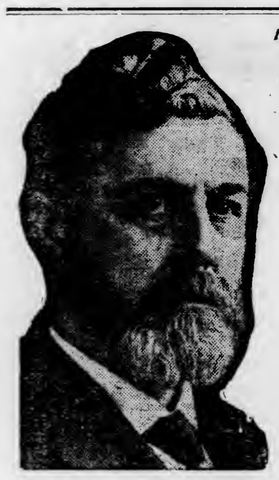
The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker



The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Elizabeth says: "I am troubled with a constant headache which also affects my eyes. My breath is awful, as I have a severe case of catarrh of the head and throat."

Answer: I receive daily hundreds of letters from people who have suffered as you do and who have been cured with the following prescription: Make a wash by mixing one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder, which you can purchase from any druggist in 2-oz packages, and add to this one pint of warm water, use this in the nostrils daily to thoroughly cleanse them. A catarrh balm should be used with this. This is made by mixing one teaspoonful of Vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply well up into the nostrils twice a day. If this is used daily your catarrh will soon vanish. It should, however, be used occasionlly to prevent a return of the disease.

"C. G." writes: "If you know of anything that will cure dandruff, itching scalp and premature baldness, please let me know what it is."

Answer: For several years I have prescribed plain yellow minyol as superior to anything known for the treatment of diseased scalp. Get it in four-ounce jars with full directions. It quickly overcomes all diseases of hair and scalp and gives new vigor and intense natural color to the hair. Try it fairly and you will advocate its use for your friends.

"Mildred" writes: "I am constantly embarrassed because of the fact of my extreme thinness. I have absolutely no color in my face or lips and I am dull and lifeless most of the time. Please advise me what to do."

Answer: If you are so thin and pale and your lips and cheeks colorless it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles. This can be easily overcome by the use of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which can be had from any druggist in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. When the blood is enriched by the use of these tablets your weight will increase, the color will come back into your face and lips, and it will improve your general system so that you will become strong and healthy.

"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but will cure your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in curing rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will cure any curable cough or cold promptly. Obtain a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

"Anxious B." writes: "I have in recent years been threatened with appendicitis, but would never consent to an operation. Indigestion, constipation and sedentary habits cause me much suffering. Kindly prescribe for dyspepsia something which you think will cure me and prevent appendicitis."

Answer: The most scientific and satisfying treatment for your trouble is tablets trio-peptine; packed pink, white and blue in sealed cartons with full directions. All stomach disorders can be conquered by regular treatment.

"Nervous M." writes: "Loss of sleep, nervousness, loss of appetite and overwork have made almost a complete wreck of me. I have to work, but can scarcely drag one foot after the other. Please advise."

Answer: The condition you describe is prevalent especially with brain workers. Use the following: Compound syrup of hypophosphites, 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals.

Farmer's Wife asks: "Will you please tell me how to overcome obesity?"

Answer: Obesity is burdensome. Excessive fat on the human body is unnatural and frequently results seriously. The best and safest method to reduce is to take regularly 5-grain arbolene tablets. They are put up in sealed tubes with directions for home use, and any well-stocked druggist can supply them.

"Sara C." writes: "I am constipated and have a greasy skin. Suffer from headache, indigestion and some kidney trouble. I wish you to recommend a remedy."

Answer: The best remedy to relieve and cure chronic constipation is called three-grain sulpherb tablets made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines. Taken regularly the blood is purified, the bowels and liver stimulated into healthy action and a cure established. They are packed in sealed tubes with full directions. These tablets are splendid for children as they do not gripe or sicken.

"Mamma"—"I know of nothing better for bed wetting than: 1 dram of tincture cubebs, 2 drams of tincture rhus aromatic and 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort. Mix. The dose is 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

THEY WHO SIT IN JUDGMENT.

The first stone cast at her who only wears
The shreds of what was once a spotless gown—
That to life's scourging now mute witness bears.
And then let him who stands at peace with God
Dare to bend earthward from his high estate
And lay the hand of censure on the head
Of her—who sinned—and not condemn her mate!

POPULAR BOND BUYING.

It will be surprising if the St. Paul experience in selling city bonds over a department store bargain counter does not attract wide attention.

Already, even before the St. Paul sale is closed, Minneapolis is talking of disposing of some of its bonds in that way, and an arrangement so well advertised as this has been is pretty certain to succeed

Duluth hasn't any bonds on the market at this time, but it is likely to have some soon, and it will be issuing bonds, more or less, in the future. When it does have an issue to dispose of it will do well to make arrangements to let its own citizens in on the sale

Such a bond bargain sale as that carried on in St. Paul and proposed in Minneapolis is highly democratic, and unquestionably it serves a good public purpose—several good public purposes, in fact It sells the bonds and gives the city the money, which is the main thing. It keeps the interest money at home instead of sending it to New York or Boston. And it gives the citizens who buy these bonds a new interest in good government.

The idea is a good one, but it should not be made a plaything and used to dispose of more bonds than could be absorbed by the regular market. Bond issues, as The Herald has said before, form an easy way to do city work on credit, but it is a thing that can easily be abused.

No city should issue enough bonds to weaken its credit in the slightest degree; and it should not be overlooked that bond absorbed by small local buyers will have less effect on the city's credit than bonds put afloat on the general market.

A New York preacher announces that he will marry no more couples unless they produce health certificates. It would help a lot if people would insist on similar certificates from ideas before they become wedded to them.

THOSE SUFFRAGETTE BOMBS.

We have lost count of the number of bombs, supposed to have been planted by suffragettes, that have been discovered in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

There have been too many of them to keep track of.

But we haven't lost count of the number that have exploded.

There have been none to count, as far as we have noticed, until one accidentally exploded yesterday in Scotland.

Some of them, judging from the descriptions, you'd have to take an axe or a piledriver to, if you wanted to set them off.

Can it be that the British suffragette is displaying a sense of humor which the British temperament and femininity are by some supposed to lack?

Ex-President Taft fired the starting gun at a foot race the other day. Now that he has taken such an active part in athletics no doubt he will accomplish that reduction in weight he worked so hard for.

BRYAN AND BOSSISM.

Speaking the other day, Mr. Bryan said: "The day of the boss is gone. The people will write their own platforms hereafter."

Which inclines the Republican Washington Star to rather heavy sarcasm: "But the very platforms which Mr. Bryan holds now were sacred," it says, "were not written by the people. Three of them were dictated by himself—that adopted at Kansas City in 1900, that at Denver in 1908, and that at Baltimore last year. He was so completely master of the situation at Kansas City and at Denver that he remained at home and worked his will by long distance telephone. Last year he appeared in person at Baltimore, and was the ruling spirit in the platform committee."

All true. But what of it?

There is no inconsistency whatever between these facts and what Mr. Bryan said about bosses and platforms.

The people wrote the Baltimore platform in the sense in which Mr. Bryan spoke of platform-writing, even if it was Mr. Bryan's own hand that penned the words.

When Mr. Bryan speaks of bosses, and when the people speak of bosses, they do not mean popular leaders, translating the people's needs and aspirations into platform planks. When Mr. Bryan speaks of the people writing platforms he does not intend to convey the idea of ninety million people clutching the actual pen that writes the words.

Bosses are not men who interpret the people's will, but men who misinterpret it and who work to balk it and defeat it. Platforms written by the people are platforms that record the people's needs and the people's will, no matter how few are the individuals actually concerned in the rhetorical operation.

From the Washington Star's viewpoint, doubtless Mr. Bryan was a boss when he led the people's fight at Baltimore and helped bring about the nomination of President Wilson. Doubtless, too, President Wilson himself is a boss, from that viewpoint, when he insists on rigid adherence to the legislative program he considers to be the duty of his party now it is in power.

But if these be bosses, then give us more bosses—of the same kind.

But bosses of the kind Mr. Bryan is talking about, bosses who make politics a paying business by betraying the people into the hands of special privilege, are going out of business very rapidly; and the reason is that the people are not only writing their own platforms, but electing men who will carry them out.

Now Rome reports an $8,000,000 graft scandal in public building work. Evidently somebody amended the old saying to read: "When in Rome, do the Romans."

THE PARCEL POST, BUSINESS GETTER.

Merchants, the country over, are using the parcel post to expand their business.

That is, big merchants are.

What is the country merchant doing about it?

He is closest to the rural buyers. He has the cheapest parcel post rates. He knows these buyers and their needs; they know him and his stock. What is he doing about it?

After watching the country papers for several weeks with this idea in mind, we should judge that he is doing nothing about it.

If the parcel post hurts him, as he feared it would when he was fighting its adoption, it will be his own fault.

The merchants in the cities are making the parcel post useful to themselves by advertising. They are advertising in the widely circulated periodicals and the widely circulated dailies, reaching out in this way for the buyers of the country.

So should the country merchant. His local paper circulates along the rural routes. So do the dailies and the periodicals. The dailies and periodicals are carrying advertisements aimed at the rural buyer, and they are getting business that way.

When the local paper also carries the advertisements of local merchants, aimed at the rural buyer and framed so as to tempt him to buy, the local merchant will be getting his full share of the business created by the parcel post. So long as he fails to take advantage of this excellent way to reach his potential customers, he should not complain if much business comes off the rural routes and goes by his door to the city merchant.

Never mind. Twenty-five or thirty years from now you probably will have forgotten all about the kind of weather we have been having this spring.

A TRAGEDY.

The day's news seldom carries a story of greater poignancy and pathos than that of B. S. Walker of Macon, Ga., who died last night after lingering a week, in the face of certain death from a deadly poison taken by mistake.

The peculiarly distressing feature of the case was that though doctors told the man that there was no known antidote for the poison he had taken, and that death was certain, the effects of the drug were so insidious that he did not feel them. So he was able to set his affairs in order, to gather his friends about him, and to proceed outwardly almost as though nothing had happened, though within was the crushing intelligence of a death sentence, irrevocably imposed.

It was inevitable, when the symptomatic effects of the poison were so slight, that the victim should have found it hard to believe that death was at hand, and that there should have mingled with the certainty that the doctors' verdict gave, a paradoxical hope that they might be mistaken.

The whole country watched the sure progress of the grim reaper, appalled by this spectacle of a living death.

Yet only the nature of the poison distinguished this case from many others. The average household is terribly careless in its disposal of poisons. A deadly drug rests side by side with a harmless household remedy, and the easiest thing in the world is to do just what this man has paid with his life for doing—to reach for the harmless remedy and swallow the poison.

Once more it is Japan's turn to move the pieces in the California game of chesty.

ET CETERA.

"As an interesting antithesis," says the St. Louis Republic, "we suggest the unscrambling of eggs and the re-organizing of the Rebuplicans."

Not inept, that.

But the comparison is more than that. Considering the difficulty of the two operations, it is also a parallel, or a synonym, or at least an approximation.

It's Hobson's cue to claim that the torpedo that came back and put a hole in the craft from which it was fired was fixed by a Jap so it would do just that.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NEW CITY HALL IS DECLARED A NECESSITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Duluth certainly needs a new city hall. The present structure is miserably laid out, entirely too small and as unsanitary as a British prison ship in Revolutionary war times.

That big vacant block east of the postoffice now spends most of its time covering the sidewalk with slop in summer and treacherous, slippery ice in winter. It would more perfectly fulfill its municipal mission if made the proud site of a modern city hall, costing anywhere from $250,000 to $500,000.

In keeping with the "grouping plan" adopted when the courthouse was erected and necessitated by increase in mail business, a fine postoffice building soon will be imperative on the site west of the present structure. A new city hall should appear on the scene as soon as that, if not before.

A trinity of public buildings like that would be worth going many miles to see, as well as a great comfort to the precious public.

If entitled to the floor, Mr. Editor, and not out of order, I move to amend that decision of an anonymous millionaire to construct one boulevard for this municipality, so that it shall read and mean, "One $500,000 model, modern city hall."

The yeas seem to have it. The yeas do have it. Incidentally, this change in a philanthropist's plans, so easily and quickly made, will cause Andrew Carnegie's public library to look like the original 15 cents.

JOHN L. MORRISON.

Duluth, May 22.

"GO TO IT, HICKEN!"

To the Editor of The Herald:

Good for Hicken! Go to it! You are the first man in Duluth who has enforced the law. Oftentimes I've wondered when I myself went downstairs right off of Superior street on the lower side and pressed the button four times. A small hole in the door opened from the inside and you were admitted (on Sunday) to take what drinks you wanted and saw the bar always lined, and I must say by the more respectable boozers. Yes, you wondered how it could go and the vigilant police marching up and down that street. As far as I knew there was only a saloon there, but read in the papers that a gambling joint had been raided there some time ago. I read in today's papers of a Socialist giving several reasons why Mr. Hicken should be recalled. His reasons are so insignificant alongside of what Mr. Hicken is doing and is going to do, that it simply loses itself into nothingness. While I am not a frequent voter, being always on the road, I will pledge myself that if steps should be taken to recall Mr. Hicken I shall be there to vote for him, if it takes the last coupon in the mileage book.

A Socialist who first of all lectures on law enforcement and special privileges to none.

A Small Fable.

Pittsburg Post: A man was cast ashore on an unknown island and found a high state of civilization. Artists painted beautiful pictures and singers sang marvellous songs. To them he paid tribute. But there was a little withered man to whom poets, painters, everybody bowed down.

"What has this man done?" asked the traveller.

"He has accumulated 3,000,000 cocoanut shells," they told him in awed whispers.

At first the traveller was inclined to laugh, but then he thought of conditions in his own country and became thoughtful.

The Senate and the Tariff

By Saveyard.

Washington, May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house of representatives, fresh from the people has passed the reform tariff by an overwhelming majority after an exhaustive debate upon each of the fourteen schedules, the income tax and administrative features. Only five Democrats lined themselves against the measure, four from Louisiana and one from New York. Their loss was made good by the action of four Progressives and one Independent Republican, who voted for the bill. It is significant that two regular Republicans from Wisconsin voted for the bill. No amendment offered by any opponent of the bill was adopted. It is the only tariff in fifty years that the representatives of the people made; for the "interests," acting through Gorman of Maryland, Smith of New Jersey, and Brice of Ohio, writ large their graft in the Wilson tariff of 1894.

But at that period there obtruded the coinage question. The panic of 1893 had taken the minds of the people off the tariff, and by the time the tariff was off the hooks the people had ceased to think about it and all we heard of was 16 to 1. That is what caused the treason to be fortunate—that was the opportunity of Gorman, Smith and Brice.

But the people are not going to be diverted from the work of overseeing public affairs this time. They began the bossing of the job last year when they forced the Baltimore convention—at the time almighty reluctant—to nominate Woodrow Wilson for president. They saw to it that he was elected. They have watched every move of this extra sesion of congress. They are for the bill as it passed the house of representatives, and if the senate shall cut capers and shines there is going to be a row such as we have not had for many a long day.

And the senate would queer the bill in a moment if it dared, and it is given out that the senate is going to debate the question for months, though the people decided the thing last November and the house of representatives has merely echoed the voice of the people. But the senate is bent on debate, possibly on the idea of the Italian actor, who, cast for the part of Othello, insisted on blacking his person all over instead of confining that process to his face and hands. The Republican side of the United States senate has so long been the faithful henchman of monopoly that it cannot refrain from going through its stunt of fetching and carrying for its master.

And hence the announcement that two Republican senators—names not given—will occupy one week each in academic discussion of the tariff in behalf of protection and in neither speech will be found a thought that will "fill the hunger of ignorance or quench the thirst of curiosity." Only one American of our 100,000,000 population will read both these speeches—the proof reader at the government printing office, a poor devil whose trade it is to read such slush and whose food and raiment depend on it. Besides the proofreader, the author of each speech will read his own stuff, and nobody else in the world will pay the slightest notice to either. But the people will foot the printing bills.

The ablest speech in favor of protection I ever heard was Tom Reed's close of the Republican side of the debate on the Wilson bill in 1894. It was the longest speech Reed ever delivered, and he held the floor just one hour and a half. John G. Carlisle never occupied as much as two hours in the delivery of any speech he ever made. Perhaps the most consummate specimen of parliamentary eloquence the English tongue can boast was the reply of Charles James Fox to William Pitt on the question of the Peace of Amiens, and Fox was on the floor on that occasion less than an hour. All the authorities are agreed that the most brilliant and the most eloquent, though not the ablest, speech the British parliament ever heard was Richard B. Sheridan on the resolution to impeach Warren Hastings, and it occupied less than one sitting of the commons. Of Lord Bacon it was said that while he was speaking the only concern of his hearer was that he "might make an end," and Bacon, tremendous intellect and eloquent orator that he was, never made long speeches. Neither did Chatham, neither did Henry Fox, neither did Patrick Henry, neither did John C. Calhoun, neither did Daniel Webster.

Some of Burke's speeches are long; but it is doubtful if he ever consumed more than three hours in the delivery of the longest he ever made.

Now let me tell you—even though he be a senator in congress, the man who consumes a week, or half a week, in the delivery of a speech, is generally an ass. James Guthrie of Kentucky was one of the most successful practitioners at the bar our country has produced, and he never spoke more than half an hour to bench or jury in his life. James G. Blaine was one of the most brilliant parliamentary debaters of his day, and he never held the floor as long as two hours on any single occasion in either house during the entire twenty years of his congressional career. William Pinkney's speech on the admission of Missouri will rank with any eloquence the United States senate ever heard, and it was conclusive of the subject. It was a short speech.

One of the greatest men our country ever produced was the late John T. Morgan of Alabama. He had one fault. He made long speeches, buried his wisdom and his patriotism in a mass of words. His was a luminous mind, and his fame will wane because he was so voluminous of speech. If he had been as brief as Matt Carpenter or Allen G. Thurman, or George G. Vest, or Ben Hill, or L. Q. C. Lamar, I do believe he would have been a bigger man than any one of them. There are enough jewels in those speeches of his to make the fortunes of a dozen great statesmen, if they could be segregated, gathered together and distributed.

* * *

And I now assert that Morgan was the only voluminous orator I ever heard who was also luminous. All the rest were, and are, stupid. We are going to be afflicted with a heap of rot by the senate this summer, for the senate is fixing to put itself across the path of reform and forbid its further advance.

The Country Newspaper.

Mulvane, Kan., News: Advance to the inner door and give three raps. The devil will attend the alarm. You will give your name and address and the number of years you owe for the paper. You will then be admitted to the sanctum, and will advance to the center of the room, where you will address the editor with the following countersign: Hold the right hand about two feet from the body, with the thumb and finger clasping a $5 bill, which you will drop into the editor's hand, saying: "Were you waiting for me?" The editor will grasp your hand and the bill, and will say, "You bet." That ends the ceremony. Anything after that is merely incidental and unimportant.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Champ Clark, when a small boy, worked for a farmer down in Kentucky who had a disposition like the average rattlesnake. The man used to beat Champ on slight provocation, and, as the latter did not then stand six feet two, nor weigh 240 pounds, there was nothing for him to do but take the beatings—and bide his time.

As he saw himself developing into sturdy young manhood, Champ Clark watched his muscles waxing strong with much gleeful satisfaction. There was a certain important use to which he desired to put his muscles just as soon as the proper time arrived. He purposed to hunt up that farmer who had abused him and deal him out a little retributive justice. His idea was to give him a thrashing that would not only even up all scores to date, but that would linger long in the man's memory as one of the noteworthy events of his life.

However, Champ did not wish to be in too great a rush about it. He felt that he was becoming a fairly husky young person, and he knew also that as time was making him stronger it probably was making the older man weaker; still, it was too important a thing to take chances on. He earnestly desired that he should be in just the carmine of condition when the little reunion took place. If waiting a year or two longer would contribute to the success and gaiety of his little plan, he was willing to endure the delay.

It was ten years before Champ Clark determined that conditions were right for going back to that farm and creating a red-letter day for his former employer. And those ten years hadn't softened his feelings toward the man who had trounced him when he was a small youngster. Champ had a good memory, even in those days, and he felt toward the man much as he did toward one William Jennings Bryan for several months following the Baltimore convention.

* * *

Well, anyway, Champ Clark knocked off from his school-teaching job one Friday evening and set out on a day's journey to find the man he had been waiting those ten years to meet again. As he neared the old farmhouse, the recollections of the beatings he had endured there came back as if they had occurred within a week instead of a decade, and he patted his biceps to make certain he was fit.

It had been a long wait, but at last his time had come. He knocked at the door, and even then clenched his fists, ready to begin the exercises.

But there was a hitch in the program. Ten years had dealt harshly with Champ Clark's former employer. His wife and children had died, and he lay ill. He was all alone when Champ entered the house, and there were signs of poverty and distress about the place.

"I came here to beat you up," remarked the future speaker of the house; "been waiting to do that for ten years, but—I guess I won't."

Instead he took his meager savings from his pocket, left it with the man, and went his way.

Now, while we're on the subject, here's an entirely different sample of Champ Clark's memory. When he was a young lawyer out in Louisiana, Mo., Old Man Burwell, as he was known, ran a grocery that served as a forum where young and old might meet and talk politics. Old Man Burwell didn't like to stop talking politics to sell sugar or other commodities, and his grocery did not prosper as it might have, but he had a lot of influence politically. He could tell three months in advance who would be elected sheriff and the vote he would receive.

When Champ Clark got it into his head to run for prosecuting attorney, Old Man Burwell helped him. Young Clark might have been elected anyhow, and then again he might not. At any rate, he appreciated Old Man Burwell's help, and never forgot it.

Not so long ago he received a letter from one of his old neighbors, containing gossip of old-time acquaintances, and one bit of news it contained was that Old Man Burwell had met financial reverses and was having all kinds of hard luck.

With the note from back home still in his hand, the speaker seized a check book and signed his name to a slip for enough to take care of Old Man Burwell for a while, and dictated a letter to his secretary.

"And," he admonished his secretary, "don't tell my wife about this. She might think it was extravagance."

Hon. Carl Hayden, congressman-at-large from Arizona, looked up from his desk the other morning to see the outstretched hand of a beaming and well-favored stranger who said he just dropped in to pay his respects. He remarked that he had once heard Hayden make a speech in Phoenix, Ariz., and had been profoundly impressed. He was a great friend, he said, of Henry Rowe, down in Arizona. Did Hayden know Henry? Why, said Hayden, he and Rowe used to wear each other's clothes.

"I thought you must be pretty intimate," said the stranger; "he just wrote me that if I wanted anything in Washington to drop in and see you. I'm waiting for a draft that will be here tomorrow. Meanwhile I am momentarily short of funds."

Hayden let him have $2 until the next morning.

An hour later the elevator man asked Hayden if a tall stranger had been in to see him.

"You know he is the fellow," explained the elevator man, "who makes a specialty of hunting up the name of somebody in every member's town, and using it as a means of making a touch. He did pretty well, I'm told."

The Limit.

Life: The question of states rights having come up, every state had something to say.

"There can be no doubt," said one State haughtily, "but that I have a perfect right to order my own internal affairs in any way I see fit."

"But," said another State, "you seem to forget, my dear sister, that in this particular instance, by asserting these rights so strenuously, you are involving all the rest of us."

Thereupon a vote was taken and it was—unanimously decided by the majority that their rights should always be respected; each state voting, however, that this rule applied to all the other states, but not to itself, which led a disinterested, but intelligent, observer to remark that this was about as far as they would ever go.

Cured Him.

Life: Helter—How did you cure your boy's infatuation for that trained nurse?

Paws-es!

Woman's Home Companion: A little boy having his music lesson was asked by his teacher, "What are pauses?"

And the quick response was "Things that grow on pussy-cats."

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

On to Hinckley!

Pine River Sentinel: Those who do not attend the meeting of the N. M. D. A. at Hinckley June 5 and 6 are going to miss something worth while. A program is being arranged and the entertainment features will not be of the kind that will be "disremembered" soon. Cass county should select delegates that will be sure to attend, and many boosters should go along with them.

Sneaking Back.

Walker Pilot: Ever notice how some of those folks who are howling "back to the farm" always do it with their face toward the city?

Why Not?

Brown's Valley Tribune: If Minnesota could start anew, we believe it could greatly improve over present conditions as to laws and manner of government. Why not a constitutional convention to pave the way for a general reorganization?

Almost!

Le Sueur News: And here comes another! The Democrats now require—for the first time in history—banks to pay interest on all the United States money they hold on deposit! Also accept city, county and state bonds for security! Also deposit more money! Say! It almost makes one feel as though the country were being run for the people of it.

The Railroads' Place.

Anoka Union: The legislature passes laws and the people proceed to obey them, but the railroads refuse to and publicly proclaim it. It is about time in this man's land that the railroads were brought to terms, or know the reason why. They are but servants, or should be, of the people, and should be made to so understand.

Each for Himself.

Madison Western Guard: The Anoka Union is wondering who will take care of and work for the non-partisan candidate. Most of us have to take care of and work for ourselves—why not the candidate?

Moving Along.

Northfield News: Although we have not yet had sufficient experience with the commission plan of city government to be able to say unqualifiedly that it has demonstrated its superiority over the more representative form, there are those already who are advocating the extension of the principle to the state.

Worth Considering.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: It has been proposed that the government of the state be placed in the hands of a commission, and several of the newspapers of the state have commented favorably on the proposal.

The plan, as we understand it, is to entirely do away with the system of government under which the state is now working, and have a board of commissioners administrate the state's affairs, the work of the commission, although along a greater scale, to be much the same as that of similar bodies in cities having that form of government.

The plan is worth consideration, and if it proves successful in Kansas, where it is shortly to be given its first trial, it seems that Minnesota surely should be able to make a go of it. At least, we will keep one eye on Kansas and watch with much interest the working of this modern method of government in its first application to the next to the largest of bodies politic.

The Error of Selfishness

Troy Standard Press: Imagine a rose that would say to itself: "I cannot afford to give away all my beauty and sweetness; I must keep it for myself. I will roll up my petals and withhold my fragrance."

But, behold, the moment the rose tries to store up its colors and treasures of fragrance, to withhold them from others, they vanish. The colors and fragrance do not exist in the unopened bud. It is only when the rose begins to open itself, to give out its sweetness, its life, to others that its beauty and fragrance are developed.

So human selfishness defeats its own ends. He who refuses to give himself for others, who closes the petals of his charity and withholds the fragrance of his sympathy and love, finds that he loses the very thing he tries to keep. The springs of his manhood dry up. His finer nature becomes atrophied. He grows deaf to the cries of help from his fellow men. Tears that never are shed for others' woes sour to stinging acids in his own heart.

Refuse to open your purse, and soon you cannot open your sympathy. Refuse to give, and soon you will cease to enjoy that which you have. Refuse to love, and you lose the power to love and be loved. Withhold your affections, and you become a moral paralytic. But the moment you open wider the door of your life and, like the rose, send out without stint your fragrance and beauty, you let the sunshine of life into your own soul.

An Old Man's Whim.

"Eric, Icy, Ickery, Ann,
Filisy, Falisy, Nicholas, John,
Queever, Quaver, English Knaver,
Spinkum, Spankum,—out!"

That's the game that we used to play
Yender there in the orchard lot—
Seems like it wasn't but yesterday!
An' many 's the time that I have sot
Here by the chimbley, romancin',
A-watchin' the shadders that flit about—
Shadders of us at our play again
Out yender, "counting each other out."

Seems like it wasn't but yesterday,
Or mebbe the day before—or two—
Things look different through eyes of gray
Than what they did through our eyes o' blue—
Seems like the world was prettier then,
An' more invitin'-like, I declare,
Harder to leave and blesseder when
We "counted 'em out" in the orchard there!

Men are but children, a wise man says,
An' nothin' truer, I 'low, can be;
Things and dreams of our yesterdays
Are facts of tomorrow, it seems t' me;
So as I muse in my rockin' cheer
A-watchin' the shadders that flit about,
Unseen hands are a-hoverin' near
An' unheard voices are countin' out:

"Eric, Icy, Ickery, Ann,
Filisy, Falisy, Nicholas, John,
Queever, Quaver, English Knaver,
* * *
I wonder who'll be next?"

Unburied Body at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg dispatch to the Philadelphia Record: Mute testimony to one of the many tragedies of the battle of Gettysburg was found today in the wild mountain region eight miles west of town, when the body of a Confederate soldier, with much of the equipment, was discovered under almost a foot of leaf mold, the accumulation of half a cetnury.

The find was made by Clarence A. Wills while surveying a tract of land seldom traversed, save by hunters. He was first attracted to it when he stepped on the end of the barrel of the old musket. Digging away the leaves he found the hammer and lock and the trade-marks showing the English-made gun, which was much used in the Confederate army.

A belt buckle, part of a canteen, several dozen Confederate minie balls and other equipment were found upon further search and, finally, a shoe was discovered. All were close together between two huge rocks, and would possibly never have been discovered had not the surveyor's line chanced to run over the spot. All the wooden and cloth portions had long since decayed, and the body of the man to whom they belonged had long since decomposed where it it fell. A flattened bullet bore testimony to the manner in which he met his death.

The two large rocks at which the find was made are on an eminence which commands a view for twenty miles or more, and overlooks the route of Lee's retreat after the battle. A large rear guard followed the Confederate army, which is known to have been scattered over the territory where today's find was made.

Klipatrick's Union cavalry pursued over the same ground, and the theory held by local historians is that the Confederate skirmisher was standing on one of the rocks when struck by a Union bullet.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Esther: I was glad to read that you are recommending my almozoin wrinkle-removing jelly recipe to your friends. The shampoo recipe you ask for consists only of 1 teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. It lathers freely and will thoroughly cleanse the scalp and makes the head feel good. By shampooing the hair with canthrox every 2 or 3 weeks it will remain soft and fluffy. Canthrox also relieves itching and irritation of the scalp. (If troubled with dandruff read answer to Elsie).

Worried: Waste no time on liquid preparations. Use a delatone paste, made by mixing together powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairs not wanted and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are entirely dissolved. This is a quick, harmless method, but be sure you get the delatone in an original package.

Mrs. G.: Try pyroxin on your eyebrows and you will be delighted on how thickly they will grow. By the same treatment you can make short, straggly eyelashes come in long and curly. Apply the pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. You can buy pyroxin in a small, original package, but be careful and don't get any where no hair is wanted.

Birdie: I agree with you. A bright, clear, youthful eye is always attractive and admired. Most girls neglect to give the eyes proper care. Very few use an eye-tonic, which I think essential in caring for the eyes. I have found the following tonic to be fine for weak, tired and inflamed eyes. Go to your druggist and get one ounce of crystos and dissolve it in a pint of water. Use two or three drops in each eye night and morning. It will not smart. This inexpensive eye-tonic will do you lots of good and relieve you of that dull, tired feeling above the eyes.

Beulah: You are not the only girl with a sallow complexion and oily skin who cannot find a face powder that pleases her. But you need not despair. There are other aids to beauty more satisfactory than face powder and the use of washes is becoming more popular everywhere. Here is a recipe for a wash that when on seems part of the skin that you can make at home and it will cost much less than any manufactured brand. Dissolve 4 ounces of spurmax in a half-pint of witch hazel or hot water and add 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This will make a complexion-beautifier that whitens and softens the skin without the use of powder, and it also tends to remove pimples, tan and freckles.

Flo: Yes dear, smiling makes crow's feet as easily as worry, but don't stop smiling on that account. Scowling, age and eye-troubles also make deep wrinkles. You can quickly remove wrinkles and keep the face velvety and smooth at very little cost by making at home and using regularly this greaseless vegetable jelly-cream, which does not grow hair. Get from your druggist one ounce almozoin and dissolve it in half-pint of cold water or witch hazel, adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. Apply to wrinkled surface and leave through night, then wash off and use more of the cream as a massage. This treatment will remove and prevent the most obstinate wrinkles or finest crow's feet, while softening the skin to a velvety texture.

Elsie: Neither you nor your husband will be embarrassed by dandruff settling on your shoulders if you follow these simple directions: Brush the hair and apply a quinine hair-tonic, made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinzoin in ½ pint of alcohol and adding ½ pint of cold water. Apply once a week. This tonic removes dandruff, stops falling hair and keeps the scalp in a healthy condition, promoting the growth of hair and making it glossy and abundant.

Katherine: Do not be alarmed because you have become fleshy. Most of us gain weight in winter. To make a never-failing flesh-reducer, get from your druggist 4 ounces parnotis and dissolve it in 1½ pints hot water. Take 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day just before meals.

Alice: Your drowsy, tired, worn-out feeling, which most of us have at the approach of warm weather, comes from the poisoned impurities in the blood which generally lead to sickness or poor health. At the first signs of spring a good blood-purifying tonic should be taken by every member of the family. The expense of making such a tonic will be small if one gets from the drug store ½ pint alcohol and 1 ounce kardene, then mix these with ½ cupful sugar, adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will soon clear the blood of all impurities, banish pimples and sallowness and restore lost appetite and energy. No known remedy is so strengthening and energizing to a tired, "worn-out" system as this old-fashioned body-regulator. It is one of the best health-restorers known to medical science.

HOW TO RELIEVE NUMB AND PAINFUL HANDS

Mrs. Rosa, C. E., writes:

"My trouble is in my hands. They get numb and go to sleep. I can scarcely sew or hold a pen because of the lack of strength. I have much pain in them, and the only way I get relief is to permit them to hang down at my sides until they feel better. Many times at night I must either get up and walk around or else let them hang out and down from the bedside until they come to life again. My health is otherwise fairly good, although I have had this trouble with my hands for years. I am 47 years old and had no trouble during my change of life, which occurred five years ago."

The quickest measure of relief that you can obtain for yourself for the condition described in your letter is to stimulate the circulation of the blood within the millions of blood vessels in your hands.

Do this: When the feeling of numbness and pain begins to develop, immediately plunge both hands and forearms up to the elbows in a bucket of hot water. The water should be as hot as you can possibly endure it. Hold the extremities in the hot water until the skin becomes a livid red color and the veins stand out greatly distended. It may require five minutes to accomplish this. It may take fifteen, but the point is HAVE THE WATER HOT ENOUGH TO BRING ABOUT THIS VERY GREAT REDNESS. Of course, be prudent about the temperature of the water, so that you do not scald yourself. Here is where your own common sense will have to be displayed.

Dry the hands when the blood has been pulled into them as described above, and go about your work again.

Many times it will not be convenient for you to procure a bucket of hot water when your hands need treatment. When this is the case, hold your forearm out in front of you with the elbows pinned in to your sides. Then with an up and down motion vigorously shake your hands at the wrist. Shake as though you intended to throw your hand away from the wrist. This is a practical help which the great pianists frequently adopt when their hands are cold, stiff or not responsive.

At night time on retiring you should apply to your hands and arms a solution of glycerine, one ounce dissolved in a six-ounce bottle of water. Mittens or woolen gloves should be worn to encourage the circulation during your hours of sleep. As the human hand is made up of nearly two dozen tiny muscles, you can help strengthen these by a little simple perseverance.

First, spread your fingers out as far as possible. Then bring them together. Do this fifty times whenever you think of it. Then spread your thumb the same way and bring it back again. Each little thing you do which strengthens and increases the supply of blood to your hands will be helpful, unless there is some nervous disease back of your annoyance.

If the above line of simple home treatment does not promptly bring relief, you need a detailed and searching examination of your entire system made by a competent medical attendant. Give the above treatment your best efforts for at least one month. If results don't come by then, there exists some deep-seated cause for your ailment that must be examined into by your medical attendant.

PETITION FOR USE OF SANDSTONE

Objections to Crushed Rock Pavement Take Concrete Form.

Maintaining that the wishes of the majority of the property owners on Twenty-third avenue west should be heeded regarding the kind of pavement to be laid on the avenue, a petition containing signatures of a large percentage of the owners of property is being prepared asking that sandstone be used for the entire pavement.

Those back of the petition say that laying part brick, part sandstone and part crushed rock will give the street the appearance of patch work, and, that in addition to the looks of the street, the question of its durability is the one to be most considered. It is claimed by them that sandstone is the only material which will be of any material value and that the crushed rock which is to be laid above Fifth street will last but a short time. The owners point to examples of crushed rock on streets in other parts of the city to bear out their contention that it will not last long on the hillside.

Among the property owners who are said to have signed the petition which is being circulated are Ed Benson, W. Mathews, J. Rivers, A. Konecnczny, Alex Nelson, H. R. Elliott, Louis Johnson, Anton Johnson, John Olson, John Jaeger, Dr. A. Osterberg, Dr. O. A. Oredson, Axel Bloom, A. Stake, E. A. Smith, Dr. L. Q. Greeley, Andrew Jentoft, Helmer Jentoft, Anton Nelson, Rev. Edward Erickson, A. Strand, Henry Trueilson, John Olson, Hans Olson, Fitger brewery, Mrs. H. Christianson, Big Stone Lumber company, John Wahl Candy company, Zenith Telephone company, Emil Johnson, W. Alcenbrach, David Adams, Ed Akerstrom, Charles Benson, A. Lofgren and E. H. Olson.

A counter petition is also said to be in circulation on the hillside asking the commissoners not to pay any attenton to the one requesting the sandstone. It is claimed by those objecting to the sandstone that this material is wanted only by those living below Fifth street, where the crushed rock pavement will start. They also say that the majority of the owners above that point are not financially able to pay the higher cost made necessary by using that material.

WILL REOPEN MARKET.

West End Site Will Be Available for a Few Weeks.

Arrangements will be made for the formal opening of the West end public market place at the meeting of the West end Commercial club tomorrow evening. The club has assurances that the city will be allowed to use the ground until late in the summer, the owner of the lot having informed members of the club's garden committee that he would not commence building operations on the lot for a few weeks yet.

It is probable that plans will be made to open the market place a week from next Saturday. A number of the farmers have signified their intention of bringing some of the early vegetables to the city on that date.

The place has been used occasionally during the winter and spring months by the farmers when they came to town. These have used it for disposing of poultry and poultry produce, hay, wood and other products.

Wins Silver Medal.

Miss Phyllis Nesbit was awarded tht silver medal at the oratorical contest held by the Duluth Scandinavian W. C. T. U. at the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street last night. Miss Nesbit rendered the selection "Geraldine."

In spite of the wet weather the church was crowded to listen to the program and contest. The young women taking part were besides Miss Nesbit, Misses Dalla Nelson, Judith Palcen, Ruth Boren and Gabrielson. The program also included a vocal selection by Mrs. C. W. R. Wermine and songs by the audience.

STRAWBERRY PLANTS ARRIVE

Will Be Sold to School Children at One Cent Apiece.

The children of the West End who intend raising strawberries this year can now get the plants. L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, member of the Commercial club's committee which arranged to get the plants stated that he had received 1,000 of the plants and that they would be distributed to the first comers at one cent each.

"This is ideal weather to put in the plants," said Mr. Simonson this morning. "We have just received them and do not expect them to last any longer than until tomorrow night. Those who want them can call at my home and I will give the proper instructions for planting them."

It is expected that there will be a rush among the children to be supplied with the plants. About 100 of the children of the four West end schools who have entered the garden contest have signified their intention of planting the berry plants.

GAYNOR VETOES THE WELFARE ORDINANCE

New York, May 22.—The legislative measure authorizing establishment of a public welfare board in this city, to take from police jurisdiction the enforcement of laws against gambling and the social evil, has been disapproved by Mayor Gaynor.

In his veto message, the mayor cites as his objections that the excise evil, which he declares is the principal source of police graft, is still left for the police to handle; that by constituting a board of seven commissioners, responsibility would be divided instead of centered upon one department head, and that there is no need for a special board to handle the two evils, as "never in thirty years has there been so little corruption in the police force as now."

DANIELS CRITICIZES DEPARTMENT WAYS

Blames Government for Situation on Armor Plate Bids.

Washington, May 22.—Responsibility for price agreements among manufacturers furnishing armor plate for American warships is placed directly upon the navy department itself by Secretary Daniels. In a statement following his announcement of his intention to submit a plan for a government armor plate plant, the secretary declared that the policy of the department in dividing plate contracts among all bidders at the lowest figure offered "makes all pretense of competitive bidding to get the lowest market price a farce that cannot possibly appeal to anyone acquainted with facts."

Mr. Daniels said he was glad the resolution for an investigation of this matter, introduced recently by Senator Ashurst, was before congress, and that it only anticipated a formal statement which he proposed to prepare requesting relief from an intolerable situation.

How It Has Been Done.

How contracts for armor for the new battleship Pennsylvania were let by Secretary Meyer last March was told in the statement. Three steel companies submitted virtually identical bids and the contracts were divided among them.

"If we are going to subsidize the Carnegie, Midvale, and Bethlehem companies," said Secretary Daniels, "so as to have the advantage of their armor plate in time of war, then let us do so honestly and man-fashion by statute, without concealment or attempt at evasion of the intent of congress to force competition and award contracts to the lowest bidder. If we are, on the other hand, going to honestly award our contracts to the lowest bidder, let us do so. The effect would possibly encourage real competition among the companies, provided always that the present contention of the department of justice that the steel companies are a combination is disproved by the evidence."

MAY IDENTIFY ROCHESTER MAN.

Baltimore, Md., May 22.—The publication here of a picture of a mysterious "J. C. R." in the Rochester, Minn., state hospital, who thinks he is a native of Baltimore, may lead to his identity.

William J. Schaefer, an undertaker here, said he was struck by the resemblance of the picture to James Ridgeway, whom he last saw six or seven years ago. Schaefer said Ridgeway, who had been a painter, told him of his intention of leaving Baltimore and said he might enter the army or navy or go West. Schaefer does not know whether Ridgeway served in the navy.

According to a Rochester dispatch, "J. C. R." said his father was an officer in the navy.

O'CONNELL TELLS OF CALL ON POPE.

Rome, May 22.—Cardinal William H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, after a long audience with the pope yesterday, summed up the impression he had gained in a comprehensive sentence.

"The pope," he said, "seemed like a man who, after a sleep, had awakened fresher, stronger, revitalized."

Cardinal O'Connell was accompanied to the vatican by Mgr. Michael J. Splaine and Dr. Slattery, both of Boston, who remained in an ante-chamber. Mgr. Sanz De Samper, papal chamberlain, conducted the cardinal to the library, where Pope Pius was seated at the writing table.

The cardinal, taking off his skull cap, was about to kneel when the pope, stretching out his arm, prevented him, saying:

"O'Connel! Come—come!"

Cardinal O'Connell found the pope rejuvenated, looking in better health, brighter and more energetic than when he last saw him at the end of 1911.

LAUGHS AT TRAIN ROBBERY CHARGE.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—Louis C. Watson, the man suspected of having held up a Kansas City Southern train on May 1, has been formally accused of train robbery. Jesse M. Short, the Joplin mine owner, who was shot by the bandit, was present and renewed his assertion that Watson was the man. Watson refused to discuss the charge. He laughed, however, and intimated that the whole thing was a joke.

Bixby Pleads Not Guilty.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.—George H. Bixby, the Long Beach banker, pleaded not guilty yesterday to two indictments charging him with having contributed to the delinquency of minors. The pleas were entered after Oscar Lawler, attorney for Bixby, had failed to have the indictments quashed.

St. Louis, Mo., May 22.—A year ago subjected to a justice court trial, Mrs. Clara Manger, a society leader, was yesterday awarded $20,000 damages in the circuit court against four neighbors. She testified her health had been injured by her appearance in the justice court, where she was tried on a charge of threatening children of Mrs. J. Goode Cabanne. She sued Mrs. Cabanne and three other neighbors for $60,000 in sum later being reduced to $30,000. The other defendants were Monroe Price, Eugene Dreyer and Jules Bingle, all prominent in society circles.

SECRETARY OF NAVY IN FLYER.

Annapolis, Md., May 22.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels made an aeroplane flight here yesterday afternoon with Lieut. J. P. Towers, U. S. N., as aviator. The secretary remained aloft about five minutes, circling over the waters of the harbor at an average height of about 500 feet.

"It was delightful; I enjoyed the sensation thoroughly," the secretary said just after he alighted.

HERDING THE SPORTING SHEEP AND GOATS INTO THE DOPE CORRAL, AS SEEN BY BRUCE

BY BRUCE.

RAIN is H^2O in an exaggerated sense. It is often used for promoting the growth of wheat fields, creating optimism among the "bulls" and consequent pessimism among the "bears" of the wheat pit, or vice versa. Rain is also at times utilized by milkmen and distillers. Rain comes in series of three, but guessing the combination has proved quite as difficult as puzzling out some of the combinations of the Monte Carlo ivory ball proposition.

Rain is a persistent enemy of those fond of attending butchers' and grocers' picnics and baseball games. Bartenders are fond of rain as it often drives people indoors and boosts indoor amusements to a more or less extent.

Noah was more or less experienced in matter of rain. Under the ring name of Jupiter Pluvius rain has become famous throughout the breadth and length of this country, and is even favorably known in Europe.

Rain has a habit of showing up very well upon special occasions, such as the glorious Fourth, Decoration day, nearly always upon Labor day, and generally upon most baseball days during the month of May and upon all days set aside by the worthy butchers and grocers for extreme mirth and jollity.

When caught in cisterns and barrels, rain may be used for washing hair and countenances tending to the verge of wrinkling. It also thusly proved an excellent medium for small boys to frolic mirthlessly with small kittens and tightly wound bags, said kittens being immured in said sacks.

Rain has also been utilized with excellent effect in musical comedies and several series dramas. Street inspectors don't seem to mind the rain in the least, for you always see the sprinkling carts out immediately before the rain starts and immediately after it has ceased to rain. Maybe they don't take it seriously. For washing streets then rain is not considered very strongly, perhaps because the water is too soft for this purpose.

Baseball players are as a rule not adverse to rain occasionally, as their salaries continue unabated, so to speak. The poor owner of the team is the one to suffer, often raving and tearing his hair, if he possesses any.

The double header is an institution growing directly out of the rain. The rain check is another of the by-products. The mobbing of umpires is a practice that has been aggravated somewhat by rain and the practice of calling games to prevent rheumatism and wet feet.

The mud lark, not a bird, but a race horse, was an institution (betting is a thing of the past) that sprang to immense popularity through the generous and lavish use of rain.

Some horses can't run in the rain. Others can't run at all, though their owners refuse persistently to be disabused of this idea, but that is beside the present theme. Some horses can, to resume the argument. After running these horses several times on dry days and having them gloriously beaten, scheming owners brought out the old nag on rainy days, and with the odds 49 to 1 against the mud lark for place or show, said old mud lark would canter in and owner would collect.

Rain has its uses and likewise its abuses. In the present frame of mind we refuse to cogitate further upon its uses, as we held converse with Harry A. Blume several times yesterday and we have not as yet recovered from the shock.

* * *

WITH anything human in the shape of weather the final game with the St. Paul team is due to be finished this afternoon. Just to think of it, Bill, here these St. Paul boys have been in our midst for two days and we have not seen hide nor hair of 'em. Gosh darn the luck!

What we all want to do is to get out and boost the old game along during the remainder of this pestiferous month. The members of the Duluth Baseball association should get some of the money back they have dropped during the rain. It costs the owners of the club fifty bones every day there is no game, this being the rain guarantee, and this is in addition to the daily expense of keeping the team.

It is generally believed that from the financial point of reckoning the backers of baseball are in for the best year for a number of time spaces. That is, naturally, if Brother Richardson will call off the war elements and give us some merry sunshine, around which songs and cake recipes have been written.

The present men behind the game here are deserving of the support of every booster of this old city. They have gone ahead and sunk money into the ball park and have ungrudgingly paid out kopecks for players. They are not complaining, only swearing somewhat testily at the weather. Good crowds during the remainder of the series will only allow the directors to break even and see the warm rays of appreciation.

St. Paul and Minneapolis were counted upon as the best drawing cards here of all the teams. Let us hope that the Saturday and Sunday attendance records will break all previous turnstile counts for these two days.

Outside of several of the pitchers the Duluth team is playing real baseball. Fans, since the birth of this old game, have loved hitting. It is the milk and honey of the national pastime. Hitting is just what the Dooks are doing.

Weather has been against any semblance of shape for the twirlers, and until the weather warms up considerably it is not fair upon the part of any of the fans to judge harshly of the flinging ability of any member of the White Sox staff.

It was Ella Wheeler Wilcox or someone else who remarked about the fitness of charity starting at home.

VIRGINIA GETS TRIMMED AGAIN

Winnipeg, Man., May 22.—Winnipeg took the second game of the series here yesterday when the Virginia crew was beaten by the count of 5 to 1. Schimmens pitched a better game than the score would indicate, but received indifferent support from his team mates. Winnipeg played errorless ball behind Buddy Moe and pulled some brilliant fielding plays.

Manager Flood doubled in the fourth round with two on and cinched the contest for the locals. Shannon was chased from the game and also plastered with a fine. Score: R. H. E.

WINONA TAKES 14-INNING GAME

Grand Forks, N. D., May 22.—Though Winona defeated the Flickers by the score of 3 to 2 here yesterday it required the visitors fourteen frames to turn the trick. The game not only broke the long distance record of the new league but was one of the prettiest pitching duels that has been fought out in the new organization. Neither of the opposing twirlers showed the slightest signs of weakening during the long baseball journey, though Bell must be given credit for pitching the stronger game.

Winona counted in the third when with Connell on third Chase let the ball go through him and the run was over the pan. In the fifth Croake stopped one with his anatomy and then Bell doubled and the second run came in. Carney scored Gerlach with a single in the eighth and with two gone in the ninth the Flickers tied the score when Gerlach doubled with Chase on the towpaths. The final score came in the fourteenth when Croake, who had walked and been sacrificed to second, scored when Carney muffed a long fly from Connell's bat. Score: R. H. E.

Win Second Game.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 22.—Pittsburg made it two straight in the series with Brooklyn yesterday by breaking up the inner defense of the locals in the eighth. The score was tied, 2 to 2, when Viox opened that inning with a Texas leaguer. Four sacrifice bunts in a row followed, Ragan and Smith making wild throws on the first two. Byrne and Miller worked a squeeze play on the fourth but, Miller scoring the third run of the inning and making the tally 5 to 2, which was the final count. Brooklyn's two runs were scored in the fourth when Stengel walked, stole second and came home with Kirkpatrick on the latter's drive for the circuit. Adams, although frequently in hot water, held the locals runless in the other eight innings. Moran opened the game for Brooklyn with what should have been a home run, but was held at third and failed to score. Daubert and Otto Miller were put out of the game for protesting Klem's decisions on strikes. Score:

Giants Lose Another.

New York, May 22.—St. Louis won its second successive game from New York yesterday, 4 to 3. Tesreau held St. Louis to four hits, but was wild, issuing six passes. He passed the first three men who faced him in the first inning, but got out of that hole with only one run scored off him. Sallee, though hit harder than Tesreau was effective in the pinches. His poor inning was the fourth, when New York scored two runs on two singles, a steal and three errors. St. Louis won in the eighth when Konetchy's single drove home Evans and Sheckard. In the local's half of this inning, they filled the bases and McGraw took out Herzog, who had made two hits and sent in Meyers. The latter sent an easy fly to Sheckard. Manager Huggins was put out of the game for protesting a decision.

Reds Defeated Badly.

Philadelphia, May 22.—Cincinnati received the worst defeat of the season here when Philadelphia won yesterday's game by 12 to 0. The home team drove Johnson and Harter off the rubber in three innings each and making three hits off Smith's delivery ran their number of safeties to twenty for thirty-one bases. Cravath made four singles and a triple in five times at bat, the latter sending in three runners in the first inning. Luderus made a home run, a double, a single and a sacrifice fly in five trips to the plate. In addition to holding Cincinnati down to three singles, Seaton made a home run and a single. Score:

Boston, May 22.—Chicago won again from Boston yesterday, 6 to 5. Reulbach had the locals safe up to the eighth inning, when he was driven from the slab. Chicago, in the third inning massed a double, two singles and a home run. The latter by Zimmerman, for four tallies and bunched hits off Hess in two other sessions for single runs.

Pitches One-Hit Game.

St. Louis, Mo., May 22.—Errorless ball on St. Louis' part, and wonderful pitching by Hamilton, the young left-hander, defeated New York yesterday, 5 to 0. The visitors made only one hit, and only one man reached second base. The home team began scoring in the first inning, Williams' triple bringing in Shotten and Brief's single scoring Williams. Both pitchers were airtight until the sixth when a double by Shotten and singles by Johnston and Pratt scored two runs. Three singles in the seventh made the fifth run for St. Louis. New York's only chance to score came in the seventh, when with one down, Cree got the only hit made off Hamilton. He was caught off first, though, and Chase filed out, retiring the visitors. Score:

HONUS WAGNER.

Batting Bee.

Chicago, May 22.—Boston defeated Chicago, 10 to 9, in an exciting batting bee yesterday. Benz started for Chicago, but was wild and retired in favor of Lange. Ray Collins had everything his own way until the sixth inning when he began to show signs of weakening and before the ninth inning was over, he was driven from the box. Bedient was sent in, but he failed and Wood was called upon to save the game for the visitors with two out and the bases full. He proved equal to the occasion by throwing Borton out at first. The game was full of brilliant catches by both sides, but the greatest of all was the running one-hand stab by Speaker, who chased to the score board and robbed J. Collins of what looked like a sure home run. Score:

Win in Tenth.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 22.—Washington won yesterday's game in the tenth inning, scoring two runs on hits by Milan and Morgan, Gregg's wild throw and a sacrifice fly. In a ninth inning rally, Williams went in as pinch hitter and hit a home run, driving in the two runs that tied the score. Walter Johnson then went in to pitch for Washington, and held Cleveland scoreless in the tenth inning. Kahler held Washington to two hits until the seventh, when Shanks doubled and Henry's fly was lost in the sun, scoring the visitors' first run. Shortstop Chapman accepted ten chances without an error. Score:

Divide Double-Header.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—Columbus and Kansas City divided a double-header here yesterday, the visitors winning the first game, 3 to 2, and losing the second, 6 to 5. Powell's wildness gave the first game to the visitors, while bunched hits in the second permitted Kansas City to win.

In the first game Kansas City got a lead of two runs in the third on Walker's single, Carr's double and Drake's single. Powell was steaming along nicely until wildness got him in a hole in the sixth. After two were out in that inning Powell walked Perring and Hinchman and both scored on Miller's double. Columbus put across the winning run in the eighth on Shelton's single, an infield out and Perring's single.

Hinchman's home run in the first inning of the second game with the bases full made the case look black for Kansas City and Waters added another run in the fifth on a base on balls, a single and a double steal. The locals, however, came strong in the home half of the fifth, scoring four runs on a base on balls, singles by Walker and Carr and Drake's home run. In the seventh Kansas City clinched the game with a base on balls, Walker's triple ard Krichell's Texas leaguer.

Play One Game.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—St. Paul won yesterday from Louisville, 6 to 2, in the first game of a scheduled double-header. The second was postponed because of cold weather.

Maddox, who started pitching for Louisville, was knocked out of the box, the home team making six runs off his delivery in less than two innings. Northrop succeeded him and held St. Paul to four hits, no runs being made off him. Rieger shut out Louisville for eight innings, but eased up in the ninth, when two runs were made on Osborne's triple, an error by O'Rourke and Niehoff's double. Score:

MINNEAPOLIS COMING FOR THREE-GAME STAND

League Leaders to Open Battle Royal With White Sox.

Leverett, Warner, Allen and Bob Unglaub Starring for Bronks.

Talk about the hard luck that has been woven into the fabric of the local baseball situation—well, it is only necessary to state that since the team has come home seven games have been postponed because of rain. And weather conditions have been sufficiently aggravating to necessitate the calling off of some of the other games, had it not been for the fact that the local association directors were so anxious to get some of the games in.

The present schedule was ratified over the heads of the local officials, but that is done and past. The fact is that the members of the Duluth club have dropped $350 in rain guarantees alone, and there are a multitude of expenses in addition to the good money that the directors of the Sox are compelled to pay out to the visiting team upon the day it fails to play.

Minneapolis, the league leaders, will open a three-game series here tomorrow. Friday, Saturday and Sunday are three of the best baseball days of the week and with fair weather the Bronchos should draw the best three-day attendance since the opening of the season. Good fans should get out and show their appreciation of the hard luck that has struck those backing the baseball team.

Minneapolis at the present time is playing the fastest baseball in the new league. In the series here—always with due deference to the mood of the weather—Duluth fans will see a team that has been compared most favorably with the Minneapolis American association team. Some of the critics of Minneapolis are disposed to say that the Little Millers are at the present time playing a better game than the bunch of misfits representing the large city in the A. A. race.

Four Star Twirlers.

Cantillon has Leverett, Comstock, Lelivelt, Sherrin—four of the best twirlers in the league, and to back this twirling quartet up the Little Millers have a fast and hard-hitting aggregation.

In young Briere at shortstop, Cantillon is said to have a wonderful young ball player, a player who is slated for the Minneapolis American association team at the end of the present season.

Bob Unglaub, manager of the team, is playing third base and is whaling the ball for fair. Warner at first is a player who received his training with the American association team this spring, and is one of the best hitters in the league. Allen, behind the bat, is generally admitted to be the best backstop in the league. Last season he was with the Millers all of the season, and he will undoubtedly return to the A. A. at the end of the present season. Allen is a youngster and is possessed of a wonderful whip.

Cosgriff, Doyle and Chase make up the outfield. Grodrick is on the second bag. This combination has been playing real baseball since the opening of the season and during the three games here—always with due deference to the mood of the weather—it is expected that the fans of Duluth will be given an exhibition of some of the best baseball that we have witnessed during the present season.

The gay soiree with Minneapolis will bring us to the end of the stay of the Dooks. As has been remarked before rain has cut down the number of games scheduled for the home patch. The series starting tomorrow should prove the battle royal of the season, as the Dooks are going to make a mighty effort to cop three straight from the fast-going visitors.

Bob Unglaub, the manager of the visitors, was a former member of the Boston Red Sox, and also the Washington Americans. He is still a grand ball player, as is proven by his hitting, the Minneapolis leader at the present time practically leading the league with the cudgel.

JACK M'CARTHY GIVEN RELEASE

Jack McCarthy was today handed his release by the commander of the White Sox. A hard worker and always striving for the best interests of the club, McCarthy failed somehow, according to the opinion of O'Brien, to come up to the standard of a receiver of his club, and the little blue slip was the inevitable result.

With the coming of Wilke the club will be provided with two receivers. Fischel has all the ear marks of a comer, but he lacks experience, and wisdom behind the bat is something that the team wants at the present time more than anything else. The pitchers are wild and need steadying and this calls upon the experience of an older backstop than Fischel.

PLAYERS READY FOR GOLF GAME

Duluth golf players are gayly looking forward to Saturday when the 1913 season will be formally ushered in at the Northland links. This will be the formal opening of the season and the first regulation match game of the present year will be played.

During all of the present week the crack players of the club have been out on the links, and this despite the rain. Willie Leith has been busy coaching and when the first contest is called it is expected that some of the players of the club will be in grand condition.

HOLLTHAGNEN HAS REGAINED OLD FORM.

The Finnish people of Duluth and the Northwest in general are taking a great interest in Hannes Holthamainen at the present time, as it is announced that the greatest runner in the history of all the world, not even excepting Alfred Shrubb, is to race Abe Kivlat, the great New York boy.

Only recently the great Finn won the modified Marathon race in New York city. The distance was 12½ miles, and the wonderful strong Finn covered the distance in 5 minutes and 45 seconds less than the previous record. This shows the wonderful form Holthamainen is running in at the present time.

In this race were some of the fastest runners in the world, including Gaston Strobino, and yet the famous Finn defeated this strong field and finished as strong as a lion.

Fate Not Known.

Chicago, May 22.—The fate of George Stovall, manager of the St. Louis American league baseball club, suspended three weeks ago, did not become known yesterday. President Johnson of the American league, who had announced that he would make the Stovall verdict public yesterday, was ill and did not visit his office. Stovall has been out of the game three weeks for his dispute with Umpire Ferguson.

STEVE GARDNER TO MEET CANADIAN PUG.

Steve Gardner left for Fort Arthur today, where he is matched to fight Kid Lloyd. The Duluth boy has agreed to make 140 pounds ringside for the Head of the Canadian Lakes crack and is confident of winning.

According to the announcement Stevie has changed managers and has broken away from his former manager. Right at the present time the husky Duluth youngster is going at the best clip he has shown since he started fighting. He is learning more of the fine points of the game, is using his left more, and is becoming faster on his feet.

SOCIETY OUT FOR OPENING RACE MEET.

Washington, May 22.—Society was out in force at historic Bennings track today long before the bugle called the first field of thoroughbreds together in the opening race of the Washington Riding & Hunting club's annual meet. Racing will continue until Saturday. Horses from many cities and from many noted stables have been entered and the United States army is well represented.

Rain, which fell last night, had made the track a trifle heavy, but the footing, it was thought, would improve as the day wore on. Two boxes were reserved for President Wilson and members of his family.

FOUND GUILTY.

But John Miller Is Recommended to Mercy of the Court.

John Miller was convicted of robbery in the first degree by a jury in district court before Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon. The verdict of guilty was agreed upon after the case had been in the jury's hands for more than six hours. The jurors recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court.

On the evening of March 8, Miller held up and robbed Gust Johnson, woodsman, of $37, a watch and a knife. The robbery took place on Michigan street near the Union depot. Miller is said to have had an accomplice, who escaped from the police.

The jury returned its verdict shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

GIRL HOLDS UP AUTO.

Forces Chauffeur in Omaha to Help Her Escape Mother.

Omaha, Neb., May 22.—Viola Bims, a 19-year-old girl of Plains, Kan., held up the chauffeur of a passing automobile in the downtown district and forced him to drive to a suburb in order that she might escape from her mother.

Miss Bims came to Omaha recently to escape, she declared, from her stepfather. She was placed in the Good Sheperd home here until her mother could reach the city. Tuesday evening the mother went to the home and the daughter started with her to the station, apparently satisfied. When they reached Thirteenth and Dodge streets, the young woman ran into the street, stopped the driver of an automobile at the point of a revolver, and jumped into the car. She held the revolver at his head until they reached Fiftieth and Bacon streets, where she made her escape.

NEGRO GUILTY OF ENTICING GIRLS.

MUST TAKE OUT LICENSES

Commission on Trail of Delinquents and Will Collect Fees.

Old Bill Against City Paid—Opposition to Saloon Ordinance.

Pawnshops, second-hand shops and pool and billiard halls cannot operate in Duluth without paying for their licenses. The old dodge of making the application and then forgetting to proceed further will no longer be tolerated, nor will the fact that in one or two instances not even that much has been done, be overlooked.

City Clerk C. S. Palmer informed Commissioner Hicken, head of the division of public safety, at the commission meeting yesterday afternoon that applications several weeks old are still in the files of his office. They represent fees of approximately $1,500 which should go to the city treasury. The pawnbrokers pay $125 a year, the second-hand stores, $10 and the pool and billiard tables, $5 each.

Commissioner Hicken stated that the police will immediately inform the delinquents that if the licenses are not taken out at once they will be arrested for running in violation of the ordinance and their establishments closed. The police have been furnished with a list of those who haven't paid and are notifying each of them today of the ultimatum.

Pay Old Bill.

The commission authorized the payment of a bill of $3,582.04, handed down by the old water and light board. The money represents cash which was advanced by the Zenith Furnace company for the extension of a gas feeder in Fifty-eighth avenue west, in 1910. Under the agreement the city paid no interest on the sum advanced. It was stated that the bill was a just claim against the city.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service board, informed the commission of the board's organization with W. B. Getchell as president and himself as secretary. As the charter made no provision for a secretary of the civil service board the board laid the matter before the city commission. It was stated that if the merit system is adopted the secretary of the civil service board will be required to devote his entire time to the work. In the past the secretary has also been secretary of the health commissioner. The matter was referred to Commissioner Hicken, who will take it up with the civil service board and the health director.

Opposition to Ordinance.

The ordinance eliminating brewery control of saloons, cutting out pool and billiard tables, gambling devices, music, free lunches and eating places in saloons was given its second reading. When it comes up for passage at the next meeting, which will probably be next Monday afternoon, opposition to the ordinance will develop. At least some of the commissioners are of the opinion that to wipe out brewery saloons at one sweep is too radical, as it will deprive the general fund of $75,000 to $100,000 of revenue at one sweep. It will also be amended so that chop houses will not be illegal in saloons, although the free lunches and music will probably be barred.

The ordinances appropriating $7,000 for water and gas extensions and $10,000 for sidewalks were advanced by second readings. The toothless ordinance pretending to provide a means for compelling the attendance of absent members of the commission was passed. The measure is so innocuous and harmless and would be so useless should a crisis arise in which it should be necessary to compel attendance that it is little better than a joke.

The First Presbyterian church Sunday school was granted a permit for a pyrotechnical display on Minnesota point July 4. It will be under the supervision of the fire warden.

A petition was received for the improvement of Helm street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth avenues west.

RETIRES ON PENSION.

Officer "Bob" Johnston Has Served the City Twenty-Two Years.

The pension board of the Police Relief association yesterday afternoon granted the application of Robert C. Johnston to retire on a pension of $10 per month. Mr. Johnston has been serving as telephone operator for several years past. Previous to that he was jailer for a number of years and when he joined the force he served fourteen years as a patrolman. June 1 he will have completed twenty-two years and one month on the police department. He is 56 years of age.

Dumplings

For Soups, Stews and Fricasseed Chicken

Left overs of roast lamb, veal or beef, the cheaper cuts of fresh meats, and fowls too old for roasting, make delicious and nourishing stews. K C Dumplings make them doubly attractive and the whole dish is most economical—an object to most families while meats are so high and must be made to go as far as possible.

K C Dumplings

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the well known baking expert.

2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; 1 cup shortening; milk or cream.

Sift together three times, the flour, baking powder and salt; into this work the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough less stiff than for biscuits.

Allow the stew to boil down so that the liquid does not cover the meat or chicken. Add half a cup of cold water to stop its boiling and drop the dough in large spoonfuls on top of the meat or chicken. Cover and let boil again for 15 minutes.

Made with K C Baking Powder and steamed in this way, dumplings are as light as biscuits and are delicious with thickened gravy.

This recipe is adapted from one for Chicken Pot Pie in "The Cook's Book" by Janet McKenzie Hill, editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine. The book contains 90 excellent recipes for things that are good to eat and that help reduce the cost of living.

LICENSES FOR TOBACCONISTS

New Cigarette Law May Condemn All Tobacco as "Makings."

Attorney General Puzzled as to Full Scope of Recent Act.

There is a possibility that every tobacco dealer in the state may be compelled to come under the provision of the cigarette license law, whether he sells cigarettes or not. The cigarette license law was passed by the last legislature.

The question was put up to Attorney General Smith the other day and involved an interpretation of a provision of the law which directs that dealers in cigarettes, cigarette papers and tobacco used in the manufacture of cigarettes shall be licensed. The puzzling feature of the law is that portion of it relating to tobacco used in the making or manufacturing of cigarettes.

There are a thousand brands of tobacco on the market which can be used for cigarettes and Attorney General Smith, having no knowledge of what kind of tobacco is necessary in making cigarettes, was somewhat puzzled as to the answer which he will make to the question which has been put up to him.

All Brands May Be Included.

If he answeres the question in the affirmative, possibly every brand and grade of tobacco, whether in the leaf or granulated form, will come under the provisions of the law. The idea of including cigarette tobacco was to take care of the "makings," and possibly all kinds of tobacco, unless it be the chewing variety, come under this head.

The fee exacted under the cigarette license law is $25 every two years, and should the question propounded to the attorney general be answered in the affirmative, it will mean that thousands of dollars will be paid into the municipal and county treasury. Every dealer in Minnesota will be compelled to pay the license fee whether he sells cigarettes or not.

WILL OPERATE GAS ENGINE PLANT HERE

Duluth will soon be the home of another family, the head of which will be one of the important factors in the construction work at the new steel plant. His name is C. E. Simpson, and he is being brought to Duluth from Joliet, Ill., to construct and operate the gas engine plant at the steel works, as he is considered an expert in this line. Concerning him the Herald of Joliet, Ill., said in its issue of May 19:

"C. C. Sampson, M. E., engineer in charge of the operation of the gas engine plant at the Illinois Steel company for the past two years, has been transferred to the Duluth plant of the corporation, where he will have charge of the construction and operation of a similar plant that is being installed there. He will leave with his family this week for his new position.

"Mr. Sampson came here in 1911 from South Chicago, where he had charge of the gas engine work there. He erected and continued in charge of the plant here. He has been with the corporation for the past seven years, being with the National Packing company previous to that time.

"He is regarded as one of the most efficient engineers in his chosen line, in the country, and is rated very high by the officials of the steel company. He is one of the few men in the country having a thorough knowledge of this work, the erection and operation of the gas engines that are being installed in the different plants of the United States Steel corporation.

"Mr. Sampson obtained his training in the Armour institute, Chicago, and was a graduate of the class of 1904. He is married and has two children."

STATE DROPS ROBBERY CASE

Gus Hermanson's story of how he had been assaulted and robbed of about $80 by Axel Makinen in a Floodwood booze joint on March 10 last was not borne out by testimony of the state's witnesses at the trial of Makinen, which began yesterday. County Attorney Warren E Greene asked the court to dismiss the case, which was done.

Judge Dancer stated that the motion to dismiss would be granted without any hesitation, in view of the fact that it would hardly be possible for a jury to convict the prisoner on the evidence which had been given by the state's witnesses. Hermanson, it appears, had been drinking on the day of the alleged robbery. On the witness stand he told a confused story which received little corroboration from the other witnesses for the state.

DESERT MYSTERY PUT UP TO BRYAN

Chicago, Ill., May 22.—International complications are threatened as a result of the French government's refusal to surrender the body of Miss May Allport, the Chicago girl who died a lonely death at Sfax, French Africa, on the edge of the Sahara.

Dr. Walter H. Allport of Chicago, brother of the young artist, has appealed to Secretary of State Bryan to demand the surrender of his sister's body. Dr. Allport declared that he would go to any length to recover the remains.

An extraordinary parallel to the Allport tragedy is found in the death of Mrs. Hugo Mansfeldt of San Francisco, who died near Tunis, Algiers, on April 25, 1913.

The cable from the American consul in Marseilles, France, to the state department at Washington said, "Her death was due to poison; details will follow." Nothing further has been heard. Mrs. Mansfeldt's last letter to her husband was written on April 16. The news of her death was cabled on April 26.

The parallel goes further than the mere coincidence of death on the border of the desert. Both Miss Allport and Mrs. Mansfeldt were accomplished musicians and both were lured to the scenes of the Garden of Allah by their artistic temperaments. They died within 150 miles of each other under very similar circumstances.

MORE "SEERS" HIT BY GRAND JURY.

Chicago, May 22. — Indictments against five clairvoyants charged with obtaining, chiefly from women, sums ranging from small amounts up to $1,000 for "revealing the future," have been returned by the county grand jury. "Prof." Mason, who, according to charges, was one of a gang of fortune tellers that harvested fortunes in Chicago under alleged collusion with certain police officials, was the only new name mentioned in the indictments. All of the others had been previously indicted. James Ryan, alias "Prof." Charles T. Crane, who was arrested in Wyoming, is the only one apprehended.

Immediately upon returning the bills the jurors returned to consider charges that the police, through "shakedown men," collected money from the "crime trust," of which the clairvoyants are alleged to have been a part.

Temperance and Prohibition

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 19, 1913.

EDITOR COLLIER'S:

IN YOUR department of "Brickbats and Bouquets" you sometimes display courage in printing adverse criticisms of what appears in your paper, and it occurred to me that it was barely possible that you might give space to such a criticism of a recent editorial.

In commenting on a murder in New York by a man who had had several drinks, you express the wish that you Could bring about a state where no newspaper or reporter in a case like this would consider his story complete until he had found out the brand of whisky that the murderer drank, and got the name and photograph of the maker of it.

Continuing, you say:

There are a good many sad things about our civilisation, but few more discouraging than the fact that in Baltimore and Louisville men who make whisky and use all of the arts of trade to stimulate its consumption are able, by virtue of their money, to escape the odium which attaches to all others, like gamblers and panders who stimulate crime and profit by exploiting human weakness.

It occurs to me that your language is intemperate and your reasoning unsound.

I know of nothing, and I believe you know of nothing, that is not subject to abuse. There is no denying that alcoholic beverages may be used to excess, and there is no denying that the freedom of the press may be so misused as to lower the standard of citizenship and cast odium upon an otherwise honored profession.

IN pandering to the prohibitionists you are encouraging men and women to excuse a guilty man and to accuse the innocent. If the man who committed the murder was intoxicated, his intoxication was due to the excessive use of liquor. The man had deliberately overthrown his reason and had made himself a menace to society.

He had the choice of being temperate or intemperate, and he became intemperate. In committing the murder he used a firearm. Firearms are subject to use and to abuse.

Would you have the name and photograph of the maker of the firearm?

It is conceded that the practice of carrying pistols is indirectly responsible for the majority of homicides, and yet I note that you do not strike from your advertising columns the remunerative advertisements of those who make it possible for men to carry concealed deadly weapons. You would make fish of one and flesh of another.

In the case of firearms, you can see that they are useful even though they may be misused; but in the case of liquor you profess to see nothing but the abuse, and you would place the blame for this abuse upon the maker.

Neither the distiller, nor the firearm maker, nor the manufacturer of the butcher knife can follow his product to the ultimate user and guarantee that there shall be no abuse, and you will agree with me that the writer of an editorial cannot be expected to be willing to assume responsibility for the possible effect that that editorial may have upon the mind of the reader.

I KNOW of a case where an editorial is supposed to have encouraged an assassin, and yet, as a rule, editorials work for good, and there would be no sense in seeking to prohibit the writing of editorials on the ground that editorials sometimes work great harm.

A murder by a man who is under the influence of liquor is a strong argument for temperance, but it does not excuse the murderer, nor does it give him the right to shift the burden of responsibility for his sin of intemperance or his crime of murder.

If the editor of COLLIER'S should advocate temperance as such, and not try to make the cause of temperance carry the back-breaking burden of prohibition that does not prohibit, and which is not intended to prohibit, he could do a great work and merit the respect of himself as well as of men who have respect for intellectual integrity.

ANOTHER EVELETH BOYS' CLUB FORMED

Eveleth, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another boys' club, the second in Eveleth, is aiding in the solution of the problem of keeping the young boys off the streets and training them along moral, wholesome lines. This club has as its leader, Rev. E. B. Peterson of the Swedish Baptist church. It is at present composed of fifteen boys ranging in age from 10 to 15 years. Next Saturday evening the boys will have their meeting at the residence of Frank Damberg. On this day will read a paper on "The Condition of the Negro before the Civil War," another on "The Civil War" and the third boy a paper on "The Spanish-American War." Refreshments and games will follow.

ECZEMA WOULD ITCH AND BURN

Came Out in Watery Pimples. Would Have to Walk Floor. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Box 7, Gowan, Minn.—"My eczema came out in watery pimples, a kind of a rash, and looked like watery milk when I would scratch it. And then Oh! how it would itch and burn! My hands were so bad that I could not do anything about the house. I could not wash my face or comb my hair at times. It was on the inside on my hands and feet. My trouble began with having my hands in water too much. My hands would itch and burn so I would have to walk the floor and when I would do that my feet would bleed. As for putting my hands in water, I could not, for if I did my hands would bleed and my feet the same. I was not able to wear my shoes for three months.

"I tried different kinds of remedies but they did no good. By using Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was cured in four months and have seen nothing of the trouble in three years." (Signed) Miss Ada Erickson, May 9, 1912.

Why not have a clear skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. SPECIAL TRAIN PARTY WRECKED

Two Harbors, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The private cars Minnesota and Vermilion, making up a special train run for Auditor H. Johnson of the Iron Range road, the clerks in his office and agents, were in a wreck yesterday morning near Mud lake, about ninety-one and a half miles from Duluth. No one was hurt except Engineer Engineer Hillman, who was scalded on one leg.

The wreck was due to a track-laying gang which was laying steel on the curve where the accident happened and for some reason, which as yet has not been determined, the engineer failed to get the danger signal from the flagman, which was sent out by the extra gang to give the warning. The members of the private party returned to Duluth last night on train No. 4.

Locomotive Turns Over.

The locomotive of the special was turned over in the ditch clear of the main line and the combination car, which was next to the engine was derailed, but remained upright. The two private cars were not damaged in any way, having remained on the track.

Engineer Nelson S. Hillman narrowly escaped serious injuries, but managed to escape the affair with only a slight scalding on one of the legs. All the other members of the crew and the occupants of the private cars escaped without even a scratch, although they received a severe shaking up. A physician was brought to the scene from Tower by a switch engine and Engineer Hillman's injuries were soon cared for and he was made comfortable in one of the private cars. He was brought to this city last night and it is thought that his injuries will not keep him out of the service very long. The other members of the crew were Conductor E. W. Glass, Sr., Brakemen Clifford Symons and Gregor Miller, and Fireman Mark Ennis.

NOT HIS BROTHER.

Chisholm Man Gets Fright Over St. Paul Tragedy.

Chisholm, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Conley of this village was relieved yesterday when he got a telegram from Pennsylvania stating that his brother was home there and safe and not killed as he had heard. Mr. Conley read of a man of that name being killed by a train in St. Paul early in the week and the description of the dead man tallied so closely to that of his brother that he telephoned St. Paul and wired east to make certain.

Several years ago Mr. Conley had a similar experience while living in Superior.

A man's body was found floating in the harbor and papers on his person showed his name to be William Conley. No attention was paid to it other than was usual and it was some two weeks later before Mr. Conley learned through relatives that the William Conley found was a first cousin. The experience taught him that should such a circumstance occur again he would use every effort to determine whether it was a relative or not, hence the anxiety in the case at St. Paul.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEET.

Business to Be Transacted By Ely Organization Friday Evening.

Ely, Minn., May 22—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the Ely Mothers' club will be held Friday evening at the high school auditorium. The annual election of officers will be held, also a general business meeting, after which a program consisting of musical numbers and lantern slides illustrating sacred history, will be given. Among the pictures to be shown will be the most famous of the Madonnas. The meeting will begin at 8. After the program refreshments will be served by the committee of the club.

The mothers' club had a very busy year, having in addition to their regular work given during the season a most successful home talent play, and besides their regular benevolent work here, calls from outside have been received and a sum of money appropriated by the club toward the relief fund for flood sufferers in Ohio. Both Governor Cox and the chairman of the relief association of Ohio responded by letter to the contribution made by the club.

When completed it will be an up-to-date playhouse in every respect.

The ladies of the Congregational church gave a supper last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bray. There was a very good attendance in spite of the rain, and a neat sum was realized.

O. E. Everett returned from Duluth yesterday after spending several days there on business.

The Biwabik baseball team will play two games with Virginia at Virginia next Saturday and Sunday.

F. M. Seeley was here from Two Harbors and visited with his parents the first of the week.

The planting of the trees in the parkings about Biwabik has been hindered by the recent rains.

PASSES OVER VETO.

Eveleth, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the veto of Mayor Saari the members of the council are determined to purchase from the Weyerhaeuser interests for $1,950 the timber on the proposed Ely lake park as the aldermen passed a resolution to that effect Tuesday night over the mayor's objection. Murphy, Dorr & Flynn gave the park to the city, but the timber on it belonged to the Weyerhaeuser people and it was admitted to cut the timber would ruin the park, so the aldermen conceived the idea of purchasing it.

The park board has already made a decided improvement in the place, and, according to plans laid out, much work will be carried on there the present summer and the Lake park made into an ideal pleasure spot.

A resolution was passed by the council granting permission to the Mesaba Electric Railway company to construct a "Y" on Pierce street near the Glode hotel.

HEALY THEATER WALL TUMBLES.

Hibbing, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Part of the east wall of the Healy theater which was burned last year fell with a crash yesterday afternoon without injuring any one.

Several plans have been formed for the repair of the building and putting it to use as a garage, a warehouse or some similar purpose but thus far all of them have come to nothing. With the fall of the wall considerable repairs would probably be necessary in order to make any use whatever of the structure.

Grand Rapids Wedding.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes of this village and Alexander Magladry of Detroit were quietly married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride by Rev. A. REPORT AGAINST TWO PROPOSED CHANNELS

Engineers Do Not Favor Deepening of St. Louis River.

Lake Superior - Mississippi Canal Is Also Turned Down.

A report adverse to the proposed extension of the St. Louis river channel to Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, has been made to the war department by the special board of engineers appointed to make an examination. The board consisted of Col. C. L. Potter, Col. F. R. Shunk and Capt. E. D. Peek.

The unfavorable report is based on the conclusion "That the benefits to be obtained are not commensurate with the cost."

Capt. Peek has issued a notice to interested persons that they have the right of appeal to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington.

The same board has reported adversely to the proposed Lake Superior & Mississippi canal. The reason stated for the adverse report is "that the present railroad rate on freight between the Twin Cities and the Head of the Lakes is less than will be the cost of canal transportation when the cost of extra handling and operation, maintenance and interest on investment have been added to the Erie canal rate for an equal distance."

The board of engineers held a hearing at Duluth during the winter and testimony was offered on both subjects. Duluth people supported the plan for the extension of the St. Louis river channel and opposed the proposed Lake Superior & Mississippi canal on the ground that it would be commercially valueless, but would act as potential water competition to enable the railroads to extend preferential rates to the Twin Cities.

Superior people also appeared in favor of the proposed extension of the St. Louis river channel, and the proposed canal was championed by Stillwater and St. Paul people.

DULUTHIANS RETURN FROM WINTER SPENT IN CUBA

LUTHER MENDENHALL.

That Havana is the ideal place to pass the winter months is the firmly established belief of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Mendenhall, who have returned to Duluth from their winter home in the Cuban capital. They have been spending the cold months there for eight years now, and while residents of Havana occupy their own dwelling. During the past winter Mr. and Mrs. Mendenhall entertained many Northerners, several of whom were from Duluth, among them being Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Willcuts. They also saw John Millen during his stay there but failed to see John A. Stephenson while he was in the city. Returning they came over the East Coast road, the railroad built over the ocean by Henry M. Flagler, who died a few days ago.

"We arrived at Havana on Dec. 18 and left on May 3," said Mr. Mendenhall this morning, "and during that time passed as delightful a time as one could imagine. All of that time the variations of the thermometer were very limited. It would go down to about 70 deg. at night, so that one could sleep comfortably under a blanket, and in the daytime never went above 80 deg. The climate is not humid, but on the contrary very dry and pleasant. The rainy season is in summer, so we escaped that—it was always sunshine. I am told that in summer the thermometer at night is about 70 deg. and seldom does it go higher than 90 in daytime, so you see it is most pleasant.

"Almost all of the houses are built with courts, and in these courts a profusion of plants, palms and the like are kept, so that they seem a veritable Eden. One curious thing I observed in Havana is that there are no bugs or insects to destroy the plants. The only reason I can assign for this is that there are so many chameleons—harmless little lizards that one can tame—who are deadly enemies to insects. There are practically no flies. An occasional one buzzing about a table is a rather unusual sight. There are no mosquitoes except in the lower part of the city near the water. So, free from these afflictions of most cities, and with the balmy air, the continual sunshine, and sleepable nights, it is a good place for recreation.

"The residence portion of the city is ancient as to houses, which are built mostly of a mixture of limestone and rock, the more modern ones being of cement, however. The walls are heavy, the ceilings exceptionally high—in my house, for instance, they being thirty feet above the floor—and there are no glass panes in the windows except in the houses of a few Americans who have gone there recently. The windows are open, but barred to keep out marauders, and one practically lives in the open air all of the time. The houses are tinted in almost all colors and in gazing at the rows of houses one is impressed with the picturesque riot of color as though looking at a painting.

"My property there is on a fine corner, and the lot is about 168 feet square. The house occupies one-third of that space, the rest being taken up with a handsome garden. The house is about fifty years old, having been built in slavery days when labor was cheap, and it is so well constructed that there is not yet a crack in it. Almost all of these houses are one-story affairs and cover a lot of ground space. They are just the thing for that kind of country and climate."

OBITUARY

Capt. George S. Anthony, who, as commander of the bark Catalpa, rescued six Fenian prisoners from a British penal colony in Australia in 1876, died at New Bedford, Mass., May 22, aged 70 years. The Catalpa sailed ostensibly for a whaling voyage, and after cruising about for several months made a dash for the Australian coast, took the prisoners on board and carried them to New York.

Brig. Gen. Joseph Cooke Jackson, a veteran of the Civil war, died at his home in New York May 22. The burial will be at Hartford, Conn. Gen. Jackson was born in Newark, N. J., in 1835. He served with distinction from the time of his appointment as aide of the staff of Gen. Robert Anderson in 1861 till the close of the war.

"ROE" SAYS HE IS NOT RIDGEWAY.

Rochester, Minn., May 22.—Richard Roe, the "man of mystery" at the state asylum here, by signs today denied emphatically that he was a painter or that he knows anything about painting, as indicated in dispatches from Baltimore that "Roe" might be James Ridgeway, a painter of that city.

"Roe" today noticed an article concerning Capt. Robert Bartlett, who at one time was with Peary, and indicated by signs that he knew Capt. Bartlett and that the latter was acquainted with him.

DEMOCRATS WORK ON COMMITTEES.

Washington, May 22.—The Democratic majority of the house committee on ways and means met today to consider assignments to the committees.

The effort of the house leaders is to blend consideration for past service in congres, personal preferences of both the old and new members and such a distribution of committee assignments as to preserve a compact, harmonious, effective working party organization.

TARIFF FIGHT MOVES ALONG.

Washington, May 22.—The tariff fight in the senate moved another step today when Senator Penrose made ready to bring up his resolution for printing and circulating among manufacturers the list of tariff questions proposed by Senator La Follette. A sub-committee composed of Senators Simmons, Stone and Williams was ready to propose a substitute list as an amendment. Senator Simmons was ready to agree to the plan of sending out questions if the substitute was agreed to.

Sub-committees of the finance committee continued hearing manufacturers. All hearings will be closed Tuesday. Senator Stone's sub-committee still is working over the wool and metal schedule.

BUSY DAY FOR COMMITTEES

Public Health, Taxation, Education and Homecrofting Discussed.

One Thousand Gladiolas Will Bloom on Second Street Lot.

This was a busy day for sub-committees of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club. The committee on public health, taxation, educational co-operation and homecrofting met at noon and a meeting of the committee on neighborhood clubs was set for 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A stricter enforcement of the quarantine regulations and more cheerful co-operation on the part of the public in obtaining the isolation of contagious disease patients will probably be the first work undertaken by the public health committee. The committee discussed quarantine today and determined to make an effort to have the laws respected more generally than is now the case. It was the first meeting of the committee and the ground was covered in a general way.

The committee will work in co-operation with the health department. Members of the committee say that the violation of quarantine regulations is due not entirely to laxity on the part of the health department but to a disposition on the part of the public to evade the discipline of the health laws if possible. If people generally would frown on the quarantine breaker, there would be less of it, they say. Several other matters of public health were discussed, but there was no action taken. Dr. E. L. Tuohy is chairman of the committee.

Flower Exhibit.
One thousand gladiolas blooming together in the lot at the corner of First avenue east and Second street will be a sight for flower lovers this summer. The bulbs will be set by the homecroft committee of the club, as a foundation for the flower exhibit at the industrial and agricultural display to be held at the curling club next fall.

The committee will also establish a model vegetable garden on the same lot, and others at the West end and at West Duluth if a suitable location can be found. The products will be canned at the end of the season and Duluth people will be shown what can be done by intelligent use of a restricted plot of ground. A man will be employed to look after the gardens and to give information to amateurs.

It is too late for use this season, but during the summer the members of the committee will prepare and issue a booklet giving suggestions on seeds and gardening methods. The booklet will be compiled with special reference to soil and climatic conditions in Duluth and it is expected to be a welcome aid to amateur gardeners.

The taxation committee held a short session and did little more than talk over the situation. Its principal duties will come when the tax levies are being set by city county and school district next fall.

The committee on educational co-operation talked over the plans for the continuation school to be conducted by the board of education at the Washinton grade and manual training school during the coming year. It was the first meeting of the committee and its work was talked over only in a general way.

NEW POLICE AUTO ARRIVES

Is Combination Patrol and Ambulance—Replaces Old Black Maria.

Duluth's new combination automobile patrol and emergency ambulance arrived this morning.

It's a 50-horse power Peerless and will be stationed in the headquarters station ready for service, replacing the "Kato" which has long outlived its usefulness.

The new automobile is powerful, nearly noiseless and ranks with the best outfits of its kind. With it the police will be able to cover a much greater territory, in les stime, than was possible with the rattle box which now practically goes into the discard. It will not be ditched, but will be fixed up as well as can be done and kept in reserve. It will still run but is slow and unreliable.

The big Peerless is so arranged that it can be transformed into an ambulance in a few seconds. It will be fitted with the necessary stretcher and equipment. With it the police will be able to respond to accident calls at a minute's notice and handle the cases properly. The new car fills a need which has long been felt in the city. When the pulmotor is added to the equipment nothing will be lacking to handle accident cases, unless it might be having a surgeon stationed at headquarters constantly. Duluth is yet a little small for that and Dr. Murphy, police surgeon offices but a short distance away, where he can be summoned in a very short time.

BROKER WAS FOOLED.

Lawyer Testifies in the Case of "Boy Financier."

Chicago, May 22.—Further testimony bearing on the financial activities of the "boy broker," Butler R. Storke, was adduced today when H. H. Barnum, attorney for Emil Wagner, a broker, took the witness stand in the suit of Mrs. Laura G. Rogers of Milwaukee, grandmother of Storke, to recover $30,000 from eight defendants.

Storke, according to the witness, called up Wagner and arranged for stock transactions. Wagner believed the young man was acting for a broker, by whom Storke said he was employed. Storke incurred liabilities of $10,000 before it was discovered that he was acting for himself.

Storke offered $20,000 in stock of the Pennsylvania Coal company as security for the liability. Storke had held this stock in trust, and when it was sold, witness said, it became necessary to recover it from Wagner. Storke extricated himself from this difficulty by substituting bonds of the Wauwausee Inn company, which also were held in trust by him, pending sale. Witness added that he then began an investigation which ultimately resulted in Mrs. Rogers' turning over $30,000 to protect her grandson.

Forgan Denies Threats.
David R. Forgan, president of the National City bank, told his version of the conversation he had with Storke, in which conversation, Storke testified, Forgan had threatened to send the young man to prison. The bank president denied Storke's story.

"Young Storke came to the bank to see me," President Forgan said. "He began his talk by referring to securities that he had said his father would bring in. He said he could not bring them that day, but would the next morning.

"I replied that I didn't believe he would be in the next morning; that I did not believe he had any securities. He answered by saying he always aimed to tell the truth. 'Well,' I answered, 'you haven't been known to hit the mark yet. If you think that is the way to do business, you'll end up in Joliet.'"

Mr. Forgan said he never threatened Storke.

WILL INSPECT DULUTH PAVEMENTS.

Minot, N. D., officials will be in Duluth tomorrow or Saturday to inspect paving of this city. The officials in the party will be Nehemiah Davis, president of the commission; Commissioner Dewey Dorman and E. F. Thomas, city engineer.

The commission is out on a junket of inspection and will visit Regina, Moose Jaw, Superior, the Twin Cities, Grand Forks and Fargo besides Duluth on the trip. The trip is taken prior to deciding what kind of pavement they intend accepting for their own city.

VOTES TO REPEAL "MARY ANN" LAW.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—Democrats and Socialists accomplished their coup in the assembly today when they succeeded in forcing the passage of the Roessler bill, repealing the second choice primary law, known as the "Mary Ann" law. Republicans of both factions united for its retention. The senate has yet to take action on this measure.

DENVER VOTE IS NOT ALL COUNTED.

Denver, Colo., May 22.—Returns of the result of the election for city commissioners, auditor and on several charter amendments, indicate that John B. Hunter was elected commissioner of improvements, J. M. Perkins, commissioner of social welfare; Alexander Nesbit, commissioner of public safety; Otto Thum, commissioner of property; Clair J. Pitcher, commissioner of finance, and James F. Markey, auditor.

Markey has maintained a lead over all other aspirants for his office. No other candidates have received a plurality, according to present figures.

"THE ART OF POLITENESS."
Manchester Guardian: One or two of the notices of Lord Wolseley's career mention the protracted dispute between Wolseley and Sir William Russell as to the behavior of the troops in South Africa in 1879.

Russell had accused the troops of drunkenness and looting in no uncertain terms. Wolseley defended his men with generous warmth, but the manner in which both Wolseley and Russell kept their regard for each other, each well knowing that the other spoke in sincerity, was a model of how a dispute of principle should be conducted between public men.

Sir John Tenniel in Punch charmingly hit off this polite yet furious quarrel in a cartoon. The cartoon was headed, "The Art of Politeness," and underneath were the words:

Sir Garnet Wolseley—Pardon me, my dear doctor, if I say that you have been hoaxed by gross exaggerations and transparent untruths.

Dr. Russell—Forgive me, my dazzling young general, for mentioning that you are a pig-headed ignoramus and don't know what you are talking about.

PERFECT
HEALTH AND STRENGTH

—in men, a condition those possessing it are frequently most careless with, yet a priceless boon to those lacking it, can only be found in the vigorously healthy system. With the sufferer from some special, private ailment—or chronic disease—there is not only the disease itself to cure, but the lack of vitality and nervous force due to defective nutrition that may only be regained through some special agency. Thus the Progressive Medical Doctors, with their latest scientific healing apparatus, which possesses a tremendous rejuvenating potency, have been successful even in cases where the patient had given up in despair. Thus the treatment proved the turning point to health in such cases. Nutrition was at last supplied, the wasted system built up and the former health and strength restored. If you are afflicted, visit us and let us show you ample testimony from cured patients.

SLUMP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Has a Reaction After Opening With a Bulge.

Flax Is Lower With Fair Amount of Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 22.—The early bulge in the grain market disappeared before the close and the options came down to earth again. May wheat closed at a loss from yesterday's close of ¼c, so did July, and September option closed at ⅝c off. May and July durum closed unchanged. The strength was not sufficient to sustain the advance of yesterday and today, hence the fall.

Vigorous attempts to bull the grain market today, up to a late hour had succeeded only in giving it more than ordinary steadiness and strength. The opening in wheat was higher and the operations of the market hugged closely to the opening figure. All news was bullish, coming from various quarters, and cables were strong, foreign markets opening at an advance and going still higher to the close. But that made no difference. Further reports of damage in the Southwest, backing the reports of yesterday, despite further denials coming from the same quarter, caused a stiffening. Advices to the effect that the Canadian wheat crop of last year was overestimated and that all of it is now in transit, holding out the hope that foreign markets must soon turn to this side of the line for export, was another slight factor. So was the report of some export business from Baltimore yesterday. But only steadiness was the result.

July wheat opened at an advance of ⅛c, and continued to fluctuate around the opening figure to ¼c up. September option adopted exactly the same tactics except that it did not have an opening figure. July durum kept around yesterday's closing figure to ⅛@¼c higher. Other wheat options were inactive.

Slump in Flax.

The flax market indulged in a slump today and on the decline there were a good many buying orders. Business in fact was the brisk est in some days. May flax closed ½c over yesterday, without activity. July and September flax lost ¾c each net and October flax fell off 1c. It is believed that the buying was not a covering of shorts or to fill small orders, but that it was done as a matter of good business on the low price already established and the decline following.

Wheat stocks in Minneapolis have decreased in five days, 800,000 bu; flour shipments were 49,463 bbl.

More news is coming in from various points in Kansas today concerning winter wheat conditions thereabouts. Wichita wired today:

"Kansas acreage is much in excess of the normal stand. We have ample moisture generally throughout the state and must not lose sight of the fact that with what moisture we have had there have been high temperatures and the usual hot winds. The territory affected by the last precipitation is mostly in the vicinity of Englewood and Ashland, which is a grazing country and unimportant so far as the crops are concerned. Kansas should have 100,000,000 to 110,000,000 bu of wheat and this is figuring conservatively."

• • •

Kansas City wires:

"Fred K. Larrabee, president of the Larrabee mills at Hutchinson, Kan., here today, says reports of wheat damage are grossly exaggerated. Mr. Larrabee is about the biggest miller, bank and farm owner in Southwest Kansas."

• • •

Boston wires: Cables for cash wheat pay no attention to our advance although as much out of line as before.

"Frost has occurred in the Volga district and many reports say there is damage to spring wheat but the acreage is a large one and the prospects are generally favorable for a good yield. Crop prospects are generally good and this is particularly true of winter wheat and rye in the Don territory, which supplies a large percentage of the arrivals at Rostoff. Shipments are expected to increase soon, but it is certain that very little of this will come to the United Kingdom."

• • •

Other foreign crop news from the same source follows:

Argentine—Estimate of wheat shipments this week, 2,400,000 bu, last week, 2,480,000 bu, last year, 3,792,000 bu. Corn, this week, 4,250,000 bu, last week, 4,157,000 bu, last year, 4,065,000. The seeding of the new crop is being favored by good weather conditions.

India—Recent heavy rains in northern portion of the United Provinces will delay the movement of wheat.

France—According to an official report dated May 1, the wheat condition was 74 per cent against 75 per cent last year; of oats, 73 per cent against 75 per cent last year.

Russia—Our agent at Nicolaieff states that the crops in the Southwest are excellent but that general rains will be required shortly.

Clearances reported today are: Wheat, 511,000 bu; flour, 15,000 bbl; corn, 3,000 bu; oats, 220,000 bu; wheat and flour together equal, 579,000 bu.

• • •

Wheat—Receipts, 536,000 bu, last year 314,000 bu; shipments, 551,000 bu, last year, 506,000 bu.

Corn—Receipts, 292,000 bu, last year, 268,000 bu; shipments, 230,000 bu, last year, 383,000 bu.

A wire from Minneapolis has the following to say concerning Canadian wheat:

"All information in reports indicates that the Canadian crop was over-estimated last year, and that farmers have nothing on hand. Present receipts are from wheat in transit. Exporters own all May and July options as well as the cash wheat and have the bulk of it sold abroad. The controversy on the sight drafts has been settled, and foreigners are again in the market, bids being only fractionally out of line today. It would seem that if foreigners have difficulty in obtaining the necessary supplies in Canada, the demand will spread to American wheat."

• • •

Kansas City wires: A letter was received here from Lincoln Center, Kan., says:

"Wheat has gone back during the past two weeks and we figure on only half a crop in this vicinity."

New York: Bartlett-Frazier report that 300,000 bu No. 2 hard wheat was worked yesterday, 200,000 of which went to Baltimore exporters.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Are in Scant Supply Except at Steadily Rising Prices.

Final Dealings Characterized By Dullness and Close Steady.

New York, May 22.—Speculative sentiment improved in the stock market today. Although further weakness was exhibited by a few minor railroad and industrial shares, the representative stocks, after an initial period of heaviness, ruled slightly higher on the day. The fact that a good market existed for the New York City bonds at par or better was regarded as reassuring.

Rumors of forthcoming favorable developments were circulated in connection with a number of stocks, but speculative interest was too small to permit of energetic bull movements.

Bonds were irregular.

There was active selling of the leading stocks at the opening today, but offerings were absorbed readily and the list held near yesterday's close. National Railways of Mexico second preferred and Canadian Pacific declined a point and Baltimore & Ohio convertibles reached a new low price at 82. Reading was unchanged on large sales and slight fractional losses were recorded for the other leaders. The first sale of the New York City 4½'s was a block of 400,000 at par.

Brisk buying of individual stocks infused a better tone into the market, but the demand for the recognized leaders was rather light. Brooklyn Transit and Consolidated Gas were decidedly strong and Canadian Pacific rallied considerably.

The market gave a good exhibition of strength in the early afternoon and became slightly strong.

Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were the strongest. Low priced copper shares were bought heavily on dividend rumors.

Shorts were much perturbed over the aggressive rise in prices without apparent change in speculative conditions to explain it. Stocks were in scant supply except at steadily rising figures, and the ease with which Union Pacific jumped 2½ and Reading 2 points testified to the over-extended short position in these properties.

Advances of between 1 and 2 points were scattered pretty liberally all through the list.

The market closed steady. The upward movement was checked when the Harriman stocks weakened on profit-taking. Offerings were not pressed on the market extensively and the final dealings were characterized by dullness and a return to steadiness.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 22.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points, and sold about 4 to 8 points net higher during the early trading on continued covering and a scattering demand. Relatively steady cables, apprehension of excessive rainfall in the western belt, and the failure of the market to weaken on the breaking of the eastern belt south appeared to account for part of the buying and as prices worked above the high level of yesterday a few stop orders were uncovered.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 12.10; middling gulf, 12.35. Sales, none.

Futures closed firm; closing bids: May, 11.69; June, 11.74; July, 11.31; August, 11.59; September, 11.31; October, 11.24; November, 11.25; December, 11.25; January, 12.21; March, 11.29.

Cattle—Receipts, 4,000 head; steady; beeves, $7.10@8.85; Texas steers, $6.75@7.70; western steers, $7.00@8.85; stockers and feeders, $5.80@8.00; cows and heifers, $3.80@7.90; calves, $7.00@9.75.

NEW RECORDS BEING MADE

Shipments From Local Port Exceed Those of Last Year.

Customs House Statistics Show Big Increase in All Lines.

Customs office figures up to May 19 this year, in comparison with those during the same period in 1912, show that this year's shipments from Duluth will be excelled by far the shipments of last year.

The total grain shipments from Duluth during April and including May 18 of this year were 8,068,470 bushels. Up to May 19 in 1912 but 5,780,638 bushels were shipped out of the local harbor. The total figures at the customs office are completed only to May 19 at the present time.

In April of last year 1,748,671 bushels were shipped, in comparison to 2,923,684 bushels during April this year. From May 1 to May 19 of last year 4,031,967 bushels were shipped, while during the same period this year 5,145,356 were shipped.

The ore shipments show that this year's total is almost twice as large as that of last year. Up to May 19 this year 868,950 tons of ore was shipped out of Duluth, while last year 572,979 tons were shipped. In April this year 158,200 tons were shipped and last year 18,055 tons.

The total flour shipments this year exceed those of last year by 90,110 barrels. This year 116,460 barrels, in comparison with 26,350 barrels last year, were shipped out of the local harbor. In April, 1912, 13,000 barrels were shipped and in April of this year 25,900 barrels were shipped. Up to May 19 of last year 13,350 barrels were shipped, while 80,500 barrels were shipped this year.

Up to May 19 this year 331 tons of merchandise was shipped out of Duluth, while during the same time last year 329 tons were shipped. These totals are very close, but indications at present show that this year's shipments will far exceed those of last year. In April of last year 68 tons were shipped and this year 57 tons. During May of last year 261 tons were sent out, while 274 tons were shipped this year.

The above figures all show that this season's shipments out of Duluth will probably establish new records. Indications point to a banner year for the local port.

FOR PROTECTION OF VESSEL BROKERS

Owing to the delays at the Eastern grain elevators, brokers at Lake Superior ports have had considerable trouble with sample grain cargoes and as a result, are now threatened with several lawsuits. To offset this situation in the future, the following letter is being sent out to all shippers by the Tomlinson company, Standard Shipping company, G. W. Head and Belcher & Co.:

"As vessel brokers, we have had considerable trouble with the owners of vessels which we have chartered, on account of delays loading sample grain. Some or us are now threatened with lawsuits for collection of damages. Boats are also complaining about the bulk of sample grain causing a short carrying capacity. Many owners have notified us that under no conditions are we permitted to charter their boats for any thing except contract grades of grain, and in order to meet their wishes, and for our own protection, we are reluctantly compelled to notify the trade as follows:

"On any future contracts for carriage of grain from Port Arthur and Fort William or on Canadian grain from Duluth and Superior, you will please understand that these charters will cover only the following grades of grain either separate or mixed:

"Wheat—I northern, 2 northern, 3 northern, No. 4 wheat, No. 5 wheat, No. 6 wheat and feed wheat. Oats—1 C. W. oats, 2 C. W. oats, extra 1 feed oats, 1 feed oats and 2 feed oats. Flax—No. 1 northwestern flax, No. 2 Canadian western flax, No. 3 Canadian western flax. Barley—No. 3 barley, No. 4 barley and feed barley.

"Shipper will be permitted to ship grain of any kind or grade or mixed grades on any of his contracts or charters, but the vessel carrying such grain will be paid one-half cent per bushel in addition to the shipper's chartered rate, this applying only upon compartments of the vessel not loaded entirely with grades mentioned in paragraph three of the circular. It is understood this paragraph does not apply upon entire cargoes when loaded by one shipper, provided that shipper completes loading a vessel of 120,000 bushels or less wheat capacity, shipper's option either at not more than two elevators or not to exceed twenty-four consecutive hours from the time vessel reports for cargo, or loads a vessel of over 120,000 bushels wheat capacity, shipper's option at not more than three elevators or not exceeding forty-eight hours from time vessel reports for cargo (Sundays excepted if elevators not loading.)"

TRIAL TRIP IS SUCCESS.

Steamer North American Shows Good Speed on Initial Trial.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—Gratifying to owners and builders alike was the showing made by the new passenger steamer North American, which was given her builder's trial trip Tuesday morning from the Ecorse yard of the Great Lakes Engineering works, where she was built for the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transportation company.

After leaving the shipyard with representatives of her owners and the shipbuilding company as practically her only passengers, the North American cruised up the river to a point below Belle Isle, where she turned for the return trip, which was extended a considerable distance out into Lake Erie.

On her trip into Lake Erie the steamer is reported to have shown a speed of about seventeen miles an hour. Her builders anticipate that the new type of quadruple expansion engine, with which the steamer is equipped, will enable her to maintain a speed of fifteen miles an hour on her regular route between Chicago, Georgian bay ports and Duluth, over which she is scheduled to make a round trip in seven days, with stops at Mackinac island, Collingwood, Sault Ste. Marie, Fort William and Milwaukee.

The steamer is to be used exclusively in passenger traffic, carrying no freight. Her passenger capacity is about 520 persons. With a length of 285 feet she has a beam of 47 feet and depth of hull of 17 feet.

While the steamer is practically completed, there remain a few odds and ends of finishing to be done and her furnishings are yet to be installed. It is expected she will leave Ecorse for Chicago about May 25. She has already been chartered to carry a party of bankers on her first trip over her route, early in June. Capt. A. E. Johnson will be master and R. Zeltsch, chief engineer, of the new ship.

SEAMEN'S UNION PICKS BOSTON.

Seattle, Wash., May 22.—The seventh annual convention of the International Seamen's union, which has been in session here more than a week, adjourned after selecting Boston for the 1914 convention. The convention decided to make a vigorous campaign for membership in the coming year, in expectation of a large increase in American shipping with the opening of the Panama canal. Andrew Furuseth of San Francisco was re-elected president.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SUPERIOR.

The Northwestern Fuel company of Superior is building the biggest and most improved coal handling bridge in the world. The length of the bridge will be 710 feet and the highest point with the boom raised 160 feet in the air. The total weight of the bridge will be 1,500 tons.

The first ton-ton bucket and largest at the Head of the Lakes will be installed. The capacity of the bridge will be 560 net tons per hour unloaded from boat to dock. The bridge is mounted on wheels and operated by electricity.

The United States government engineers have started their ninth season's work on the $2,000,000 improvements to the Superior natural entry. It is expected this work will be completed next year.

The Pittsburg Coal company is spending $500,000 on its Superior dock. The plant is being thoroughly overhauled and new equipment installed. When completed it will be electrically operated and compare with some of the bigger docks at the Head of the Lakes.

SHORTAGE OF MEN HANDICAPS MINES.

The European war continues to greatly affect the mining industry in this country especially on the Mesaba range, and is handicapping the ore shipping industry.

When the war in Europe started last year, hundreds of Bulgarians, Montenegrins and Servians left the range to take part. As a result the mines have been hampered ever since through a lack of help.

With the mines under this handicap, the ore movement is delayed. Since the opening of the season the stock piles have been reduced considerably, and as soon as the shipping is dependent on mining operations entirely the delays may be even more noticeable.

Fast Trip to Lorain.

Lorain, Ohio, May 22.—The steamer James H. Farrell, which arrived at this port this morning, made a record trip from the upper lakes. She made the trip from the pier at Duluth to the pier at Lorain in seventy hours and twenty minutes. Forty hours from the Soo is considered a good run. The Farrell made this part of the run in thirty-seven hours. She carried 11,400 tons of ore for the National Tube company docks.

Big Ore Fleet.

The congestion at the ore docks has been greatly relieved since yesterday morning and normal shipments are now reported.

Since yesterday noon seventeen boats left the local harbor with ore loads.

Coal Is Scarce.

Cleveland, May 22.—Coal is growing scarce at the lower lake docks. Shippers have pretty well cleaned up everything that can go into large ships. The coal is not coming in very fast and the tonnage that has been loaded since the opening has been extraordinarily large. The car shortage is acute and until the cars that have been unloaded return, coal will not be plentiful. There were not so many ships lined up for the coal docks yesterday and today.

FOND DU LAC INDIANS WILL NOT JOIN CASS LAKE FEDERATION

"Insurgents" Suspicious of Conference Held May 6 and Send Independent Delegates to Washington.

Fond du Lac Indians refuse to recognize the conference of Minnesota Indians held May 6 at Cass Lake, and they have held an independent convention, electing representatives to go to Washington and deal directly with the commissioner of Indian affairs in regard to preparing a new enrollment of the reservation.

The three delegates, Chief Mike Diver, Joseph Northrup and Rev. F. H. Pequette, arrived in Duluth today on their way to Washington.

Mr. Northrup is a former student at Carlisle university.

"The chief points which we will take up," said Mr. Northrup, "are the allotting of the unallotted land and the making of a new enrollment. There are many Indians on the reservation who are not on the present enrollment and who are entitled to the benefits accruing members of the reservation. We prefer to take these matters up directly with the commissioner of Indian affairs than to deal through the representatives elected at the conference held in Cass Lake.

"The Cass Lake conference was supposed to represent all the Indians in Minnesota. They are all Chippewas, and while we are Chippewas also, we believe we can get better results by working independently."

The conference at which the three delegates to Washington were elected was held at Sawyer on May 20, at which time the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas, a great deal of apprehension is felt by members of this council that persons not members of said band of Indians seem to be taking undue interest in the affairs of this reservation, and for the information of the Hon. Commissioner of Indian Affairs, it is hereby resolved that a delegation of three be chosen and empowered to act for said Fond du Lac Indians, and said delegation is hereby instructed to proceed at once to Washington and there acquaint the Hon. Commissioner of Indian Affairs with the true state of affairs on the Fond du Lac reservation in Minnesota."

TRAINMEN TALK OF COMPENSATION.

San Francisco, Cal., May 22.—At this morning's session of the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the question of a Federal workmen's compensation law was taken up. It is to be decided at this meeting whether a compulsory compensation law or an optional one is desired by the organization, and when a decision is reached, it is said, it will be placed in the hands of the executive committee to be laid before congress.

Immense Mileage.

The annual record of the transportation lines of the Pennsylvania railroad system has just been issued. It shows that the company now has 11,644 miles of line and 25,695 miles of track. There are some 100,000 shareholders interested in these lines, or nearly four for every mile of trackage.

A compilation shows that the system paid out last year $188,749,312 in wages, or $7,346 for every mile of track, and that there are more than eight employes for every mile.

Seek Dissolution.

San Francisco, Cal., May 22.—William Sproule, president, and W. F. Herrin, E. C. Calvin and E. O. McCormick, vice presidents of the Southern Pacific, left last night for New York to attend another conference with Union Pacific officials on the dissolution of the merger existing between the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, ordered by the supreme court of the United States.

TWO UNKNOWN DEAD.

Houghton County, Mich., Authorities Have Cases to Sift.

Houghton, Mich., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Apparently smothered to death after falling, face downward in the soft mud, the body of an unidentified man was found yesterday on the Paradise road, near Chassell village. The body is held at the Krellwitz morgue, Houghton, for identification. The man was about 40 years of age, fair of complexion, light hair, and was garbed as a woodsman.

Another unidentified man was found in a ditch on the Atlantic road, near Atlantic, Wednesday. He was unconscious but near death when found and had a bad gash in his head. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Hancock. A theory of highway robbery and attempted murder is held by many in this case.

JURY SPENDS NIGHT ON CASE

No Verdict in Personal Injury Suit Has Been Reached.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, no verdict had been reached by the jury in the personal injury action which Fred Eggers brought in district court against the National Candy company and others, in which he asked $10,000 damages for the benefit of his 4-year-old son, Raymond, and $1,200 to offset the loss of the boy's services.

The claim made in both cases, which were tried jointly before the same jury, was that the boy had been left a cripple as a result of having been run over by a delivery truck. The jury took the case at 5 o'clock last evening and spent the night deliberating on the issues.

UPPER PENINSULA YEOMEN IN REVOLT.

Republic, Mich., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of a bitter feeling developed between the Upper Peninsula and Lower Michigan members of the Yeomen of America at the state convention of that fraternal order at Menominee during the winter, the lodges north of the Straits will seek a divorce from the southern peninsula branch and the establishment of a jurisdiction of their own. Delegates will be sent to the national conclave at Oklahoma City next month to urge the project. It is proposed either that the Upper Peninsula alone or that it and Northern Wisconsin be set aside as a separate district.

WANTS COLOR LINE IN MAIL SERVICE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 22.—A note of optimism was sounded by P. J. Schardt of Milwaukee, president of the National Railway Mail Clerks' association, at its convention here when he quoted figures to show that there has been a general increase of salaries for the clerks during the last year, and that increases are scheduled for the coming fiscal year. He also spoke of the race question in the railway mail service, and advocated, for the benefit of both white and negro races, some method of separating them in their working hours.

The report of the treasurer showed that the organization has a substantial working balance to its credit.

Hoboes Love Name.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 22.—Officials of the Itinerant Workers of America union, formerly known as the "Hoboes of America," have sent a telegram to Rev. Peter Wynhover of New Orleans, national treasurer, asking him to return to the American Federation of Labor a charter granted them under the name of "United Labor union." A new charter with the name "Itinerant Workers' union (Hoboes of America)" will be asked from the Federation of Labor.

REPUBLICANS PLAN BATTLE

Will Initiate Democratic Organization for the 1914 Campaign.

Gallinger Is Made Head of Committee to Represent Senate.

Washington, May 22.—Republican senators at a conference today appointed a committee of five to confer with members of the house on the advisability of an early joint caucus to organize a congressional campaign committee, establish headquarters and organize for the coming congressional campaign. The senators named were Gallinger, Townsend, Norris, Jones and Clark of Wyoming.

Senator Gallinger presided at the conference, which was attended by thirty senators, among them Senators Cummins, Sherman and Norris, Progressive Republicans.

It was the prevailing opinion that the campaign to elect a Republican congress in 1914 should begin at once, and that the campaign committee should be composed of representatives and senators, the plan already adopted by the Democrats at the suggestion of President Wilson.

Will Open Headquarters.

The conference also developed the unanimous opinion that publicity headquarters should be opened and the campaign committee formed at once. It was planned to call the joint caucus next week.

There was discussion of the action of the Democrats in cancelling pairs for executive sessions, and it was decided that each Republican senator should take care of his own case.

The conciliation committee of Progressive Republicans named by Senator Sherman as a result of the recent Chicago conference to urge a national convention next fall, will meet here tomorrow to plan for the meeting of the national executive committee here Saturday.

Senator Cummins, Jones and Crawford and Representative Crampton will act for the conciliation committee, and decide how to lay the action of the Chicago conference before the executive committee.

PRESBYTERIANS NEAR END OF SESSIONS

Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—With much of the business attendant upon the Pan-Presbyterian Pentecost already disposed of, commissioners of the Northern, Southern and United assemblies entered today's sessions determined to finish the official program as speedily as possible.

While there has been discussion of extending the sessions of both the United and Southern assemblies, it was regarded as probable that today would witness the end of the deliberations. The program of the Northern assembly extends through tomorrow, the selection of a meeting place in 1914 being one of the important matters still on schedule.

Crowded out by routine business again yesterday, the discussion of withdrawal from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America by the Southern assembly, today was one of the most interesting features of that body's deliberations.

Must Invite Sinners.

In proceedings of the Northern assembly several features developed points of unusual interest. Of primary importance was the adoption of a resolution directing ministers to make a proposal to sinners to accept Christ.

The United assembly decided to erect a church in Washington, D. C., to be known as the Memorial church and dedicated to looking after the interests of the United church in national affairs. The structure will cost $40,000.

The standing committee on publication and Sunday school work of the Northern assembly, in its report, which was approved, recommended simplification of various lessons and the bringing of these lessons into harmony with Presbyterian doctrine. However, as the report of a special committee on graded Sunday school lessons is yet to be received, there may be other dispositions of these matters.

SUFFRAGE AGITATION BOOSTS IMMIGRATION.

Johnny Watts, a new bell boy of the McKay hotel, has but recently come from London. The youth stated that on the train that took him and his parents from the metropolis of Great Britain, there were some 300 other Englishmen and their wives leaving for the United States and Canada. According to the boy, the trouble with the suffragettes and their differences with the government are driving many people to this side of the Atlantic to look for new homes.

Young Watts says the suffrage question is more serious than any on this side of the ocean can possibly imagine.

BROTHER AND SISTER INVOLVED IN COURT.

Sister and brother are pitted against each other in a lawsuit which was brought to trial before Judge Fesler and a jury in district court this morning. Mrs. S. Cowl of Minneapolis is suing her brother, William Simon of this city for $500. Two causes of actions are stated in her complaint. In the first she claims that she gave him $300 worth of postage stamps, for whish she has never been reimbursed. To this he has entered a general denial. In the second causc of action she asserts that he was a joint maker with one D. Elias in the execution of four promissory notes, each for $50, which have become due.

ELOPERS MUST GO BACK TO FRANCE.

New York, May 22.—Carlos Dominguez, a young Mexican, and Lucienne Loprince, his 17-year-old Parisian sweetheart, must go back to France, whence they eloped. They cannot land here, and they cannot go to Mexico City as they planned. This was the decision of a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island.

The pair arrived here on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. The girl pleaded tearfully that they be allowed to marry and come ashore, but the immigration authorities said no. Both will be detained at Ellis Island pending the departure of the Kaiser Wilhelm II on Tuesday next.

Pedals Bike With Broken Leg.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 22.—Earl Effinger, 10 years old, while riding with several companions on bicycles from this city to St. Hilare yesterday, fell from his wheel when it struck a rut and his leg was broken. He remounted his bicycle and pedaled three miles to St. Hilare, where the broken limb was set. He was taken home in an automobile.

IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Many Michigan College of Mines Graduates Sent There.

Houghton, Mich., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty per cent of the graduates of the Michigan College of Mines, are employed in South America and other Spenish speaking countries. Another 20 per cent are employed in those countries a part of the time as representatives of American firms and are consulting engineers, etc. These figures throw considerable light on how vitally the mining profession and the mining schools are connected with the commercial future of the United States, especially because of the Panama canal and the fact that the United States must hope in the future to carry on a larger part of her commerce with these countries. The mining college graduates are becoming the principal representatives of this country in many of the Spanish speaking countries.

FARRELL IS ASKED ABOUT STATISTICS ON STEEL TRADE ABROAD

Accuracy of Figures Is Questioned By Federal Attorney.

Head of Steel Corporation Once More Under Cross-Examination.

He Admits Sale at Low Prices for Export Purposes.

New York, May 23.—The cross-examination of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, was resumed today by government counsel in the suit to dissolve the corporation.

He was questioned by Jacob M. Dickinson, the government attorney, concerning the accuracy of statistical exhibits which he had introduced to show the quantity of products sold abroad by the corporation.

Judge Dickinson objects to the statistics on the ground that they are "hearsay" evidence.

Mr. Farrell admitted that the United States Steel corporation sold steel cheaper to manufacturers of products intended for sale abroad, such as machinery, than it is sold to manufacturers of products sold in the domestic trade.

"But we do that," said the witness, "in order to help American manufacturers develop their export trade, just as the interstate commerce commission allows the railroads to charge lower rates on products intended for export than on domestic products. The government helps to develop export trade, and so do we."

TWENTY-FIVE HURT IN CANADIAN WRECK

Calgary, Alta., May 23.—Twenty-five persons, fifteen of them Chinamen, were injured when the Imperial Limited express on the Canadian Pacific was wrecked at Mitford, forty miles west of here, last night.

A broken coupling betwen the locomotive and the tender is believed to have caused the wreck. The train was running thirty miles an hour when the tender left the track. Three baggage cars directly behind the tender remained on the track, but the next car, which was filled with the Orientals, left the rails and was precipitated down a steep embankment, turning completely over. Another car carrying passengers was thrown from the tracks. Although several suffered serious injuries, only one man is believed to be fatally hurt.

News of the wreck was received here when a special train carrying the injured arrived at midnight. All were placed in a hospital.

Among those most seriously injured were D. Leonard, Portland, Or.; Otto Markle, Seattle; and Mrs. A. Knott, Calgary.

GOBELIN TAPESTRIES LINE THEIR PANTS

Museum Janitor and Son Provided With Costly Garments.

Paris, May 23.—The loss of some precious Gobelin tapestries, which were presented to the museum at Pau fifty years ago and which were valued at several thousand dollars, has at last been explained by the confession of the caretaker that he and his little boy have been wearing some of the tapestries as lining for their trousers. The caretaker declared he believed the tapestries were worthless, so he took them home to his wife. She selected a woodland scene to turn into nether garments for him and their son.

BULGARIANS AND GREEKS AT WAR

Athens, May 23.—In consequence of the resumption of hostilities between the Bulgarian and Greek troops, King Constantine of Greece, accompanied by Prince Alexander and the general staff of the army, left for Saloniki this morning.

Serious Conflict.

London, May 23.—Dispatches from Saloniki and Athens report another serious conflict between the Bulgarians and Greeks. The recent fighting led to the establishment of a neutral zone near Saloniki, but on May 20 a strong Bulgarian force with artillery entered the zone and were hotly opposed by the Greeks. The result of the engagement has not been disclosed.

Servian and Greek objections still are delaying the assembly of the peace conference in London.

ERIE MAN KILLS GIRL AND HIMSELF.

Erie, Pa., May 23.—Jacob Demerle, a railroad engineer, today shot and killed his sweetheart, Miss Marie James, at her boarding house and then shot himself. Demerle died in a hospital an hour later.

MAKES "UNWARLIKE" SPEECH ON LAND LAW

THOMAS U. SISSON,
Representative From Mississippi.

PUTS STATE LAWS FIRST

Representative Sisson Talks Again About California Case.

Says America Should Accept No Dictation as to Laws.

Washington, May 23.—Representative Sisson of Mississippi made his announced Japanese speech today in the house.

President Wilson, after Mr. Sisson recently made a "war speech," called the representative to the White House and asked him not to make another speech that might complicate the diplomatic negotiations with Japan or inflame the public mind.

Mr. Sisson today disclaimed any intention of making "a war speech," but attacked the position that the treaty-making power superseded the law-making powers of the sovereign states.

Toward Any Nation.

Mr. Sisson declared he took his position "not because the Japanese were involved, that he would take it toward England, France, Germany or any other nation, and that it only required patience and cool heads for both countries to arrive at an amicable, fair and just settlement of all differences."

"If any nation," he said, "should decide that they will dictate to us our land laws, then we would be unworthy of national existence if we submitted to such dictation. Does any one claim that this is a declaration of war because I announce this truth?

"It is no declaration of war for the United States government to decline to override the rights of the sovereign state at the dictation of a foreign power."

"If the United States government should deliver a state over to the mercies of a flood of aliens from any nation, then I maintain that the Federal government would have prostituted its authority. Is the mere announcement of this principle a declaration of war?

"Nothing has been further from my mind than to embarrass or to tend to render more difficult the peaceful solution of whatever differences, real or imaginary, may exist between the friendly government of Japan and our own government."

Open Door on Treaties.

Mr. Sisson pleaded for the open door on treaty sessions of the senate.

"If the president and senate can make such a treaty, let us tear down every door of secrecy. Let us require the president to publish every letter and telegram bearing upon a contemplated treaty on the very moment of its dispatch. Let the cloture of the senate be moved. Throw open the doors."

UNCLE JOE BACK; GLOATS OVER MANN

Former Speaker Says It's Fine "Not to Be the Goat."

Washington, May 23.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, former speaker of the house, is back in his old haunts as jaunty as ever, wearing the inevitable carnation in the lapel of his coat and with the same rakish tilt to the big black cigar that has made him famous. He is here to attend a meeting of the Lincoln Memorial commission, in which both he and Former Senator Cullom of Illinois retained membership after their retirement from public life with the incoming of the present congress.

The former speaker, who is in great spirits, already has taken occasion to gloat over the troubles of his former colleague, Representative Mann of Illinois, minority leader of the house. Mr. Mann was Mr. Cannon's floor lieutenant during all the time the former speaker wielded the gavel and earned the title of "Caesar."

"It's mighty fine," said "Uncle Joe," retrospectively, blowing a huge cloud of smoke from his cigar, "not to have to be the 'goat' any more."

MIKADO HAS PNEUMONIA

Japanese People Plunged in Gloom Over Emperor's Illness.

Multitudes Spend Day in Prayer for His Recovery.

Tokio, May 23.—Official reports that Emperor Yoshihito is ill with pneumonia, the constant attendance upon him by one or more of the eight court physicians, and the vigil which the Empress Sadaka kept at his bedside all night, made it appear today that his condition is very grave. The whole Japanese empire was depressed by the news.

The bulletin issued this morning only announced briefly that the emperor's condition was unchanged.

The high fever of last night, when his temperature ranged from 98.58 to 102.92, apparently was unabated.

The patient is at the Aoyama palace, on whose immense parade grounds he contracted a cold while reviewing the troops last Sunday. It had been intended to remove him at once to the newer Chiyoda palace, but the sudden serious turn of inflammation of the lungs necessitated abandonment of the plan.

News Shocked People.

The issuance of the first bulletin yesterday came as a great shock to the people, and as it gained circulation through extra editions of the newspapers a sorrowful hush fell upon the city, and great crowds silently assembled in front of the royal palace. The people knelt and prayed fervently for the speedy recovery of their sovereign.

The Ginza, the most important business thoroughfare of the city, which is usually brilliantly lighted, was dark last evening and almost deserted. All the shops were closed.

Court circles still are in official mourning for the late Emperor Mutsuhito. The period does not expire until July 30, a year from the date of his death.

A bulletin on the emperor's condi-

WOMEN GO SLUMMING IN WHITE HOUSE CAR

Mrs. Wilson Gives Society Leaders Use of Automobile.

Washington, May 23.—"Slumming" in the automobile of the president of the United States has almost ceased to be a novelty, and today Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, society woman, reformer and friend of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, for the second time in two days conducted a party of investigators to the squalid section of the capital in a White House car. This luxury of travel was made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Wilson, who placed the car at the disposal of Mrs. Hopkins.

In Mrs. Hopkins' party were Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, Mrs. Owen, wife of the senator from Oklahoma, and Mrs. Pomerene, wife of the senator from Ohio.

The investigations are being conducted under the direction of the woman's section of the National Civic federation. The investigators now are at work on legislation which they will press in congress looking to the elimination of the alleys and narrow courts that at present disfigure certain sections of the capital. This legislation, it is expected, will be sponsored by Representative Kahn of California.

HER APPOINTMENT HAS STIRRED UP TROUBLE

MRS. ANNIE G. ROGERS,
Receiver of the Leadville, Colo., Land Office.

Washington, May 23.—Secretary Lane has been strongly criticized by Representative Stanley E. Bowdle for his appointment of Mrs. Annie G. Rogers as receiver of the Leadville, Colo., land office. The new representative from Cincinnati resented in a vigorous statement the assertion of Mr. Lane that women "as a rule are more honest than men." He declared that at the earliest opportunity he will bring to the attention of the house the growing practice of appointing women to important positions, especially in suffrage states.

KING GEORGE TALKS PEACE

First Political Utterance at Berlin Gathering Seems Significant.

Berlin, May 23.—King George of England, at present the guest of Emperor William, spoke earnestly today on the necessity for the maintenance of world peace, in replying to an address presented to him by the British residents of Berlin gathered at the British embassy. His majesty said:

"The preservation of peace is my fervent desire, as it was the chief aim and object of my father's life."

This is the first political note sounded during the wedding ceremonies of Emperor William's only daughter, for which three emperors and many princes are gathered. The king's words seem, according to the opinion expressed in influential circles, to epitomize the chief significance of the royal visits as a demonstration of the peaceful and friendly relations existing between the three powerful dynasties.

Leishman at Luncheon.

King George and Queen Mary this afternoon were the guests at luncheon of the British ambassador, those present including Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and John G. A. Leishman, United States ambassador to Germany.

At the same time Emperor Nicholas of Russia was the guest at luncheon of the Russian ambassador.

For the gala opera to be given tonight the first act of "Lohengrin" has been selected by Princess Victoria Luise.

COMMITTEES' HEADS NAMED

Democrats in House Have Agreed Tentatively on Assignments.

Principal Changes Will Be in the Membership Lists.

Washington, May 23.—Democratic members of the ways and means committee, it was asserted today, have agreed tentatively upon a number of the committees of the house, appointments to which have been deferred because of the pressure of business. Immigration committee chairmanship will be retained by Representative Burnett of Alabama, who also served in the latter part of the last congress as head of the public buildings committee. Most of the chairmanships will be undisturbed, but there will be many changes in the memberships.

The interstate commerce committee will be almost completely changed. Representative Houston of Tennessee must drop out to retain the chairmanship of the census committee, and Representative Smith of Texas to keep his irrigation chairmanship. Other members are similarly situated.

For Chairmanships.

House leaders have made tentative selections for the chairmanships of the following committees:

Agriculture — Representative Lever, South Carolina.

Appropriations — Fitzgerald, New York.

Banking and currency—Glass, Virginia.

District of Columbia—Johnson, Kentucky.

Education—Hobson, Alabama.

Foreign affairs—Flood, Virginia.

Immigration—Burnett, Alabama.

Interstate and foreign commerce—Adamson, Georgia.

Judiciary—Clayton, Alabama.

Labor—Maher, New York.

Military affairs—Hay, Virginia.

Naval affairs—Padgett, Tennessee.

Postoffice—Moon, Tennessee.

Public lands—Ferris, Oklahoma.

Rivers and harbors—Sparkman, Florida.

Insular affairs—Jones, Virginia.

Thirty-Seven to Bull Moosers.

The Republican assignments will be submitted soon by Republican Leader Mann. The Progressives will confer May 28 to decide finally on their list of selections for the thirty-seven committee places they are to get.

CHICAGO BANKS PLAN THREE-DAY HOLIDAY

Want All Business Houses to Join Them Over July 4.

Chicago, May 23.—A movement has been started by the Clearing House association practically to stop the wheels of business in the city for three successive days, beginning Friday, July 4, and ending Sunday night, July 6. Banks in the association agreed to close on Saturday, July 5. The Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Stock exchange probably will not open on Saturday, as it always is a short day.

Officials of the association have appealed to the board of directors of the Association of Commerce, and if the plan meets the approval of that body it is believed that all the larger business houses will remain closed on July 5, giving empoyes three days of rest.

SHOWS ATTEAUX WAS PAID BY CHECKS ON APPROVAL BY WOOD

DEMOCRATS' WATCHDOG OF FEDERAL TREASURY

JOHN J. FITZGERALD,
Of New York, Slated for Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

State Produces Vouchers in Trial of Conspiracy Case.

Signatures Are Identified By Paying Teller of Bank.

Woolen Company Treasurer Also Testifies for Prosecution.

Boston, Mass., May 23.—Checks and vouchers for several payments made by the American Woolen company to Frederick E. Atteaux were introduced by the state this morning at the opening of today's session of the trial of Atteaux, William M. Wood and Dennis J. Collins.

The first of the vouchers showed the payment of $505 to Atteaux "for expenses incurred during the Lawrence strike." This was drawn on March 23, 1912. Another check for $2,100 was drawn on June 26, this being marked "in full for all claims to date."

The vouchers indicated that the payments were authorized by President Wood. Both checks were indorsed with Atteaux's signature.

Offered By State.

The exhibits were offered in support of the state's claim that the defendant conspired with John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pitman to "plant" dynamite in the homes of the strikers at Lawrence in order to give the impression to the public that the strikers contemplated blowing up the American Woolen company's mill.

The state attempted to show that President Wood was involved and that the American Woolen company, through Wood, had helped pay the expenses of the conspiracy.

Edward B. Lynch, paying teller of the Federal Trust company of this city, where Atteaux had funds on deposit, took the stand and identified Atteaux's signature on four or five papers which District Attorney J. C. Pelletier offered as exhibits.

Objection By Lawyer.

Henry F. Hurlburt, of counsel for Mr. Wood, objected to their admission as evidence against his client. He argued that the exhibits were not competent until some connection had been established between the papers and the alleged conspiracy. The district attorney replied that the papers would speak for themselves and would show the payment of money from one defendant to another.

Judge Crosby admitted the exhibits with the understanding that they

HILLES BACK AT CAPITAL

Will Meet With Republican Committee to Hear Conciliators.

Gallinger Classifies Members as to Their Progressiveness.

Washington, May 23.—Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, is expected here late today to prepare for tomorrow's meeting of the national executive committee, called to consider preliminary plans for party reorganization and to hear from the conciliation committee of Progressive Republicans.

The conciliation committee appointed as the result of the recent Chicago conference of Republican Progressives to urge party reformations and a national convention next fall, met today with its chairman, Senator Cummins, to outline plans for an argument before the executive committee.

Former Governor Hadley of Missouri and Representative Sidney Anderson of Minnesota were unable to attend. Besides Senator Cummins there were present Senators Crawford and Jones and Representatives Cramston of Michigan and Rogers of Massachusetts.

The principal purpose of the conciliation committee is to induce the executive committee to call a meeting of the national committee in the near future to consider issuing a call for a party convention to take up reorganization plans.

Chairman From House.

Senator Gallinger, chairman of the committee of senators to confer with house leaders on re-organization of the Republican congressional committee, said today that the chairmanship of the re-organized committee would go to a member of the house.

"In organizing the senators committee," Mr. Gallinger continued, "we thought we must recognize the so-called Progressive wing of the party as well as the so-called reactionaries. Senator Norris was a reactionary in the house and is a very active Progressive in the senate. Senator Jones, I suppose, is three-quarters Progressive, whatever that terms means, and Senator Townsend, I suppose, is about 1-16 Progressive. Senator Clark of Wyoming and myself are the reactionaries, I suppose."

ROBBER OF BANK AT BOSTON DEAD

Frederick T. Moore's Life Ends in Valparaiso, Chile.

Boston, Mass., May 23.—The death at Valparaiso, Chile, of Frederick T. Moore, former assistant receiving teller of the National Bank of Commerce of this city, who absconded fourteen years ago with $63,000 of the bank's funds, was reported here today.

Moore fled from Boston in 1898 when irregularities were found in his books. He was arrested in Valparaiso a year later on a charge of embezzlement, but the courts refused extradition. During his residence in Valparaiso he became one of the leading business men of the city.

WOULD-BE SLEUTHS DELUGING M'ADOO

Many Applying for Places That Are Not Vacant.

Washington, May 23.—A deluge of applications for appointments to the United States secret service customs has overwhelmed Secretary McAdoo, although there are no vacancies.

One man who believes the government needs him in its detective work sent the secretary a list of about 150 occupations which he has filled, to prove he was competent to take any kind of sleuth work. These were some of the trades: Stage driver, laborer, school teacher, proprietor and editor, doctor, rough carpenter, mail carrier, lumber trade, waiter and bar tender.

ST. PAUL RESTAURANT INQUIRY IS BEGUN

Labor Bureau Asks About Working Conditions and Wages.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—An investigation of working conditions in restaurants where girls are employed has begun here under the direction of the state labor department. The investigation soon will be extended to department stores and factories, and information will be gathered relative to the number of hours girls are compelled to work each day, the wages they receive, and the general moral conditions surrounding institutions employing large numbers of girls. Statistics will be compiled and an effort will be made to ascertain whether women and girls employed in factories and stores are receiving a living wage.

A law passed by the recent legislature provides that no woman or girl shall work more than fifty-four hours in seven days or more than ten hours in one day.

Crookston, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrown out of an automobile when a light engine on the Great Northern crashed into it at Stephen Crossing at midnight Glen Carnegie was fatally injured and later died and Arthur Rost was seriously injured. Appearances point towards carelessness on the part of the autoists. The engine was returning from Winnipeg and running just ahead of the Winnipeg-St. Paul flyer.

CANDIDATES TO SUCCEED GRONNA

Lively Contest Is Expected for North Dakota Senatorship.

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Governor John Burke and Congressman Helgesen are likely to figure in the next United States senatorial race in North Dakota along with Senator Gronna and Attorney General Miller.

For many months it has been understood that Attorney General Miller will contest the senatorship with Gronna. Now it is rumored that Congressman Helgesen will also enter the race if Miller does.

Should these three enter the race the Bull Moosers would also probably have a man in the contest. This would also split the anti-Democratic vote into four parts and the high man would probably not receive more than a third of the total Republican vote.

There is an element of the Democratic party which seeks to push Chairman McArthur of the Democratic state central committee into the governorship, ahead of National Committeeman Bruegger. This same contingent insists that Former Governor Burke must enter the senatorial race, and that with the divided opposition Burke could easily be high man. Just what position Burke would take in this matter is problematical. He might prefer to remain treasurer of the United States.

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under new laws a number of changes are made in handling township affairs. Assessors, town clerks, constables, justices and treasurers will be elected for two-year terms. The treasurers must deposit the funds in the name of the township instead of the name of the treasurer and they cannot draw interest on deposits as formerly. The supervisors must look after the poor of their respective townships. In counties not having poorhouses the townships must bear 25 per cent and the counties 75 per cent of the care of the indigent.

LOUIS GOURDAIN DEAD IN LONDON

Famous Swindler Who Disappeared in 1908 Passes Away.

Chicago, May 23.—Government officials have received word of the death in London of Louis A. Gourdain, who swindled the public out of several large fortunes, which he squandered, and whose success drove him mad.

Starting twenty-seven years ago as a clerk for the Louisiana State Lottery company, Gourdain organized a rival concern, which netted him $750,000, it is estimated. The money came so fast his mind was affected and he was sent to a hospital for the insane after driving through New Orleans in a bath robe and attempting to make speeches from light poles. Later he was convicted by the government of operating a lottery and served a six months' sentence.

He drifted to New York and opened what he called a bank, which was a lottery scheme. He was convicted and served a year on Blackwell's island.

He showed up next in Omaha, and later in New Orleans, where he bought 1,280 acres of swamp which he converted into to 135,000 oil lots.

Made $5,500 Into $1,000,000.

In Chicago he opened the "Manhattan Exchange bank," and is said to have turned $5,500 into a million.

For this scheme he was sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary. An appeal was taken and Gourdain went to the prison gates and pleaded for admission. He bought a mansion in Joliet, where the state prison is located, for his wife, and purchased ground upon which to build a private prison. Before work was started on the building the supreme court affirmed his sentence.

He made a sensational escape from the Washington, D. C., asylum in 1908, and had not since been heard from.

CASS COUNTY GETS LARGEST AMOUNT

Bismarck, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools of North Dakota received $624,234 for the quarterly apportionment recently made by the superintendent of public instruction. This was divided between 167,355 children, making $3.79 per capita.

Cass county has the largest number of pupils as a result of the location of Fargo within its boundaries. Grand Forks is second, Morton third, Ward and Walsh tied for fourth and Richland fifth.

Oliver got the smallest sum and the next smallest in order were Eddy, McKenzie, Bowman, Foster, Divide, Kidder and Golden Valley.

TO LESSEN FRAUD.

North Dakota's New Chattel Mortgage Law Effective July 1.

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.—The ugly charges of fraud in connection with chattel mortgages are less likely to be made after July 1, as the last legislature surrounded the making of those mortgages with so much red tape deception and trickery will be difficult. In the old days it was unnecessary to exercise much care. Under the new law the mortgage must be signed by two witnesses. The mortgagee must furnish a copy of the original instrument and the witnesses must also sign it, then this copy is turned over to the mortgagor, who gives the mortgagee a receipt for it. In order to have the chattel mortgage filed with the register of deeds, the mortgagee must present this receipt as well as the original document. This will lessen opportunities for fraud.

DISTRICT COURT JURY FINDS MORRIS GUILTY.

It took a jury in district court before Judge Cant only twenty minutes yesterday afternoon to find that Paul Morris, on trial charged with grand larceny, first degree, was guilty.

Morris stole $50 from Nickola Radanchich on April 22. When arrested he broke away from the police and although handcuffed made his escape from the city. He was captured several days later at Peoria, Ill. Deputy Sheriff McDonald brought him back to Duluth.

DO NOT FEAR THE HOODOO

"Friday, June 13, 1913," Will Be High School Commencement Day.

Closing Exercises in Grade Schools Set for the Same Day.

Though many might consider them under a triple hoodoo, those members of the class who are handed diplomas on commencement night will feel just as confident of being able to conquer in the world's battles as though they were graduating on any other day. Those who fail to get through will probably blame it on the hoodoo, but generally the rising generation has no attachment to superstition.

June 13 is the closing day for all public high and grade schools in Duluth, and teachers and students are preparing for the close of school. The largest class in history will graduate from the Central high school this year. The exact number has not been determined, but it will be in the neighborhood of 150. The largest class previously numbered 134.

The class night exercises at the Central high school will be held Wednesday evening, June 11. The junior-senior party, the big social event of commencement week, will be held on Thursday evening, June 12, and the commencement exercises will be held Friday evening, June 13.

A class of about twenty-five will graduate from the Industrial high school at West Duluth this year. The exercises will be held on Thursday, June 12.

The closing exercises in the grade schools will be held Friday afternoon, June 13. The various classes will hold their exercises in their own buildings, the plan of having central exercises at the high school building having been abandoned last year.

VINCENT WILL BE THE SPEAKER

President of University Will Be Heard Here July 4.

George E. Vincent, president of Minnesota university, will be the principal speaker at the Fourth of July celebration planned by the "Mindegave" society for the National holiday. Announcement to this effect was made this morning by L. A. Simonson, secretary of the general committee which is planning the program.

A meeting will be held this evening at Mr. Simonson's office, 308 Columbia building, at which the general committee will outline the program. It is planned to have the principal speaking and musical program take place in the curling rink, after which the crowd will be taken to the Duluth Ski club grounds, where the sporting program will take place.

BEMIDJI WILL GREET EDITORS

Annual Gathering of Northern Minnesota Editorial Association June 13.

Bemidji, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary A. G. Rutledge of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, announces the program for the annual meeting to be held here June 13-15 for which the people of Bemidji are making elaborate plans, in the way of entertainment.

The program for the three days is a varied one. There will be motor boat trips amidst beautiful scenes; auto trips to up-to-the-minute farm homes; smoker and reception for the men folks; reception and entertainment for the ladies of the party. Sunday, June 15, will be the real gala day of the outing, when there will be a special train that will convey the editors and their ladies to Redby, on the shores of Red lake, for a ride on that great inland sea; a visit to the Red Lake Indian agency, where Red Lake Chippewas will give a war dance and hold a pow-wow. The train will return to Bemidji in ample time to make connections with all outgoing trains Sunday night.

The program follows:

Friday, June 13.—Receiving visitors and informal getting acquainted, with attendance at the sessions of the university week, in the afternoon. Evening, visit to the plant of the Crookston Lumber company.

Saturday, June 14—Forenoon, auto rides to points of interest in Bemidji and vicinity, including W. G. Schroeder's alfalfa dairy farm. Afternoon, motor boat ride on Lake Bemidji and down the Mississippi river to the power dam.

Judge Stanton to Preside.

Evening—Smoker and get-together for the men folks at the Commercial club rooms. Reception and entertainment for the ladies at the Carnegie public library. Judge C. W. Stanton former president of the Minnesota State Editorial association, will preside at the smoker, and there will be brief addresses of welcome by Bemidjians, with responses by editors and other prominent visitors. Mrs. Sanborn, daughter of Judge Stanton, will preside at the ladies affair, the details of which are being kept a profound secret from "us men folks."

Sunday, June 15—10 a. m. Trip by special train to Redby, with boat ride on Red lake (the largest body of fresh water wholly within the United States), and visit to Red Lake Indian agency, one of the most beautiful spots in Minnesota, where a band of native Red Lake Chippewas (in charge of John Morrison, Jr., official interpreter of all Minnesota Chippewas and Walter F. Dickens, Indian agent at Red Lake) will give a war dance and hold a pow-wow, during which "Dad" Pease of the Anoka Union, Claude M. Atkinson, A. M. Welles of the Sauk Centre Herald, and George F. Authier, will be given the Grand High Chippewa degree and made members of the band. Return to Bemidji late in evening.

Calumet, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Daniel Stalker of the First Presbyterian church of Calumet, has been named one of the three delegates from Michigan and one of the 121 from the United States to attend the Pan-Presbyterian conference, which will open at Aberdeen, Scotland, on June 18. Dr. Stalker will also attend the conference of the International Sunday School association at Zurich, Switzerland, in July.

On June 7 the annual convention of the Keweenaw Peninsula Sunday School association will meet at the First Presbyterian church, Calumet. Three thousand Sunday school children are expected to come from outside points and there will be a parade in which more than 5,000 children, each class carrying distinguishing banners, will march. DULUTH CHORUS WILL TOUR EUROPE

Will Spend Two Months in Norway, Sweden and Finland.

The Duluth Elite Male chorus will leave Thursday for a two months' tour of Finland and the Scandinavian peninsula.

The chorus which is made up of twenty-two Duluth Finnish-American citizens will go first to Minneapolis. They will sing there on Decoration day. A concert will be given by them in Chicago on June 1 and on June 3 they will sing before President Wilson at Washington. The final concert will be given in New York on June 4.

It is expected to pick up a number of other voices in Minneapolis, Chicago and New York. The party will leave for Europe on June 5 on the steamer Hellig Olav, and will appear in concert at Christiania, Norway, on June 16. On June 17 they will sing in Stockholm and on June 19 at Helsingfors, the capital of Finland.

"Boost Duluth" will be the slogan which will be carried with the party. Sinfrid Mustonen, director of the chorus, said this morning that the members of the party expected to bring back with them a boat load of good citizens. They expect to spend a month in Finland and appear in about twenty concerts in their native land. They expect to return early in August.

NEGROES WILL HONOR HENDERSON'S MEMORY

Remember Author of Fifteenth Amendment to Constitution.

Washington, May 23.—Negro leaders from many states are arriving in Washington today to pay homage to Former Senator John B. Henderson of Missouri, who died here recently and who was the author of the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, abolishing slavery. Arrangements for the ceremonies, to be held tonight in the Metropolitan A. M. E. church, have been prepared and several thousand members of the colored race, including negro religious and secret societies and civic organizations, will be present.

Cardinal Gibbons and many high government officials and members of congress have been invited to attend the services.

MAN IS HANGED TO CURE BROKEN NECK

San Francisco, Cal., May 23.—Encased in a plaster cast, Paul V. Parker of Napa is hanging by his neck in a hospital here, and there he will continue to hang until he is well.

Injured five days ago in a street car collision, he walked the streets four days with a broken neck and didn't know it. An examination showed that he had a bad fracture of the sixth vertebra. Only the muscles were holding the neck in place, and a movement of a sixteenth of an inch of the broken bones probably would have caused death.

Parker will get well, unless physicians are wrong. If he does, his will be the second case of its kind on record, it is said.

COUNTY RETIRES BLOCK OF BONDS

A $55,000 block of the $600,000 courthouse bond issue was retired yesterday by County Auditor Odin Halden. The taking up of the bonds was authorized at a recent meeting of the county commissioners.

Auditor Halden issued a warrant for $56,381.93, which included a premium of $1,381.93, which the county had to pay in order to retire the bonds at this time. The bonds are a part of a ten-year issue which does not mature until May 1, 1918. By taking them up now, the county will save the difference between the premium and five years' interest, at 4½ per cent, a sum of about $12,375.

Two weeks ago the county retired $20,000 worth of the same issue.

HIGH SCHOOL BOARD APPROVES AID LIST

State Funds Will Be Available to Many Institutions.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state high school board at its meeting with C. G. Schulz, superintendent of education, today approved of the high and grade schools which are authorized to conduct courses in agriculture and industrial work for the next school year and to establish teachers' training departments.

The list approved includes forty-four high and grade schools to receive industrial aid of $2,500, ninety to receive aid of $1,800 and 105 high schools in which teachers' training departments are authorized.

The board ruled that new schools listed for the $2,500 aid must, as one condition, have a territory of eighteen sections, or vote to associate or consolidate with rural old schools so as to have a territory of that extent. The requirement becomes effective one year from now.

Supt. Schultz announced the appointment of S. A. Challman, inspector of graded schools, to become a special assistant in his office as school building commissioner, a position authorized by the last legislature.

In a dispute over who should take up the collection in a Uniontown, Pa., church twenty-five persons were cut and bruised.

Sugar-producing countries of the world are exporting 13,000,000,000 pounds of it to other lands each year.

Spring Time Is Blood Cleaning Time

Wonderful How Quickly Your Entire System Awakens When the Blood is Cleansed.

Let S. S. S. Rid You of All Blood Disorders.

If you are down with rheumatism; if you sneeze, feel chilled, are choked with catarrh, have a cough, or your skin is pimpled and irritated with rash, eczema, or any other blood disorder, just remember that almost all the ills of life come from impure blood. And you can easily give your blood a good, thorough cleansing, a bath, by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system, or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each part selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to constructive medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. For many years people relied upon mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic, "physics," cathartics and "dope" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure, vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. And you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely and confidentially, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

TO WET TO SPREAD OIL

Work on Streets Is Delayed By the Frequent Showers.

Use of Oil Will Be Greatly Extended This Season.

The antics of J. Pluvius and the bashfulness of Old Sol are raising hubbub with the plans of the works division for laying oil on the city streets for the purpose of laying the dust in lieu of water sprinkling.

Two cars of the oil are now on railroad sidetracks, and if the weather does not change they will have to remain there, while the demurrage bill accumulates at the rate of $1 per day for each car at the expiration of five days. The oil cannot be laid until the streets are dry.

George J. Bloedel, superintendent of street maintenance, estimates that 80,000 gallons of the road oil will be laid in Duluth this season. The use of the oil is to be greatly extended this year. Supt. Bloedel estimates that it will be spread on twelve to thirteen miles of street, as compared with less than two miles a year ago. Oil will be laid on the same streets as last year as well as upon those where chloride was formerly used, while several are being added. Among those where the oil will be used are London road, First street from Sixth to Twenty-third avenue east, Second street from Thirteenth to Twenty-third avenue east, Fifth street, Sixth street and Woodland avenue from Fourth street to Oxford avenue.

The cost of the oil is considerably less than that of sprinkling with water, despite the fact that it costs 5.14 cents this season, or about a cent more a gallon than a year ago. As it contains about 40 per cent of asphalt it also helps to improve the surfaces of the highways on which it is used, giving them a more permanent character. In cities where the road oil has been used for several years the streets are smooth and are kept in first-class condition at little expense, while the dust nuisance is reduced to a minimum.

Considerable work is being done on First and Second streets in preparation for the oil. Crushed rock is being placed and rolled and the rough places smoothed. First street is being fixed up from Sixth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east and Second street from Thirteenth avenue east to Twenty-third avenue east. Some work is also being done on the other streets, but the funds will not permit of all of them being put in the condition desired by the works division. The use of the oil is confined to the eastern end of the city as the streets in that section are better suited for its application than those in the western part.

MAY INSTALL BELL TELEPHONES

Independent System May No Longer Have City Hall to Itself.

The city commission may break away from the long-established rule of having only the new telephone in the city hall.

Some of the commissioners want the old telephone put in their offices. They state that they are inconvenienced frequently because but one system is available and that the same is true of many citizens who wish to communicate with the city hall.

"The matter of putting in the old telephone will be taken up when the repairs to the city hall are completed, under way," said Mayor Prince this morning. "If it is decided to put in the old telephone it can be done along with the remodeling. I believe it should be put in, but there is some opposition to it."

Railroads

LOW RATES TO THE CARNIVALS

Great Northern Will Help "Lark o' the Lake" Committee.

The Great Northern railroad has agreed to offer rates of a fare and a third to Duluth for the Lark o' the Lake entertainments to be given during the summer.

The other railroads leading into Duluth are expected to fall into line so that a uniform rate of 2 cents a mile may be offered to people in the vicinity of Duluth as an inducement to them to take in the week-end entertainments.

The members of the committee are delighted with the success of the application to the Great Northern, as the low rates will contribute greatly to the attendance at the Lark o' the Lake each week.

JOHNSTON LAW TEST.

Act Relating to Railroads Handling Cream Now in Courts.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—A temporary injunction restraining railroads operating in Minnesota from refusing cream shipments under the Johnston law, passed by the last legislature, until its constitutionality can be tested, was issued late yesterday by Judge Willard of the United States district court.

The Johnston law prohibits the shipment of cream more than sixty-five miles unless it is in refrigerator cars or properly pasteurized. Dealers who asked for the restraining order declared the law discriminates against centralizing plants, that it was passed at the request of the country creameries, and that its enforcement would seriously interfere with their business.

Claim Agents Pick St. Paul.

Baltimore, Md., May 23.—St. Paul, Minn., was selected for next year's convention of the Railway Claim agents. W. B. Spalding of St. Louis was elected president.

SWITCHMEN PUT UP RIGID BARS.

Houston, Tex., May 23.—Hereafter members of the Switchmen's Union of North America who are also members of other labor organizations will not be accepted as delegates to the national convention of the union. This was decided at the biennial convention of the organization. A proposal that Buffalo, N. Y., be made the permanent place of meeting of the national association was defeated by a decisive vote. The next meeting place will be chosen at a later date.

The ladies' auiliary elected Mrs. Henrietta Clark, Kansas City, Mo., president; Mrs. Marv Stewart, Youngstown, Ohio, vice president, and Miss Sarah L. Jackson secretary-treasurer.

SUPERIOR MAY GET $3,000 FOR SCHAUER.

George W. McGuern, representing the Chicago Nationals, yesterday watched "Rube" Schauer, Superior's pitching phenom, work against the Minneapolis league leaders in the thirteen-inning game which was tied 1 to 1 at the end of the twelfth. Superior lost, getting but two hits off Comstock, but Schauer looked so good that a bid was made for him on behalf of the Cubs.

Stovall of St. Louis, Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, and a man named Gilligan of Chicago, representing another major league club, are after Schauer. One bid of $3,000 is said to have been made for his services, providing immediate delivery is made.

Last Touches on Yale Crew.

New Haven, Conn., May 23.—With Capt. Snowden back at stroke in the first eight, after a brief absence from that position, the Yale varsity and other crews are being given their final preliminary drills here preparatory to leaving, six days hence, for their quarters at Gales Ferry, where the finishing work will be done for the race with Harvard next month. About thirty men will be taken to the quarters.

HOUGHTON HIGH WILL SEND CRACKS.

Houghton, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Houghton high school, whose athletes hold eight peninsula track and field records, will send a very fast and clever team to the Upper Peninsula meet at Marquette on May 31. Chynoweth, of the local school, is expected to break the shot-put record this year. The present record for the peninsula for high school meets is 38 feet 8½ inches. Chynoweth is doing more than forty feet in his daily practices. The team will be made up as follows: Pfeiffer, distances; Chynoweth, Alt and Rogers, weights; Worthing and McNair, dashes; Nelson and McNair, jumps and vaults; Rogers and Pfeiffer, middle distance.

Crews Are Chosen.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Official announcement of the personnel of the crews for tomorrow's race or one and one-half miles on Lake Mendota between the Wisconsin varsity and the eight of the Minnesota Boat club of St. Paul, was made today as follows:

Wisconsin—	Position.	Minnesota—
Peterson	bow	Fleming
Moffett	2	Connolly
Clayton	3	Morgan
Dexter	4	Baer
Mueller	5	McGill
Bohsted	6	Fitzpatrick
Wittig	7	Cochran
Evert	stroke	Ellerbe
Lewis	coxswain	Sischo

It will be the first crew race of importance in the West this year. This is the first year that the Minnesota club has had the services of a professional coach, and it is said the crew has made great progress under the new order.

The Wisconsin freshman eight will be pitted against the St. John's military crew in a preliminary race.

LIQUOR ORDINANCES HAVE BEEN REVISED.

Attorney James A. Wharton, police prosecutor, has completed his revision of the liquor ordinances and has turned the draft over to Commissioner Hicken. He has combined all ordinances in a single ordinance and incorporated the provisions of the state law which were missing from previous ordinances.

A revision of the patrol limits is also contemplated. As planned the saloons west of West Duluth will be confined to a territory two blocks wide, one on each side of Commonwealth avenue. Fond du Lac will be taken out of the patrol limits entirely. It is believed that one of the saloons in the vicinity is out of the present patrol limits.

A third saloon will be allowed to locate at New Duluth, although a petition against the transfer has been received, but the number will not be allowed to increase, at least for the present. The police state the blind pigs which thrived about the steel plant are now out of business.

THURSDAY WAS EXCITING DAY

Lie Passed in Wisconsin Assembly Over Free Text Book Discussion.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Near the close of a legislative day marked by many personal tilts, Assemblyman James Vint, a Milwaukee Social Democratic member, passed the lie to Assemblyman John Paulu, a Milwaukee non-partisan member, last night. Speaking on the Socialist bill permitting cities to vote on the free text book question, Paulu declared it emanated from sources antagonistic to churches.

"When you make statements like that, you are saying things you can't prove, and you know it," declared Vint, shaking his fist at Paulu.

"When you say that," he said, "you are nothing more than a deliberate and unqualified liar."

Both men were reproved by the speaker.

Bills Pass Assembly.

The following bills were passed by the assembly:

Creating the town of Round Lake, Sawyer county.

Providing that graduates of county training schools may teach in any common school except where a state teacher's certificate is required.

Increasing the authority of fire and police commissioners in cities of the third class.

For inspection of plumbing and licensing of plumbers by state board of health.

The assembly passed the Kneen bill, requiring the obtaining of a certificate of convenience and necessity from the railroad commission for the duplication of telephone lines in townships where only one exists.

As amended, the bill provides that duplications may extend only to single roads and not to entire townships.

Wrangle Over Game Warden.

Friends and foes of the state game warden's department in the senate wrangled over the relative merits of that office as a force for good in the state service, and finally adopted an amendment to the finance committee bill on revision of salaries which increase the chief warden's salary from $2,000 to $2,500 per year.

The bill gives the state officers and heads of commissions the right to employ as many assistants as may be needed.

The senate reconsidered its action in non-concurring in the Minkley bill fixing a minimum wage for rural school teachers at $40 per month and passed it.

Senator Cunningham's bill providing for the refunding of illegally paid or excessive income taxes was passed.

WIFE MUST CUT HER TOE NAILS SHORTER.

Camden, N. J., May 23.—Vice Chancellor Leaming directed Mrs. Wallace Fish to have her toenails cut and go back and live with her husband. Fish, in resisting an order to pay alimony, testified that he had been compelled to leave his wife because she persisted in allowing her toenails to grow long and in using the weapons on him.

The allegation not being refuted the court ordered the abuse abated and released Fish from paying alimony if Mrs. Fish refused to live with him and wear short toenails.

FOSSTON MOTOR MEN HAVE CLUB.

Fosston, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held in Cambell's garage, the automobile owners of Fosston, organized an automobile club and elected the following officers: James Humphrey, president; Ray Cambell, vice president; John Mithum, treasurer, and Carl Thompson, secretary.

Although having not over 1,200 inhabitants Fosston boasts a live Commercial club, about seventy-five automobile owners and two garages. If the proposed road is built between Grand Forks and Duluth the automobile club will be making a few trips to these cities this summer, as the road will run two miles south of here.

BURKE'S BROTHER MADE COLLECTOR.

Washington, May 22. — The senate has confirmed the nomination of Thomas C. Burke for collector of customs at Portland and William C. Logan for collector of customs at Astoria. Burke is a brother of Former Governor Burke of North Dakota, now United States treasurer.

Unless the Taft reorganization order is rescinded, Burke will serve at a salary of $6,000 until July 1, when his salary will be reduced to $4,500.

DOCTOR McBURNEY LOST IN SWAMP.

Stockbridge, Mass., May 23.—After wandering for five hours in a wooded swamp in which he had lost his way, Dr. Charles McBurney, a noted New York scientist, the surgeon who operated upon President McKinley at Buffalo, N. Y., was found by searchers wet, cold and mud-bespattered. He started on a fishing trip, and when he did not return to his estate at nightfall his family became alarmed and Martin Dooley, his farm superintendent, set out in search of him. He too, was shortly lost in the wilderness, and it was not until several hours later that a searching party of farmers found Dr. McBurney and Dooley together. They had encountered each other in the swamp, but were unable to find their way out. The physician experienced no ill effects from the exposure. Dr. McBurney is 68 years old.

CISTERN FULL OF HARD CIDER FOUND.

Bonner Springs, Kan., May 23.—The discovery of a cistern filled with "hard" cider on a farm near here has solved a mystery that has baffled the law enforcement officers of Wyandotte county for more than a year.

Frequent complaints have been filed with the prosecuting attorney that many men and boys in this vicinity were being ruined by strong drink, but the utmost vigilance on his part failed to locate either joints or bootleggers.

The cistern was found by one of the prosecutor's assistants who had been in the neighborhood a week disgused as a farm hand. A chemist's analysis showed that the cider was about 6 per cent pure alcohol.

The farmer who owned the cistern was enjoined from selling or making cider, and the cistern and its contents were destroyed.

Flood Cost Over $1,000,000.

Roanoke, Va., May 23.—An official statement by the Norfolk & Western railway here says that 1,800 men for four weeks at an expenditure of more than $1,000,000 will be required to repair the property of the company as a result of the Ohio flood. A further expenditure of $700,000 will be made to prevent losses under like conditions.

Bears Eat Runaway Girl.

Truckee, Cal., May 23.—After a week's search, the body of Miss Vinnie Colt, a girl of 18, was found late yesterday in a ravine in the Sierra Nevadas, twenty miles from Truckee. She had been killed and partially devoured by a bear. The girl ran away from her home here on Wednesday of last week because of a disagreement with her mother, who is 75 years old.

APPROVE TAX ON INCOMES

Senators Will Make No Change in That Part of Bill.

Williams, Shiveley and Gore Say Objections Were Met By House.

Washington, May 23.—No amendment to the income tax section of the Underwood tariff bill, is likely to be proposed by the senate finance committee or the Democratic caucus.

Senators Williams, Shiveley and Gore have the income tax in hand. Though their committee room is piled high with protests and suggestions from many sources, the measure is believed to have been well handled in the house, and the objections made to it in its original form are thought to have been sufficiently met by amendments before the bill passed the house.

Among the loudest protests are those from mutual insurance companies conducted for profit, but the house amended the original bill as relating to insurance companies and insurance policies, and the senators on the finance committee, after a study of the bill, believe that it is sound.

Complaints from railroad and other holding companies that the law will tax them twice on dividends paid, are reported to have been held unsound by members of the committee.

Cotton Men and Ivory.

Discussion of the tariff on raw ivory proposed in the Underwood bill before the Johnson subcommittee, disclosed an unusual situation. Representatives of cotton exporters, in protesting against the proposed 20 per cent duty on tusks, declared it would break up their barter trade in cotton with African tusk dealers. For years they have been shipping thousands of dollars worth of cotton to these African traders and bringing back in payment therefore ivory tusks which they, in turn, sold to piano manufacturers. It was claimed that with a duty on ivory, Italian cotton traders would get this business.

Amendment of the bill in regard to the importation of feathers of birds also was considered by Senator Johnson's subcommittee.

HEETER ACCUSED BY STENOGRAPHER

Former Employe Says He Patted and Kissed Her.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 23.—Mrs. Arthur H. Wessels, who was Alice Lang, a stenographer in the office of Superintendent of Schools Sylvanius L. Heeter, formerly of St. Paul, on the witness stand before the committee of citizens named by the board of education to probe rumors reflecting on Heeter, told her story of the educator's alleged misconduct, supplementing a recent affidavit she had made.

She said the superintendent had begun his attentions by patting her on the shoulder and playfully kicking her feet beneath her desk, and later had forcibly kissed her. She said she did not resign at once because her salary was needed at home, and she feared if she complained to the board of education her story would be contradicted.

Finally, a week after the kiss, she said she revolted against working at night and the superintendent discharged her.

Supt. Heeter and his counsel sat through the recital and the witness was subjected to cross-examination during which she became confused as to dates.

Arthur H. Wessels, husband of Mrs. Wessels, and Dr. J. Chislang, an uncle by marriage, testified before the committee to the effect that they had heard the story of Supt. Heeter's alleged immorality after the girl had left her position. Dr. Lang said he had brought the matter to the attention of James I. Buchanan, a member of the board of education, last July and stated Mr. Buchanan had informed him that "Heeter would have to resign within a week."

An effort was made to have Mr. Buchanan appear before the committee and testify, but Buchanan refused to do so.

The investigation was adjourned until Saturday afternoon, when counsel for Heeter will present the superintendent's defense. The final report of the committee is expected to be presented to the board of education by Tuesday of next week.

PROBE GIRLS' PAY.

Missouri Senate Questions St. Louis Store Employes.

St. Louis, Mo., May 23.—Floyd J. Sloan, manager of the City club, a philanthropic organization of St. Louis, told the Missouri senate wage investigating committee that the club, organized for the general betterment of mankind, never considers the welfare of its women employes.

The wage inquiry covered a wide field. Employes in box and candy factories and in department stores were called on to testify.

After hearing the testimony of Mr. Sloan as to the indifference of this City club to its women employes, Senator Wilson asked:

"Don't you think it would be well for your club to invite some one to address it on the subject of women's wages?"

"That subject never has been broached to the board of managers," was the reply.

"I suggest," Senator Wilson said, "that you broach the subject to them."

Girls Tell of Wages.

A girl, 16 years old, who works at the Kresge five-and-ten-cent store, testified that she pays $1.20 a week car fare. Her wages is $5. She said that the sales girls employed at the store receive from $4 to $6 a week.

Another woman who works at the store for $6 a week said she is married and lives in East St. Louis with her husband and three children. She pays $8 a month rent for a three-room house. She said that board in the average working girls' home costs $3 a week, and that a working girl's clothing costs $1 a week.

A young girl who works at Schaper Bros. department store testified that out of her salary of $4.50 a week, the store took 25 cents a week for medical aid. Another girl testified that she started to work at Schaper Bros. for $3.50 and now receives $5.50. There are stools in the store, she said, but the girls are not allowed to sit on them.

No More Constipation

It's Me For Olive Tablets!

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated tablets.

They cause the bowels and liver to act normal. They never force them to unnatural action.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are so easy to take that children do not regard them as "medicine" at all.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Olive Tablets at bedtime. They're perfectly harmless.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

HOBSON QUITS SOUTHERN SOCIETY.

Washington, May 23.—Representative Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, "hero of the Merrimac," last night resigned as president of the Southern Society of Washington because the organization declined to adopt an amendment to the constitution admitting to membership persons from all parts of the country. Mr. Hobson contended the proposed amendment would wipe out sectionalism. His resignation was accepted and Claude N. Bennett, chairman of the executive committee of the society, was elected to succeed Mr. Hobson. The latter's term of office would not have expired until December.

RUSH FOR LICENSES AT CLERK'S OFFICE.

The city clerk's office did a bargain-counter business in miscellaneous licenses yesterday. Pawnbrokers, second-hand dealers and keepers of pool and billiard halls made haste to take out the documents which entitle them to do business. The mandate of Commissioner Hicken that they would be closed up if they did not comply with the provisions of the ordinance had an immediate effect and as a result the clerk's office collected about $1,000 in license fees.

ASKS UNCLE SAM TO COLLECT ON BONDS

Kansas Man Raises Question About Missouri Pacific Affairs.

Washington, May 23.—Representative Neeley of Kansas has submitted to Attorney General McReynolds a formal request that the government at once proceed to collect from the Missouri Pacific railroad $43,362,346 due the government for subsidized bonds advanced to aid in the construction of the Central branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad in Kansas. Mr. Neeley recently introduced a resolution directing the attorney general to take this step.

This is the only claim the government now has on account of the subsidy bonds issued to aid in the construction of the Pacific railroads. All other bond-aided railroads have paid their subsidy loans.

MORE ARRESTS IN VICE CRUSADE.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 23.—Two more men have been taken into custody in connection with the municipal government's anti-vice campaign. William Aldridge, a Venice prize fight promoter, and Richard Garrick, a motion picture actor, were charged with having contributed to the delinquency of minor young women. Aldridge was released on a $2,000 bond. James J. Jeffries, former champion heavyweight pugilist, appeared as one of his sureties.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Will Seek to Educate People on Insurance Lines—Kremer President.

New York, May 23.—Reports of committees covering practically every department of the fire insurance business were read yesterday at the Forty-seventh anual meeting of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. President George Babb in his report said that in the last year in forty-one state legislatures, about 1,500 measures governing the fire insurance business were introduced and that "unfortunately some of them were enacted into law." He thought the best corrective plan for hostile legislation rested in education concerning fire insurance, and suggested that monographs covering the subject be prepared for immediate distribution to the public.

Mention of the campaign to stamp out incendiarism was made in the committee report on arson. During the last year, the report stated, 124 rewards aggregating $41,250 were offered by the underwriters. In the forty years since the arson fund was established, the committee reported that 397 convictions have resulted at a cost to the underwriters of $84,868.

W. K. Kremer of New York was elected president.

ANOTHER RATE CASE.

Louisiana-Texas Question Before the Supreme Court.

Washington, May 23.—The Shreveport rate case, in which the commerce court recently upheld the order of the interstate commerce commission requiring railroads either to reduce their interstate rates on shipments from Shreveport, La., to Texas cities, or to increase their rates on similar goods between Texas points, was yesterday taken to the supreme court of the United States on appeal.

The Texas railroad commission had directed a reduction of the Texas rate to build up "home industry." The case involves a conflict between state and interstato commerce commissions that has attracted attention throughout the country.

INSULT FOR THE LARGE BUT BONY DIPLODOCUS.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 23.—The mystery of Carnegie Institute is, "Who tied the pink rosette on the tail of the diplodocus?"

What if der kaiser und der kings und princes knew of a pink rosette being pinned on the tail of the diplodocus that is the model of the diplodoc? The idea of a pink rosette on the 50-foot tail of the great creature that roamed the Western wilds 1,000,000 years ago—a p-i-n-k r-o-s-e-t-t-e!

Every moment some guard in the museum twists his head around suddenly and looks suspiciously at the tail of the diplodocus. In his fancy he sees the same pink rosette that caused all the trouble.

It was some days ago. There were few people in the museum of the institute. The guard strolled afield. A party of young women went through. They whispered and giggled of wagers.

They looked down and looked back, and no one was in sight. Then one young creature slid a large pink rosette from beneath her motor coat. In a jiffy she tied it on the tail of the big diplodocus. Then they all slipped away, their hearts beating fast.

PASSING OF BOWERY TYPE

Wielded Much Influence Among Denizens of Lower East Side.

New York, May 23.—When the life of George Washington Connors—"Chuck" Connors, as every one knew him—flickered out a few days ago at the Hudson street hospital in New York, there passed the last of the old Bowery types.

"Chuck" was of the Bowery breed of a generation ago. Unlettered, unread, his mouth filled with picturesque language of the terrible tough type, he would be as strangely out of place among the modern bad men of the Lower East side as a cable car on Broadway.

Compared to the gunman of today, "Chuck" spoke in a strange tongue. He would have been uncomfortable among a crowd of gangsters speaking pretty fair Italian as readily as a good brand of public school English. His ready fists would have been as useless as a policeman's sheated club if brought into action against the gunman's automatic revolver. "Chuck" would have been like a duck out of water had he sought his associates in pool halls instead of the barrooms and chop suey joints of Chinatown. There, at least, he was more at home even in the native Chinese lingo than the average Italian-American gangster would be among his non-English speaking neighbors just over from Italy or Sicily.

As a Pilot for Sightseers.

Some say "Chuck" was 61 when he died, but others believe the Bowery life used him up more quickly than that and he may not even have been 50 in fact. But "Chuck's" life was measured by experience and not in years. Of late he had picked up a fair living piloting parties of sightseers and rubbernecks through Mott and Pell streets and the labyrinths of the Chinese quarter. He even turned to the stage for a living a few years ago and through so doing met one of the disappointments of his life. Known as the "Mayor of Chinatown," he was visited by a theatrical agent, who was arranging to star him in a play of Bowery life. Hear "Chuck's" description of how he found the play was not to be "The Mayor of Chinatown," but only "The Bowery After Dark." Said "Chuck:"

"Say, dis is de woist case of rubbin' it into a guy I ever heard of.

"If I didn't have me bundle—me rag—Liz wid me—an' all ready to be an acterine, I'd blow de job, I would.

"A guy come to me at Flynn's and sez: 'Here, "Chuck," I wants a guy what can act.' Well, what could a guy loik me do? Wid Liz lookin' on, too?—I threw out me chest an' seen dat me rag was watchin' me.

"'Say,' sez I, 'what's to be de name of this piece?'

"'The Bowery After It Gets Black,' sez he. ("The Bowery After Dark.")

"'Nix,' sez I, 'not for mine. It's older "'Chuck' Connors, Mayor of Chinatown," or I quit.'"

They promised "Chuck" they would change the name for him, but they never did and "Chuck," needing the money, went with the show anyway.

Better For Her influence.

There was at least one uplifting influence in the life of "Chuck" Connors. This was wielded by his wife, who died in 1905. As Nellie Noonan she was just a comely girl graduate of the Jackson public school when she met "Chuck" Connors at a Bowery ball. Her brilliance was as an arc light to an incandescent compared to "Chuck's" slow moving mentality, but she was dazzled by his dash; and a good priest, finding no impediment, married them. For nine years they were happy together and "Chuck," a rover though he was, was true to his Nell. Their home was apart from the Bowery where "Chuck's" fame and livelihood lay, for he saw to it that his wife should not become a part of the life he knew.

Nell taught "Chuck" to read and write and to leave out the swear words in a simple sentence when trying to express his thoughts. She might also have taught "Chuck" to pray had she lived. But Nell fell ill and died and the Bowery helped to pay her funeral expenses. And as he stood by while the clods rattled down upon her coffin in the open grave "Chuck" said to a companion:

"She was a stiff to tie up wid me. And without her I would have been a stiffed mut." This was as close as "Chuck" ever came to a prayer.

A negro woman who had known "Chuck" all his life, and a Chinaman the Bowery called "Rocks," were with him when he fell ill of heart disease down in Doyer street. "Rocks" ran for a policeman and they came and took "Chuck" to the hospital. He was unconscious when they picked him up, so it may be said that "Chuck" lived and died in the Bowery, and that he fell there with his boots on.

A Friend of Literary Men.

"Chuck" was the friend of authors. Hall Caine he once piloted through the Bowery at night, and the author of "The Christian" said of him:

"'Chuck' Connor's personality haunted me, and again after that first visit I returned to Chinatown to renew my acquaintance with one of the most original characters it has ever been my fortune to meet. We have nothing in England, not even the costermonger, to equal the type. 'Chuck' Connors will always remain one of my most pleasant recollections of America."

Stephen Crane, author of "The Red Badge of Courage" and other stories, also visited "Chuck" to obtain those touches of slum life that made his work so entertaining. "Chuck" Connors was the link between the Bowery of old and the changing conditions of today.

To Stop Dandruff

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum.....1 oz.
Barbo Compound.....a small box
Glycerine.....¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

LOOKS GOOD TO PROPHETS

Another Year of Magnificent General Trade Is Indicated.

Very Few Mills, Shops and Factories Up With Orders.

New York, May 23.—To sum up the business of this week and the changes indicated for the future is not a difficult task, for it has been a very uneventful one in industrial, financial and commercial affairs.

There has been little or no change in the manufacturing districts, everything running in fairly good capacity, especially in the iron, steel and other metal classes.

New orders are not being placed for large amounts, but it is not the season to expect large orders, so no disappointment is felt as to that.

It is well and correctly described as an active season, with hopes of increased activity.

It must not be overlooked in considering future business that in the great majority of instances the merchants' stocks are not in as great quantities as usually at this time of the year.

Very few mills, shops and factories are up with their orders and between consumer and producer, in many articles, there are little or no supplies.

Serious Shortage Possible.

This is true in dry goods, in groceries, in iron, steel, copper, brass and tin products, in lumber and other construction materials, and in case of heavy harvests of crops and a sudden activity in transportation affairs developed by assured great tonnages from the farms and plantations, and aided by the demand from the agriculturists upon the light stocks of the merchants there will surely come a serious shortage in many articles.

While it is a fact that our manufactures and our imports have been running at a maximum for the past year, it is also a fact that the purchasing by the ultimate consumers has also been at a maximum, so that in very few cases have supplies shown any tendency to accumulate.

This can be set down as a decidedly healthy condition for trade, one that there is no financial danger in, but one that with favorable returns from the crops will result in at least a year of magnificent business.

The tendency shown by the secretary of the treasury to adopt a policy that will keep the volume of the currency up to the demands of current business is favorably commented upon by the manufacturers and the merchants, while the reports going about as to the outlines of the new currency legislation all seem to indicate that greater facilities for providing currency to the business men will be established before the adjournment of the extra session of the congress.

Good Reports From Abroad.

Private advices from European money centers are very encouraging for easier money abroad, while the statement of the Bank of England, showing more than 50 per cent reserve as compared with liabilities, is thought to foreshadow another reduction in the bank rate of discount by June 1.

The recent interview of James J. Hill was quite optimistic, and his declaration that there were no clouds in the business atmosphere of the United States was read with great interest by the many business men here who regard Mr. Hill as a practical business man, an able transportation manager and a sound financier.

Mr. Hill gave so many examples of good present and prospective business, he was so very practical in his statement as to the powerful factors for prosperity that were in operation in the United States at this time, he was so clear in his summing up and logical throughout that unless one could deny his citation of facts there was no escape from acceptance of his conclusions. It is seldom that Mr. Hill gives an interview of such length and such detail, and it has had a powerful effect upon the active business people throughout the country.

The Canadian Pacific Railway company announces that it has just placed orders for construction of two new steamships for its Atlantic service, sister ships of the two now nearing completion, which are to be operated upon the Pacific. Those latest ordered are to be ready in June and July, 1914. They will be built upon the Clyde, and each of them will have accommodations for 530 second-class and 1,230 third-class passengers.

Expansion of Ocean Commerce.

Here we have another example of the rapid and vast expansion of ocean commerce. These four vessels are of 12,000 tons each, are 520 feet in length, with freight carrying capacity as well as providing accommodations for nearly 1,800 passengers.

The millions of dollars in capital going into these large and commodious vessels are being invested where assured of large returns, and shipping men all talk as if the building of such great ocean carriers has scarcely commenced.

They one and all predict a marvelous increase in the number of great steamships plying the oceans.

The news from the wheat and cotton belts are now scanned each day very closely by manufacturers, merchants and the transportation men for in the agricultural results are vital results to them.

By June 20 the wheat returns will be so closely estimated that if the present favorable outlook is confirmed, many railway orders for new cars may be the beginning of a remarkable spurt in trade.

REVENGE OBTAINED FOR HELLO GIRLS

Berlin Court Fines Man Who Talked to Them Roughly.

Berlin, May 23.—The woes of telephone subscribers all over the world appear to be much the same, and to lead to a strong desire to say unkind things to the telephone girls. The inclination should be suppressed in Germany, for it is expensive. Our laws regarding insult work out occasionally in ways that appear ridiculous but they have their uses, and one of them is the protection of hello girls from the irate telephone subscriber who gets abusive when he is kept waiting longer than he considers proper, or who is convinced that the girl is too lazy to give him the connection desired when she tells him the line is busy.

A Berlin attorney named Paechter has just had this borne in on him forcibly in an action brought against him for insulting two telephone girls and the postal authorities in general. Paechter, an excitable man, had formerly had considerable trouble with the postal authorities over the telephone, and it had been taken away once because he abused the exchange employes. On his promise to be good the telephone was restored to him. A few days later a number of indignant young women complained of Paechter's language to them, and the director of posts had the attorney's connection taken out. "The post has a sense of justice like a Hottentot's," said the irate Paechter, thereby adding another count to the charges against him.

At the trial the girls from the exchange testified that they had been saluted with phrases like these:

"Get off the line, you camel!"

"Any sooner, you calf!"

"Pay attention to me, common female person (gemeines frauenzimmer)!"

Paechter admitted some of the epithets charged, but offered to justify them by proving facts tending to excuse his irritation. He would prove, he said, that one of the chief delights of the girls at the Luetzow exchange (his exchange) was to connect any person demanding a subscriber named Cohn with all the Cohns of the exchange and then to enjoy the despairing efforts of the weldered subscribers to find out which of them was wanted. The task was considerable, inasmuch as there are seventy-five Cohns connected with this exchange. Paechter offered also to prove that lines were free when they had been reported engaged, that he had been kept deliberately because the girls did not like him, and other shortcomings at the exchange.

The court refused to admit the testimony, holding that it was immaterial, since no conduct by the exchange employes could justify the epithets applied to them. An alienist, however, was permitted to testify that Paechter is a very excitable man, and that the telephone is a dangerous irritant to many persons. The witness even declared that a physician whom he knew had become mentally deranged solely through anger at poor telephone service.

The attorney was fined 260 marks, and costs, amounting to about as much more. To this punishment must be added his loss during seven months in which all connection was denied him.

COMPLAINS OF TANGO AND THE TURKEY TROT.

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 23.—The tango and turkey trot will not be tolerated in the public dance halls here and the curfew law will be strictly enforced, if the recommendations of the grand jury are followed.

The jury recommended that public dance halls be placed under the supervision of the commissioner of public safety and managers of these places be removed without notice "for misconduct or the encouragement of misconduct among those in attendance."

It suggests that a woman police officer look after young girls and rooming houses of the city, and that watchmen prevent spooning in the public parks and playgrounds at night.

CHICKERING PIANOS

Here is a thought that should be uppermost in every piano purchaser's mind: "Why should I pay the price of a good piano and not get a good piano? Why should I buy unknown and untried piano quality when for the same money—likely—I can secure the world-famous

Chickering PIANO

And yet, we know that this is being repeated every day. Just yesterday a lady said: "I am sorry I did not call at your store before I purchased. I so much wanted a CHICKERING, and to think that I allowed myself to be talked into another piano at what you ask for a CHICKERING makes me regret my hasty action." Come to our store and see the magnificent display of CHICKERING Grands and Uprights—all priced very low and on easy terms.

SMITH FAMILY ASSOCIATION

Those of Colonial Stock to Be Enrolled in Society.

Boston, Mass., May 23.—The task of organizing a Smith family association seems at first glance to be an appalling one. If every one by the name of Smith, or if half, one-third or one-tenth of the Smiths in Boston and vicinity were to join for social and fraternal purposes the meetings would have to be held on the Common.

But the Smith association, of which Dr. R. Kendrick Smith is president, Charles T. Smith, secretary, and Arthur W. Smith, historian, has no such purpose in mind. It wants all the Smiths who come of colonial stock to understand that they can, by enrolling in the Smith association, honor their ancestors who took such a conspicuous part in the founding of this republic.

Prominent in the work of securing members for the organization is George A. Smith, secretary of the American Society of Colonial Families. Mr. Smith has made a close study of genealogy and is generally regarded as an authority. He is a vice president of the Smith association and as a descendant of one of the colonial Smiths, he is eager to see as many of the family united as possible.

"There is an unseen bond," said Mr. Smith in discussing the subject, "that grips two men when they learn that they come of the same immigrant ancestor, although many years back. The Smith association may appear to have a tremendous problem on its hands, but not to those who are familiar with what we are undertaking.

"One of the obstacles that confronts us and which causes many people to hesitate about joining is the threadbare humor that the name of Smith always suggests. We don't mind these jokes; in fact, I can laugh as heartily as anybody at a joke on the Smiths, but there are some people who are sensitive. When you come to look up this or that person by the name of Smith, you will find that there are no more colonial Smiths than of any other family, so that the number of colonial Smiths averages no greater than that of other families of more or less common surname.

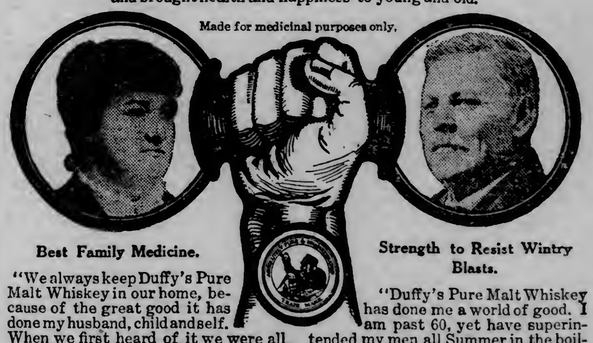
Made for medicinal purposes only.



Best Family Medicine.

"We always keep Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in our home, because of the great good it has done my husband, child and self. When we first heard of it we were all run down with hard work. My husband had used it only one week when I noticed a decided improvement, which continued. I also used it when I had change of life, and obtained wonderful results."—Mrs. M. Drolet, 2609 Caldwell St., Omaha, Neb.

Strength to Resist Wintry Blasts.

"Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done me a world of good. I am past 60, yet have superintended my men all Summer in the boiling hot sun, and never lost a day. I am sure I could not have done so had it not been for the strength Duffy's gave me. I never lost a day the past two Winters that a man could possibly work in the open."—Harry R. King, Brunswick, Md.

TWO MEAT INSPECTORS

City's Civil Service Regulations Will Be Given Test.

Who is the city meat inspector?

Is it Inspector Schneider, the holdover from the former administration, or is it Inspector Leo Bernhart, appointed by Dr. Webster.

Both are working. Schneider is following the usual routine and so is Bernhart. Each asserts that he is the city meat inspector.

Schneider claims that under the civil service regulations he can only be removed for cause and that he has not been so removed. Bernhart is working by virtue of his appointment by Dr. Webster.

Schneider was asked to turn in his star and credentials yesterday. He didn't. He stated that he had been asked to resign but thus far that he has not resigned. He has laid his case before an attorney, who will take it up with the new civil service board.

"Schneider may lose out in the end," said a city employe this morning, "but his fight will help us all out, so that it will not be in vain in any event, no matter what the result. It will show whether civil service in Duluth is only an empty form or really amounts to something."

McDonald alleges that the company contracted for his services for the year of 1912 at the rate of $300 per month. He claims that the company discharged him in March without good reason.

DULUTH-TWIN CITY HIGHWAY BOOSTED

Six Counties Represented at Enthusiastic Meet at Rush City.

Rush City, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth-Twin City highway scheme was given a great boost by the meeting held here yesterday afternoon of sixty-five enthusiastic good roads advocates representing six counties. The necessity for hurrying the road to completion this year, along the line of the Northern Pacific road was recognized by all and unanimously decided upon. Curtis M. Johnson of this place, secretary of the Twin Cities to Duluth Good Roads association, who called the meeting and President John A. Rystrom of North Branch were conspicuous in the gathering and did much to encourage the delegates.

President J. A. Rystrom, who presided, outlined the purpose of the gathering to advocate building a twenty-four foot highway from Duluth to the Twin Cities, that the larger part of the work is completed excepting about fifty miles across Chisago, Pine and Washington counties and there being a difference of opinion as to the route through those counties the object of the meeting, Mr. Rystrom said, was largely to settle that matter.

Road Bill Father Speaks.
Senator Elwell of Minneapolis, author of the good road measure bearing his name, explained the working of the law and said the proposed highway would not cost the farmers benefited more than ½-cent to 1 cent an acre, with ten years to pay for it.

Other speakers were: J. H. Armstrong, county surveyor of Ramsey county; J. H. Beek, secretary of the Associated Commercial clubs of St. Paul; H. J. Mullin, representing the Duluth Commercial club; C. F. Mahnke, the Moose Lake good roads booster, and W. R. McKenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

All urged the construction of the Duluth-Twin City highway. Resolutions were adopted favoring the proposed route along the line of the Northern Pacific as the shortest and most direct, and the following were named on a committee to appear before the state highway commission May 27 and obtain its approval of the route indorsed yesterday:

C. F. Mahnke, W. M. Cane and F. B. Vibert, Carlton county; Dr. J. D. Park, H. J. Mullin and George F. Lindsay, St. Louis county; George W. Empy, Robert Derr, H. P. Webb, W. P. Hogan, Ed Olson, Pine county; Charles Andrews, Curtis M. Johnson, J. A. Rystrom, A. Anderson and J. L. McCurdy, Chisago county; L. H. Peter, F. H. Murray, J. H. Beek and H. P. Keller, Ramsey; James E. Elwell, Wallace G. Nye, E. E. Hubbard, Howard Strong and E. Carlson of Hennepin.

Another meeting of the association should be held to further stimulate interest in the proposition and Forest Lake, Washington county, was decided upon as the place for such meeting and June 10 as the date.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO ELLEN M. MONTGOMERY.

Judge Cant has signed findings in favor of Ellen M. Montgomery, who sued her husband, Robert D. Montgomery, for divorce in district court. The divorce was granted on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Montgomery is 27 and her husband is 26. They were married in this city on Feb. 20, 1910. The desertion is alleged to have taken place on March 12, 1912.

Montgomery is an engineer and surveyor. The case was tried some time ago before Judge Cant. Since the case was first brought into court, Andrew Nelson has been substituted for C. C. Teare as attorney for the plaintiff. The matter of dividing the property has been adjusted out of court.

The New Models in W. B. Elastine Reduso Embody Common Sense With Grace and Beauty

The dominant styles for the coming summer require the appearance of an uncorseted figure. To that end new models have been brought out which are exactly suited to the needs of stout people. They have been designed to restrict and control any exuberance of flesh in such a manner as to obtain a graceful outline of form without sacrifice of hygienic freedom of movement.

In many of the new models the bust is low, extremely so—just about 3½ inches above the waist line, thus giving the diaphragm the necessary expansion demanded by nature. The waist line is almost unrestrained, permitting entire comfort in any position. The hips are long and well confined so as to show long, almost straight lines from arm pit to knee.

W. B. Reduso Corsets are guaranteed to reduce hips and abdomen one to five inches.

They are made of the best materials obtainable and are warranted not to rust, tear or break.

We especially recommend the new models at $3.00 and $5.00. Experts will assist you in selecting and fitting.

MAKE CHICAGO "QUIET" CITY.

Chicago, May. 23—Chicago's great orchestra of discordant sounds arising from rattling elevated trains, locomotive whistles, river boat sirens, automobile squawkers, the cries of peddlers and the crowing of roosters, has been placed on trial and found guilty of being a nuisance. The sentence was immediate suppression, and all the city ordinances regulating whistles and other noises have been ordered revived. Many of these anti-noise laws have been regarded as "dead letters."

Doctors, lawyers, merchants, managers of hospitals and others appeared before the anti-noise subcommittee of the city council health committee, and the result was an agreement that the city administration will make every effort to reduce noises in the streets and especially in the downtown district.

BAKER IS KILLED IN DOUGH MIXER.

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—John Jasper, head baker at the state hospital at Anna, fell into the dough-mixer yesterday and was ground to death.

REAPPORTION NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, N. H., May 23.—After a final session of twenty-six hours broken only by occasional recesses, the legislature was prorogued by Governor Felker Thursday afternoon.

Inability to obtain a quorum of Democrats to pass a bill establishing new senatorial districts accounted for the prolonged session. A quorum was obtained and the measure was adopted at noon. It was the first Democratic legislature in New Hampshire in fifty years. It was in session 142 days.

192,000 POUNDS OF MEAT ARRIVE.

San Francisco, Cal., May 23.—One hundred and ninety-two thousand pounds of meat, veal, beef and mutton, arrived at this port yesterday on the steamer Sonoma from Australia. This is the third shipment of meat received from the Antipodes in the campaign to combat the high prices asked by local wholesalers. The meat is consigned direct to retailers.

George F. Richards, who represents the Australian shippers, was a passenger on the Sonoma. He comes to this country to investigate the facilities for storing frozen meats on this coast. He will also go to Chicago.

PLAN HEARINGS ON MONEY BILL.

Washington, May 23.—The senate has agreed to a resolution authorizing the banking and currency committee to hold hearings on proposed currency legislation. Several Republicans had voiced an opposition to the passage at this session of any measure making sweeping changes in the nation's financial system. Senator Gallinger expressed the hope that no ill-matured and hastily constructed currency bill would be brought forward to occupy the summer months.

Senator Newlands advanced the idea that there should be reserve associations in every state in the Union, instead of the fifteen proposed in the monetary commission or the fifteen or twenty understood to be favored by Democrats on the banking committees of congress. These associations, Mr. Newlands argued, should be state-wide only in extent, with a banking board to provide the central control.

SPORTSMEN LIKE NEW GAME LAWS

North Dakota Hunters Believe Game Will Be Well Protected.

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota sportsmen are well pleased with the improvements in the game law by the last legislative session. The measure provides for the abolition of spring shooting, a closed season on deer, a perpetual closed season on partridge, pheasants and quail, and for additional deputy game wardens for the better protection of game.

No deer can be killed till Nov. 10, 1916, and after that only bucks can be shot.

Protect Partridges and Pheasants.

For some years partridge and pheasants have been multiplying in the Turtle mountain country. A perpetual closed season has been made against them, which will permit the wooded sections of the state to be well stocked with the birds.

Under the present law, partridge, pheasants of all kinds and swan are perpetually protected. Antelope, beaver and otter are protected until 1920, and deer cannot be shot until 1916, chickens and grouse can be shot each year from Sept. 7 to Nov. 1, ducks and geese from Sept. 7 to Dec. 15.

The bag limit is ten prairie chickens, grouse, turtle dove or crane or that number combined, twenty-five ducks, geese, snipe or plover, each or combined.

The new law creates deputy game wardens in each of the twelve judicial districts. This makes a smaller territory for each warden and should make for better enforcement of the law and protection of the game.

Resident licenses for shooting are $1 and $25 for non-residents. No fishing or rod licenses are required. The fishing regulations prohibits pike fishing earlier than May 1, and bass earlier than June 1. A state hatchery is operated at Lake Upsilon, near St. John.

The game protection is in the hands of a state game and fish board of which, with the power to appoint chief game wardens in two districts and twelve deputies, with specials. There is a fish commissioner appointed by the governor, but under control of the board.

AN EXPERIMENT, IT WORKED

The physician was Dr. A. E. Scott of 948 Market Street, San Francisco. We are passing this item to the press without his permission and without having seen him. First—Because it is a fact, and Second—Because the public ought to know it.

Seven Oregon physicians had been consulted in a critical case of Bright's Disease. Patient's family was told there was no hope. The heart was so enlarged he could not lie down and he had the short breathing that often appears in the finale of this disease. Patient had slept two weeks sitting up when they started for Southern California. He was so short of breath he feared he would die in the sleeper and stopped in San Francisco to consult a physician. They called in Dr. Scott. As the Oregon physicans had done everything the old school knew, he prescribed Fulton's Renal Compound, aiding it with heart and eliminative treatment. Ten weeks thereafter the albumen was nearly out, patient was gaining strength, sleeping like a child and left for home.

Just before leaving he called and gave us the above facts in person. He said his stopping in San Francisco had saved his life.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug company.

For pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease, write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

RESPITE GIVEN LABOR LEADERS.

Washington, May 23.—The mandate of the district court of appeals that Samuel Gompers should be imprisoned for thirty days and that John Mitchell and Frank Morrison should be fined $500 each for contempt of court in the noted stove and range case has been stayed to permit attorneys for the labor leaders to appeal to the supreme court.

MARRIAGE IS ANNULLED

Miss Antonio Vollen No Longer Bound to Chris Walhood.

Affidavit of First Wife Has Straightened Out Matrimonial Tangle.

Chris Walhood of Pekin, N. D., who figures as a principal in a strange story of double life, no longer has any claims, matrimonial or otherwise, on Miss Anna (Antonio) Vollen of this city, who rehearsed a marriage ceremony with him at Bessemer, Mich., on Jan. 3, 1912.

In district court today, Judge Bert Fesler read the deposition of Clar Kittleson Walhood of Glen, Colo., which was evidence of a prior marriage, and then signed findings in favor of Miss Vollen in the suit which she brought for the annulment of her marriage.

Walhood was married to Clara Kittleson at Hudson, Wis., on Dec. 27, 1910. They separated soon after their marriage and have never lived together since. Although no divorce proceedings were had, Walhood induced Miss Vollen of this city to marry him. Shortly afterwards she learned that he already had a wife living and brought an action to have the marriage annulled.

A few days after his second marriage Walhood met his first wife and entered into an agreement with her in writing that she relinquish all rights on his property for a consideration of $500, which was paid to her. The contract which was made also stated that they were to live apart from one another and that if one started suit for divorce, it was not to be resisted by the other. Such a contract would be held void in the courts.

It is understood that the first wife has started divorce proceedings.

BRYCE WRITES ADIEU TO AMERICAN PEOPLE

Sends Letter of Appreciation and Affection Before Sailing.

Washington, May 23.—James Bryce, former ambassador from Great Britain, just before leaving American soil sent back from San Francisco a letter of appreciation and affection to the American people. The letter, made public today, was in reply to one from residents of Washington expressing their regret at his leaving. It referred to his well known interest in the plans for the beautification of the national capital.

"I am glad to think that an Englishman who loves the United States and its people," the former envoy wrote, "is not debarred by an official position from taking, in all your projects for the artistic development of the national capital, an interest as keen as any that your own citizens could take."

Among the signers of the letter of regret and farewell to the ambassador were Admiral Dewey, Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff of the army; Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester; Thomas Nelson Page, and more than a score of others prominent in local and official circles.

SNAKE IN BANANAS.

Lake Linden, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A thirty-inch tropical snake that fell from a bunch of bananas in the local Co-operative store is exhibited in a glass jar. Its body is of pale green hue, with markings of brown so interspersed as to give the back a chainlike appearance. A clerk was cutting bananas from the bunch when he noticed a nest of fine dry grass close to the stalk. When the bunch was shaken the snake fell to the floor. It is not known whether the reptile is poisonous, but the store clerks took no chances. The snake was forthwith hustled into a jar and promptly sealed within it.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guaranty that it has the largest circulation in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

NOTHING LIKE IT ANYWHERE.

Says the Long Prairie Leader, in advocating the ratification of the "seven-senators" amendment to the Constitution: "If the state of Missouri had not adopted the principle of the 'seven-senators' amendment, that state today would be ruled by St. Louis. * * * If Minnesota does not follow the example set by every state of the Union which has congested centers of population, the state will within thirty-five years be controlled by St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth."

The Long Prairie Leader has succeeded marvelously in crowding a maximum of misinformation into a minimum of space. The paragraph quoted contains three statements, all of which are correct except as follows:

1. Missouri has not adopted the "principle" of the "seven-senators" bill, nor is there any proposal there to do so. Except that the Constitution of that state requires that every county, no matter what its size, shall have at least one member of the house, legislative apportionment in Missouri is strictly according to population.

2. The county in which the city of St. Louis is situated has less than one-quarter of the population of the state, so that Missouri is not ruled by St. Louis. Adding the county containing Kansas City, the two combined have something less than a third of the state's population. Though Missouri has one city of nearly 700,000 and another of nearly 250,000, there is no suggestion whatever in that state that the cities shall be discriminated against in legislative representation. And Missouri is in much greater danger from St. Louis than Minnesota is from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

3. The statement that "every state in the Union which has congested centers of population" has set the example of unfair legislative representation is absolutely false. All but a handful of states base their legislative representation strictly on population, as it should be. None of the exceptions have proposals so un-American and undemocratic as that involved in the "seven-senators" proposal. The state coming nearest it is New York, which simply has provided that not more than half the membership of the senate shall come from Greater New York, leaving it possible for cities of more than a hundred thousand population to have three-quarters of the senate membership, as they actually have at present.

The fact is that those who attempt to justify the "seven-senators" innovation by example cannot find the example, and that attempts to justify it by reason are hopelessly futile because it has neither reason nor justice.

Those people who accused Barratt O'Hara in the hope of discrediting his vice exposures can't exactly be said to have accomplished their purpose.

THE STATE WILL BE GRATEFUL.

Minneapolis is struggling with the formation of a city charter. In order to comply with the legal requirement that a charter commission must submit a charter within six months of its appointment, all the members of the Minneapolis charter commission have resigned, and have asked the district court to reappoint them. If the court accedes, the prospects are that the commission will submit a new charter, drawn along the lines of the commission plan, to the city council. And the city council must submit it to the voters.

The state at large, particularly that part of it which knows anything about legislative processes, will heave a sigh of relief if Minneapolis adopts a home rule charter.

Nobody who has looked through the laws enacted at the recent session of the legislature has failed to be impressed, and perhaps somewhat mystified, by the large proportion of laws applying only to Minneapolis. But the session laws do not tell the whole story.

They do not disclose the fact that where one Minneapolis law was enacted, perhaps a dozen bills were introduced, to be defeated or to have others substituted for them. They do not disclose the fact that the Minneapolis delegation is perpetually in disagreement, and that a formidable proportion of the time of the legislature is consumed in listening, more or less patiently, to the wrangling of the gentlemen from Hennepin over measures in which nobody else has the slightest interest.

For Minneapolis, at present the metropolis of Minnesota, has no home rule charter, and must rush to the legislature with every little thing not covered by its antiquated and inadequate old-style charter. The result is that a large proportion of the two thousand bills before the average session of the legislature is composed of Minneapolis measures, on each and every one of which the gentlemen from Hennepin must debate excitedly, disclosing each other's real names and washing Minneapolis unclean linen in the full gaze of the whole state.

The Nolan bill for the local regulation of public utilities, about which there was so much fuss near the close of the session, is merely an aggravated instance of what is going on most of the time. The Nolan bill conferred no powers which every home rule charter city does not now enjoy, and no powers which Minneapolis would not have if it would be progressive enough to adopt a home rule charter.

The legislature has been extraordinarily patient with Minneapolis. But patience ceases to be a virtue when a city's lack of enterprise so wastes the time of the state's law-making body.

If the people of Minneapolis will kindly adopt a home rule charter, thus putting the metropolis on a par with most of the minor communities of the state, it will clarify the legislative situation and simplify legislative processes to the benefit of the whole state. It is impudent for Minneapolis, when it can easily provide itself with a home rule charter, to continue asking the state to spend thousands of dollars turning the state legislature into a mangle for the washing of Minneapolis dirty linen.

The cruelest insinuation yet is contained in the suggestion that Dr. Friedmann got his turtle serum from one of the diamond-backed variety.

HARD TO GET AROUND.

James J. Hill makes the highly pertinent comment that there would be no trouble about Japanese ownership of California lands if the Californians would simply refuse to sell them any.

We don't see how the California jingoes can very well get around that.

Apparently what the Californians want, regardless of what it does to the nation, is a law to restrain their own thirst for the profits there are in selling land to the Japs for higher prices than white people will pay.

They seem very like alcoholics who vote for prohibition in the hope that the law will cure them of what they are unable to cure for themselves.

Just the same, his friends must wish that King Alfonso didn't look so much like the Chocolate Soldier.

TARIFF CONSISTENCY.

Manufacturers who induced the government to give them tariff subsidies on the plea of benefits to labor now protest against any government action to protect labor from having its benefits unfairly taken away from them.

Evidently their view of it is that it is fair for the government to tax all the people for their benefit, trusting to their generosity to give labor its share, but it is unfair for the government to insist that labor shall not be unjustly deprived.

They hold it fair enough for the government to give them inordinate profits through tariff subsidies, but unfair, when these subsidies are reduced to reasonable figures, to take precautions against unjust reprisals upon innocent workers.

Do they realize that they are awaking a suspicion that perhaps labor has not been getting quite all of the benefits of the tariff subsidy all these years?

Now that the popcorn wagons are making their rounds it will just have to warm up.

WOMEN AND THE BALLOT.

Says Col. Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal: "The Courier-Journal is in favor of giving the ballot to the feminine property-holder—not because she is a woman but because she is a taxpayer—and likewise it would admit women to suffrage in matters relating to schools and charities and corrections. It would save women the passion and dirt of party politics. Already myriads of men save themselves by not going to the polls."

Fairly said, and not discourteous.

But The Herald would not only go this far, but somewhat farther.

The Herald is in favor of giving the ballot to women. It sees no reason why it should be restricted to property-owning women, any more than men lacking property should be deprived of the ballot; any more than men having a certain amount of property should have one vote and men having twice that much should have two votes, and so on. For this is not a government by property—though it has been, through political bossism and its corrupt partnership with privilege-seeking business—but by humanity.

And unless women are something less than human beings, or something more, there is no more reason for restrictions of sex in voting than for restrictions of property ownership.

While the Courier-Journal would "save women the passion and dirt of party politics," The Herald would drive the passion and dirt out of party politics by admitting women to the party councils.

Nobody can guess how much of the passion and dirt of party politics is due to the fact that it has been restricted to men.

It has been noted that where men congregate without feminine society, they quickly revert to semi-barbarism.

Take a hundred of the best and most "refined" men in any community, and transplant them to a colony in the wilderness, without a woman within a hundred miles. Leave them for five years and then come back. You will find them carelessly dressed, slouchy, profane, quarrelsome, ill-behaved, rough, almost uncouth.

Import, then, a hundred gentle and good women, and mark the change. There will be a sudden demand for razors and hairbrushes. There will be a tidying up of apparel, of speech, of conduct. Your hundred barbarians will return from savagery to civilization in a twinkling.

Why doesn't that account for the "passion and dirt" in politics?

Politically speaking, men have been colonized in an Eveless wilderness, and so have reverted to barbarism.

The thing to do, obviously, is to import into this political Eden the refining influence of good women.

Next Monday the Minnesota rate case will be decided—maybe.

JUST SEE WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an item in your paper of May 20, I read "Superior Should Help Duluth." Let me ask in all fairness "Why Should she either in a vice crusade or otherwise?" You never miss a chance to throw it into Superior every chance you get. If an elevator or other industry is to be established in Superior you come out in big head lines, "Twin Ports" as per the agreement at the time it was decided to call the two towns such, but if these are to be built on your side of the bay its Duluth in capital letters. Agreement be d——. Now when you are at sea in an old tub without a paddle you yell for Superior's help to get you to shore by helping fight this so-called vice and to help grass grow in main streets.

If such should come to pass that the two towns should abolish the districts what would your hordes of men working on railroads, steel plant, dock, etc. do? They would simply go from door to door butting into every house where a furnished room sign was displayed. Your towns would be filled with small confectionery stores, "living rooms attached" for ever since Eve tempted Adam with an apple this traffic has been carried on and always will be if not openly, on the quiet, and if on the quiet it means more policemen and more expense. I am a man of family, have traveled a good deal, been in towns where the districts are, also where they are not, and it is my experience that cities with the district are the best governed; also you are not button-holed every block by some street walker.

Superior is profiting by Duluth's move in abolishing the district, so again I say, why should she help you? Even in the short time you've been at it now your streets are loaded with street walkers winking and nodding at all passersby. I have as much respectability as any man and I'll say and every fair-minded man will agree with me, that in abolishing the segregated districts you only throw it up town or on street, so why not let them run.

If I was mayor of a city I'd close every chop suey restaurant in town as more girls are ruined in such places than in sporting houses or from their influences, so aren't you commencing at the wrong end to clean your city.

Keep up your so-called cleaning process and the Superior people will come over in two years and get their winter's crop of hay off of your streets.

Yours truly, A. D. GRIGNON.

Pitt, Minn., May 21.

What Are You Against?

Life: This is the era of the anti. A man's fame in the world depends upon the number of things he doesn't like, won't eat and refuses to believe. Positive traits have become negative virtues. "What does he want?" we used to ask about the newcomer. "What doesn't he want?" is the proper question today. Politicians make good by making the worst of everything. Vegetarians do not make themselves happy by eating vegetables. They make themselves miserable by assailing roast beef. Does the man who loves and is loved by his wife spend his spare time thanking God? Not at all. He spends time he cannot spare organizing anti-divorce societies. A modern man is one who neglects what he does like and can have in order to denounce or pursue the things he dislikes and can't have.

She Was the Kitchen Lady.

Answers, London: "I want somebody to show me where to unload this coal," said the grimy looking man at the kitchen door.

"Well, you needn't ask me," replied the young woman thus addressed, as she tossed her head scornfully. "I'm the kitchen lady."

"Indeed!" was the retort. "And I'm the coal gentleman, the father of three kitchen ladies, one laundry lady, one charlady, and if you don't show me where to put this coal, I'll call the woman of the house."

This was altogether too much for the haughty cook.

"I'll show you, sir," she ventured humbly, then meekly led the way to the coal cellar.

The Dirge of Doubt

I am Doubt, Daughter of Darkness. Fear and cowardice and bigotry and prejudice I suckle at my poisoned breasts.

My black wings cloak the sun and hide the rainbow.

I feed upon the hearts of men and drain the courage from their veins.

When genius weaves its tapestries of dreams, my vandal talons rip the pattern from the hopeful fabric.

I break the wings of glory and I steal the chaplet from the brow of fame.

I scrawl "impossibility" upon the guideposts of success.

I strew the highways to the stars with barriers of incredulity.

I drip my venom in the sweet wine of faith.

I block the vision of the soul with false mirages and make horizons seem impenetrable walls.

When progress urges daring to the fore, I counsel discouragement. When valor's trumpets sound the charge I plead the adverse chance and drag the weak-willed to the rear.

Tear off my mask and look well in my face—I AM IGNORANCE.

Learning is my hereditary foe. I perish before the lamp of knowledge.

Year by year I retreat into the West. My sun has set. My hour wanes. Civilization is hard upon my flanks.

As I flee, humanity and justice blossom behind me and millennium descends the Hills of Dawn.

Face His Misfortune

Paris Letter to the London Telegraph: Emile Angain has no luck; his face has been his misfortune. Not that there is anything singular about his appearance. There is not, hence these tears. In 1903 Emilie was arrested as the accomplice of a notorious anarchist, Jacob, in a crime at Angora. He spent five months in prison awaiting trial. Faced by witnesses of the crime, he was formally and most circumstantially recognized by nine worthy people whose bona fides were above suspicion, and by four inspectors of police.

Things looked very black for the accused when, as the trial drew to its close, he put to the judge this simple question: "On what day, as you say, the crime was committed?" The judge gave the date. "If you inquire at the Sante prison," said Angain, "I think you will find that on the day of the crime I was serving a sentence there." The alibi was found to be correct. It had been a case of mistaken identity.

Recently Angain made another appearance in the dock, on a charge of swindling. The swindles, all of the same nature, covered a period of six months, from January to August last year. The victims formally identified Angain. Once more the accused had an alibi ready. On all except one of the dates recorded he had been at his old address in the Sante prison. In fact, as his counsel, M. Gavault, a dramatist by avocation, pointed out, though Angain had spent the greater portion of recent years in prison, he had never once been condemned. On three occasions the case against him had been dismissed after he had spent three years to five months in prison awaiting trial, and twice a year of imprisonment had been followed by acquittal.

Counsel for the prosecution was so impressed by this tragic rubric that he forgot to accuse, and was constrained to acknowledge that "on the prisoner there weighed a fatality worthy of the ancients, or"—this with a bow to M. Gavault—of "the modern theater." In spite of this amiable collusion between defender and prosecutor, the judge, on the principle that there is no smoke without fire, sentenced Angain to six months' imprisonment for the crime committed on the sole date for which the accused could not establish his customary alibi. With a curious muddle headed irony, the jury justified their verdict on the ground that Angain was an old offender.

Useful 'Liza Jane.

Youth's Companion: Evidently 'Liza Jane was a very useful person. She and the old woman came into a London shop and the old woman began examining some pieces of cheap calico. She pulled at one piece first this way, then that, wetting it and rubbing it with her fingers, to try if the colors were fast.

But she seemed not entirely satisfied. At last she cut off a piece with a pair of scissors, and handed it to 'Liza Jane.

"Here, 'Liza Jane," she said, "you chew that, and see if it runs."

Cupid's Swift Dart.

Judge: When a certain darky of Mobile, Ala., announced his engagement to the dusky one of his choice the congratulations that were showered upon him included a note of wonder.

"Joe," said one of these friends, "I shore is surprised! We-all never thought you'd speak up. It's going on two years since you begun to fool around Miss Violet."

"Dat's true," said Joe; "but de fact is, old man, I didn't lose my job until last night."

Yes, Why Not?

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The agriculture department has prepared a lovely little pamphlet containing colored pictures of fifty prominent birds of the field and orchard, in native costume. Copies of this little pamphlet are at the disposal of congressmen to send out among their constituents with a view to increasing the knowledge of birds among the home folk, so that it a man steps out into his back yard and sees a thrush, or a linnet, or a flamingo flitting about the trees, he will be able to call it by name.

Representative Ira C. Copeley caused to be published in newspapers of his district a general proclamation to the effect that, while the supply lasted, he would send the pretty little bird books to all who would write for them, without money and without price.

One constituent read the notice hastily and thus became the victim of a slight misunderstanding. He sat down and wrote his congressman as follows:

"I have seen your advertisement about free birds and I think I will choose a parrot. Or send a crow."

Representative Carter Glass of Virginia, chairman of the house committee that will draft the new currency bill, is a man who rarely goes to bed before 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. This is not because he has to sit up pondering over our banking and currency system, nor yet because he is a professional night prowler, but is due to his early life around a newspaper office.

Glass was obliged to quit school at 13 and go to work as printer's devil on the newspaper down at Lynchburg that he now owns. It was a morning paper and he worked at night. When he got into the various other jobs on his way up—typesetter, reporter, and what not—he still toiled while others slept. Even after he became owner of the paper, he continued to be around the office far into the night. Thus the habit became permanent. For the life of him, Glass cannot get sleepy for an hour or two after midnight. So he sits up and meditates. Whatever kind of a currency bill is drafted by Glass and his committee, one may know that it was incubated from the still watches of the night.

When Glass was running for congress one fall, there was a certain statement that it was highly essential to get printed in time for the early mail edition one morning. It was a long statement and was not received until nearly press time. To make matters worse, they were running short handed that night.

"I'm afraid we can't make it," said the foreman to Glass who had dropped into the composing room. "If we just had one more man on the job—"

"I'll get you a man," said Glass. And he took off his coat. For the first time in fifteen years he set type and made himself generally useful. In that way they caught the first edition.

* * *

Glass got it into his head a few years ago that he desired to raise fine dairy cattle. So he went and bought himself a farm and dotted the landscape with lowing kine of the Jersey variety. He kept books on them, and every cow had to make good. That is, if the cost of the food she ate was greater than the butter fat she delivered, a cow found herself in a bad way. Glass would go over the expert testimony, giving the cow a fair and impartial hearing, and if she couldn't prove an alibi, she was sentenced to the butcher. By that system Glass developed a wonderfully conscientious and painstaking herd of milch cows. Things were just going nicely when the Southern railroad came along and needed a large strip of land right through the Glass farm. Rather than be an obstacle to progress, Glass sold the farm to the railroad and auctioned off his cattle. And that was the end of his farming operations. But there is more to our story.

In his primary campaign for congress last year Glass' opponent posed as a great friend of the farmer, and made capital of the fact that he himself owned a farm. Glass no longer had a farm, but he was not to be outdone at pulling the farmer vote. So he issued a challenge to his opponent.

"We'll go to any dairy farm you select," said Glass, "and if I don't milk more cows than you do in the course of an hour, I'll withdraw from the race. If I win then you withdraw."

But his opponent refused to accept the challenge.

"How many cows can you milk per hour?" inquired a friend of Glass.

"How do I know 'till I try?" replied Glass. "I never milked a cow in my life."

Glass has a son, Carter Glass, Jr., who is a fleet runner. On the same day that Glass senior was defeated for the senate two years ago, young Glass won a gold medal in a 400-yard dash at a college track meet.

Young Glass mailed the medal to his dad with a note that said:

"You'd better wear this for a watch charm to show people that somebody in the family can run if you can't."

* * *

Glass does not drink, smoke, or chew tobacco. He doesn't swear, either. When completely exasperated, however, he loses all control of his tongue and resorts invariably to the expression: "Dad bum it."

"How Did You Die?"

Did you tackle the trouble that came your way,
With a resolute heart and cheerful,
Or hide your face from the light of day,
With a craven soul and fearful?
Oh, a trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce,
Or a trouble is what you make it,
And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts,
But only, how did you take it?

You are beaten to earth, well, well, what's that?
Come up with a smiling face,
It's nothing against you to fall down flat,
But to lie there, that's the disgrace.
The harder you're thrown, why the harder your bounce;
Be proud of your blackened eye;
It isn't the fact that you won that counts,
But how did you fight, and why?

And though you be done to the death, what then?
If you battled the best you could,
If you play your part in the world of men,
Why, the critic will call it good.
Death comes with a crawl, or comes with a pounce,
And whether he's slow or spry,
It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,
But only, "How Did You Die?"

The State Legislature

Press Views on the Session.

Swallowing Millions.

Hinckley Enterprise: "Some of the country papers are complaining about the increased tax rate adopted by the legislature. These same papers last fall were clamoring for the approval by the people of the 1-mill road tax"—Mora Times

Yes. And most of them were clamoring for the adoption of the 5 per cent gross earnings tax that makes the railroads pay $1,600,000 more into the state treasury and should reduce the tax rate about the amount the 1-mill road would increase it. But the extra million and a half paid by the railroads was swallowed up in so-called reform measures and an increase made in the tax rate double that made by the road tax. And that's going some.

Will Fall Again.

Warren Register: A few of the Southern Minnesota papers are whooping it up for the "Seven Senators" abortion. The "seven senators" proposed amendment ought not to carry and we believe it will fail next year as it did last year. It is a demagogic appeal to country prejudice against the big cities and its fathers should be ashamed of their offspring. We believe it will fail, because we have an abiding faith in the fairness and love of justice and a square deal of the country voter.

Self-Imposed Taxes.

St. Peter Free Press: Twenty years ago thousands in appropriations would suffice. Today nothing but millions will do, and the people are burdened with high taxes.—Anoka Union.

All of which is true. But we should always bear in mind that these burdensome taxes are self-imposed. No taxes can be levied unless duly authorized by law. And who is responsible for that law? The very parties that pay the taxes. If the taxpayer objects to high taxes he should send men to the legislature in favor of low taxes. It is the only way to effect a change and yet it is habitually overlooked during political campaigns

Looking Ahead.

Speaker Rines, in Mora Times: It is costing the state too much to run its affairs. There are too many state departments and too many employes for the amount of work to be done. The work of the state could be performed more effectively, and, of coourse, more economically, if several of our commissions and departments were consolidated and the number of officials and employes correspondingly reduced. Many members of the state legislature saw the necessity for a re-organization and a correlation of our state departments. In the house a movement was started with that end in view. One of the house committees devoted nearly its entire time to the question. The subject being too big to work and the limited time allotted to a legislative session, a bill was passed in the house providing for an interim committee of senators and house members to study the question during the next two years and make its recommendations to the 1915 session of the legislature Unfortunately those who would have been affected by a re-organization of state departments and a more economical administration of our governmental affairs were strong enough to prevent its passage in the senate, thereby delaying further action until the 1915 session, unless the question is taken up at the extra session. The consolidation of state departments will be an issue in this state in the next campaign and we look to see something done upon this subject at the next session of the legislature.

Will Not Down.

Menahga Joournal: The recent mugwump legislature may think they have put the Republican party out of business, but they "sure" have another guess coming.

Unconvinced.

Roseau Region: An extra session of the legislature has been proposed for the purpose of creating a state public utilities commission. Until more convincing arguments are put forth than what have thus far been advanced on the subject, the Region is inclined to the opinion that local control in these matters is a safer thing for the people and municipalities affected than state regulation. The corporations concerned seem to prefer the latter.

Just a Few.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: The legislature just adjourned has the record for the amount of new bills passed and much needed laws were among them. There were a few presented, however, that failed of passage.

Kissing Day in a Village.

London Telegraph: Hungerford Little town, situated on the confines of Berkshire and Wiltshire, was recently the scene of incidents reminiscent of the remote past. It was Hockney day, a day when Hungerford slips back into past centuries and revels in customs and privileges granted by John of Gaunt. One feature of the proceedings is the perambulation of the town by two Tuttimen, represented on this occasion by F. Barnard and J. S. Tyler, whose interesting mission it is to kiss all women folk and exact headpence from men. Nor is the custom honored only in the breach, with the result that the Tuttimen had a busy day. In exchange for kisses they give oranges.

Particularly busy were the Tuttimen at the workhouse, where they found the women folk insistent on the due observance of their privilege. The Tuttimen spent an hour at this institution. Another interesting scene occurred at the laundry, where the women employes, their hair gaily decked with primroses, paraded before the kissing men, who, by special charter, were instructed to be discreet in their choice, and selected two each as the recipients of their salute.

While the Tuttimen were engaged in this mission the borough dignitaries were assembled in solemn conclave at the courthouse, whither they had been summoned in the early morning by blasts on John of Gaunt's historic horn. The ancient rules, regulations and privileges were recited with due solemnity.

The labors of the deliberative assembly being at an end, the members of the jury adjourned for the Hocktide luncheon, while pence and oranges were thrown from the window to the crowd of children who were granted a holiday in honor of the event. When the company separated the Tuttimen continued their mission.

Sooner or Later.

Kansas City Times: "Yes, sir, I'd been drinking a little—" You are right. It was in police court. "Drinking a little"—or much—gets most of them there.

Like Baseball.

Life: The President (during the war of 2012): But where are all the officers of our army?

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1893.

•••A passenger train from Winnipeg and a freight collided on the Northern Pacific near Little Falls, Minn., about 3:30 this morning. No one was killed but several were injured, one being the postal clerk, Wells Lounsberry, formerly of Duluth, who is a son of Col. C. A. Lounsberry of Fargo.

•••The West Duluth council last night passed an ordinance permitting the Minnesota Canal company to lay its mains in the village. An expenditure of $100,000 by the company within a year is provided for. The company agrees to furnish water for fire protection at 2 cents per 1,000 gallons, as against a charge of 20 cents now made by the water company. P. R. McDonnell was awarded the contract for improving Ninth street, Hazelwood, for $7,981. The appointment of C. L. Fredrickson as street inspector was confirmed.

•••Miss Lura McLeod will leave on the steamer Monarch tomorrow for her home at Owen Sound, Ont., where she will visit for two months.

•••Miss Mabel Paddock has returned from Houston, Tex., where she has been spending the winter.

•••Black & Dodge of Lansing, Mich., submitted an ordinance for a telephone franchise at the meeting of the city council last evening and said they were ready to test in the courts any claim by the Duluth Telephone company that it had an exclusive franchise. The council voted an appropriation of $250 per month for four months for concerts by the City band. The appointments of Beriah Magoffin as railroad commissioner and Robert H. Doran as deputy assessor were confirmed.

•••John Edward Jones, 20 years of age, was killed this morning at the sawmill of Duncan & Brewer by his clothing catching on a revolving shaft around which he was whirled. He was unmarried. A brother, Charles H. Jones, and a brother-in-law, U. S. Ridgeway,, work in the same mill, and his parents reside at Madison, S. D.

•••The Duluth baseball team was organized last night with the following officers: President, J. Lynn; secretary, and treasurer, Ed Krelwitz; manager, J. Reid; captain, B. B. Fitger.

Books and Boys.

Lee Shippey in the Higginsville, Mo., Jeffersonian: Do you remember the first time you read Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," or Alexander Dumas' "Three Musketeers?" Of course, you do. Those were the books which gave you a taste for reading. You used to think books were dull things, just as that boy of yours does now. You would lots rather spend your evenings with "the gang," listening to the older boys telling whoppers about their thrilling experiences, and sometimes some pretty bad stories, than stay home and read. Books seemed schoolish things and you got enough of school while you had to stay in it. But when you read those two books you learned that books could be fascinating, and you wanted to read more.

The fates must have ordered the inspiration of those books for the purpose of making boys love reading. And from the time you read them your broader mental development dates—you began to take more interest in history and great achievements, and every hero you read about filled you with new and higher ambitions.

It will be just the same with your boy. His mental development largely depends on the amount and kind of reading he does. So make sure that he gets a public library card, and see to it he gets started reading the right kind of books. If you do that you won't have much trouble keeping him off the streets.

Every Little Counts.

Washington Star: Senator Bourne said recently in Washington:

"The parcel post, limited as it is thus far, saved the American people $500,000 in its first fifteen days of operation. That isn't much—not much to what it will do later on—but every little counts.

"Every little counts, in parcel postage as in New York flats," the senator continued, smiling. "I know a New York man, who, on his return from the roominess of Washington, said, fretfully, to his servant:

"'Jameson, this flat seems much smaller than when I moved into it last summer.'

"'Yes, sir,' Jameson answered; 'quite so, sir. But you must remember, sir, that you are wearing your winter underclothing now, sir.'"

SITE WANTED FOR ARMORY

Steps Being Taken to Obtain State Aid for New Building.

Duluth Companies Entitled to $75,000 From Legislative Appropriation.

The site for the new armory is expected to be selected within the next few days, according to Col. F. E. Resche of the local militia. It will be built with the aid of a $75,000 appropriation made by the last legislature, which passed a law making $15,000 available to each company of the state militia for the purpose of building an armory. There are five companies in Duluth.

Col. Resche has plans in his possession which show the dimensions of the proposed armory to be 200 by 150 feet with three stories and basement. It will be thoroughly equipped with everything that is necessary for a military headquarters.

"The present building is entirely inadequate" said Col. Resche yesterday, "and at this time a large part of our equipment is being kept in St. Paul because we haven't room for it here. At the last session of the legislature $15,000 was appropriated to each organization of the state militia toward building an armory. The five companies here would realize from the state $75,000. At a meeting of the state armory board in St. Paul two weeks ago, applications for the funds allowed under the law were made by twenty-two organizations of the state. St. Paul and Minneapolis already have handsome armories built by each city floating bonds for $150,000 and $200,000 respectively.

"The law requires us to provide a site which must be deeded to the state and requires $1,000 deposited by each organization before we can acquire the appropriation from the state. We haven't definitely decided on a location yet, but expect to make final arrangements for one in a short time. Then we will get to work and raise the money necessary, which will be $1,000 from each organization. We expect the city to help us in this respect. When this is done Duluth will be assured of the handsomest armory that the money we will have to spend can buy."

No Constitutional Convention.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—The assembly last night defeated an effort to submit to the people the question of holding a convention to revise the state Constitution. The resolution to this end was adopted a few days ago, but the vote was reconsidered last night and the resolution indefinitely postponed by a heavy vote.

The assembly killed a senate bill to merge the office of state fire marshal, now held by Thomas M. Purtell, with the state fire insurance department.

COMMERCIAL CLUB WILL TAKE HAND IN PAVING WAR

The Twenty-third avenue paving row will be taken up this evening at the meeting of the West End Commercial club. The subject will be introduced by Dr. O. A. Oredson, Jack Rivers and a number of other property owners on the street.

In speaking of the paving contract yesterday Jack Rivers said:

"With reference to the list of names published in the Herald yesterday I will state that I know of additional parties who prefer sandstone to anything else on the avenue, but who are not included in the list. I have not talked over or made it a point to go into this matter thoroughly and these two names occurred to me in a casual way, being Mr. and Mrs. Christian, owners of the Christian block, on the corner of Superior street and Twenty-third avenue west, as well as Mr. Carlson, who lives on Twenty-third avenue west between Eighth and Ninth street.

"There really is no reason for putting in crushed rock above Fifth street. It does not appeal to me as to whether it is a question or opinion of even the property owners. If the grade is right for sandstone, which it is, sandstone should be used. The commissioners appear to be afraid that they are going to hurt some one's feeling. Why do they not do the same as done in Detroit, Mich., Minneapolis, Minn., and other cities. These cities improve streets according to the idea of the city officials and if certain streets have a grade that will stand sandstone or other serviceable paving, such paving is put in and then the property owners are assessed their proper proportion. Another thing that appears strange to me is that the commission should go to work and let a contract for the paving of Twenty-third avenue, north of Fifth street, with crushed rock in view of the fact that they did not know the exact number of people north of Fifth street that wanted crushed rock, and also that they did know and were in possession of a list who wanted sandstone.

"It was my understanding that the city is endeavoring to standardize paving and it has been the policy of the old council that when a street was to be improved, even though there was a serious objection to sandstone by some of the residents having property abutting street to be improved and that a few desired sandstone or some other serviceable pavement, the latter pavement was used with a view of standardizing the paving and eliminating work necessary for repairs from year to year.

"We all know that crushed rock on Twenty-third avenue will not do, as it will simply wash down the street the same as is being done on Piedmont avenue and all of the rest of the hillside avenues and I will say now that I have today served notice on the commission that if Twenty-third avenue is paved with crushed rock north of Fifth street that I will pay my assessment under protest, as I do not feel that I can pay for crushed rock and in a few years be called upon to pay for sandstone. There will certainly be a pronounced demand for the sandstone by even those now in favor of gravel and crushed rock inside of a few years. Crushed rock will not hold on a level street, even when it is bound with tar.

"A statement appeared in one of the papers recently which was very misleading, showing that it cost $319.69 for the first fifty feet and $177 for the second fifty feet for sandstone. This matter has been gone into and it has been found that for a 35-foot frontage sandstone will cost $124.32 and the gravel and crushed rock will probably cost in the neighborhood of between $80 to $100, putting the sandstone at an outside figure, say $135 or $140, it seems a good investment to me and if the people who are now objecting most strenuously cannot see their way clear to pay this amount some way can no doubt be devised by us to help them out."

CHILDREN TO GROW STRAWBERRIES

The demand for strawberry plants was strong at the home of L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, last evening and this morning. Children from all parts of the West end who had entered into the West End Commercial club's garden contest flocked to Mr. Simonson's home to purchase the plants and it was expected that the supply would be exhausted before this evening.

It is planned to give four prizes for the best strawberry garden. These four prizes will be apportioned one to each of the four school districts, the Adams, Munroe, Ensign and Lincoln. Similar prizes will be awarded for the best general garden, the best flower garden, the best display of vegetables and the best potatoes.

Members of the committee expect to have about $100 to distribute among the four schools. The amount of the prizes will depend on the amount subscribed toward the fund by the business men. James Maghan, member of the committee, is securing the subscriptions and has now about half of the money needed.

The committee has the names of over 600 children enrolled in the contest. It is figured by West end people that this garden contest will mean the saving of hundreds of dollars to West end people in the free food it brings to their table. Where the contestants live every inch of available space has been dug up and planted and in many cases adjoining vacant lots have been converted into gardens.

The club will make a campaign this summer for good roads. Telephone connections with the city is another improvement which farmers want and intend getting this year. It is claimed that about half of the farmers of the town want the 'phones in their homes and a petition asking for this improvement will be circulated and turned over to one of the companies.

SUFFERED IN ARCTIC.

Diary of Rescued German Tells of Some of Hardships.

Berlin, May 23.—A description of the terrible sufferings undergone by the members of the German Arctic expedition commanded by Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz, which met disaster in Spitzbergen, is given in the diary of the artist, Herr Rave, one of those rescued. He has telegraphed extracts to Berlin from Advent Bay, giving details of the movements of the expedition after its members had abandoned their vessel, the Herzog Ernst, Sept. 21, 1912.

The extracts in some places are incomplete and almost incoherent. They say:

"The proposal to abandon the ship came from Capt. Ritschel at the beginning of September. The vessel then had provisions for four months besides a large supply of condensed foods, and she was otherwise well equipped.

"The party started for Advent Bay and reached a hut on Widje bay on Oct. 4. Dr. Rudiger, the oceanographer, was suffering them from a half frozen foot, two of his toes being in bad condition. I offered to remain with him there until the others could bring back help. The hut contained a month's provisions.

No Sleeping Bags or Lights.

"Dr. Rudiger and I were without tools, sleeping bags or lights. I melted some fat and made lights, and fashioned some sleeping bags from salted skins which I found in the hut. Dr. Rudiger's foot became worse and there were no more bandage materials.

"The provisions ran out and we left the hut Nov. 23, hoping to regain the ship. We suffered severely, having nothing to drink, but we finally reached a hut at Mossel Bay, where we found some hard and moldy bread.

"We remained there three days, during a storm, and then started again for the ship, guiding ourselves by the stars. We arrived at the ship on Dec. 1.

"Dr. Rudiger meanwhile had suffered greatly, two more of his toes and four fingers having been frozen, while his foot became so bad that it had to be amputated.

Three Men Lost.

"The guides and sailors of the expedition returned unexpectedly to the ship Dec. 24, reporting the loss of Eberhart. They had no news of Dr. Dettmers or Dr. Moeser, the botanist. They said Capt. Ritschel had gone on alone to Advent bay.

"Stave died Feb. 24 and the Norwegian relief expedition commanded by Capt. Staxrud appeared April 21."

The expedition started last summer under the patronage of the Duke of Altenburg, with the object of finding the northeast passage.

CROXONE SOON RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such disease. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle. All druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

"The Social Center is a means of finding the common interest in any community," said Mrs. A. A. Kerr this afternoon at the last meeting of the Park Point Mothers' and Teachers' club held at the Whittier school. Mrs. Kerr has been actively interested in social center work for some time and has strongly advocated it in Duluth. "I believe," she said, "with Dr. Josiah Strong, president of the National Social Center association, in his statement that 'the great interests of humanity are the common interests, and these are the ones commonly neglected.'

"Many feel that the social center movement can never be a success, for not every one in a community will enjoy every one else in that community; but it is not supposed that every one will meet upon every occasion for the same things, but the idea is that different groups interested in the same subjects may meet, and there will be times in every community when every one will be interested, and these times will draw the people together, and by closer acquaintance the closer feeling will be developed and a common interest discovered."

The recitation of "The Dearest Spot" by the club members and the repetition of the Lord's prayer opened the program, and other enjoyable numbers were vocal solos by Miss Mary Whitcomb, a reading, "When Thomas Takes His Pen," by Miss Selma Bestler; cradle hymn by the fifth and sixth grades.

The program was arranged by Mrs. N. J. Hendrickson, president of the club, and Miss Susan Houser, principal of the school. Mothers and other residents interested were guests of the club members this afternoon, and after the program tea was served by girls of the school.

"PEACE DAY."

Schools Observe Day With Exercises.

Observance of Peace day was a feature of the work in all the public schools of the city today. Patriotic songs and recitations were given in various buildings where a general program was given and in many the individual grades held short exercises.

The general idea of dispensing with war for the settlement of difficulties which arise between nations was clearly set forth and the spirit of "Peace day" impressed on the children.

C. W. Seymour lectured on "Lafayette" at the Central high school this morning at the services held there for the day.

FAREWELL BANQUET.

Miss Laumann Honored By Irving Corps.

Miss Laura Laumann, who has been a teacher in the Irving school at West Duluth for more than twenty years, was the guest of honor at a banquet given last evening at the school building by the other teachers of the school. Miss Laumann will leave at the close of the school term for her home in St. Peter, Minn., and does not expect to return to Duluth, so the affair was in the nature of a farewell party.

The tables were arranged in the hall of the building in triangular shape with a large bouquet of pink carnations arranged in a vase on a pedestal in the center of the triangle. The appointments were carried out in pink and green, the Irving colors, and covers were laid for twenty. Talks were given by S. A. Foster, principal of the school, Miss Celia Vaughn, and Miss Mary Burk, Miss Laumann responding, and Miss Edna Jones gave two interesting readings, "Heartsease" and a charming little encore. The banquet was arranged by Miss Irene Walker, domestic science teacher at the school.

PLAN CAMPAIGN.

Y. W. C. A. Workers Arrive to Help Raise Funds.

Miss Frances Crittenden and Miss Taylor of Minneapolis, territorial workers of the Northwest district of the Young Women's Christian association, arrived this afternoon to help in the finance campaign which will be started Monday by the local association to raise funds for the sustaining of association work during the coming year. During one week in May last year over $8,000 was raised to cover the budget for the year and the board of directors hopes to surpass that amount this year.

A luncheon will be given tomorrow at the association building for the board of directors and the finance committee, at which Miss Crittenden and Miss Taylor will speak, and plans will be outlined in detail for the campaign.

The first event next week will be the annual May luncheon, which will be served at the association building at noon open to all men and women of the city interested in the association and its work and Y. W. C. A. members will serve, the usual cafeteria plan being set aside for the day.

The "tips" outwear the gloves

"The Kayser" SILK Glove

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard.

The development of the "KAYSER" Silk Glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand for features most aptly characterized as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" Gloves are the best—in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSER" gloves "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value.

Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER"—you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

Better Babies.

"Better babies" has been the aim of the whole infant welfare exhibit, which has been conducted this week by the Scottish Rite Masons at the Masonic temple, closing today with a baby show.

Miss Heikkila, the nurse maintained by the Masons for infant welfare work in the city and an assistant, helped the physicians in their work.

How to prevent infant diseases, the care of infants in health and sickness, a model nursery, charts showing what the baby should eat, what he should not eat, why he is happy, why he is cross, and hundreds of other details in connection with the young "master of the house" and the attention due him—have been given due space in the exhibit and speakers have given valuable advice in talks each evening.

The exhibit will be open from 8 to 10:30 this evening and is free to all interested.

Love and Liberty.

Love is not enough. There must be respect for one's personality, writes Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World.

The most unbearable tyranny is sometimes exercise under cover of the sentiment: "I would not say this, my dear, if I did not love you so."

There is a good deal of the autocrat in love, and a pasisonate affection can easily become an intolerant martinet.

To insure permanent love two people must persistently allow each other to work out the peculiar individuality of each. We must love the beloved for what he or she is, and not for what we want him or her to be.

Of course, certain things render love impossible. One cannot love another who outrages one's sacredest convictions, arouses disgust and offends decency. In such cases there is nothing to do but to separate.

But I speak of less serious causes of difference, such as divergence of opinion and of taste, and of other similar idiosyncrasies of character.

There can be no abiding love, without liberty, toleration, and the acceptance of personal traits. Nothing is more fatal to affection than to feel a sense of restraint in the presence of the one beloved. This inevitably grows into estrangement.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Kinemacolor motion pictures.
EMPRESS—"The Girl Question."

Amusement Notes.

Changing the musical comedies of several years ago into up-to-date tabloids has proven very popular this season. Three large audiences yesterday enjoyed "The Girl Question" now a tabloid, at the Empress theater, where it opened for the remainder of this week.

The plot of the old comedy by Adams, Hough and Howard has been retained to a certain extent, while numerous new songs and dance numbers have been injected. The plot deals with an incident in the life of Con Ryan, who is the manager of a popular restaurant. Con falls in love with his cashier, but she fails to return this love and Con feels that he is left without a friend in the world.

At the same time the restaurant is taken over at a foreclosure sale and Con is compelled to go out and sell books for a living. While peddling his books Con meets Josie, his former waitress, who has inherited a large fortune. Con then learns what a friend Josie has always been to him and she tells him that the restaurant is now his.

Raymond Paine plays Con exceptionally well and his slang scored a hit yesterday. Mr. Paine has played in Duluth several times and is well known to local theatergoers. His last appearance here was with Olive Vail in "Miss Nobody From Starland." His song numbers, "I Just Dropped In," and "Giggling and Whistling," are pleasing. He is very ably assisted by Miss Irene Miller, who plays Elsie, the cashier, and who also appears with him in several specialty numbers.

Others in the cast deserving of mention are Hans Herbert as Baron Van Tasma, Harry Ludlum as Bud McGinnity and Miss Lee Johnston as Mrs. Sears. The chorus assists admirably in the various ensemble numbers during the action of the play.

"The Girl Question" will continue until tomorrow evening.

Next week will be a big week at the Lyceum with Blanche Bates appearing Monday evening and John Drew Friday and Saturday. These are two of the biggest attractions of the entire season, and patrons of the Lyceum are waiting for them.

The program for the latter part of this week at the Lyceum is made up of a well-balanced program headed by "Feathertop" in Kinemacolor which is a dramatization of Nathaniel Hawthorne's story of the same name. It is a wonderfully fantastic picture with a strong touch of pathos for the poor scarecrow man. Twenty or thirty different models of afternoon dresses are shown to excellent advantage in Kinemacolor. The black and white program is made of three reels including "The Rath of Osaka," a Japanese drama, "The Golden Wedding," a war time play and a comedy "Putting It Over on Papa."

Tomorrow will be children's day at the Lyceum. A special three-reel feature will be shown for the children. It is "Dick Whittington and His Cat."

Wise to Start Savings Bank Accounts for Children.

Every parent is under a sacred obligation to his children to give them the best opportunities within his power to make their way in the fight with the world when they reach the age of maturity. Too many parents live along from day to day, with no provident measures for the future, and with little thought of the welfare of the children when they shall reach an age when the question of an education confronts them.

If parents are careless on their own account, and do not care to make a special effort to lay aside a percentage of their earnings to provide for their future, they should at least do something for the children dependent upon them. There are few families, in anything like moderate circumstances, who cannot afford, say, $5 or $10 with which to start a savings account for the first baby. This can be added to at the rate of a dollar or so a week, or even a month, and in time will amount to a substantial sum.

The call for an education is stronger today than it has ever been before, and eighteen or twenty years from now, when the babies of today are beginning to face the world, it will be even stronger than it is now. Those parents who do not make some provision for this education are likely to find, when the time comes, that they can do nothing toward helping their children obtain the education that is due them without making the greatest sacrifice.

Why not make the sacrifice now, when it is not really a sacrifice, but merely a matter of a little self-denial? Whatever sum that can well be spared to start an account, and then to keep it going, will do. Any reasonable sum, deposited with clock-like regularity, will bring about astonishing results. The important thing is to make the start without delay, and to make the deposits regularly. Savings banks compound the interest semi-annually or quarterly, and even small sums will grow faster than you would dream of, if you have not sat down and figured it out. It is astounding what interest, compounded as it is by the savings banks, will do.

Imagine what a fine thing it will be for the boy to have, say, $900 or $1,000 or so in the bank, ready for him when he desires to go to college to fit himself for a trade or a profession, as his start, or even a few hundred would, and if he is the right sort, he could make his own way through. I have heard young men say that if something like that had been done for them it would have changed the whole course of their lives.

If you have a boy of your own, try it.

COMPLETE NEW SPRING ASSORTMENTS NOW READY.

WILL MAKE SCIENTIFIC TESTS IN THE GRADING OF GRAIN

Efforts Will Be Made in Duluth to Ascertain What Percentage of Moisture Grain May Safely Carry.

At a meeting of the board of appeals and the chief deputy inspectors of grain at Duluth and Minneapolis, held yesterday afternoon at the office of the board of appeals in the board of trade building here, it was determined to employ a representative of the university farm to help make tests in a scientific and practical way at elevators to find what percentage of moisture grain may carry and be safe for warehousing.

Representatives from the chemistry division of the university farm present were: R. W. Thatcher, chief chemist, and C. H. Bailey, cereal technologist. Others present were: E. R. Rehnke, C. G. Bryant and Hans P. Bjorge of the Duluth board of appeals, A. F. Evenson and C. G. B. Jacobson of the Minneapolis board, H. E. Emerson, chief deputy at Duluth, and G. H. Tunell, chief deputy at Minneapolis.

The A. D. Thomson company of Duluth, which operates the Great Northern elevator, in a letter offered for the test any number of bins and also the grain, free of charge for the committee's use. This committee decided to order the necessary equipment at once and to have it installed in the Great Northern elevator in Superior, where the test will be made.

This, it is said, will be the first test of the kind ever made in the United States, and as it will be of the utmost importance to both sellers and buyers, it is likely that it will be closely watched. The result of the test will probably settle the controversies which are widespread throughout the country on the grading given grain. When it is considered that out of last year's immense crop, 20 per cent was judged as being of "no grade" the importance of such a test can fairly well be realized. "No grade" in many cases indicates that there is so much moisture that it is in danger of spoiling. The Duluth members have been trying to obtain an official grading of grains for some years, and have at last succeeded in getting the preliminary steps taken.

Multitudes of Japanese prayed throughout the day in the streets near the palace and also in the temples and churches and at various shrines.

Thanks President Wilson.

Washington, May 23. — President Wilson today received the following cablegram from Emperor Yoshihito of Japan:

"Deeply touched by your kind message inquiring after my indisposition. I express my sincere thanks to yourself, government and the people of the United States."

"Reports received through press agencies are current to the effect that your majesty is indisposed. I have heard these reports with sorrow and with great concern. Should they prove to be true, I desire to offer to your majesty for myself and for the government and people of the United States the assurance of my sincere sympathy, and to express the ardent hope that your illness may prove to be of brief duration and your recovery rapid and complete."

would be competent only in the event that some connection between the papers and the alleged conspiracy should be established by evidence.

The district attorney read the papers to the jury. One of them was the check for $505, drawn on the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, payable to and indorsed by Atteaux and signed "American Woolen company, W. A. Currier, assistant treasurer."

"Approved—William M. Wood."

Accompanying the check was an American Woolen company voucher on which Atteaux's signature appeared and which was a receipt for $505 for "expenses incurred during the Lawrence strike," according to the inscription on it. The voucher also bore the words "Approved—William M. Wood, president."

Another exhibit was a check for $2,100 drawn on the Beacon Trust company, Boston, on June 26, 1912, payable to and indorsed by Atteaux. This check bore the signature of William H. Dwelley, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen company. The voucher accompanying the check bore the approval of Mr. Wood and an inscription on it said: "In full for all claims to date."

Called Company Treasurer.

The district attorney then called William H. Dwelley, Jr., treasurer of the American Woolen company, and questioned him. Mr. Dwelley told of being called into Mr. Wood's office one day, when the latter told him that he had settled in full with Atteaux. At Mr. Wood's direction Mr. Dwelley made out the check and voucher. That was the day, he said, on which the company was paying the attorneys in connection with the Lawrence strike affairs.

Dwelley testified to having heard Atteaux offer his services to Mr. Wood in an effort to settle the strike.

Turned State's Evidence.

The case grew out of incidents of the Lawrence textile strike of 1912 and is based on the allegations that the defendants conspired with Breen and Ernest W. Pitman, a building contractor, who later committed suicide, to place explosives in Lawrence for the purpose of prejudicing public opinion against the strikers.

Collins turned state's evidence and testified that he and Breen placed the dynamite in Lawrence after receiving it from Pitman; Breen charged that Atteaux paid him to do the work, and William H. Rice, a quarryman, corroborated the statements of Collins and Breen regarding Pitman's complicity.

PROBE OF EXPLOSION OF CANNON ORDERED

Capt. Hanna and Three Others Dead and Nine Injured.

Charleston, S. C., May 23.—A board of inquiry has been appointed to investigate the cause of the explosion last night at Battery Lord, Fort Moultrie, of a 4.7-inch gun, which killed three artillerymen, fatally wounded Capt. G. B. G. Hanna, Sixteenth company coast artillery corps, and injured nine privates.

Col. Frederick S. Strong, commanding district officer, is at a loss to account for the explosion cause.

The plunger of the gun pierced the roof of a vacant dwelling 400 feet away.

Capt. Hanna died today at the army hospital. A flying breech block tore a hole in his side.

In Twelfth Minnesota.

Washington, May 23.—Capt. Hanna rose from a private to the rank of captain, having been mustered in at the beginning of the Spanish-American war with the Twelfth Minnesota infantry, qualifying as a second lieutenant in 1901 and reaching a captaincy in 1911. He was born in Iowa in 1879.

The Twelfth Minnesota was recruited in Southern Minnesota. When it was formed, John Lind was colonel, and other men of that section of the state were given other offices.

BAPTIST SPEAKER PRAISES JAPANESE

James H. Franklin Tells of Visit to the Orient.

Detroit, Mich., May 23.—"The man who by word or deed creates bad feeling between the United States and Japan is an enemy of civilization," declared James H. Franklin of Boston, foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society, in an address today before the Northern Baptist convention now in session here.

Secretary Franklin, discussing his recent tour in Japan, said:

"The Japanese people want no trouble with the United States unless the trouble is forced on them in defense of what they consider their national honor.

"Japanese newspapers are absolutely fair," said Mr. Franklin, "in their reports of news of a religious or moral nature. Their libraries are stocked with the best books in the world.

"With all the earnestness which I can command, I say that the Japanese are entitled to the respect and confidence of the world. We condemn in the Japanese the very traits on which Americans and Englishmen pride themselves—shrewdness and independence. In fact, the Japanese are known everywhere as the Yankees of the East."

GOLD CACHE FOUND IN OLD DUNNE HOME

Peoria, Ill., May 23.—Workmen engaged in tearing down an old house at 708 South Adams street, which at one time was the home of Governor Edward F. Dunne, found $250 in gold hidden in a secret panel today. C. F. Messer of East Peoria, a foreman employed by a contractor and house wrecker, found the coins wrapped in an old piece of paper.

The destruction of the governor's boyhood home marks the passing of one of the historical landmarks in Peoria. It was erected in 1855 and at that time was one of the most pretentious dwellings in this part of Illinois. It was sold a number of years later to P. W. Dunne, father of Governor Dunne, now living in Chicago.

AUSTIN CRIMINAL CASES TO BE TRIED

District Attorney Will Insist That Postponements End.

Corning, N. Y., May 23.—The criminal charges of involuntary manslaughter growing out of the breaking of the dam at Austin, Pa., Sept. 30, 1911, which resulted in a loss of eighty lives and practically obliterated Austin, a village of 3,000 persons, will be moved for trial to Wellsboro, Pa., June 2.

Upon the representations of the defendants that a fair trial could not be had in Potter county, Pa., where the catastrophe occurred, a change of venue was granted to Tioga county a year ago. Several times the trial of the cases has been postponed, but District Attorney Nelson said today that he would insist that there be no further postponement.

New York, May 23.—Government agents today were unable to find any trace of Henry W. A. Page, a linen importer and British citizen, whose rearrest is sought on the ground that he violated the terms of suspended sentence under which he was released at Washington a year ago after his conviction of libeling members of congress. He was sentenced at the time to serve five years in prison and pay a fine of $1,000.

Employes in the building where Page had his office said today that they had not seen him for several days, and some of them expressed the belief that he had gone to Europe.

Called Congressmen "Crooks."

Page's conviction followed his circulation of pamphlets calling congressmen "crooks." He believed that the courts had treated him unfairly in giving his wife the custody of their three children after granting her a separation. He memorialized congress asking for the impeachment of certain New York judges, and when the house judiciary committee, to which his petition was referred, gave him no satisfaction, he printed and mailed to members of both houses pamphlets containing an attack on various congressmen.

After his conviction he promised to desist in his campaign, but of late, it is charged, he sent letters to President Wilson attacking the department of justice. This brought about the order for his rearrest.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NEW SCHOOLS BEING BUILT

Courthouses, Jails and Other Similar Structures Also Planned.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Building operations in North Dakota have opened this season on a more extensive basis than for several years. A large number of new school buildings are being erected, patterned after modern ideas of school building.

Portal will build a five-room brick schoolhouse, the contract to be let May 26; Baldwin, Burleigh county, will let a contract June 10 for a new school; the Walsh county agricultural school will erect buildings at a cost of about $20,000; a six-room building at Bowden has been contracted for and work already is under way; Avon township, Grand Forks county, will let the contract June 4 for a modern school; Engevale, Ransom county, will let a school contract June 16.

Other Public Building.

At Grafton the contract will be let soon for a county jail and sheriff's residence, bids being opened tomorrow. Cottonwood Lake, Williams county, will build a city hall; an electric passenger service will be installed in the Federal building at Bismarck; the work is already well under way on the new Grand Forks county $200,000 courthouse; the construction of the Mountrail county courthouse at Stanley has been commenced, and the courthouse at Cavalier is being pushed rapidly.

There are to be several new automobile garages, such structures being planned at Bismarck, Dickinson, Christine and Grand Forks.

At Harvey plans have been completed for a hospital.

Work on the Elks building at Bismarck has been commenced, and the contract for the Masonic temple at Grand Forks will be let May 27.

At Minot the Russell-Miller Milling company is planning a big addition to its plant. Mott will have a new flour mill and electric light plant.

New residences are also numerous, and many elevators are being constructed along the new lines of railroads.

QUAKER CITYITES LEARNING IN WEST

Madison, Wis., 23.—Standing before the statue of Lincoln on the campus of the University of Wisconsin, Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg of Philadelphia yesterday pledged a renewed purpose to solve his city's problems. The mayor spoke to a large assemblage of students and the members of the delegation of 120 Easterners who came here to learn the lesson of popular education as the university applies it throughout the state.

Mayor Blankenburg said that "after coming to sit at the feet of the wise men of the West," the visitors had gained a new viewpoint.

"There is a new spirit in Pennsylvania as in Wisconsin," he said. "Our people have suffered from indifference, ignorance and selfishness. We are trying to awaken out of this lethargy and one proof of it is the fact that this delegation of over 100 has come here to learn how you people in Wisconsin have solved the problems that have been troubling us.

"If we had the extension system of which we have just been hearing, we could do much to improve our state and city, and we are going ahead to make the improvements. We will do away with the ignorance, the indifference and the selfishness throughout this country, and when we finish, we will be a shining light for all the world.

City Like Big Corporation.

"People in Philadelphia have not looked upon the operation of a great city as that of a corporation. Yet we have in the city of William Penn over 1,000,000 stockholders. We are going ahead to make that corporation efficient. We have begun by banishing the politicians from the city hall."

President Joseph Swain of Swarthmore college, President E. C. Sparks of Pennsylvania State college, and Dr. Martin Brumbaugh, superintendent of the Philadelphia schools, also spoke. Earlier in the morning the delegation heard addresses on extension work conducted by the University of Wisconsin. The visitors listened with the interest of college students, and nearly all took notes.

The marketing of farm products, the benefits to the farmer of agricultural extension work, the importance of pure bred grains, the value of pure milk, and the success of pure bred livestock, will be explained and demonstrated by the staff of the Wisconsin college of agriculture tomorrow morning.

The delegation was entertained last night at a banquet given by the citizens of Madison.

AGAINST WORKING NEGRO CONVICTS

Stillwater Citizens Protest to State Board of Control.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—Members of the state board of control faced a charge that they had broken faith with the legislature, when they met yesterday with the Stillwater Citizens association to hear complaints against the employment of convict labor on additional buildings at the new state prison. The meeting resulted from the recent importation of 125 prisoners, including 110 negroes, from Washington to work on the new buildings. These men were sentenced to Federal prisons, but, owing to the crowded condition of these institutions, the Minnesota board of control offered to care for them.

C. E. Vasaly of the board presided at the meeting.

Mayor B. J. Moosler of Stillwater headed a delegation of eighteen from the association. Secretary F. T. Wilson of the association submitted a protest from that organization to the employment of convict labor, etc.

"Organized labor will not look with favor on substituting convicts, especially negro labor brought here from other states, for free citizen labor," he said.

Says Pledges Are Violated.

"Hostile legislators to the present program of using convicts in the manufacture of twine and machinery, will make much capital out of the statements repeatedly made by friends of organized labor in securing legislation in the interest of citizen labor of Minnesota. The proposed policy seems to us to be in direct violation of those pledges. The inevitable result will be to put the board of control on the defensive. It will be obliged to explain and justify."

Mr. Vasaly said that the board of control in importing the Federal convicts had been actuated by a desire to promote the best interests of the state and make a large saving in money.

Senator George Sullivan explained that there had been a thorough understanding in the legislature, when provision was made for the erection of the new prison, that no convict labor should be used in competition with free labor, and a clause to this effect was placed in the act providing for the appropriation.

E. G. Hall of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota federation of labor, Representative H. H. Harrison of Stillwater and others spoke.

REORGANIZATION TALK.

Remoulding of G. O. P. Along Progressive Lines Talked at Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—A reorganization of the Republican party along progressive lines, was informally discussed at a conference of Progressive Republicans at a meeting here late Thursday. No formal action was taken.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota, who was here earlier in the day, was obliged to leave on an afternoon train.

Representatives I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin; Sidney Anderson of the First Minnesota district, and James Manahan, congressman-at-large from Minnesota, were the speakers at a banquet following the conference last night, given by the Minnesota Progressive Republican league.

Criticism of the Underwood tariff law, as being unfair to the business and farming interests of the Northwest, was the principal theme of all three speakers.

Mr. Lenroot particularly defended the Progressive Republicans in congress for their stand taken in voting against the new tariff law.

CHIPPEWAS DYING.

Grim Reaper Pretty Busy These Days on Couderay Reservation.

Couderay, Wis., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eleven Chippewa Indians on the Couderay Indian reservation died during the past ten days, all from natural causes out of a population numbering about 1,000 Indians. The death rate is very high among these Indians due largely to their filthy mode of living.

DAUGHTER "DOING TIME."

Rochester, N. Y., Attorney Makes Startling Discovery in Mill City.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—J. H. Keefe, an attorney of Rochester, N. Y., yesterday found his daughter, Mrs. Ruth M. Fahnestock, divorced wife of a Watertown, S. D., man, serving a six months sentence in the Minneapolis workhouse. She was sent to the workhouse after having confessed in district court to passing a worthless check. The police claim that after her arrest, Mrs. Fahnestock posed as the wife of a Watertown banker, brother of her divorced husband, and claimed she believed the check was on her husband's bank.

Mr. Keefe, who it is said was formerly a district attorney, says he has not seen his daughter for three years.

Mr. Keefe went before the prison board yesterday and asked for a pardon for his daughter. It was granted with the understanding that the woman should leave the state.

FOUND IN MUSKEG.

Littlefork's Missing Homesteader Located in Semi-Nude Condition.

Littlefork, Minn., May 23.—Fritz Nirsch, the Lindford homesteader, who disappeared May 9 and for whom posses have been searching, was found early in the week wandering around suffering from an attack of delirium tremens. When located he was wandering around in the ice cold water of the muskeg about four miles west of Littlefork and was attired only in an undershirt and a hat. He appeared perfectly happy despite the fact that he had been without clothing and food several days and nights, as his whereabouts was discovered by the fact that he was whistling.

Going in the direction of the whistling, the searching party was surprised to see Nirsch meandering around in the mud and water in a nature costume that was no fake, supported by a staff of Alpine pattern. It was not believed that he could be alive, as he left his packsack and other belongings at Albin Johnson's in the Bear river country when he disappeared, and gradually discarded his clothing as he went along, so was both without protection from the cold weather and food.

Hirsch was taken to the home of Fred Lindvall, a neighbor living at Lindford, where he was thawed out and restored to a normal mental condition.

RETURNS TO DENMARK.

Old Kanabec County Resident Makes "Stake" for Declining Years.

Mora, Minn., May 23.—Lars Ivenson, who has been a resident of Kanabec county for the past twenty-four years, Tuesday morning bid adieu to Kanabec county for a trip to his native land, Denmark. NEW CHISHOLM BLOCK STARTED Structure Costing $35,000 for Use of Pioneer Merchant Being Built.

Chisholm, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ground has been broken for a big business block to be used by S. Sapero & Son, for their new department store. Simon Sapero returned from Duluth the first of the week, where he has been going over plans with the architect. The building will be up-to-date in every respect and will include all the latest things in construction. It will be strictly fireproof, and will occupy the full fifty feet on Lake street and run to the alley, 125 feet. Two floors and a full basement will comprise its capacity, which gives a floor space of between 12,000 and 13,000 square feet. The new store will be located directly across from the Masonic building now in the last stages of completion. The building will cost fully $35,000 with fixtures and will be a very substantial addition to Chisholm's already well-equipped dry goods stores.

Bought First Chisholm Lot.

Mr. Sapero was the first purchaser of a business lot in Chisholm, erecting and starting the first business building, which was then located on lot 15 in block 15. Michael Balch now occupies the location with a two-story brick building. Sapero, with many others, lost his business place in the fire, but immediately began rebuilding and was the first to get started up in his own quarters after the fire. He moved into his new store on Thanksgiving day, 1908, where he has since remained.

Two sons, Mose and Abe, now are members of the firm, and the new plan of an up-to-date department store for Chisholm will be a welcome addition to shoppers.

Some have made the distance, twelve miles, carrying packsacks The road to the lake has been improved and the resort is expected to be more popular than ever this year. Nearly all of the cottage owners have their places in readiness for week-end trips, but the colony will not be at the lake for the summer until after the schools close for the vacation period.

WOMAN BEATER HEAVILY FINED

Judge Moylan of Eveleth Has Little Sympathy for Such Brutes.

Eveleth, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Municipal Judge Moylan has little sympathy for the man who is so contemptible as to beat a woman was evidenced in court Thursday when he imposed a fine of $50 and costs on John Draskovich, who was convicted of pummeling the wife of his step son during a family row. The man paid his fine rather than serve sixty days in the county jail. The court room was full of spectators when Frank Draganak also contributed $50 and costs to the city for carrying concealed weapons. Frank was made the butt of a clever joke on the part of the judge and the laughter interrupted proceedings for several minutes.

Court Discovers Gun.

First Draganak was arraigned for being drunk, to which he pleaded not guilty and was discharged. He was so pleased that he bowed with a low dip and thanked the judge and shook hands with his friends. Then he started to leave the court room. "Hey," said the judge, "come here a minute. Is this your gun?" "Yes," said Draganak. "You had it when arrested, did you not?" "Yes." "Then I fine you $50 and costs for carrying concealed weapons." "Vat? Oh, my," said the victim. "I will settle," he finally managed to utter, and he did to the amount of about $60. He said he would never again carry a gun in Eveleth.

The teams of the village, such as will be necessary, will be at the command of these organizations and many citizens who have already offered their services will be on hand with shovels, brooms, rakes, pitchforks, etc., promptly at 7 a. m., to take part in the work. Superfluous Hair Truths

Stop Experimenting

There are but few depilatories sold. You think there are hundreds because you have used the same identical preparations under several different names. This is easily explained. Women stop using

So-Called Hair Removers

when they learn that they are harmful. Therefore, they can not be sold under the same name for any length of time. Then the identical, worthless, harmful concoctions are given new names and advertised again as totally different preparations to who innocently buy them over and over again under different names, and this will continue as long as women are so unwise as to experiment with unknown, so-called hair removers.

De Miracle

Has Stood the Test of Time

De Miracle has been sold as De Miracle for over eleven years, and its name has never been changed. It is acknowledged the world over by eminent authorities as the one safe, perfected hair remover, therefore it is the only depilatory you can use without experimenting.

Leaves No Tell-Tale Smell

If you use De Miracle it will be impossible for any curious person to know that you have used a hair remover because De Miracle evaporates immediately after accomplishing its work, therefore leaves no odor whatever. On the other hand, if you use any depilatory with a distinctive odor, an offensive, tell-tale smell will cling to your skin for hours.

Avoid Permanent Disfigurement

by refusing substitutes. If your dealer will not supply you send $1.00 direct. Free information how to determine which depilatories are harmful and worthless sent in plain, sealed envelope.

(BY BRUCE.)

Athletic park, yesterday. Summer faintly approaching in the offing. Two small boys with last year straw hats sneaked in during the excitement of the seventh inning. Between little gobs of sunshine which were gratefully received, our sterling athletes defeated the Jonesites of St. Paul by the count of 2 to 1. This was the first game of the series and also the last. We took the series from the visitors.

From the first round to the last, when strong men held their breath, even if they were strong, and two women in box seats uttered nervous feminine exclamations and held their hands, as women do at times, the game was a corker.

The day was streaky and filled with threats. A lowering sky glowered down and at times during the conflict threatened to stop the proceedings. But the dark clouds floated over in the direction of Proctor and the sun came forth and smiled.

It seemed as if the baseball park was stage dressed to represent a scene in a lumber camp. In right field and also in center there were huge piles of lumber. People in mackinaws occasionally hovered around and on said piles, giving those in the grand stand and bleachers recollections of the environment surrounding the young lives of many of our large local fortunes.

Mr. Brackett of Morris, Minn., opposed Andy Le Claire of West St. Paul in the pitching department. Each eminent artist was nicked during the course of the afternoon for four hits. Two of those gathered off the serpentine delivery of Herr Brackett were of the ancient order of the scratch. Brother Brandt jolted a small one to Rhoades in the fifth and was called safe at first. Hruska hit a wee one along the infield left foul line in the seventh and got a hit on the offering.

Healthy Swats.

On the other hand the hits of the local luminaries belonged to the healthy variety as opposed to the hot-house brand.

During the afternoon Brother Brackett issued six passes and struck one of the opposing batsman. Outside of this tendency to permit his nervous temperament to get the better of him and act like Eva Tanguay gets paid for behaving, the Morris marvel twirled one of the best games that any of our highly paid pitchers have flung during the present season. Now that Montgreith Woods and Herr Brackett have set the flinging pace it is altogether probable that the rest of the staff will follow suit.

Our skidways were greased yesterday and the visitors romped wild on the paths, five pilfering, three bases being gathered on wild pitches, one through a passed ball and one when Schreiber dropped the one perfect peg Wilke, the new catcher, made during the affray. Ten bases is going some, and yet we won the first game that has been played with St. Paul since somewhere back in 18— something. Let the local historians do the work.

In the first Brandt was swatted and then Weidel wopped one to right for two bags. Hollingsworth, who used to play baseball when Charley Comiskey had the St. Paul team, whiffed and danger passed us by.

In the third the visitors hung up the count that for seven weary rounds looked large enough to cop the contest. Monseiur Le Claire strolled and was forced at second by Thomas. That gent promptly stole second and counted from that point of vantage on Brandt's single over second, this after Glockner had flown to right. Weidel whiffed.

In the fourth the visitors had a man on third, and this occurred again in the eighth and also in the ninth. We had our Elmer Miller on third in the first and our Elmer Rhoades on third in the seventh, and yet failed to score before the eighth. These little notes are merely to indicate to the assemblage not present yesterday the tense and heartrending moments of the conflict.

In the ninth stanza Mr. Charles Wellington Jones, late of St. Louis and Washington, D. C., came to bat for Mons. Le Claire. This occurrence occurred after Mr. De Ruska, the eminent first baseman of the visitors had fouled out and Hrushka had walked, thus rather extensively peopling the paths.

This was the point where men became visibly excited and the two aforementioned ladies gave excellent imitations of the manner in which some of the gentler sex carry on when Camille is within three gasps of the end.

Thomas fouled to Rhoades and everything was psychologically set for the perfect finish. It was a tense moment indeed. A wild pitch set Hrushka down to third base and a hit meant that two runs would be scored. Glockner grounded out to O'Brien and the danger was past.

In our eighth there was also excitement and pyrotechnics. Brother Brackett hit one so hard that De Ruska at first could not knock the ball down, it performing a cushion carom off the left shin of the first base guardian. O'Brien walked and McGraw, married, sacrificed. Miller walked and the paths were choked. Then came Samuel Menlece of Woodland. Two strikes were on him when he whopped one through the drawn in infield and Brackett and O'Brien rushed over.

One great game she was.

MILLERS TAKE FINAL CONTEST

Comstock Defeats Schauer in Pitching Duel By 4 to 3 Score.

Ralph Comstock, the star twirler of the Minneapolis team yesterday won a heaving duel from Schauer, the Superior star, the end coming at the close of the thirteenth inning and the score being 4 to 3 in favor of Minneapolis.

The game was toughly fought all the way through and some great playing was exhibited by the two teams at several stages. Both pitchers kept the hits widely scattered. Scouts of the Chicago Cubs were on hand to watch the work of the Superior flinger.

RANGERS LOSE FINAL GAME TO WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, Man., May 23.—The woe begone and sadly walloped Virginia team completed its stay here yesterday with a 12 to 3 defeat. Tony Faeth was on the mound for the visitors and was hit hard. Nelson was also hit hard but the visitors were unable to hit when blows would have resulted in the most harm for the home team, and but few scores grew out of eleven blows gathered by the rangers.

Manager "Spike" Shannon refused to pay a fine and it looked for a brief spell as if the game would be forfeited. But Manager Bellman came to the rescue and the contest proceeded. One of the features of the afternoon was the coaching of Rube Waddell on the lines. The big fellow was an object of close scrutiny by the big crowd, as this was the first time that many of the fans of this city had ever laid eyes on the great twirler. The score:

	R.	H.	E.

WINONA TAKES FINAL GAME FROM FLICKERS.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 23.—Winona took the final game of the series here yesterday by the count of 10 to 3. Wells of no hit fame started the game for the home guards and was driven from the mound. Snow was in fine fettle and pitched a fine game for the visitors. The visitors played a fine game in the field, while the fielding of the Flickers was very ragged at times.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.

WHITE SOX NOTES

Before going to bat in the eighth, Sam Menlece took an onion out of his hip pocket and took a large and luscious bite. Following this devotional act he smote the hit that won the game.

* * *

Elmer Smith of Milan was playing but a few feet back of second base in the eighth inning. Hollingsworth, who played before scoring rules were invented, lofted one in the general direction of right with Brandt perched on third. Smith gathered the fly and easily held Brandt at third.

* * *

Mike Kraemer spent yesterday morning at the Lenox practicing on his violin. Had it not looked like rain he would have brought it out to the park and played to his comrades during the game to cheer them. Mike has been reading Roman history of late and copped the idea of music from Nero's stunt at the big fire.

* * *

Wilke had a busy day behind the pad as the score will show. He is credited with twelve putouts, ten of the visitors whiffing during the course of the afternoon. This fact should have been put in the story of the game. They sure did find difficulty in seeing the things Brackett served to them.

* * *

While Claud Elliott was somewhat off yesterday, he is such a gentle soul and so much of a gentleman on and off the field that the offense is forgiven. All umpires have their bad days, even as you and I, and if anyone thinks the work easy let him go out and try it.

WHITE SOX LEADER SHOWS GREAT FORM

DARBY O'BRIEN.

Since the start of the home season here on May 5, Darby O'Brien has accepted forty-nine out of fifty chances at second base, being credited with but one error on the home grounds during the present season to date. The Dook has accepted some very hard chances, his one error being made on the easiest kind of an offering. One error out of fifty chances is playing some baseball. During the past few games the Orator would have been in a hospital had he less nerve. Yesterday he handled six chances without a skip and he was a sick man at that.

Play in Rain.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 23.—Yesterday's game between Brooklyn and Pittsburg degenerated into a farce because of Umpire Klem's determination to continue the game in the face of a pelting rain. The crowd in the open pavilion weathered the storm until the Pittsburgs had the bases full and nobody out in the first half of the fifth and then rushed out on the field. In order to prevent a forfeited game, the management permitted the invaders to take seats in the grandstand.

In the sixth inning, the game was again delayed while attendants scattered sawdust around the pitcher's box, the home plate and third base, but Umpire Klem finally called the game when Stengel, after reaching first on balls, attempted to steal second, but in doing so, slid fifteen feet in the mud beyond the bag and was tagged out.

After a delay of thirty minutes, the game was called back to the fifth inning, Pittsburg winning by 1 to 0. The solitary run was scored in the fifth when Wilson walked, Byrne was safe on an error and Simon filled the bases with a short single to left. Curtis fanned Cooper and Mensor, but walked Carey, forcing Wilson home with the winning run. Viox then flied to Wheat.

The game was immediately protested by Manager Dahlen notifying the umpires and President Ebbets sending a formal notice to President Lynch. Klem failed to call the game, it is contended when it was raining so hard that the spectators deserted the open stands and the grounds were so wet and conditions so bad that it was impossible to continue play without the game becoming farcical.

Captain Daubert was suspended for three days for protesting decisions on Wednesday. The score:

Break Even.

In the second game Merz was a puzzle while the visitors bunched hits off Dougherty in the fourth inning for enough runs to win. Randall made three home runs, getting one in the first game and two in the second. The scores:

DULUTH PLAYERS WANT TWO GAMES FROM THE MILLERS

Owing to the fact that Saturday is a pool day in the Northern league, it being the late Queen's birthday across the international boundary line, officials of the baseball association have decided not to have the grand old flag raised tomorrow. Another reason is the fact that it is desired to bestow the honor of hoisting the gonfalon on Dr. J. A. McCuen, who was president of the club when the emblem was won. The genial doctor is convalescing from a serious illness and will be unable to be at the ball park until later.

With sunshine in our midst it is generaly believed that the largest crowds of the present season will attend the Saturday and Sunday games with Minneapolis. The team from the big city below is at the present time playing the best baseball of any of the Northern clubs. With the Dooks going the way they are at the present time the three contests with the Bronchos should give the patrons of the game here the best exhibitions of the national sport that we have had for a long time.

One of the pitching battles of the year should occur tomorrow when Monty Woods, the eminent southpaw of the Dooks opposes Ralph Comstock of the Minneapolis team. Comstock has been pitching a wonderful article of baseball, while our roly poly pitcher has been going some.

With sunshine and reasonable heat on Sunday it is confidently expected that the attendance record at Athletic park will be shattered. Arrangements have been completed for special street car service. Some of the baseball officials are so optimistic as to hope for an attendance record of 5,000.

Peggy Rhoades, the flinger recently acquired from Superior, according to the announcement of today will be sent to the mound Sunday for his local maiden effort. Every club in the Northern league is exceedingly anxious to stop the flight of the Millers, and it is the individual ambition of every member of the White Sox to take at least two out of three games from the Bob Unglaub aggregation.

Three great baseball battles should grow out of the series with the visiting league leaders.

DIVIDE DOUBLE-HEADER.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—Minneapolis and Toledo divided a double-header here yesterday, the home team taking the first game, 2 to 1, through Mogridge's effective pitching, and losing the second, 15 to 7. The last game abounded in heavy batting, Toledo scoring fourteen runs in the second, third and fourth innings.

Play Eleven Innings.

Kansas City, Mo., May 23.—Krichell's single in the eleventh scored Carr from second and gave Kansas City a 3 to 2 victory over Columbus. It was a pitchers' battle and Morgan helped to win the game for Kansas City by knocking a home run in the seventh, in addition to holding the visitors to four hits.

Columbus broke into the run column first. In the initial inning, Shelton, the first man up, singled, went to second on a sacrifice, took third on Perring's single and scored when Krichell threw wild trying to catch Perring stealing. The locals came right back, however, and evened things when Coulson singled, was sacrificed to second, went to third when Walker singled and scored on Carr's sacrifice fly. Kansas City added another run in the seventh on Morgan's hit for four bases over the right field fence. In the eighth, Columbus scored on Smith's single, a sacrifice and Shelton's Texas leaguer. The score: R. H. E.

Allows Three Hits.

Detroit, Mich., May 23.—Plank held Detroit yesterday to three singles, struck out the entire side in the fourth inning—during which two of the hits were registered against him—and Philadelphia won by a 7 to 0 score. It was the only game of the series that the visitors captured and it is the only series they have lost thus far this season.

Poor throwing gave Philadelphia the first run. Hall passed Murphy in the first inning; he stole second, and came all the way home on Stanage's wild throw which Cobb was slow in returning. Hall was removed in the fourth after he passed Oldring and was found for singles by Collins and Baker. With the bases full, Zamloch began pitching, and four runs were scored before the side was retired. A squeeze play was responsible for two of the tallies. Barry bunted and Baker, who was on second, followed Collins across the plate.

Until the ninth inning, Cobb had his third successive perfect day at the bat. Then Baker captured his foul after a hard run. Cobb walked in the second and sixth and singled in the fourth inning. The score: R. H. E.

Johnson Finally Loses.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23.—Walter Johnson was defeated yesterday for the first time this season by a 5 to 0 score at the hands of the Cleveland team. His record of ten straight victories against every other team in the league was broken in his first appearance for a full game against Cleveland. Thirteen hits were made off him, while Steen, who opposed him, allowed but six hits, none of them for extra bases. Cleveland takes three out of the series of four.

All of Cleveland's runs were earned. In the first inning Chapman was safe on an attempted sacrifice and scored on two singles. A single and a triple scored the second run, and two singles and a double the third tally. These hits and an error brought in two more in the eighth. Only one Washington runner reached third, Milan being thrown out at the plate in the first inning.

Left Fielder Graney got two singles and a triple in four times at bat and made five shutouts, three of them very difficult catches. Score: R. H. E.

Another Shut Out.

St. Louis, Mo., May 23.—St. Louis split the four-game series with New York by again yesterday shutting out the visitors, the score being 7 to 0. Stone's good pitching was backed by clever fielding and a break in the luck. Twice it seemed New York would score. In the fifth after Strunk struck two men and the bases were full. Hartsell's easy grounder forced McKechnie at the plate. With two out, Cree sent a long fly to centerfield that Shotten was barely able to reach. In its end of the inning, St. Louis scored three runs on two singles, a double and a triple. Klepfer was retired for Clark in the sixth after St. Louis had scored one run on a single, a double and a base on balls. Clark held the home team to one hit, although ragged fielding allowed two runs.

For New York in the last inning Wolter doubled and two passes filled the bases with two out. Sweeney popped to Pratt. Score: R. H. E.

Champs Beaten.

Chicago, May 23.—Russell proved too much for the world's champions yesterday and Chicago won the final game of the series, 2 to 1. Ping Bodie, who replaced Mattick in centerfield, was responsible for driving in both of the locals' runs. Fournier having been safe on a force-out of Collins and scoring on Bodie's single in one inning and then scoring in another inning on his double and Bodie's single.

Russell pitched fine ball in the pinches, but in the ninth inning he weakened and the visitors prevented a shutout when a double and single netted a run.

TRADE THREE PLAYERS FOR PITCHER FROMME.

New York, May 23.—The New York and Cincinnati clubs of the National league yesterday completed a deal whereby the Giants gave Pitcher Leon Ames, Outfielder Josh Devore and Infielder Groh to the Reds in exchange for Pitcher Fromme.

The 1912 records show Fromme's pitching average as .457 for 43 games, of which 23 were completed games. He batted .087. Ames started in 38 games, 9 of which were completed contests, and his average was .688. He batted .244. Devore batted .275 and fielded .918. Groh, who was a sub infielder, batted .271 for 27 games.

"Ames and Devore have been of little use to the club during the past three years," said Manager John J. McGraw in discussing the deal, "and I believe that they will play far better ball with the Reds. Groh is a good fast fielder and a consistent hitter, but I could not find a regular berth for him."

Fromme reported to the Giants at the Polo grounds this morning and the trio of late Giants left for Philadelphia last night to join the Cincinnati club.

Will Fight on Fourth.

San Francisco, Cal., May 23.—All doubt as to Lightweight Champion Willie Ritchie's intention with regard to his next fight, were set at rest last night when the following telegram from his manager was received by a promoter here:

"Ritchie to fight before Graney's club in San Francisco July 4. That's final."

Who the man in the ring with Ritchie will be, has not been decided. Efforts are being made to sign Joe Rivers, "Bud Anderson" or Freddie Welch.

May Take Photographs.

New York, May 23.—Baseball players are public characters and photographers may make photographs of them in action without their consent, according to a ruling of Magistrate Butts in police court here yesterday afternoon.

The case decided was brought by the National baseball commission and the New York baseball club against a moving picture concern which had taken photographs of games without a permit from the managements.

The plaintiffs contended that the civil rights law had been violated. The pictures in question were taken during the world's series.

"Doc" White Injured.

Chicago, May 23.—Pitcher G. H. "Doc" White of the Chicago American league team was severely injured yesterday when he was hit on the right forearm by a thrown ball by C. Smith, another pitcher. His arm is not broken but he will not be able to play for a few days.

Pennsy Crews Leave.

Philadelphia, May 23.—The varsity and freshmen crews of the University of Pennsylvania left here today for Annapolis, where, tomorrow afternoon, they will meet the senior and plebe crews of the naval academy. The Pennsylvania freshmen seem to be more confident of victory over the first-year midshipmen than the varsity crew is over winning from the navy seniors. The freshmen in practice on the Schuylkill river here this week beat the varsity by a length.

Wins Opening Matches.

New York, May 23.—Successful playing on the part of the national champion, Jerome D. Travers, the elimination of Walter J. Travis from the third division of players, and the defeat of Fred Herreshoff, who won the Oakland L. I., tournament a week ago, were the features in yesterday's rounds in the tourney for the Metropolitan amateur golf championship at Fox Hills, Staten Island.

Travers won his match in the morning round of eighteen holes from H. H. Kerr of South Shore, L. I., but did not exhibit his usual deftness at any stage of the game, while in the afternoon, most of the play being during a severe rain storm, he was almost at the top of his game, and defeated D. J. Graham of Greenwich, Conn., by 5 up and 4 to play.

Racing at Washington.

Washington, May 23.—Historic Benning's track yesterday witnessed the second annual revival of the "sport of kings" in Washington with the grandstands, the clubhouse and the paddock filled with groups of gaily dressed men and women, socially prominent in the capital and other nearby cities. Among the interested spectators on the clubhouse lawn were Miss Eleanor Wilson, with a party from the White House, and Madame Bekhmetiff, wife of the Russian ambassador.

The racing was under the auspices of the National Steeplechase and Hunt association, which is endeavoring to revive racing in the United States purely as a gentlemen's game.

To this program the Washington Riding and Hunt club has committed itself. The racing will continue through Monday, but there will be no events tomorrow or Sunday.

Tinker Buys Nelson.

Philadelphia, May 23.—Manager Tinker of the Cincinnati Nationals purchased Pitcher Nelson from the Philadelphia National league team today for $1,500, his waiver price. Nelson will don a Cincinnati uniform tomorrow.

Ketchel Given Decision.

Butte, Mont., May 23.—Tommy Ketchel of Chicago was awarded a decision last night over Maurice Thompson of Butte at the end of twelve rounds of hammer and tongs fighting. The Chicago lad did most of the leading and severely punished the Butte boy in infighting. Ketchel had the better of six rounds and held his own in four others.

McCue Barely Wins.

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 23.—Matty McCue, aspirant for the middleweight championship, sustained a check here last night in a ten-round no-decision bout with Johnny Sokol of Minneapolis. McCue won, but by a small margin, Sokol being apparently strong at the finish.

Old Automobiles.

"People ask what becomes of the old automobiles," says E. Roger Stearns, vice president of the Pacific Kissel Kar branch. "I showed a friend of mine what becomes of them when he asked me that question this week. It only took about five minutes, too, and we had to go no farther than the corner. For a distance of a little over a block I called the name and year of the various automobiles lined up on either side of the street and my companion took them down. When we figured up at the finish there were represented in this off-hand census five 1906, six 1907, three 1908, four 1909, eleven 1910, eight 1911, six 1912 and nine 1913 models.

"I think this chance census is very eloquent evidence of what becomes of the old cars. The most of them are still doing active service and promise to continue doing it for some time.

"When one recollects that the city cars are apt to show a higher percentage of late models than a country census would, this showing is really remarkable. The motor car is not a machine of short life and quick depreciation. In the hands of careful owners they continue in service year after year in a manner that is truly wonderful.

"The car of today should be a machine of longer life than its predecessors, because recent advances in metallurgy and in engine and transmission design make for stronger construction and lessened friction, both of which will go far towards lengthening the life of the modern automobile.

"The total mileage that has probably been covered by those fifty-two cars included in the census is something tremendous. Altogether I figure that they have been 172 years of service. An average mileage for a year of 10,000 is by no means excessive, which would make a total of 1,720,000 miles covered by those machines."

Not Fast Enough.

Not being satisfied after obtaining ninety-two miles per hour in his Nyberg racer, Harry Endicott, the daring race driver, who will pilot the Nyberg car in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, has taken his car back to the factory at Anderson, to make some changes, which after they are completed, he has hopes that he can pilot this car at a more sensational speed.

Endicott hopes to have his car back to the speedway the latter part of this week to give it a further test as to speed and many supporters of the Nyberg await with interest to hear the result. The Nyberg car being the only American six-cylinder car entered in the race, will attract much attention and it is from that fact that Endicott wishes to be satisfied in his own mind that no little detail in its construction has been overlooked.

MAN FALLS DOWN EIGHTEEN STORIES.

Chicago, May 23.—Losing his footing while placing a stone on the eighteenth floor of a downtown office building, James Hamilton, a workman, pitched headlong over the edge, and in view of hundreds of people who were passing, was dashed to death. The body struck the sidewalk within a few feet of passers-by.

TRAINS WOMEN FOR HOME LIFE

Marriage as an Art Taught in Novel School in Texas.

Instruction in the Care of Children and in Housekeeping.

Denton, Tex., May 23.—There is a school here which is destined to become famous. Its pupils are young women exclusively, numbering about 400, and recently it has come to be known as Matrimonial College for the reason that it makes a specialty of teaching what might be called the art of marriage.

One department of the college is devoted to the preparation of girls for wifehood. They enter at 16 to 18 years old, and are instructed in housekeeping, in physiology and in the business of picking a husband.

The girls are taught that a prospective husband is to be regarded not merely as a mate, but as an ancestor of generations yet to be.

Mortality Average Raised.

This department has existed for only a few years. Up to last October twenty-nine children had been born to graduates of it. According to general mortality averages four of these would now be dead. As a matter of fact, all are living. The reason seems to be that the mothers were taught how to take care of themselves, their homes and their babies.

Woman's most important work is the care of children. It is necessary that babies shall be sound and healthy if they are to grow up into happy and useful citizens. Most girls, unfortunately, are married without any knowledge of the business of motherhood. What the Matrimonial college tries to do is to teach this.

A strong man is likely as not to marry a weak woman. Her very weakness appeals to his strength. But it is otherwise with women. Every woman wants a sturdy man for a husband, and the sort of instruction given at this school impresses upon the girls' mind the importance of picking out a husband who represents a high physical efficiency.

Teaches Health, Not Disease.

The college does not teach disease; it teaches health. Its hospital is not called a hospital, but is known as Hygeia hall. There are no "sick-rooms." At the beginning of the year every girl is on the "health roll of honor." She is expected to take care of herself in order that she may continue to be well.

If a girl catches cold or has a headache she goes to the directress and tells what indiscretion she thinks accountable for the trouble. She is taken off the roll of honor, and is not restored to it until she is well again.

Another object of the instruction is to make better housekeepers. The average American woman is a poor housekeeper compared with the woman of Germany, France or England.

FIGHTS ANGRY BULL.

With Pitchfork as Weapon, Wife Saves Husband's Life.

Delmar, Del., May 23.—John K. Lynch, a farmer living near here, was saved by his wife from being killed by a bull. He was in the barn when the infuriated animal rushed at him, pinning him against a brick wall, breaking two ribs and otherwise injuring him internally.

Lynch's 2-year-old son was the only witness and his screams attracted the mother from the house, fifty yards from the barn. Upon her arrival she found her husband lying under the bull's feet. Quickly seizing a pitchfork, she jammed the prongs into the animal. This maddened the bull, which made another dash for Lynch, who already was in a helpless condition, but Mrs. Lynch again shot the fork into the animal with terrific force, conquering the beast.

DANCED TO A DIVORCE.

Spouse Who Did Terpsichorean Stunts Put Away By Husband.

San Francisco, Cal., May 23.—"My wife would dance at her own funeral," testified Richard Beni in his suit for divorce from Minnie Beni on account of desertion.

"I first met her at a dance. She danced at the wedding, waltzed when she dusted the furniture, two-stepped over the washing and finally trotted from home under the spell of dance music. I understand she now is making her living at dancing unless she has broken her legs."

Judge Van Nostrand granted the husband an interlocutory decree of divorce.

"By the way, do you dance?" queried his honor.

"I should say not," emphatically responded Beni as he left the witness stand.

KENNEY & ANKER

—THE— HOMECROFTERS' CORNER

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

Sweet Corn for the Home Garden.

A few years ago an enthusiastic angler called one morning late in May to arrange for a fishing trip. He found me planting sweet corn and laughed most heartily at my folly, assuring me that my time was worse than wasted. However, he had another guess coming—we not only had several nice strings of trout that summer, but, for five or six weeks we had a bountiful supply of delicious sweet corn from our own garden.

That corn was planted in heavy clay soil under very unfavorable conditions, but frequent hoeings brought it to maturity. True, last summer did not yield much of a corn crop, but the gardener should not despair if one crop out of seven proves a partial failure. Even last year, cold and wet as the summer proved, brought us about eight corn dinners.

In this climate corn should rarely be planted before May 20, or later than June 10. More than any other vegetable which we grow, corn requires a warm soil and plenty of sunshine. Select the sunniest corner of your garden, give it a good coating of stable manure and spade it deep. Make your hills eighteen inches apart and your rows two feet apart. Some prefer to plant in drills, putting the kernels ten inches apart. If you use the hill method plant five or six kernels to the hill. Three or four stalks to the hill is sufficient, but your seed may not germinate perfectly, and it is an easy matter to thin out if the corn is too thick.

The weather has been extremely cold and wet for some time now, but the warmer days are near, and I should advise planting corn as soon as it clears up and the top soil dries a little.

Great care should be exercised not to plant corn too deep. Many people cover with from two to three inches of soil and are surprised at their lack of success. A good half inch of soil is about the proper covering in this climate. This depth enables the sprouting grain to break the crust easily and come up quickly. More loose soil can be drawn up around the roots of the corn as you cultivate.

There is one very effective way of insuring quicker germination and earlier corn. Place your seed in a bowl or pan and cover well with lukewarm water. Allow it to soak over night, then place between the folds of some flannel on the floor of a warm light room. In two or three days the corn will sprout. It may be necessary to sprinkle lightly with warm water once or twice during this period. Sprouted corn will mature ten days earlier than seed planted in the dry state.

The large, late varieties of sweet corn are not adapted to this latitude. My experience has led to the adoption of two varieties—the Golden Bantam and the Peep of Day. The Peep of Day is the hardier, stronger grower and it usually matures a few days earlier than the Golden Bantam, but the Golden Bantam is very superior in quality and remains sweet and tender for a much longer season. As a matter of fact, there is no corn grown superior to the Golden Bantam in quality, but the ears are smaller than the late varieties. If you plant but one variety, let it be Golden Bantam. It will be sure to please you, and one season's test of corn in your home garden will mean that you will never again be without it.

POTATO IS A TRAITOR

With Other Vegetables Lower, the Spud Shows Soaring Tendency.

Only Obstruction in Path to Lower Cost of Living.

It is with deep regret that The Herald has to make mention of the base treachery of that old favorite edible, the potato, the "spud" or the "Murphy" as one likes to call it.

Almost everything else in the way of vegetables is headed downward in price, and is relieving to a large extent the public in its campaign for the reduction of the high cost of living. Now comes the potato, that old standby of almost everybody, and just because the public was not paying close attention to it, it takes a jump in price. Of course the blame is put on the fact that this is "between-shipping" seasons. It is the old potato that is misbehaving, but the Texas new potato is more reasonable now than it was a week ago, and is fully as delicious.

So far as the produce market is concerned this week, the chief features are the changes in green vegetables. There is not much of a sliding scale in anything else, but but green vegetables have changed considerably in price. The general slant is downward in the price list, but in some cases where unavoidable scarcity has occurred there is a tilt upward, and of course this must be expected, for vegetables and poultry, like everything else, are governed by the time-honored law of supply and demand.

In the green vegetable list, wax beans, cauliflower, beets and carrots are lower than ever in price and are of excellent quality. Just at this time of the year such toothsome vegetables with the reductions that have been made in their prices will doubtless form an important part of the table supply in Duluth homes.

Head lettuce is very scarce and, consequently, is higher in price. It is hard to get and only a limited amount can be banked on.

Asparagus, as nice as it is on toast, is not easy to get and must be paid a premium for. The weather has been against it, and as it is not a plant that thrives in rigorous cold and wet, the supply is limited and therefore not as much is arriving as the commission merchants of Michigan street would like to see or can use.

Berries Higher.

Missouri berries have taken a higher plane in price, and Michigan street does not look for an easier tone for some time. The supply is short but the stocks on hand are about the best that the commission men have had this season.

Pie plant has taken a big drop, and is now "within the reach of all" for pies, rhubarb dumplings and straight stewed rhubarb. It is of fine quality, too.

Southern cabbage is very firm because of the light supply and the heavy demand that is made upon it. Citrus fruit in general, lemons, oranges and grapefruit are up in price. Florida pine apples have assumed an easier tone and can be purchased at closer to pocketbook prices.

Apples have advanced in price and are strong at present market figures. The stock of apples in store will not take long to be cleaned up, and those wishing to lay in a supply until the new crop comes, will have to hurry.

Dairy Products.

In the dairy department of the produce market the situation is much the same as that of last week. Prices are practically unchanged, but again attention is called to the grades of eggs that are offered for sale. It is again pointed out that the interior of No. 1 eggs, dirties and checks are of equal merit, and it is only the outside—which one does not eat anyway—in which there is a difference. Egg merchants declare that the dissertation in this column last week on how to save money in eggs, does not seem to have wiped out very much of the false pride that prevents people from asking for dirties on checks, and, the dealers add, they do not expect that any amount of preaching will for the old feeling seems prevalent that it would look penurious to go below No. 1's.

There is no further change in meats this week, and none is expected for several weeks more, not until the Texas grass fed cattle begin coming into the market.

Fresh dressed poultry is practically out of the market, and frozen poultry is about cleaned up. Live poultry is becoming more plentiful and local shipments are becoming more general. The poultry market, however, remains unchanged as to price.

SMOOT ANSWERS FOR BANKERS.

Washington, May 23.—Senator Smoot has presented to the senate records of the American Bankers' association to answer the statement made by Senator Thomas of Colorado several days ago that the cause of the panic after the passage of the Wilson bill in 1893 was the calling of loans by the bankers of the country to secure the repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman law.

From this record, Senator Smoot read that the bankers' association had their attention called to the circular Thomas quoted, at the time of the panic; that it was unsigned, and dated on Sunday, and that it had been declared a fraud over the signature of E. P. Bullock, then general counsel for the American Bankers' association. The records also showed that the circular had been declared fraudulent at a meeting of the executive committee of the bankers' association, of which E. H. Wood was chairman at the time.

Replying to the denial, Senator Thomas declared he had read the charge published in a reputable American magazine, fifteen months before he made his speech, and that in all the time since its publication he had never seen the statements denied by representatives of the American Bankers' association or any other person.

Big K. of C. Installation.

International Falls, Minn., May 23.—Koochiching council, No. 1540 of the Knights of Columbus are making arrangements for a big initiation on Sunday, June 1. About forty candidates will join the local lodge then. Visiting members are expected from Virginia, Hibbing, Duluth, Bemidji, Brainerd and other Northern Minnesota points.

Healthy Baby Is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep It Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative.

DOROTHY JOHNSON

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says: "I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Don't Persecute your Bowels

Cut out cathartics and purgatives. They are brutal—harsh—unnecessary.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Purely vegetable. Act gently on the liver, eliminate bile, and soothe the delicate membrane of the bowel. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Indigestion, as millions know.

HELP FOR THE DRINKING MAN

SECURED BY THE "NEAL TREATMENT"

The man who drinks is often disgusted with himself. He vows he will never drink again. But his self "created habit" is stronger than his "will power." His many "good resolutions" do not hold him. Why? Because his body has become a storehouse for "alcohol poison." This poison is constantly seeking to multiply itself, and the victim, in his lucid moments, longs and cries for help. Now the best help for such a man is the "Neal Help." For in three days the "Neal Treatment" neutralizes the poison and removes it from the system.

The "Neal Treatment" is a pure, harmless vegetable compound, taken through the lips. No "hypodermic injections" are needed, and the patient is surpised to find the treatment so simple, mild and effective. The "Neal home" is also a "real home" where all the comforts of home are provided. Private rooms, "Registered Physician, Trained Nurse" and everything the patient may require that is conducive to health and healing.

If you are interested for yourself or a friend, write, call or phone.

The wretched condition of Railroad street, west of Fifth avenue west, is presenting a serious problem for Commissioner Murchison, head of the division of public works.

A large volume of heavy traffic passes continually over the street. It is used by all the large wholesale houses and transfer companies in going to and from the railroad freight sheds and the docks along the water front, and a great deal of the heavy teaming to Superior and the western part of the city is done over it.

The street is now little better than a dirt roadway built over a swamp. After a rain it is filled with sinkholes and ruts, and is extremely hard to use. The road has been filled several times, but the filler constantly sinks, being swallowed by the insatiable maw of the swamp underneath, adding to the perplexity of the problem of its improvement. Because of the antics of that kind many doubt the advisability of putting down a concrete base, fearing that the ground underneath would sink away and cause the concrete to give way beneath the heavy loads which continually pass over it. Could a concrete base be successfully made permanent and paved with sandstone blocks or other similar material, the improvement would be just what is desired by those interested.

Some of the wholesalers and others who want to see the thoroughfare improved have stated that they might be willing to pay for part of the cost of the improvement, as it would greatly benefit them. Just what arrangements could be made and what percentage the city would be expected to pay have not been discussed in any detail, however. At present it is doubtful if the funds of the works division would stand much of a strain. Commissioner Murchison states that he recognizes the need of the improvement and will investigate the situation further.

MARRIAGEABLE DUKE COMING

Listen, all ye ambitious maidens of Boston and elsewhere in the United States, says the Boston Post.

About the most desirable "catch" from an "hereditary title" standpoint in all Europe is coming to America.

He is Maurice Fitzgerald, duke of Leinster, the only unmarried duke of the Irish-English nobility, said to have loads of money and personal charms without number.

Just when the duke will reach America is not stated, but advance reports say that he is "heart free" and 27 years of age, so it is only natural to suppose that he takes notice whenever he meets beautiful women like those to be found in such great numbers in this country.

He is one of only two bachelors of marriageable age among the United Kingdom's twenty-seven dukes. He is also the youngest duke of the realm.

His Spanish Flame.

But while the duke is said to be heart free at present, yet it was not ever thus. At one time it was believed he had found his soulmate. At least, some of his relatives feared that he had, and they were greatly alarmed, so much so that he was sent away to foreign lands in order that he might forget his love for a most fascinating Spanish dancer.

The interference with his romance came from his three aunts, who considered themselves responsible for his welfare. The aunts were Lady Cynthia Graham, Lady Ulrica Baring and Lady Helen Vincent. They are all remarkably beautiful and belong to a family noted for its good looks. The duke's mother, now dead, was, it possible, even more beautiful than her sisters.

In the past the duke has been considered very susceptible and very attractive. These attributes have placed him in danger of being enmeshed by some charming woman before it was considered that he ought to wed. For this reason, his aunts looked after him more closely than they might have otherwise.

The heroine of the romance, which brought him into greater prominence than he had ever known before, was Tortola Valencia. As a Spanish dancer she was considered remarkably beautiful and none the less talented. Her vivid beauty created a furore in London and Paris, and the young duke was not the first man to be carried away with her.

When the duke's relatives got wind of the affair they are said to have conspired with his physicians to impress upon him that he needed a very dry climate for his health. So he was sent to the United States, where he lived in Denver for some time.

When his family heard that Senorita Tortola Valencia was going to make a prolonged tour of America, they sent word to him that he had enjoyed a sufficient amount of Denver's fine air and told him still more traveling was needed. They sent him to Australia.

Met Bohemian Uncle.

This venture, however, proved to be merely a case of "out of the frying pan into the fire," for no sooner did the little party arrive in the Antipodes than the young duke paid a visit to his uncle, Lord Charles Fitzgerald, who was living at Kiddle's Creek, Victoria, in the most democratic style with an actress of Greek origin whom he had married.

"That is no place for Maurice," said the trio of aunts in chorus, when they heard where the duke had located, and they sent an "S. O. S." message half around the world which brought him back to Ireland.

Hardly had he returned when he began to show that his feeling for the Spanish beauty was as warm as ever. His actions aroused so much alarm that his relatives decided he must go to the Alps for treatment for his particular disease.

But he could not see the necessity of the trip, although he was finally prevailed upon to go. A month later the Spanish dancer started for Switzerland also, but this move reached the ears of the duke's aunts and he was called back home.

By this time the young man had reached his majority and decided to show his independence. It is said he had looked into the family history of the dancer and found a large amount of royal blood coursing through her veins.

But as this was some little time ago, it is the general opinion among his relatives that his love for the beautiful girl has somewhat cooled.

As American heiresses will without doubt be interested in this young duke, a little precise information concerning his status may be useful.

Is the Premier Duke.

Maurice Fitzgerald, duke of Leinster, succeeded to the title, and became the sixth duke of Leinster and premier duke of Ireland when he was only 7 years old. His father, the fifth duke, died in 1893, and his mother, who was originally Lady Hermoine Duncombe, daughter of the Earl of Faversham, died two years later.

The Fitzgeralds trace their ancestry back a thousand years or more. Honors and dignities have been repeatedly conferred upon them. No family stands higher in the ranks of the Irish peerage, and hardly any in the whole British peerage.

Carton, the duke's place near Maynooth, County Kildare, is one of the most beautiful estates in Great Britain. Another estate in the same county was sold for $6,000,000.

The young duke was educated at Eton and Oxford, as well as by a small army of private tutors. He is well equipped for the social position he is expected to occupy. He is said to be both reckless and enthusiastic.

GREATER POWER FROM NIAGARA.

Washington Post: "But for the efforts of the civic associations whose desire is to preserve the scenic beauties of the world in general, the Niagara river could be made to develop enough power to move every street car, light and heat every house, and supply all the power for every manufacturing industry in New York," said Edwin W. Trimmer, United States consul at Niagara Falls, Ont., at the Shoreham. "At present scarcely more than 5 per cent of the possible power of the Niagara river has been harnessed. The current of the river below the falls will some day be harnessed by some engineer without affecting the scenery in any degree."

Prof. R. B. Wylie of Iowa City is to head an expedition to investigate the plant life of Alaska.

FRIENDLESS OLD MAN WILL END LIFE BEHIND BARS

Pleads Guilty to Killing Companion in Fit of Rage.

"I Did It; Do What You Like With Me," He Says.

"Yes, I've said more than fifty times that I killed the man. I'm 64 years old. You can do what you like with me. I don't care. I won't live to be more than 70 anyway."

This was the confession and statement of Peter Perelli to Judge Dancer in district court this afternoon when brought before the court and allowed to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the first degree.

Perelli, in a momentary fit of rage, because he had been called "Macaroni," hurled an iron cuspidor at Michael Lenovitch, a fellow inmate at the poor farm on March 26 last. The blow was fatal.

Perelli was arrested and indicted by the May grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree, which carries with it a life imprisonment.

Owing to the advanced age of the prisoner, County Attorney Warren E. Greene consented today to allow him to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the first degree, which carries with it a penalty of from five to twenty years at Stillwater.

The court at 2 o'clock this afternoon accepted the plea of the prisoner and sentenced him to the state penitentiary under the indeterminate plan. The sentence will probably mean that Perelli will spend the rest of his life in prison.

Perelli is unable to talk English. Capt. Fiskett of the police department acted as interpreter.

Attorney Leo A. Ball, who appeared as counsel for Perelli, told the court that he thought that Perelli was sane and that a defense of insanity would not prevail.

Perelli stated that he had a wife, Magadalene, living in Italy, and one son in France. He also informed the court that he had been in this country for about fifteen years, most of the time having been put in as a miner. He had been at the poorhouse several months prior to the killing.

Lenovich, the victim of the murderous assault, was 50 years old.

Perelli said that he did not have any friends. He said that he used to have them when he had money, but not now.

SHOE MACHINERY MAKERS VANISHED

Twelve Companies Bought By Alleged Trust Have Disappeared.

Boston, Mass., May 23.—Further evidence of the buying up of rivals and the disappearance of the latter from the field of their former activity was presented by the government today in its suit to dissolve the United Shoe Machinery company.

During the first year of its existence the company bought up nine companies, only two of which are doing business today. Seven companies were bought up during the second year, of which only two are in operation at the present time.

Some of these companies were making machines similar to those of the United, while others were engaged in manufacturing tools and supplies incidental to the shoe machinery business.

The government contends that all of these companies were acquired in pursuance of a plan to monopolize the shoe machinery business of the country. The defense admits the acquisition of the companies, but denies the plan to monopolize alleged by the government.

TAX COMMISSION STATUTE UPHELD

International Falls Company Must Pay Higher Tax.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today decided the legislative act of 1907, creating the state tax commission and defining its powers, is constitutional. The state in this case was the appellant from an order of the district court of Koochiching county fixing the assessment of the plant of the power company at International Falls at $390,000, the amount that concern had returned.

When this return was made there was objection, and the state tax commission increased it to $690,000. The company brought suit and won in the lower court, but the supreme court reversed the lower body.

NO ROTATION ON BALLOTS NEEDED

State Supreme Court Gives Decision in Judge Olson's Case.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a decision of the Minnesota supreme court today by which Judge I. M. Olson is seated as district judge over M. E. Mathews in the Ninth judicial district the court settled the question whether it is necessary to rotate names of candidates on ballots.

Judge Olson was declared elected by a majority of eighty by the lower court, but the case was appealed on the ground that the county auditor of Brown county failed to rotate the names of the candidates on the general election ballot. The supreme court held that this was not necessary.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NEEDS MORE TEAMS.

Cleaning work in the city is being hampered by lack of teams, according to Health Director Webster. A number of property owners have called him up with the information that they are willing to remove rubbish and garbage from their premises but that they cannot get any one to haul it away. There is a heavy demand for teams from contractors and large corporations, and the owners can make better money working for them than by hauling garbage. They also have a preference for the other line of work. Dr. Webster states that it is another proof of the declaration that Duluth needs a municipal system of garbage collection.

MOORHEAD BANKER HEEDS FINAL CALL

L. A. Huntoon, Pioneer Financier of Red River Valley, Dies After Operation.

Moorhead, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. A. Huntoon died here at 12:45 p. m. today, following an operation for appendicitis, gall stones and adhesions. He was 50 years old.

Mr. Huntoon was a pioneer of the Red River valley and one of the best known bankers in Northern Minnesota. He was president of the First National bank of Moorhead, interested in several other banks and was prominent in educational affairs.

He was resident director of the Moorhead normal and was appointed about two weeks ago by Governor Eberhart a member of the new state board of education, created at the last session of the legislature.

100 POUNDS OF MILK DAILY.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lady Oak Fobes de Kol, a Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the Minnesota State Agricultural college, has broken the state record for butter-fat and milk production, according to Prof. T. L. Haecker. The cow, according to Prof. Haecker, is producing daily over 100 pounds of milk, and in one week produced 29.2 pounds of butterfat, or 36.4 pounds of butter.

CHANGES AFFECT SCHOOL TEACHERS

Right of Superintendents to Issue Certificates Abolished; Fees Explained.

The state legislature at its recent session made some changes in the law governing teachers' certificates which are important to those who will have to take examinations to obtain them. The following circular letter has been sent out by State Supt. C. G. Schulz to superintendents and principals of schools, relating to the new laws, particularly to the fees that must be paid:

"I desire to direct your attention to changes in the teachers' certificate law made at the last session of the legislature.

"The law provides for the payment of a fee for examinations for certificates to teach and their renewal and extension. The fee for a common school certificate, obtained upon examination, credentials, or the completion of the course in the training department of a high school, is 50 cents; for all renewals and extensions of common school certificates, and for duplicates, it is 50 cents. Each examinee at a teachers' examination will be required to pay a fee of 50 cents before entering upon the examination. This fee includes the fee for certificate in case one is obtained as a result of the examination. The fee for professional examinations, professional certificates and their renewal or extension, and special certificates, is $1; for a permanent certificate of any kind it is $5. The remittance, in the form of bank draft, money order, or cash, must accompany all applications for certificate.

"Chapter 1358, laws of 1905, authorizing county superintendents to issue third grade certificates, has been repealed.

"The law relating to special certificates has been so amended that these certificates may be issued, without the requirement of the common school certificate, to college graduates and to persons qualified for teaching special subjects."

CORN SYRUP MUST BE LABELED RIGHT

Wisconsin Assembly Sends Pure Food Bill to Engrossment.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—By a vote of 51 to 21 the assembly today sent to engrossment the Pfennig bill as amended by the dairy and food department, prohibiting the sale in Wisconsin of so-called corn syrup without a label telling the exact contents. Mr. Pfennig moved rejection of the substitute offered by the dairy and food department, but was not sustained. The amendment was adopted and the bill was then ordered engrossed.

The Hedding boxing bill on today's assembly calendar was laid over until Wednesday on motion of Mr. Hedding.

Assemblyman Hansen took the floor for his bill to make the office of insurance commissioner elective. He said if the people are deemed competent enough to elect their United States senators they ought to have the right to elect their insurance commissioner. Judge Hall saw no excuse for an appointive system. The assembly voted to engross the measure.

AGNES PETERSON GETS STATE JOB.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Agnes Peterson has been appointed head of the women's department of the state bureau of labor by W. F. Houk, labor commissioner, according to an announcement made by Mr. Houk today.

PROBE DEATH OF ATLANTA GIRL.

Atlanta, Ga., May 23.—A grand jury today began an investigation of charges against Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, and Newt Lee, negro night watchman at the factory, who were held by the coroner's jury in connection with the death of Mary Phagan, 14 years old, whose body was found in the basement of the factory on April 27.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETING OVER

Northern Assembly Is Last of the Three to Adjourn.

Atlanta, Ga., May 23.—Only little business of general interest was prepared by today's official docket of the Northern Presbyterian assembly, the last of the three divisions of the church to have sessions here. There had been some talk of prolonging deliberations of the assembly, but it was believed there was no likelihood of such a course being adopted.

Adjournment of the Northern assembly today will mark the close of the most remarkable gathering ever held by the Presbyterian "family."

Chicago was selected by the Northern assembly as the meeting place of that body in 1914. The sessions will be held at the new Fourth Presbyterian church of which Moderator J. Timothy Stone is pastor.

Mr. McMillen Resigns.

A feature of interest was the resignation of Rev. Duncan J. McMillen of New York secretary of the board of church construction. Mr. McMillen explained that he took the step on account of the action of the assembly in directing the transfer of $500,000 from the John S. Kennedy funds to the loan fund to be applied to assisting feeble congregations to build churches. He explained that he opposed this transfer because he is convinced of its illegality. His resignation was referred to the executive committee for final action. It will probably be accepted.

Five new members of the executive committee of the Northern assembly were elected. They are J. T. Stone, D.D., Chicago; E. H. Pence, D.D., Detroit, and Elders B. F. Edwards, St. Louis; H. P. Crowell, Chicago, and J. L. Severance, Cleveland.

Stay in Church Council.

The Southern Presbyterian assembly voted by 138 to 27 not to withdraw from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. In discussion preceding the vote, Dr. T. M. Lowry of Memphis reiterated his charges that the organization was endeavoring to influence national politics.

The United Presbyterian assembly, before it adjourned, took what was characterized as "the greatest forward step in the history of the church," when it perfected the organization of the "missionary and efficiency committee." This committee, composed of representatives chosen from every board in the church, absorbs the ways and means committee and the comparatively new "million dollars committee." One of its chief duties will be to act as a clearing house for all church funds.

TWO ST. PAUL VICTIMS OF COLLISION DYING

The two women are believed to be fatally hurt.

Mr. Miller, owner and driver of the automobile, failed to see the approaching car. The automobile practically was demolished and the two women were pinned beneath the wreckage.

Mr. Pickett is chief clerk in the state auditor's office.

CANADIAN IN ST. PAUL JAIL.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—Ingram Waldahl, who says he is the owner of a ranch at Janesville, Sask., was arrested here late yesterday, charged with having passed six worthless checks for small amounts here within the last few days. A letter that Waldahl is alleged to have written to all of his alleged victims, the police say, led to his arrest. He is in jail and will be arraigned in municipal court.

Car Conductors Arrest Two.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The firsts arrests under the law passed by the 1913 legislature giving powers to street car conductors to make arrests when passengers were drunk and disorderly, were made here early today when two passengers were arrested by conductors and were released on $25 bail each. Charges of being drunk and disorderly were filed at the police station against both men.

TWO KILLED IN NAVY ACCIDENT.

San Diego, Cal., May 23.—A high-pressure cylinder casting blew out of the port engine on the torpedo boat destroyer Stewart during the speed trial today, killing two men and probably fatally injuring a third.

Alma Miller, oiler.

Lineman Killed By Fall.

Want Winegar, Wis., Postmaster.

ARE YOU POLITE TO YOUR WIFE?

London News and Leader: It is a lamentable fact that many a husband is courteous to every one except his wife.

"By what law of nature or of life," writes J. R. Miller in "The Home Beautiful," is it that so many husbands and wives drop the charming little amenities and refinements of manner towards each other that so delightfully characterized their intercourse before marriage? Is there no necessity for these civilities any longer? Is politeness merely a manner that is necessary in intercourse with the outside world, and not required when we are at home? On the contrary, there is no place in the world where the amenities of courtesy should be so carefully maintained as in the home. There are no hearts that hunger so for expressions of affection as the hearts of which we are most sure. There is no place where rudeness or incivility is so unpardonable as inside our own doors. Between husband and wife there should be maintained without break or pause the most perfect courtesy, the gentlest attention and the most unselfish amiability."

The Long Silences.

Mr. Miller laments, too, the long silences between husband and wife.

"Some pass weeks and months together in almost unbroken silence. They will travel long journeys side by side in the railway train and utter scarcely a word in the whole distance. Husbands ought to have something interesting to say when they come into their homes from the busy world outside. They are usually genial enough in the circles of business or politics or literature, and are able to talk so as to interest others. Ought they not to be as genial in their own homes? Most women, too, are able to talk in general society. Why, then, should a wife fall into such a mood of silence the moment she and her husband are alone?"

Why They Never Quarreled.

He tells a story of an amusing arrangement which worked successfully in preventing family quarrels.

"A couple agreed among themselves that whenever the husband came home a little out of temper he would wear his hat on the back of his head; and then the wife never said a word. If she came home a little cross she would throw her shawl over her left shoulder, and he never said a word. So they never quarreled."

MATCHING WITS IN BASEBALL.

C. H. Claudy in St. Nicholas: For you who pitch, the plan on which you pitch should be this: Study the batter and find his weakness. Play to his weakness when you can. When conditions change, when men are on the bases, and a hit may win the game—try the surprise. Never pitch twice the same way to the same man.—that is, if you put the first ball over and the next two wide and the fourth over, the first time that man comes up, don't make them come in the same order the second time he comes up. But then, if you find that he has outguessed you, and hits at the second instead of at the first ball, switch to something different the third time up.

DOES NOT HOLD ITS ADVANCE

Wheat Opens Strong But Drops Back at the Close.

Oats Very Strong and Flax Declines in Narrow Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 23.—The bulge in wheat which started this morning in sympathy with the advance in coarse grain did not last, although July closed ⅛c up and so did September. July durum closed ¼c under yesterday. The market was fairly active toward the close.

Oats closed the session with an advance of ½c, rye remained unchanged to 1c off and barley was unchanged. Cash wheat equalled July option.

July and September wheat started what looked like a serious bulge as soon as the grain market opened this morning but they were checked in midcareer and a feeling of tiredness became apparent. However, the gain made in the opening hours of business hung on during the greater part of the session. There seems to be no question but that the advance in wheat was caused by the bullish movement in coarse grains, oats and corn in particular, wheat responding sympathetically in the face of very bearish news.

Cables were weaker, the Liverpool market opening lower and closing ¼@½d off on fairer crop reports from America, heavier world's shipments, arrivals or heavy shipments from India and the offers of Continental holders to resell cargoes. Also, for a further bearish inducement the reported damage in the winter wheat country has been heavily discounted and it is believed that in comparison with the reports sent out the actual damage will be small. It is the general opinion that the bulge will not endure.

July wheat opened unchanged but soon took an an advance of ¼@⅜c and held around there for the greater part of the session. September advanced early in the session ¼@⅜c over yesterday's close and maintained the advance. Durum wheat was dormant, but May option advanced on small trading, ⅛c.

Flax Falls Off.

Flax had a quiet day, and for lack of buyers chiefly, fell off in price. Some buying was done for investment, as happened yesterday also, but it was limited. July, September and October options all fell off ¾c each. May closed at ½c off, and lifeless, as it was all during the session.

The following is from the Modern Miller of St. Louis:

"This is the first week since winter wheat was planted that reports regarding conditions of the crop were conflicting. There is hardly any doubt that this crop has gone backward, yet it appears that the deterioration is confined to small areas and is not of a serious nature."

J. P. McElwain of Amsterdam, N. Y., representing Kellogg & Miller, the oldest flax crushing firm in America, being organized in 1824, is here for a few days on business. He had not much comment to make on the flax situation except that the market is lifeless all over on this side of the line. A good deal of the crushing done by his firm was of Canadian seed.

The Van Dusen-Harrington company issued today the following crop letter, the fourth this year:

"The weather during the past week has been rainy and cold. The rains were general over the three states and the precipitation was sufficient to supply ample moisture for the present throughout the entire spring wheat territory.

"While the rainfall has delayed farm work a little, seeding has been going on and the benefits more than offset the slight delay to the sowing of small grains. Wheat seeding is completed, oats and barley two-thirds to three-quarters done, and flax seeding in progress.

"The cool weather has given wheat a good root, and, with the moisture the ground has received, the advent of warm weather will bring all crops forward rapidly.

"Our reports indicate a reduction of about 5 per cent in the wheat acreage as compared with last year, a similar reduction in flax, a slight decrease in oats and a small increase in barley and rye."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Scantiness of Offerings Puts Wheat Prices on Up-Grade.

Chicago, May 23.—Wheat prices ran up speedily today on account of scant offerings. Houses with Southwestern connections were active buyers, influenced by Kansas reports that in considerable territory the crop had gone back 50 per cent. There were also adverse tidings from France. The market opened unchanged to ¾c higher. July started at 90c to 90¼c, the same as last night to ⅛c up and rose to 90½@90⅝c.

Afterward there was a reaction owing to predicted heavy world shipments and because of profit-taking. The close was weak with July at 90c, the same as last night.

Dwindling of stocks favored the corn bulls. July, which at the outset was ¼c off to a like advance at 57¼c to 57½c, went to 57⅝@58c.

The market later advanced still higher but eased some with wheat. The close was weak at 57⅝c for July, a gain of ¼c net.

There was a big trade in oats. Prominent speculators led the buying. July opened ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c higher, at 38¼c to 38⅛c and climbed to 38⅞c.

Provisions eased off with hogs. First sales were a shade to 7½c down, with September prices $19.30 for pork, $11.00 to $11.00@11.02½ for lard and $11.05 for ribs.

Pool Operations Evident in Rise of Low-Priced Coppers.

New York, May 23.—Trading during the morning fell off considerably, and there was no sign of a continuation of the movement which raised prices generally yesterday. Standard stocks, which have been unaffected of late by liquidation of various low priced issues seemed more sensitive today to adverse influences, and although there was little pressure against the list such business as was done was at the expense of quoted values.

Reports from Europe indicated renewed depression had come over the foreign markets and some reflection of this feeling was visible from the outset here.

Failure of yesterday's rise to create public interest in the market discouraged bullish activity.

Bonds Irregular.

Pressure was again directed at stocks which have been conspicuously weak when the market opened today. California Petroleum declined a point to 35½, a new low record. St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred sagged 5 points, the second preferred and California Petroleum 2 and Rock Island 1. Pennsylvania touched 109¾, new low mark.

Suspension of the forenoon selling did not help the list. Speculation became stagnant and stocks showed no recuperative power when pressure stopped.

The market closed firm. Prices moved up steadily to the end and the list retrieved something more than the early losses. Pool operations were evident in the improvement in some low-priced copper shares.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 23.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 6 points on May and of 2 points on August with few months from 1 to 2 points lower under realizing and selling for a reaction after the sharp advance of yesterday. Prospects for clearing weather in the South probably inspired part of the offerings and prices eased off to a net loss of 5 or 7 points on active months shortly after the call; but cables were better than due, Liverpool reported a continued demand from continental sources, and while more or less unsettled, the local market showed a fairly steady undertone at the decline.

DREDGING WORK AT TWO PORTS

Grand Marais and Ontonagon Harbors to Be Improved.

Two harbors are to be dredged this summer, under the direction of the local engineer's office; the Ontonagon, the contract for which was awarded yesterday to the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company of Duluth, and the Grand Marais, Mich., harbor, the contract for which will be awarded next month.

Capt. E. D. Peck of the United States corps of engineers received but two bids for the dredging of the harbor at Ontonagon. The Great Lakes company bid 18½ cents a cubic yard, scow measurement, and the Zenith Dredge company, also of this city, bid 24 cents. There are 35,000 yards of earth to be removed, making a total of $6,745.

The work to be done at Ontonagon is specified as follows in a report by Capt. Peck:

"In the lake approach a bar will be removed where the depth is now 13 to 17 feet at low water, so as to leave a clear depth of 17 feet. Between the entrance piers the shoals will be removed so as to leave a clear depth of 15 feet for a bottom width of not more than 100 feet and flaring out to 200 feet or less at the inner end. This portion of the channel is about 2,400 feet long. Within the inner ends of the piers a channel of not more than 75 feet wide will be dredged up to the north end of the commercial dock and another channel not more than 75 feet wide to the north end of the lumber wharf on the west side of the harbor. These last two channels will be 15 feet deep.

"All depths in these specifications are referred to low water datum. The prevailing stage of water during the working season is usually about one foot above datum."

Work on the Ontonagon harbor will start June 1, according to the contract, and must be finished by July 15.

Specifications for the dredging of the Grand Marais harbor are now out and the various dredge companies are bidding for the work. The bids will be opened at the local United States engineer's office next Thursday. The work is expected to start on June 15 and the contract calls for its completion by Aug. 31.

Capt. Peck has listed the following specifications for the dredging of the Grand Marais harbor:

"The dredging in the lake will be for the entire width of the entrance, which is 500 feet, and will extend out to about 400 feet from the west pier. Present depth over the bar in the lake is 13½ to 22 feet. Dredging will be such as to leave a depth of 23 feet at this locality. Between the piers the dredging will remove shoals where the present depth is 17 to 20 feet so as to provide a channel about 300 feet wide midway between the piers with a depth of 20 feet."

BUSY SHIPPING YEAR.

Much Freight Expected Through Portage Lake Canal This Year.

Dollar Bay, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is believed that this season will witness the breaking of all past records for tonnage carried through the Portage lake and ship canal waterways by lake steamers and their consorts. The movement during the present month, which saw the opening of navigation, has been the heaviest to date for the month of May. These waterways constitute a protected passage, with the finest harbors of refuge on Lake Superior, for all boats going either to or from the Head of the Lakes.

A very large package freight business is being done with the Copper country this year, too, more freight of this character coming in this spring than is usual. All Lake Superior passenger and package freight lines, excepting those which must make stops at Port Arthur and Fort William, Ont., on the north shore, in both directions are sending their boats through these waterways.

NOTE IN BOTTLE FROM WATCHMAN ON SIMMONS

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23.—A note found in a bottle last Sunday by Charles Weegkman of Chicago on the north shore of Lake Michigan, signed Michael Rattary, night watchman, stated the Rouse Simmons went to the bottom with cargo and crew after jamming ice, crushing front of boat. Mrs. Henry Shuneman, widow of the master of the Simmons, does not remember Rattary as one of the crew, but says the name sounds familiar. The Rouse Simmons, a wooden schooner, was lost in December on her way to Chicago with a cargo of Christmas trees. None of her crew of thirteen to fifteen was ever heard from.

DISABLED STEAMER ON WAY TO DULUTH.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer James Davidson's engines became disabled coming up Lake Huron Wednesday afternoon. She was taken in tow by the Hoover and Mason off Presque Isle, arriving at the Soo yesterday. To save any delay the Hoover took her on to Duluth, where repairs will be made after she is unloaded.

Will Abandon Barge.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 23.—The owners of the wooden barge Iron City, which was sunk in St. Clair river, opposite Russell island on May 3d, in collision with the steamer Thomas F. Cole, as yet have sent no formal notice of their abandonment of the wreck to the war department, but they have informed Lieut. Col. Mason M. Patrick, United States district engineer at Detroit, that it is their intention to take such action. Relying on this information, Col. Patrick is having specifications prepared and will solicit bids for removal of the wreck, probably fixing next Monday as the date for opening the bids.

ALONG THE LAKES

A new harbor to be known as Lakeport is to be dredged this summer north of Alpena, near the quarry of the Great Lakes Stone & Lime company. The dredge Tipperary Boy and the tug Shaugrain are now in Alpena and will soon begin operations.

EASTON WILL MAKE FIRST TRIP

Will Leave Monday for the North Shore; America to South Shore.

The steamer Easton of the Booth line will make her first trip of the season on Monday afternoon, June 2, leaving the local dock at 3 o'clock.

The Easton will go to Port Arthur, returning to Duluth the following Thursday. From then on she will continue her regular schedule to the north and south shores the rest of the season.

The steamer America will leave at 5 o'clock this afternoon for her first trip to Ashland. The boat has been running to the north shore ever since the season opened, making also one trip to Cornucopia.

OFFER CHEAPEST TRANSPORTATION.

In an article in a current magazine on "What Swept the American Flag From the Sea?—1815-1915," A. C. Laut, the author, who has been writing a series of such articles in behalf of the merchant marine, refers especially to the Great Lakes.

In referring to shipping on the Great Lakes, the writer says:

"The Great Lakes are protected from free ships. Shipping theer is exclusively reserved to domestic United States and home-built vessels; and shipping on the Great Lakes is characterized by several distinctions:

"It is the cheapest transportation in the world.

"It is the one area in America where railway and waterway coordinate and work together instead of fighting each other.

"Wages paid seamen on the Great Lakes are the highest in America.

"Wages paid dockworkers on the Great Lakes are the highest in America—notwithstanding which, transportation is the cheapest in the world; and there are fewer labor troubles than in any other marine traffic of the United States."

Libeled By Coal Dealers.

Detroit, Mich., May 23.—Milo D. Campbell, United States marshal, Wednesday served attachment papers on the passenger steamer Lake Michigan, which has been in drydock at Port Huron all season being repaired. The boat was libeled by coal dealers of both Detroit and Port Huron for bills contracted, some a year ago and some two years ago.

She was burned last season, and repairs cost several thousand dollars. All the time the boat was being repaired she was carefully watched by the creditors and last week the word was passed that she would sail yesterday, and as final preparations were being made to depart for Lake Ontario, Mr. Campbell stepped aboard and ordered the vessel tied up.

Prominent officials of the North American company, a subsiddary of the Postal, have been in this city during the last few days looking over the situation with a view to beginning such service. The plan proposes the stringing of wires over the poles of the Tri-State Telephone company.

JURY FINDS ENGEL GUILTY

Victim Lost Both Eyes in Fracas at Lodging House.

Mathew Engel, charged with having made a vicious attack on Delaus Rensaa at the North Star lodging house over the Egdahl saloon on West Michigan street on Sept. 3, 1912, was found guilty of assault in the second degree by a jury in district court before Judge Dancer shortly after noon today. The jury was out one hour.

Rensaa was set upon and brutally beaten in a fight which occurred in the passageway between the Egdahl saloon and the North Star lodging house on Sept. 3 last. In the fracas he had both of his eyes kicked out and was left totally blind. Engel was arrested in Minneapolis charged with the assault.

Shortly after Engel's arrest, James Fitzgibbons was taken in custody charged with having a hand in the same affair. Fitzgibbons was a witness for the state yesterday in the prosecution of Engel. Engel's defense was a general denial. He was defended by E. J. Kenny. Warren B. Greene, county attorney, directed the prosecution.

Fitzgibbons was indicted for assault in the third degree. It is not known when his case will be brought to trial.

NEW AUTO PATROL GIVEN TRIAL SPIN

Combination "Black Maria" and Emergency Ambulance Pleases Officials.

Duluth's new auto police patrol and emergency ambulance hauled its first load this morning. The passengers rode of their own volition, however, unlike a lot of others who will be carried later.

Among those who went out on the trial spin this morning were Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the division of public safety; Chief Troyer, Judge Cutting and William F. Hutchins. Three or four others who were admiring the new machine were taken along to fill the vacant seats.

All expressed the utmost delight with the new buzz cart which has been secured by the police department. The engine worked like a charm, silently and powerfully, driving the car along slowly or swiftly with almost no noise. J. G. Moran, president of the Duluth Automobile company, through which the big Peerless was purchased, acted as chauffeur.

Commissioner Hicken, Chief Troyer and Judge Cutting were extremely well satisfied with the showing of the machine. It is by far the best outfit of the kind which has ever been seen in Duluth, and will undoubtedly add greatly to the efficiency of the police department.

"I never expected to joyride in the Black Maria," said Mr. Hutchins this morning, "but I would not have missed that spin for a great deal, particularly in such distinguished company. "I've ridden in all kinds and nearly every make of car, but none of them has anything on the new police outfit," continued "Hutch."

TARIFF ARGUMENTS CLOSE ON TUESDAY

Appeals for More Time Fall on Heedless Ears.

Washington, May 23.—Announcement that the finance committee will hear no more tariff arguments after Tuesday has brought from all parts of the country appeals for an extension of time. They will be disregarded, however, and all manufacturers who have inquired have been notified that they may file briefs up to the time the bill is reported to the senate.

Corridors of the capitol and the senate office building were thronged today with those who wish to be heard before the doors of the committee room are closed Tuesday night.

WRIT OF ERROR DENIED GOMPERS.

Washington, May 23.—The district court of appeals today refused a writ of error by which attorneys for Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, wanted to carry an appeal from their conviction for contempt of court in the Bucks Stove & Range case to the supreme court of the United States. Attorneys for the three men will now ask the highest court to order the decision brought up for review.

NEW FISSURE IN VESUVIUS.

CALUMET TO BUILD HUGE SKATING RINK.

Calumet, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calumet is to have the largest skating and hockey rink in North America when the Calumet Rink company, just organized, completes the big structure to be built this summer. The Palestra rink at Laurium, which is about six years old and was built of steel, with big steel arches, is to be used in the construction of a portion of the new rink. The rink will seat 5,000 to 6,000 spectators, will have a very large dancing floor, a press box and an ice surface of 150 by 90 feet. The seats will be so arranged that when there are no hockey games they can be swung up on hinges, in sections, much enlarging the ice surface for skating. The waiting and observation room will face the ice and will be fronted with glass. The big new rink will be completed before the first snow falls.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES TO ASK REINDICTMENTS FOR COTTON CORNERS

Four Men Indicted With Patten Are to Be Accused.

Flaws in Old True Bills Might Prevent Any Convictions.

Witnesses Will Appear Before Grand Jury Next Week.

New York, May 24.—The department of justice has decided to seek the reindictment of Frank Hayne and William P. Brown of New Orleans, Eugene Scales of Texas and Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York, on the charge that they conspired to corner the cotton crop of 1909.

Subpoenas were issued today by United States District Attorney Marshall for the appearance next week before the Federal grand jury of witnesses upon whose testimony the indictment now standing against them was found.

Old True Bills Faulty.

The document contains flaws, it is understood, which the government feared might stand in the way of conviction. It charges that with James A. Patten of Chicago, the defendants conspired to create a bull pool with the intention of artificially raising the price of cotton in order to obtain a profit of $10,000,000.

Patten pleaded guilty last February to the sixth count of the indictment, known as the "contract count," which alleged that the defendants entered into contracts to buy up all the raw cotton produced in 1909, and to hold it out of the market until November, 1910. He was fined $4,000 and under an agreement between his counsel and the department of justice the other counts in the indictment were nolled.

Were Indignant At Patten.

Patten announced in entering his plea that he was "not conscious of any moral turpitude." Messrs. Hayne, Brown and Scales professed to be indignant at his action and said that they would fight the case to the end. Col. Thompson recently sailed for Europe. All five defendants originally pleaded not guilty and, with the exception of Col. Thompson, demurred to the indictment. The demurrer was defeated in the United States supreme court.

BEES HOLD CARNIVAL IN CAR IN SUBWAY

New York, May 24.—A new way to make subway travelers step lively has been discovered by accident. William C. Bauer, a New Jersey apiarist, came to town yesterday with a soapbox full of bees and hornets, 400 of the former for a window display at a Harlem store and 800 of the latter for a druggist who uses them to make a medicine from their stingers.

He started on the ten-mile ride up town in the subway, and all went well until a youth crowded against him and stuck his foot through the top of the box. The result was a record quick clearance of the car at the next stop, with scores of people badly stung. Bauer himself escaped unstung, as he had used an oil which neither the bees nor hornets liked.

GOOD SHOOTING DONE BY COAST DEFENSE

Port Townsend, Wash., May 24.—Announcement was made today of remarkable results at target practice yesterday with the 12-inch mortars at Fort Worden, one of the defenses at the entrance to Puget Sound. The mortars were fired for the first time at fixed and movable targets in Discovery Bay, eight miles distant and hidden from the fort by forest-covered hills. The exact score has not been computed, but several shots were marked as hits.

The importance of the fortifications commanding Discovery Bay has long been recognized, but it was not thought that the bay could be covered by fire from a distant fort. Just how the shots were directed is not known, but it probably was done from a concealed station on Protection island.

STORMY TIME FOR BAPTISTS

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—The report of the committee on relations with the Southern Baptists, was the first business before today's session of the Northern Baptist convention, now in session in Detroit. During the discussion of the report, it was anticipated a controversy would arise over the proposition to turn over to the Southern jurisdiction several missions which the Northern church has established in Oklahoma.

It is charged that when missions in New Mexico were surrendered to the Southern church last year, a number of Northern workers were dismissed, and their places filled by adherents of the church of the South. The possibility of similar action in the Oklahoma field has created considerable opposition to the proposed change.

Have Missionary Exhibition.

An unusual feature at the convention is the "missionary exhibition," in charge of Dr. John M. Moore, secretary of the department of missionary education. Several exhibits show vividly the reasons for missionary endeavor.

For instance, a cluster of five lights flashing every two minutes shows that five babies are born in China with every flash, coming into a world of darkness.

There is a huge dial, the hand of which moves twice every minute, indicating that with each round of the

MARJORIE MORELAND.

NAT C. GOODWIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—Nat C. Goodwin, the actor, will be married today for the fifth time. The bride-elect is Miss Marjorie Moreland, leading woman in Goodwin's latest stage venture. The wedding ceremony will be said at Goodwin's home at Ocean Park.

Miss Moreland was formerly Mrs. Charles Doughty.

Mr. Goodwin, several months ago, was reported to have saved Miss Moreland's life in a boating accident. He received injuries which laid him up for several weeks, during which time Miss Moreland cared for him.

ORGANIZING OPPOSITION TO EBERHART'S PLAN

Opponents of Public Utilities Bill Hold Conference in Duluth.

Speakers Will Trail Eberhart If He Tours the State.

Opposition to Governor Eberhart's plan to call an extra session of the legislature and generally to the principle of state control of public utilities as it is advocated by the governor is crystalizing in Duluth today.

At a conference at the Spalding this afternoon, followed by a banquet this evening, leading opponents of the governor's plan will express their views. The result is expected to be an organization, statewide in its scope, to act as a backfire on the governor and those who are supporting him in his course. If Governor Eberhart carries out his expressed plan of traveling over the state and speaking on behalf of the principle of state regulation of public utilities, very likely he will be trailed in Bede-Harlan style by speakers in opposition to the same principle.

The arrangements for the conference and banquet were made by the Stirrup club of Duluth, which has been joined

LANE HINTS AT SOME GRAFT IN MINNESOTA

Says Indian Appropriation tion Bill Needs Looking Into.

Washington, May 24.—Secretary of the Interior Lane made another attack upon the Indian appropriation bill today when it was taken up by the senate committee. He charged that a man—whom he did not name—already selected for a place on a commission to make a roll of Chippewa Indians in Minnesota, formerly was attorney for a lumber company which holds contracts upon which the commission will have to pass.

"The fact that appropriations covering hundreds of thousands of dollars go masquerading about in the bill under misleading titles, would seem to indicate the necessity for a reasonably careful scrutiny of other of its provisions," said he.

COLOR LINE RAISED IN POSTAL SERVICE

Postmaster General Is Petitioned to Segregate Railway Clerks.

Washington, May 24.—The race question was put squarely up to Postmaster General Burleson today in a petition signed by more than 8,000 railway mail clerks urging the segregation of white and negro employes in the service. It was presented by Robert A. Prather of Little Rock, Ark. The petitioners asked that the postmaster general issue an order putting the segregation into effect at once.

It is contended that from fifteen to twenty clerks work on the same "run," and that the white clerks at times are outnumbered by the negroes. It is further declared that in some instances the whites are subjected to the jurisdiction of negro superiors.

A special protest is made in the petition against existing conditions because on long runs members of the two races frequently have to share the same sleeping quarters.

BOY TAKES STOMACH PUMP TO BAIL BOAT

Doctor Has to Hunt Up Son to Save Life of Patient.

Brownsville, Minn., May 24.—The only stomach pump in this village having been appropriated by the small son of Dr. Francis Duffey to pump out his launch on the Mississippi river, James P. Colleran, aged 60, who took by mistake a dose of medicine intended for a horse, had a narrow escape from death today. The medicine contained a quantity of carbolic acid, and on discovery of the mistake the town was scoured for the stomach pump until Jimmy Duffey, aged 10, was found calmly using it to empty the water that had accumulated in his boat. The hydraulic machine was taken away from the youth and Colleran was barely saved.

Hanover and Hohenzollern Reconciliation Is Finally Sealed.

Kaiser's Only Daughter Is Bride of Prince of Cumberland.

Berlin, May 24.—Princess Victoria Luise of Prussia, only daughter of the German emperor, was married to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland with the rites of the Lutheran church, at 5 o'clock this evening.

The ceremony, which took place in the royal chapel of the imperial castle, seals the reconciliation between the dethroned house of Hanover and the house of Hohenzollern.

The presence of the three most powerful sovereigns of Europe—the German emperor, the Russian emperor and the British king-emperor — on terms of intimate friendship, made the event a demonstration of international peace.

Civil Service First.

The civil ceremony was performed

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER IS BRIDE OF BROKER

MRS. JOHN A. MAHER.
(Dolorita O'Gorman.)

Washington, May 24.—Miss Dolorita O'Gorman, the pretty daughter of Senator and Mrs. James A. O'Gorman, was married today to John Antony Maher, a broker, of New York. Miss O'Gorman is the oldest of six sisters, who are all social favorites in New York and Washington. Only one of her sisters is married.

KAISER'S ONLY DAUGHTER BECOMES A BRIDE

PRINCESS VICTORIA LUISE,
Daughter of the Kaiser.

PRINCE ERNEST,
Of Cumberland.

It was reported that the kaiser was anxious that his future son-in-law, Prince Ernst Augustus of Cumberland, should have an occupation after his marriage to the Princess Victoria Luise, the kaiser's only daughter, and that he had decided to create a state for him to govern. On the day of Prince Ernest's wedding, therefore, the kaiser agreed to hand him titles as the duke of Brunswick and grand duke of Lunebourg. The prince would then have a very responsible job among the princes of the German empire, and be considered the equal in rank of the kings of Saxony and Wurtemburg, with authority over a state which the kaiser made by the simple process of turning over a considerable portion of the province of Hanover, which belong to Prussia, into the new grand duchy of Lunebourg.

SCIENTIST CLAIMS HE CAN TELL MAN'S RACE BY BLOOD

JAPANESE EMPEROR IS GETTING BETTER

Able to Take Nourishment and Heart Action Is Strong.

Tokio, May 24. — The condition of Emperor Yoshihito continued to improve today. The physicians in attendance declare themselves confident that he will recover from the attack of pneumonia. His majesty is cheerful. He takes nourishment regularly and his heart action is strong.

Count Chiaki Watanabe, the imperial master of ceremonies, today read to the emperor President Wilson's cabled message of sympathy, which also is displayed prominently in the newspapers.

Dr. Reichert Also Distinguishes Between Classes of Animals.

Tells of "Underlying Processes" in Forms of Living Matter.

Philadelphia, May 24.—Experiments conducted by Dr. Edward T. Reichert, physiologist of the University of Pennsylvania, show that the blood of a negro clearly can be distinguished from that of a white man, according to a report of that scientist's recent research work made public here yesterday.

It is further reported that he is confident that continued scientific revelations will result in scientists being able to distinguish the blood of an American from that of a Chinaman, the blood of an Italian from that of an Englishman and the blood of a German from that of a Frenchman and so on.

Underlying Processes.

Dr. Reichert has been at work for several years to discover the mechanism by which the phenomena of life are produced, and has just completed a report of the discoveries he made of the underlying processes of living matter. His report declares that the crystals of man's blood are light, rectangular plates and rods, and those of the orang-outang, the chimpanzee, the baboon and the monkey are nearly the same form, but still so different that each can be distinguished from the others. In the same way the blood crystals of the gorilla can be distinguished from those of the orang-outang, and they have a certain likeness to those of the negro, says the report.

In the old method of classifying animals according to their tribes, the bear was always placed in the same family as the dog, the wolf and the fox. By the new method of comparing the blood crystals of these animals it has been proved conclusively that the bear is closely related to the sea lions and seals, and is not related to the dog, the wolf or the fox.

Guinea Fowl Like Ostrich.

In the bird world similar results have been shown, Dr. Reichert says. The guinea fowl, for instance, has been classed in the family of the domestic fowl. The guinea fowl's blood crystals, however, have now been demonstrated to be much more nearly like those of the ostrich.

MOVIES GIVE CLUE; MAN IS ARRESTED

Alleged Passer of Worthless Check Arrested at Coon Rapids.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleged to have been traced and identified through a moving picture film, Joseph Schmidt, accused of passing a worthless check on a Minneapolis woman more than two months ago, was placed in jail here late yesterday, after having been arrested at Coon Rapids, Minn., by a Minneapolis detective.

Schmidt, according to the police, was supposed to have been engaged in the motion picture business here when he is said to have passed the check. The detective who was detailed to find Schmidt says he visited the sixty-five moving picture theaters in Minneapolis, hoping to get a trace of the man. Finally, he said, he was rewarded yesterday when he thought he recognized the likeness of Schmidt in a picture depicting the progress on the Coon Rapids dam. He went there, he says, and found Schmidt running a moving picture theater.

Soo Road Will Establish Through Service Over New Line.

Duluth Train Will Connect at Portal and Thief River Falls.

Lower Freight Rates Will Open New Territory in Wisconsin.

Duluth is to have another through service to Winnipeg and the coast.

In the report of the traffic commission read at the meeting of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club last evening, it was stated that the Soo road is planning to establish a daily passenger train from Duluth to Thief River Falls, to connect with the through train from the Twin Cities to Winnipeg. It will also connect with the Twin City train to Portal, giving a through service from Portal over the Canadian Pacific road to the coast.

This service on the Soo road will place Duluth in direct connection with all of Western Canada, and give the city another transcontinental connection

Duluth will now have through service to Winnipeg and Western Canada over two of the three great Canadian roads, as the Canadian Northern announced a through service between Duluth and Winnipeg to take effect early in June. There will soon be four direct routes from Duluth to the Pacific coast.

Delayed By Floods.

The new service over the Soo road would have been definitely announced before this time, if it had not been

BLOW FATAL TO M'CARTY

McCarty died a few minutes after receiving the knockout blow.

G. O. P. CHIEFS AT CAPITAL

Will Put Question of Convention to National Committee.

Washington, May 24.—Members of the Republican national executive committee assembled here today to take stock of the party since the November defeat, look over the field for the future and determine whether a meeting of the national committee should be called to consider the advisability of holding a special national convention.

Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the national committee, who issued the call for the executive committee, reached Washington early in the day and conferred with several Republican leaders.

"I have talked with only three or four members of the executive committee," said Mr. Hilles, "and I find that some of them favor calling a meeting of the national committee. I am not sure that a majority of them are of that opinion. We must talk things over before making any predictions."

Memorial Presented.

When the committee met it had a memorial from the conciliation committee of Republican Progressives, headed by Senator Cummins, appointed as a result of the recent Chicago conference. This formulated a request that an early meeting of the national committee be called. It included a statement of the reforms proposed at the Chicago conference, which would provide for party recognition of the primary system of selecting delegates to the national conventions, and a change of basis of representation to conform to the voting strength of the party in the various states, a change directed against the heavy representation from the South.

Upon the merits of proposed reforms the executive committee does not pass.

DULUTH, MINN.

NEW MEXICAN FOR LANE'S AIDE.

Las Vegas, N. M., May 24.—A. A. Jones of this city, mentioned in a Washington dispatch as having been selected for the post of assistant secretary of the interior, was strongly urged by New Mexico Democrats for the secretaryship. He has been the dominant leader of the Democratic party in the state for years and was largely instrumental in carrying the state for Wilson last November. He is a lawyer, and considered one of the best posted men on land and irrigation matters in the Southwest. It is presumed that, aside from his political service, his qualifications commended him to President Wilson. Mr. Jones is independently wealthy.

To Whom It May Concern.

We, the undersigned, of the Missabe Lunch Room, Proctor, Minn., offer Fifty Dollars reward ($50.00), for proofs of the stories circulated that we scabbed during the street car strike in Duluth, 1912. One member of the firm, W. C. Skofte, working as conductor for the Duluth Street Railway Company, resigned the first day of the strike. The other member of the firm, N. L. Skofte, had worked as cook for H. W. Johnson of the Pioneer Restaurant, 2531 West Superior street, Duluth, but resigned two weeks before the strike and went to his farm at Solon Springs, Wis. We are not soliciting trade, but merely wish to right ourselves with those who have been misinformed. We hope that this will be sufficient evidence for those who tried to effect a boycott that they had absolutely no grounds on which to base their rumors. Yours truly,

PUBLICITY FOR DULUTH

Comprehensive Campaign Mapped Out By Commercial Club Committee.

Club Going After Tourists and Has Plans to Entertain Them.

Duluth's proposed publicity campaign was outlined at the meeting of the public affairs committee last evening by Alfred Hanchett, chairman of the sub-committee on publicity.

Mr. Hanchett made a plea for a definite annual appropriation which could be counted on from year to year, in order that the club might outline a campaign covering several years.

"This is the only way in which we can get efficiency," said Mr. Hanchett. "The city should spend its money just as carefully and plan its advertising on the same business-like basis that a business man would his campaign. Doing it by piecemeal will not get results."

Mr. Hanchett asked for an appropriation of $2,500, which President Knox said would be carefully considered by the executive committee.

The programn outlined by Mr. Hanchett included the continuation of the "Cool in Duluth" advertising in large Southern cities like St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago. This advertising will be run in the larger newspapers during the hot summer months.

The committee has planned an extensive advertising campaign for the "Lark o' the Lake" carnivals, in connection with this hot weather advertising. The carnivals are to be held out as an inducement to bring summer tourists here. They will be also advertised extensively in the immediate territory of Duluth. Attractive folders will be distributed through all the railroad and steamboat lines touching Duluth, and about 100,000 of these will be printed and placed where they will do the most good.

The committee has prepared some electrotypes bearing the words "Duluth, the Great Port of the Northwest," and these will be given business firms for use on their stationery, so that all mail leaving Duluth will bear this advertising.

The committee asked for an information booth on a prominent Superior street corner, and also a large sign pointing the way to the Commercial club.

• • •

Frank Gravel reported for the committee on trade excursions, and said that the committee had all but eight of the seventy-five needed signatures. "This is the best form of advertising Duluth has," said Mr. Gravel. He urged any present who had not signed for the trip to do so.

• • •

"We can't run this club on wind" said Whitney Wall, reporting for the finance committee, and urged the members to contribute their share toward the committee's expense.

• • •

J. E. Rockwell, reporting for the summer attractions committee, stated that the committee had merged itself with the "Lark o' the Lake" committee, and was helping in the plans for the summer carnivals, inasmuch as other affairs such as band concerts, boat trips, circuses, ball games, and theatrical attractions were apparently well provided for, and were taking care of themselves.

• • •

Harry Zinsmaster, representing the new Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company, which was induced to come to Duluth by the industrial committee, spoke briefly, telling the effect the efforts of the club are having on outside business men.

"When we intimated that we might come here we received such an avalanche of advertising matter that we decided this must be a live city" said Mr. Zinsmaster. "The efforts to get us never ceased until we came, and we are certainly not sorry we did."

• • •

C. Francis Colman reported for the homecroft committee and told of the experimental garden plots that will be started.

• • •

H. J. Atwood of the street improvement committee, and F. W. Paine of the remedial loan committee reported progress. Mr. Paine told of the establishment of a remedial loan association in Duluth, and said the necessity for it had been proven.

• • •

B. C. Wade of the educational cooperation committee, said that President Vincent would attend the next meeting and explain his plans for university extension.

• • •

W. E. Culkin for the history committee gave a most interesting five-minute talk on the early incidents of the settling of the boundary controversy, and said that Duluth and Northeastern Minnesota offered a most absorbing field for the historian.

NEW UNION IS BEING FORMED

Will Include All Workers in Hotels and Restaurants.

According to an organizer for the hotel and restaurant employes, a union will soon be formed in this city. He has put in a few busy days sounding the sentiment of the local workers and reports that all are very eager to join.

The organization, he said, is to take in all men and women working in hotels and restaurants as well as lunchrooms. This means chambermaids, cooks, waiters, waitresses, bartenders, lunch counter men, dishwashers, scrubwomen, bell boys, porters and elevator operators. "By thus uniting our forces we will be in a position to take up matters with the employes and remedy conditions that have no place in a civilized community, such as working twelve to seventeen hours a day and seven days a week at wages far below the average paid in other industries low as that is," he said.

"The local will soon be formed at a meeting to be held early next week. We will then start an energetic campaign to enroll the rest of the workers. I am firmly of the opinion that no strikes will be necessary once the employes will be brought to recognize the inhumane conditions under which work is carried on. The union will take in all men and women regardless of race and color.

"The report in the Tribune that the new union will be a local of the International Alliance is positively wrong. We are going to affiliate either with the Trades assembly locally or with the International Hotel-Workers' Union of New York. The Alliance has absolutely no standing and has not achieved any results since it was organized twenty-two years ago."

PAPERMAKERS DEMAND AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

A demand for an eight-hour day has been made by the employes of the paper mills at Grand Rapids, Little Falls and Sartell, and it is believed that the demand will be granted and that there will be no necessity of a strike. At the places mentioned the men are now working twelve hours a day, while other mills in the state—at International Falls and Cloquet—the eight-hour day is in force.

George J. Schneider of Appleton, Wis., representing the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, passed through Duluth yesterday on his way to Little Falls to assist the union men there in obtaining the required curtailment of the work day.

BALCONY FALLS; STUDENTS HURT.

Akron, Ohio, May 24.—Fifteen students of the Central high school were seriously injured and scores were badly cut and bruised when a temporary balcony which had been erected in the auditorium of the school building collapsed yesterday. The majority of the injured were girls. Many of them sustained broken arms and legs.

The students were rehearsing the oratorio "Sampson," which was to have been given last night, when the accident occurred. More than 300 boys and girls seated in the balcony were precipitated to the floor, a fall of twenty feet, and it was with difficulty that they were extricated from the entangled mass of bodies and debris.

It is not believed that any of the injured will die.

TAFT DENOUNCES JUDGES' RECALL.

New Haven, Conn., May 24.—The recall of judicial decisions and of judges was denounced by Prof. William H. Taft in a lecture at Yale yesterday as "hair-trigger to the bottom" and as an "instrumentality giving great power to bosses and the muck-raking press."

The recall of judges the former president declared to be inimical to justice, because, "under this legalized terrorism independent action of the judiciary would be impossible."

Mr. Taft advocated increases ranging from $4,000 to $5,000 in the salaries of the justices of the supreme court, and the fixing of the age of retirement at 70 years.

KIRBY AND WIFE BOTH INDICTED.

Chicago, May 24.—Indictments against William T. Kirby, former president of the defunct Kirby Savings bank; his wife, Mrs. Margaret Kirby, and his nephew and cashier, Daniel J. Kirby, were voted by the grand jury. They are charged with operating a confidence game.

Joseph E. Triska, president of the Slavo-American bank, was the complaining witness named in the indictment. He told the jury he had cashed a draft for $10,000 for Kirby against the Stockmen's Trust & Savings bank, when Kirby had only $600 in the bank.

Kirby and his wife had previously been indicted by the Federal grand jury on charges of perjury and withholding funds from the receiver of their bank.

Wisconsite Blows Out Gas.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Frank Brown of Durand, Wis., narrowly escaped death by illuminating gas Friday in a local hotel. Brown's transom was open and it is believed he blew out the gas. Brown was taken to a city hospital.

Mrs. Curl Improving.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Mrs. Marguerite Logan Curl, widow of J. J. Curl, who killed himself after shooting her last Saturday, is better than at any time since the tragedy. It was feared Thursday she was failing, but her rally Friday gave the doctors hope she will recover.

MARINE NEWS

PREDICTS RECORD LUMBER MOVEMENT

Heavy Shipments Already Made With Season Only Few Weeks Old.

About 30,000,000 feet of lumber have been shipped out of the local port since the opening of navigation.

The above shipment, according to local lumber shippers, is far above the average and remarkable when the weather conditions during the past month are considered. The ice has greatly hampered the work of the lumber shippers, so that a much larger total shipment might have been made, if the weather was more favorable. As it is, both shippers and boat owners are well pleased.

The first lumber boat to leave the local harbor with a lumber cargo this year was the Bradley, which arrived here for the first time on May 3. She has since made two trips and this noon cleared with another load.

The steamer Aztec, which arrived this morning is the last lumber boat to arrive for a cargo and she is now loading at Rice's Point and will clear tomorrow or the next day.

Capt. C. H. Weeks, one of the local lumber brokers, in commenting on the large shipment already made this season, stated that a record shipment will undoubtedly be made this year.

BIG ORE FLEET ON WAY TO ERIE

Congestion at Lower Lake Docks Is Expected Next Week.

Owing to the congestion at the local ore docks the early part of this week, the line-up for the unloading docks at Lake Erie ports is very light at the present and will be until the early part of next week.

After tomorrow a big fleet will arrive at Erie points to unload ore, which is expected to cause a congestion, similar to the one that occurred here early this week, when the boats were unable to load owing to the rains. These boats now bound for Erie ports are behind in their schedules, they having also been delayed by heavy fogs ever since they left Duluth.

Shippers are of the belief that the normal season is just about starting and that from now on heavy shipments will be made each day. In this case, June should be the heaviest month of the season, as many shippers will endeavor to catch up during the early weeks of the month, in addition to making their regular shipments.

Coal cargoes are moving along at a fair rate, although the boats have been delayed somewhat at the Eastern docks.

The grain movement is rather slow, although a number of cargoes are being taken out of the Canadian ports. The rate remains at 2 cents, with the demand for tonnage very slight.

Big Lumber Receipts.

Tonawanda, N. Y., May 24.—Twelve lumber vessels arrived at Tonawanda Thursday, bringing down about 9,000,000 feet of stock, much of which was hemlock. This was the first big rush of stock at the Tonawandas. The rush will continue during the next few days as there are about thirty vessels due here before the end of the week. The boats that reached here were the steamers Christie, Ralph, Sawyer, Myron and Oscoda and barges Interlaken, Tuxbury, Redfern, Woolson and Goshawk, Filer and Peterson.

Engineer Dies.

Andrew Haas, 43, chief engineer in the Great Lakes steamship line, died Tuesday at his home, 1517 East Thirty-third street, Cleveland. In 1907 and 1908 Haas was chief engineer of the steamer J. C. Wallace. The following year he went into the steamer Hurlburt E. W. Smith and in 1910, 1911 and 1912 was chief engineer of the John B. Cowle. He was appointed for the season of 1913, but after fitting out the ship he was taken ill and operated upon. He never regained his health. He was married.

Largest Coal Cargo.

The steamer W. P. Snyder, Jr., which arrived here yesterday, had aboard 13,347 tons and sixteen pounds of coal, the largest cargo ever floated on the lakes.

This cargo is about 500 tons heavier than any that was carried last year. The Snyder, Jr., and Col. James M. Schoonmaker, the largest bulk freighters in the lake trade, are carrying on an average about 700 tons more this season than last, while the 10,000 ton ships are averaging about 500 tons more than a year ago.

The Snyder is owned by the Shenango Steamship company.

ITALIAN ARMY LOSSES HEAVY.

Rome, May 24.—The reverse suffered by Italian troops under Gen. Ganbretti in the battle May 16 with Arabs at Sidi Garba, Tripoli, was worse than reported.

Early advices said the Italian losses were 79 officers and men killed and 259 wounded. The first roll call after the Italians returned to headquarters, however, showed that 1,000 men were absent from the ranks, having either been killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

The Italian forces numbered 5,000. False reports to the Italian commander said the Arabs had 2,000 men, while in reality they aggregated 10,000. They were led by 300 Turkish officers and soldiers and reinforced by cannon.

LEGISLATION PLEASES HALL

Objects to Employment of Convicts on New Prison at Stillwater.

E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, stated today that in his opinion more advanced and useful social legislation was enacted at the recent session of the Minnesota state legislature than during any five previous sessions of the same body.

Mr. Hall pointed to the state-wide law that permits the county authorities to sentence a shiftless husband for failure to support his wife and then turn the pay he receives as a prisoner over to the support of the dependent wife and children. The head of the state labor federation characterized this as one of the best and at the same time the most practical solution of the problem of caring for the wife left dependent by the shiftless husband that has been offered in this state for a very long time.

"Labor conditions are in about the most healthy state at the present time than has been shown for a number of years," declared Mr. Hall. "There is work in plenty, and there is but one strike in the entire state.

New Prison Work.

"We are having some agitation regarding the employing of a large number of convicts on a large piece of work on the Stillwater prison. It was the general spirit, if not the letter of the law ,that only a few convicts were to be employed on work of this nature. Here we find a large job being done mostly by convict labor. The citizens of Stillwater have protested and the federation of labor has added its protest against the same practice of taking work from the laborer.

"Warden Wolfer is a big business man. It is one of his ambitions to put the state penitentiary on a thoroughly paying basis. With this idea in view, I presume a large number of federal prisoners were recently brought to our state prison. I believe a majority of these were colored. These men, in instances as that of being employed on construction work, take labor away from some deserving man. This is what we protest against; this ambition of Mr. Wolfer to make the Minnesota state prison pay for itself at the expense of the laboring man of this state.

"There is certain work to be performed in this state that at the present rate of progress will not be completed within the next fifty years. I refer principally to road making. Why not put convicts to work on the roads of Minnesota? This is a vitally important labor for the prosperity of the state, and it would also be a labor that would enter but slightly into the competition of the established trades and more regulated lines of labor."

Mr. Hall was in conference today with W. E. McEwen. He was especially pleased with the labor conditions in this section of the state, remarking upon the strong demand for labor and the high wage scale being paid at the present time.

SCHNEIDER STANDS PAT

Health Commissioner Seeking a Warrant for His Arrest.

The city meat inspectorship tangle is getting merrier and "snarlier" with each advancing day.

Up to noon today both inspectors, Schneider and Bernhart, were on the job, Schneider by virtue of his claims of civil service rights and Bernhart as the appointee of Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

Schneider today received a letter informing him that he was discharged, fired, canned; that he is no longer connected with the health department, and that he draws no pay for any services since May 16. Several days ago under oath the health director that he had never been discharged, but had only been asked to resign and had not eected to do so. The written notification today, couched in plain language, was the result.

Schneider continues to stand pat. He asserts that he is still Duluth's meat inspector, being a holdover from the former administration and entitled to a fair trial and hearing. Although he has never passed a civil service examination, it is pointed out that neither has the man who has been named as his successor. He contends that until a meat inspector is appointed from eligibles who have passed the civil service examination, he remains meat inspector.

Kept His Star.

Schneider did not turn in his star, stamp or other equipment this morning. One of the department employes got around before 6 o'clock this morning to see him, but Schneider had been ahead of him. He received the letter notifying him that his official being had received treatment in the place the "chicken got the ax," and went out. But he did not leave the insignias of office behind him, despite the declaration of the health director that if he did not do so a warrant for his arrest would be sworn out.

Dr. Webster this morning gave directions for the issuance of the warrant. It had not been sworn out up to noon, but Dr. Webster declares that he will not swerve from his intention in that regard.

The health director states that Schneider has no rights under the civil service regulations of the new charter as he was not in office at the time of the adoption of the charter, having been appointed in January, while the charter was adopted Dec. 3. The charter states that "employes within the scope of this chapter, who are in office at the time of the adoption of this charter, shall retain their positions, unless removed for cause."

Aside from that Dr. Webster avers that there is ample cause for the removal of Schneider. He says that his official actions, or lack of action, constitute plenty of ground for the step that he has taken.

In the meantime the interesting little conflict rages on. The probabilities are that it will not be settled until action is taken by Duluth's new civil service commission. What the verdict of the board will be is awaited with much interest, not only in the city hall, but throughout the city.

HEARS EVIDENCE; PLEADS GUILTY

Prisoner Changes His Mind After State Submits Its Case.

After the state had put in its evidence against Albert Garbich on trial yesterday in district court charged with first degree robbery, the defendant decided to admit his guilt. He was allowed by the court to withdraw his former plea of not guilty and substitute one of guilty of robbery in the third degree. This was consented to by County Attorney Warren E. Greene.

Robbery in the first degree carries with it a sentence of from five to forty years in the state penitentiary. For robbery in the third degree, Garbich will serve from one to ten years. He was sentenced by the court to the St. Cloud reformatory.

Garbich was jointly indicted with Joe Kuto on a charge of having held up and robbed Albert Gross on the night of May 8 near the Lake avenue viaduct, relieving him of a pocketbook and $10. When the defendants were brought into court, they demanded separate trials.

Kuto yesterday intimated that he would not plead guilty, although Garbich did not do so. His case will be brought on for trial next week.

BOAT CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Decoration Day Races to Be Arranged and Building Plans Inspected.

The Western Boat club will make plans for the races to be held on Decoration day, at a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening. Frank H. Wade, president of the club, announced this morning the date of the meeting and requests that all members attend.

The club will also discuss the building of its proposed club rooms at the foot of Sixty-third avenue. The plans for the building are about completed and will probably be ready for their inspection of the members on Wednesday.

It is probable that the club will advocate that the city attempt to make no repairs or construct any dock at the foot of Ramsey street. According to statements made by members they believe that no money should be expended for docks until the city has secured the water front at the mouth of Kingsbury creek, which is proposed as the Fairmount Park extension.

"It is foolish to think of spending money on the city's dock property at the foot of Ramsey street," said M. H. Murray, secretary of the club, this morning. "In the past few years about $10,000 has been expended by the city in a feeble attempt to maintain this dock. Not more than three boats have used the dock during past seasons. If the city proposes to expend money for improvement of municipal docks, then let it wait until it has acquired the proposed Fairmount park extension and build a dock there that will be a credit to the city."

SAILOR HELD ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Is Accused of Breaking Into West Duluth Saloon.

Raymond Shambo, giving his occupation as a sailor, was arrested at 6:30 o'clock this morning charged with having burglarized the saloon at 5602 Raleigh street last night. He is alleged to have stolen several quarts of whisky as well as about $1.70 in small change which was left in the till over night.

When he was arrested by Officer L. D. Root he had some whisky on his person and is said to have been passing bottles around freely on the Steamer William P. Jenkins, which is tied up at the Zenith Furnace company's dock, during the early morning hours, causing some of the sailors to become intoxicated.

When the saloon was opened this morning the bartender notified the police of the burglary. The man got into the place by forcing a window in the rear of the saloon.

Shambo is said to have been hanging about the place at a late hour last night and to have been sizing up the saloon. This and the fact that he had considerable liquor in his possession causes the police to believe that he is the man who broke into the saloon.

Shambo was employed on the Steamer Jenkins as a deck hand.

"CRIMES OF THE TONGUE"

Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits spoke on "Crimes of the Tongue," at the regular services held last night at the Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street. The rabbi denounced gossip in all its phases as unjust. He said:

"Let us beware of the tongue, not only that of others, but of our own. For life and death are on the tip of the tongue. If once you slander, you can not recall it, the slander is published and exists for all times and in consequence thereof, maybe a curse for the slandered and it surely is for the slanderer. Let thy tongue send forth that which is true and only that. Guard well the tongue and let this wonderful instrument be used for proud and noble purposes, and never employ it for evil and ignoble subjects."

MILLER HAS BILL TO REGULATE FISHERIES

Will Meet Objection of Michigan Men to Former Measures.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, May 24.—In an effort to secure legislation for the protection of the fisheries on the Great Lakes, Representative Miller is preparing a bill which will carry into effect the provisions of the Root-Bryce treaty of 1908 for the control of fisheries in all boundary waters from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans.

Efforts were made in 1908 and again in 1910 to secure this legislation, but it was defeated because of the objection of the fishermen of Michigan and Washington state. The Michigan fishermen objected to the legislation because the size of the mesh for the smaller fish—fixed at four inches—would have permitted herring to escape. Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan reported the bill with a provision that it should not apply to the Great Lakes or Puget Sound, and it failed of action.

Canada May Revoke Action.

Canada accepted the treaty and put its provisions into effect, but information has reached Mr. Miller that the Canadian government is ready to revoke its action and restore the old conditions.

Mr. Miller has also been informed by the Duluth Commercial club and the fishermen of Duluth and other cities on Lake Superior that whitefish and other fish native to the lakes are in danger of extermination, and some restrictive measure must be adopted in order to preserve the fish and to restore the fisheries to their former importance.

The bill which Mr. Miller will introduce will meet the objection of the Michigan fishing interests by reducing the size of the mesh of nets used for catching the smaller fish from four inches to two and one-half or two and one-quarter inches.

TWENTY-FIVE YOUNG PEOPLE WILL GRADUATE IN JUNE FROM INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL OF WEST DULUTH

(1) Hildur Becks (2) Mabel Melin, (3) Mina McVeigh, (4) Esther Johnson, (5) Esther Giliuson, (6) Grace Buckbee, (7) Earl Brooks, (8) Harold Spindler, (9) Erland Larson, (10) Ellen Engberg, (11) George Doyle, (12) Eleda Frank, (13) Annette Peffer, (14) Charles Pollock, (15) Esther Fieldman, (16) Inez Anderson, (17) Hamilton Morgan, (18) Anna Swenson, (19) Lillian Frank, (20) Minnie Blakney, (21) Harold Rennell, (22) Mamie Davidson, (23) Alma Mattson, (24) Florence Brunnell, (25) Francis Vlahavich.

The Duluth Industrial high school will graduate twenty-five students this year. The class consists of eighteen girls and seven boys.

A remarkable record has been made by Miss Hildur Becks. She entered the high school three years ago as a freshman and graduates this year as one of the six young women who are the class honor students. The other five honor students are Misses Grace Buckbee, Mabel Melin, Esther Johnson, Esther Gilluson and Mina McVeigh.

The commencement exercises will be held at the Industrial high school on Thursday evening, June 12. A program for the affair is now being prepared. Principal S. A. Foster is giving the graduates the privilege of selecting their topics for the speeches to be given that night which will be later subject to his approval. It is expected to have these subjects ready to be announced next week.

The graduating class is the first in the history of the school which will have successfully published an annual book for the school. Under the direction of Earl Brooks, as editor-in-chief, the "Oracle" will be off the press before the end of this week.

The "Oracle" is replete with incidents connected with the school life. Cartoons penned by the school artists feature many parts of it. It is also well supplied with pictures incidental to the school life, as well as those of the members of the senior class. A department is devoted to each of the four classes.

The senior class play will be given on Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 9 and 10. Every member of the class will take part in the play.

WHEN BOOZE AND STATESMANSHIP WENT HAND IN HAND

Kansas City Star: There's talk in the papers these days about the likelihood of White House dinners being dry for the next four years, I see, William. No wine for Woodrow Wilson, so they say. Well, may be it's a good thing. Indeed, I guess it is. But things must certainly have changed in Washington since the old swashbuckling days when your great grandfather was a congressman and I was growing up.

In those days it was considered perfectly all right for a statesman to go to bed drunk half the evenings in the week. Of course, he didn't do much drinking until after dinner, when the day's work was done, and then—why, if he wanted to take more than he needed, nobody thought much less of him on that account. It was just a matter of taste.

Everybody Did It.

And as for drinking—why, to quote that song you're threatening to whistle me into my grave with, Will—why, "everybody was doing it." You never went to any sort of a social function without there being some sort of alcohol on tap.

There was always punch at a dance—good, strong punch, too, it was—and the older men generally found it more attractive than the dance floor. And dinners! Why, a dinner wasn't a dinner without plenty to drink.

Those were the days, William, when fine Madeira wine was in the cellar of every gentleman in Washington. At the foreign embassies, I used to hear father tell, they served champagne, but he always maintained Madeira was as good a drink as a gentleman needed.

It sounds kind of queer to you, I reckon, seeing that you were born in Kansas; but nobody in Washington thought anything of it. The biggest statesmen in Washington were in their cups tolerably frequently. There was old Daniel Webster—they tell drinking stories about him today in Washington, and the number of bars along Pennsylvania avenue that claim they were the places where Webster took a drink while on the way to the capitol—well, if he'd visited them all, he certainly would have reached the capitol pretty limp, if at all. Now, of course Webster wasn't a drunkard, though he probably took on more than was good for him at times. But it shows how differently Americans felt about the whole business of drinking in those days.

They used to tell a story of Webster's being called on to make a speech after a dinner where the cup had been flowing with unusual frequency. A friend acted as prompter, for the great statesman was a trifle muddled. Well, Webster got up.

"Tariff," whispered the prompter.

Generous Mr. Webster.

"The tariff, gentlemen," said Webster, "is a subject requiring the profound attention of the statesmen. American industry, gentlemen, must be——" here he nodded a little.

"National debt," hissed the prompter.

Says Webster:

"And, gentlemen, there's the national debt—it should be paid."

Here he was interrupted by loud cheers, for the rest of the crowd was feeling pretty convivial. The cheers sort of roused the great New Englander. Drawing himself up with owlish solemnity he declared:

"Yes, gentlemen, it should be paid, and I'll be hanged if it shan't be"—reaching in his coat and pulling out his pocketbook—"I'll pay it myself. How much is it?"

This to a man sitting next him, and all with a majestic gravity that had the whole crowd roaring with delight. It made it all the funnier because poor Webster was always in debt himself, and his friends frequently had to raise money for him.

It was a senator from Rhode Island who said of Henry Clay:

"If you knew him as well as I do, you would credit any remark he may make before 10 o'clock at night—after that, owing to the strength of his night caps, there may be doubt."

At an Ole Bull Concert.

It was about this time that Ole Bull, the famous violinist, gave a concert in Washington. Society was there in full feathers; father took me, I remember. He was a wonder, Will, that Ole Bull, I tell you. Well, sir, in the middle of one of his most beautiful, soft, exquisite strains, a man got up in the back of the house—it was Gen. Felix Grundy McConnell, a representative from Alabama, and he yelled:

"None of your hifalutin', but give us Hail Columbia, and bear hard on the treble."

"Throw him out!" people shouted all over the house, and so they did, but the policemen had their hands full, for McConnell was a husky chap, and full of spirituous encouragement that would have made him tackle a mountain lion. Nice performance, wasn't it?

They had big times at the White House during President Tyler's term. He may not have been much of a statesman, but certainly he was a good host. Tyler was a Virginia, you know, and he had the old fashioned Southern notion of hospitality; he never let a guest go away without a drink. In the family dining room there was a well stocked sideboard doing duty all the time. Every stranger who came to the White House and was introduced to the president was urged to come out and visit that sideboard. In addition to wines and whiskies, there was always a bowl of punch there in winter time and in summer time a bowl of mint juleps. Tyler spent a good part of his salary keeping up the hospitality of the Cavallers.

They say he was "joshing" John A. Wise one day about the funny little one-horse shay that Wise used to drive about Washington. "A candle box on wheels" the president called it. Wise retorted pleasantly by pointing out that the carriage in which the president had been riding for several months was second hand, and had been purchased at a sale of the effects of Mr. Paulding, secretary of the navy under Van Buren.

"And what's more," said Mr. Wise, "the Paulding coat of arms is still on the door panel."

"Well, well," said the president, laughing, "I'll have it painted over."

The darky waiters at the state dinners at the White House used to wear second-hand liveries that had been picked up at a sale at one of the foreign embassies. But the president certainly set out good liquor; even his enemies had to grant that.

And now, they say, the White House will be dry. It won't seem much like the old days, but probably it's better so, even if it won't be as picturesque.

THE MINUET— THE DANCE OF KINGS

Margaret Hubbard Ayer in the New York Journal: The minuet is the most ceremonious dance in existence. It is the dance of kings and courtiers, of great women and great men, who for various reasons could not, and would not, be anything but exquisitely dignified. It was invented by an obscure dancing master in Poitiers, some time in the early part of the Seventeenth century, and the fashionable world of Paris, including the great dancing academy there, looked upon it with extreme condescension, and even with scorn.

But despite everything that the academy could say against it the minuet pleased the great lords and ladies of the time, and composers saw in the graceful and varying steps possibilities for new forms of music. Lully, the composer, wrote the first minuet dance, which we still hear occasionally, and Louis XIV of France and Louis the Great danced it. Of course, from that day the minuet was made, and everyone who was anyone at all went at once and was taught the new dance, just as they are learning the glides and trots today.

When France Was At Its Zenith.

France was at its zenith at that time. The king's armies were victorious everywhere in the field. It was the golden age of art and literature. Racine and Cornelle were writing their great tragedies. Moliere presented his own immortal comedies at the court theater at Versailles.

But these great men, and all other artists and musicians, were governed by a code of rigid forms by which they must write, compose or paint. From the architect who built the palaces to the man who made the king's clothes every one was ruled by certain fixed laws of convention and etiquette from which they could not escape.

Romantic chivalry of the Middle Ages had disappeared and a formal code of etiquette had taken its place. Men and women considered manners of the utmost importance; they cultivated physical grace within certain very circumscribed limits, and the minuet gave them the chance to show off these graces to the very best of advantage.

Every dance is typical of the age in which it is invented. The minuet is ceremonious, correct, courtly, splendid and formal, like the reign of Louis XIV.

Every motion is prescribed by custom, etiquette and convention. It is dignified and royal.

There is not a breath of freedom or a natural movement. It is laid down by custom and rule.

The minuet flourished as long as the kings did, and it was swept away with them in the French revolution.

Is too Sedate for Today.

Since the great revival of dancing the minuet has been performed considerably, especially at great entertainments or for charity. It is not a dance that inspires young people of today as the one-step does and it will never be popular again in its old and complicated forms.

It took three months of hard study to learn the great minuet of the court, for it was a very slow dance and required great sense of rhythm, perfection of balance and expert management on the part of the lady of a long court train. A special turn with a dignified and very circumspect kick at the end got the train into place.

The women were full court costume, powdered wig, very tight stays and extremely high heels. Naturally, it was difficult to maintain their balance, and as every movement was watched and criticized, you may be sure the belles of those days were careful not to give their rival beauties any reason to condemn their dancing.

In a book by the royal dancing master of the time, twenty-five pages are devoted alone to the first curtsy which opens the dance, for every little movement had, indeed, a meaning all its own in the days of Louis of France.

Gave an Opportunity for Chatter.

The gallant courtier, while leading the fair lady through the mazes of the dance, was expected to enchant her with the wittiest and cleverest talk. The dance, which is really a stately walk, interspersed with pretty groupings of the partners and deep curtsies, was calculated never to put anyone out of breath as our rough modern dances do. You cannot think of the great king puffing around. He had to be considered in every way, and his dignity was the dignity of the nation and had to be preserved.

"BIGGEST AND BEST" FOURTH

Duluth Norwegians Planning Elaborate Celebration for Independence Day.

Male Chorus of Nearly 250 Voices Will Be Heard.

Norwegian American citizens of Duluth promise to give Duluthians this year the "biggest and best" Fourth of July celebration they ever witnessed.

The celebration is being planned under the auspices of the local "Mindegave" society which has pledged to raise $10,000 in St. Louis county as its share towards the $1,000,000 gift to be made by Norwegians of America to their fatherland when Norway celebrates its 100th anniversary of free rule.

Nothing is to be spared in making the national holiday celebration, July 4, a success. There will be speeches by men of nation-wide prominence, a parade that will pass through Duluth's principal streets, and male chorus singing such as Duluth has never heard before.

The festivities will commence with a monster parade at 1 o'clock. With its starting point at the Armory, it will march west on First street to Mesaba avenue, then down to Superior street, and east on Superior street to London road, then on London road to the Curling rink. The parade will be made up of militia companies, the two divisions of the naval militia, veterans of the two wars, in automobiles, as well as city officials and the fife and drum corps. The Duluth Automobile club will be asked for from fifty to seventy-five autos for this purpose.

If it is possible to make the necessary arrangements, a feature of the parade will be several hundred school children who will represent a "living flag." This feature has proven a big success in other cities and co-operation with some of the local school teachers will, it is believed, bring about this object.

The speaking and musical part of the day's program will take place at the Curling rink. President Vincent of the state university will give the principal patriotic oration in English. Prof. Julius Olson of the Wisconsin university, one of the most noted Norwegian orators in America, will give a similar address in Norwegian. The program will also include musical numbers by a chorus of 200 to 250 voices made up of all the singing societies of Duluth. The program at the Curling rink is scheduled to commence at 2:30 o'clock.

The fireworks display will take place after 9 o'clock. It is planned to have this take place at the ski grounds but as yet this has not been definitely decided upon.

The general committee is receiving asistance in its work from every Norwegian organization in the city. The officers of the Mindegave society which is in charge of the celebration are Dr. H. Hovde, president; John J. Moe, vice president, and L. A. Simonson, secretary.

The personnel of the general committe in charge is as follows: Arrangements, L. A. Simonson, chairman; P. A. Nelson, Peter Fosness and Peter Severson of Proctor; publicity, John C. Wesenberg; sports and games, A. O. Anderson; finance, Odin Halden; decorations, John J. Moe; tickets, George Thrana. The personnel of the latter five committees will be selected by the chairman.

ELECTION CASE IS BEING HEARD

May Go to Trial on Its Merits Next Week.

The mayoralty election contest, which was to have come up before Judge Cant in district court this morning, was postponed until this afternoon. The proceeding today is on a motion of Walter F. Dacey, attorney for W. E. McEwen, for permission to file an amended complaint, setting forth more in detail the general allegations of the original complaint.

The report of the recounting inspectors will also be submitted to the court today. It will deal only with the undisputed ballots. In addition, the entire vote of three precincts has been contested and 220 ballots, disputed in the court of the recount, will be submitted.

An effort will be made to bring the contest on its merits early next week.

The contest of Bert Farrell against Commissioners Hicken and Murchison was not set for trial today, but will probably come before the court at the special term next Saturday.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO MEET NEXT MONDAY.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the Northwestern district of the Royal Neighbors will be held here Monday. Several of the officers of the state organization, including Mesdames Enright, Childs and Robinson of Minneapolis, will be present.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Complaints by numerous citizens against St. Paul ice dealers, alleging an illegal combination exists to destroy competition, will be presented to the grand jury next Monday afternoon.

Admits Mill City Theft.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—Charles L. Barnes, who says he is a son of the late C. R. Barnes, a former professor of botany at the Chicago university, pleaded guilty in district court late Friday to a charge of grand larceny. He was accused of stealing a diamond ring from the home of Mrs. F. R. Lussier of Minneapolis. He will be sentenced today.

HYPNOTIZED IN COURT.

Family Doctor: In a recent trial at Prague a man was charged with forging entries in a baptismal register. In pleading not guilty he stated that if he committed the forgery it was done in a trance and under the suggestion of a certain hypnotist, whose name he had been forbidden to disclose. His family physician declared that the accused was a neurotic, easily hypnotized, and to prove his assertion, began to read, despite the judges' protest, a formula beginning "Deus Aetersus," from a French book on magic, which the doctor had discovered the unknown hypnotist used for the accused. To the amazement and horror of the court the prisoner immediately fell into a hypnotic trance, with his arms stiff and outstretched. Lawyers present thrust needles into his flesh and tried to move his arms to see if he were shamming, but without producing any reaction. The prisoner awoke only when the doctor breathed upon him, uttering another formula. The trial was adjourned to get the opinion of medical experts.

UNIVERSAL CITY, Cal., the only municipality in the world inhabited exclusively by moving picture actors and actresses, soon to be incorporated with a mayor, board of aldermen and a police and fire department, is ravaged by a suffrage movement which has sprung up almost overnight.

Christened little more than three months ago, Universal City is now permanently established on the map of southern California with a total population of 1,345. Every one of the thousand and more residents is actively identified with the making of moving pictures.

Announcement recently that an election will be held on May 20 precipitated the suffrage flurry which has assumed proportions so alarming that the voters are anxiously urging the appointment of a temporary police department before the official election is held.

Secret Meeting Reveals Political Plot.

The trouble started at the conclusion of a recent rehearsal for a big three reel feature film, in which every actress in Universal City was to appear. No previous announcement had been made by the men leaders in the movement to incorporate Universal City that the election of city officials was contemplated or even that a state charter would be sought. The effect of a little speech made by Robert Leonard of Rex company fame, therefore, had doubly surprising results.

"There will be a meeting in studio No. 1 at once," said Leonard after Director Otis Turner had dismissed the performers. "We want as many men as possible to be there."

Margarita Fischer, who plays leads with Mr. Leonard, and Ethel Grandon, star of the 101 Bison company, overheard the announcement of the meeting. Feminine curiosity prompted an investigation, even at the risk of losing their positions at supper, so Miss Fischer and Miss Grandon remained at a discreet distance while the men filed away, in groups of two or three, to studio No. 1.

Choosing an opportune moment, the two girls quietly secreted themselves behind a mass of "props" and listened.

"Let these men run us and Universal City too? Never!" sputtered the now angered Miss Fischer as she hurried Miss Grandon away from the studio at the conclusion of the men's meeting. "Women can vote up in Los Angeles, and if there is any voting to be done at Universal City we are going to do as much of it as anybody. Maybe more!" And with this ultimatum the young ladies set out on visits to the various cottages. They talked propaganda and roused the women to action. Many suppers were served either cold or burned in Universal City that night. But the women were awakening.

Women Hold Indignation Meeting.

Miss Grandon even extended her visit to the wigwams of the ninety-one Indian squaws who cook hominy and Indian pudding for the 150 braves working with them in pictures at Universal City. The sister squaws were interested in the movement and agreed to be on hand at the mass meeting that night.

The meeting was held at studio No. 7, and an overwhelming majority of the four hundred and seventy-one women voters were present. It was a sort of indignation meeting. At least every woman present was indignant at the thought that she was to be left out of city politics.

Lois Weber, the leading woman of the Rex company, voiced the sentiment of the meeting in her maiden suffrage speech:

"We have been patient long enough. We live in California and have the right to vote, and we're going to exercise it. We are four hundred and seventy-one strong, against one hundred and fifty Indians, seventy-five cowboys, three hundred cavalry and infantry soldiers, twenty-two carpenters, fifteen scene painters, two hundred actors, one hundred laborers and twelve men cooks. That's eight hundred and seventy-four in the enemy's camp—almost twice as many votes as we have.

"Now, the only way for us to win is for each woman to bring at least one vote besides her own. That will give us a big majority. Since most of us are married and can only properly bring in one extra vote, we will count on the old and young maids for three or four votes apiece."

"Heap good talk!" cried an old Indian squaw sitting well down front. "I bring-um three."

Thereupon the meeting was adjourned and the audience, with a swish of skirts, began by nominating a slate of officers. It is the first municipal ticket in history on which every candidate is a woman.

Charges of Graft Loudly Denied.

Having been nominated for mayor, Lois Weber took an even more active interest in the campaign. She delivered the ultimatum that the suffrage ticket must win by fair means or foul.

Two charges of graft have been made unofficially against Democratic and Progressive nominees by members of the suffrage party. It is charged that Democratic candidates several weeks ago opened negotiations with officials of a traction company operating a suburban line between Los Angeles and Universal City and who are desirous of obtaining a franchise to lay tracks through the main streets of the new municipality to bring about the necessary influence in event they were given sufficient financial support during the present campaign. A similar charge has been made against certain leaders in the Progressive faction, who, according to the women office seekers, have held long conferences recently with several contractors from Los Angeles who are seeking the acceptance of their bids to build artesian wells in Universal City and to construct new cottages and lay out the streets.

Both the Progressive and Democratic candidates who have been labeled by the suffrage opponents as being involved in the pre-election conspiracies have placarded every telephone pole and board fence in the city with emphatic denials of the verbal allegations made against them.

"The women want the vote," reads one glaring three color poster pasted on a conspicuous fence. "The Democrats won out in November. We are going to win on May 20. The suffragettes have instituted stories of graft as a part of their campaign against us. We deny every such allegation and will upon request prove the utter falsity of each misleading assertion."

A group of Socialists, including two anarchists and an anti-suffragist, tried to organize a party following, but the resourceful suffragists broke up their meeting with a few cat calls and threats to spoil any films in which the Socialist members worked unless they fell in line and listened to reason.

Solicit Advice From Mrs. Belmont.

One of the first steps the suffragettes of Universal City took was to cable to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont at the Strand, in London, asking her for advice on how to get the suffrage vote. They wired Miss Inez Milholland at the Vanderbilt hotel in New York for helpful suggestions.

Pending replies to these messages, the Universal City suffragettes have taken things into their own hands and acted where action was necessary.

Lois Weber, suffrage candidate for mayor, has threatened to give Phillips Smalley, her husband and leading man in Rex company No. 1, weak support in an important picture in which they are playing unless he will agree to vote the women's ticket.

All of the residents of this suffrage torn municipality, including the tribe of Indians, the regiment of soldiers and the cowboys, are in the employ of the Universal Film Manufacturing company of New York. Officials of the company have determined to let the actors and actresses fight their own battles and settle their various political differences without any interference.

"We don't even dare betray our party inclinations," declared Mr. Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Manufacturing company. "If we did there would be an awful cry of 'partiality' from our west coast organization. Actors and actresses are temperamental, even under ordinary circumstances, and difficult to manage, but when they are boiling with political wrath and party alliances it is policy for us to sit back and let them fight their own battles."

At all of the eight studios there are daily arguments between the candidates of the three parties. One picture has been spoiled by the leading lady of the Nestor company, who forgot her business and launched forth into a heated suffrage argument with her leading man while the frantic director was trying to film a ball room scene.

Squaws Grow Militant — Threaten Braves.

The women are threatening to resort to methods of sabotage as practiced in London and Paris by militant politicals. They promise to spoil thousands of feet of film unless the men will treat their movement with more dignity and agree to give them their support.

One squaw with a particularly stubborn spouse who rides bucking broncos in some of the best 101 Bison company pictures has sworn that she will put cockleburs under her husband's horse blanket and make his calico pony buck in deadly earnest in the next picture if his chiefship doesn't agree to "vote right."

The directors of the various companies are all sitting on the fence, afraid to get down on either side for fear of stepping on the tender toes of their temperamental actors and actresses. They don't dare express an opinion or espouse any of the three causes for fear some earnest politician will spoil a picture.

The men, having visions of being haled to court by a lady police, examined before a lady judge, having their pay enevelopes taxed by a lady assessor and tapped by a lady collector, are in open revolt. Their chief argument is that women graft enough privately from their husbands and that they shouldn't be allowed to get into the business of public graft.

The men's camp is divided between the two parties. They are debating whether to throw up their hands right now, in the fear that there is going to be trouble if the women don't have their way.

Director Breaks Up Democratic Gathering.

The suffragettes are still laughing over the failure of a recent Democratic mass meeting. Phillips Smalley organized the meeting to "get back" at his leading lady, Lois Weber, who had made many political threats against him. Right in the midst of an eloquent speech Smalley was pulled off the stump by the director of his company and taken in an auto six miles into the country to appear in a forest scene in an unfinished picture. His mouth was still open in a final denunciation of the women's candidate when he disappeared into the tonneau of the big auto, leaving his audience dumfounded.

Seizing the opportunity, Margarita Fischer mounted the vacated stump and made a rampant, redhot suffrage speech until her shamefaced audience dwindled.

Women Score First Real Campaign Victory.

At night, when all the actors are free, they turn out into the streets and drift from corner to corner, listening to rival speakers. The embryo city is ablaze with torchlights, and free food and free speech are to be had in the two public halls.

The women have already scored one victory by hiring the famous Universal Round-up Cowboy band to play at their meetings and drown out the voices of male political agitators in the streets.

has pledged herself to swing the Indian vote. She has conducted two successful powwows among her people, at which the peace pipe wasn't passed.

The forthcoming election is exceedingly important because a street railway company has been making overtures for a franchise to lay its tracks through the city, and artesian well bids are to be placed shortly. Other big movements are afoot. A bank, hotels and a race track have been planned. The women are all in favor of a cooperative store and kitchen idea which has been talked about, but most of the men are silent on the subject for fear of getting no meals at all. The suffrage question has already penetrated to the big kitchen where over a thousand moving picture people take dinner and supper together daily. Men do the cooking in this kitchen, but women serve the meals, so they have the ruling hand after all. Suffrage sympathizers are getting big helpings nowadays, while many Progressives and Democrats are going hungry, even after passing up their plates for a third and fourth scanty helping.

An interesting question of naturalization arises because two hundred and forty-one of the voters are Indians. As yet many cases of Indian voters are in question. There is also some talk about the fact that three hundred of the inhabitants are discharged United States soldiers, and the right of some of these men to vote is being questioned.

There is a great deal of betting on the outcome. Groups of actors and actresses get into heated arguments before and after work. One freak bet has been registered between a motherly suffragette and a cowboy. In the event that the women's ticket loses the suffragette has agreed to put in two days at ditch digging on the new artesian well works.

If the suffragettes win, however, the cowboy has agreed to do a week's washing for the winner.

It is rumored that Chief Black Bear has bet his suffragette wife against a fifty dollar pony on the Democrats. If the Democrats win he gets a good horse; if they lose he gets rid of a suffragette wife. When last seen Chief Black Bear had a smug smile of satisfaction on his bronze face. He looked as though he were "heap satisfied" over having a pretty sure thing, sort of a "heads I win, tails you lose" proposition.

It will be interesting to follow this first attempt of women to gain entire control of a municipality the size of Universal City. If it succeeds and the women really get into the coveted offices, then it will be just twice as interesting to see how they pan out. Anyway it's an unusual situation, and in this case if the best man wins it will probably be a woman.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN (Camera Man to Mayor and Councilmen)—"Come on, you fellows; forget the politics; we've got to have your city hall for a scene."

Black Pete to Indian Braves: "We'd better be goin' afore we lose our scalps. That fellow argued with her."

COLLECTING CARTOONS LATEST FAD

By H. H. WINDSOR.

Can you imagine 30,000 cartoons of Uncle Sam and no two alike?

What other character who has ever figured in the world's history, real or mythical, has ever been so honored? Thirty thousand pictures of the same person, all with an individuality a child recognizes in an instant, and yet each having its own different expression drawn to fit the occasion of its use or some important event in our history. That 30,000 blades of grass should each differ from another is far less wonderful.

"If every manuscript and printed page of American history of the past twenty years were obliterated from the earth, and my collection of Uncle Sam cartoons alone remained, the history of the United States for that period could be quickly and accurately written." These were the words of a Chicago society woman, Mrs. D. Harry Hammer, who twenty years ago conceived the idea of making a collection of cartoons illustrating various subjects. These were cut from the few weekly papers and an occasional daily, which at that time published cartoons. At first the supply was small and infrequent, but gradually it expanded and improved until now the cartoon is the one universal language, telling its unmistakable story to all who have eyes to see, of whatever nation or land.

In enumerating the versatile impersonations of Uncle Sam, Mrs. Hammer, writing in Cartoons Magazine says:

"Manipulated by the hand of a clever cartoonist, Uncle Sam in his time plays many parts. Uncle Sam as a soldier and sailor are hackneyed conceits, but less common is Uncle Sam as a drum major, as a fussy old hen who has hatched ducks and is distracted by the unexpected antics of her offspring, as a rooster proclaiming his victories, as Oberon in 'A Midsummer Night's Dream,' as a bull dog guarding his treasures, as a donkey, as a chessman, as an engineer, as Prome theus, as a joyous sea wave, as a comet, as a jumping jack, as Rip Van Winkle, a magician, a bridegroom, a ballot box, as a Laocoon, as a doge, a milkman, a windmill, a cook, a nurse, and a peacock, as Foxy Grandpa, Davy Crockett, Diogenes, as a star, a bogey man, a cripple, as a dollar mark, and, oh, acme of invention, as a sea serpent, and later than any of these, as a triumphal arch."

FINDS HUSBAND DEAD ON CLAIM.

Moosejaw, Sask., May 24.—R. S. Banson, formerly of Kansas City, who recently located a homestead at Brooks, in this province, lost his life by the explosion of a gasoline stove, according to a dispatch received here. Mrs. Benson, who was on her way from Kansas City to join her husband, did not know of the accident until her arrival at the Banson farm.

PATRIARCH OF ADVENTISTS DIES.

Washington, May 24.—Yesterday's session of the Seventh Day Adventists World's conference at Takoma Park came to an abrupt end upon the announcement of the death of Elder D. A. Gwaln of Loma Linda, Cal., one of the patriarchs of the denomination and an ex-president of the conference. Elder Gwaln died suddenly of heart failure at a local sanitarium, where he had gone upon his arrival here. The conference adjourned as a mark of respect, and all business was laid aside until Sunday morning.

Elder Gwaln was born near Mount Vernon, Ohio, in 1844. He served through the Civil war, becoming a colonel in the Federal army.

BAN PICTURES OF "WAR WITH JAPAN."

Seattle, Wash., May 24.—A moving picture drama illustrating "the war of 1920 between Japan and the United States" and introducing Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson as participants, which had been extensively advertised at one of the principal theaters here, was forbidden to be shown after the local board of censors had seen the film. It is said to have represented the Japanese in an unfavorable light, and the city officials took the view that it would stir up race feeling.

DROWNS SON, LOCKS DOORS, SETS FIRE.

Toledo, Ohio, May 24.—Mrs. Jerome Harris drowned her 4-month-old son in a cistern at her residence, then saturated the bedding with gasoline, locked all the doors and set fire to the house. Mrs. Harris and three other children were within. Neighbors broke in and extinguished the fire. The woman, 29 years old, was discharged a month ago from a hospital for the insane.

CHANGES NAME; GETS $2,000,000.

Seattle, Wash., May 24.—The name of Henry Barclay Perry, the 5-year-old adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Perry of Seattle, has been changed by a decree of Superior Judge Walter J. French to Henry Francis Shoemaker, son of Henry W. Shoemaker of Altoona, Pa., and grandson and namesake of Henry Francis Shoemaker, retired banker of New York, and was made the promised heir to $2,000,000 from his paternal grandfather, who is reported to be on his deathbed.

Under the court's decision the child retains his home with his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Barclay Shoemaker Perry, wife of Dr. Perry and former wife of Henry W. Shoemaker.

Judge French said it was owing to the flagrant error in the adoption proceedings when Henry W. Shoemaker was not notified of the hearing, that the decree of adoption was set aside.

"It is best for the child," said Judge French, "that he retain his present home with Dr. and Mrs. Perry, where he is supplied with all that a boy should need."

The petition of the father for annulment of the adoption decree contained a clause that he was unmarried and not likely to marry again, and that the boy was the only scion of his stock to perpetuate his name. During the hearing yesterday it was brought out that Mr. Shoemaker had married a young woman of Altoona on May 10 and was now in Europe on his honeymoon.

SAYS JUROR SNORED.

Convicted Swindler Therefore Demands New Trial of Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—"A loud and raucous snore" formed the basis for a motion for a new trial filed in behalf of Lee Rial, alleged head of a "national bunco syndicate," who was convicted last week of having swindled G. P. Friesz, an Illinois farmer, out of $5,000 through a faked horse race. The defendant asserted he had not been given a fair trial because a juror, George H. Peck, a millionaire realty operator of San Pedro, had fallen asleep and snored repeatedly during the progress of the case, despite apparent effort to keep awake by chewing gum and fanning himself.

It was asserted that on a single day Peck had fallen asleep as many as thirteen times.

Judge Finlayson continued the case until Monday to give the prosecution an opportunity to respond to the motion of the defense.

Indianapolis Candidates.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—The official canvass of the vote cast in Wednesday's primary in this city did not alter the winners in the mayoralty contest. The three candidates for mayor and their votes are:

The total vote cast for the various candidates for mayor was 33,304.

DULUTH OF THE FUTURE

City Should Be Planned Now, Says Francis W. Sullivan.

Other Cities Spending Millions in Correcting Early Mistakes.

That Duluth must soon adopt a definite plan of city building and build with that plan constantly in mind, was the note sounded by Francis W. Sullivan, chairman of the city planning sub-committee of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, in his report last evening.

The city planning committee is a new one, and has just begun its work. Its scope and aims were set forth last evening by Mr. Sullivan in a most impressive way.

"In Duluth we have not yet made a start on any definite plan," he said. "The committee has not yet any definite plan. We must grow. We may become tiresome to you before we get through, but the men on that committee are not the kind of men who will get tired. We must dream of the Duluth that is to be, and then get our feet on the earth and try to work out that dream in a cold-blooded manner.

"You wouldn't start to build a chicken coop without first having a plan, but here we are building a city without one.

"Take Washington as an example. Most of you are familiar with the beautiful vistas of the national capital, with its parks and breathing places and broad avenues. That city was built on a plan. There was a definite plan before a spadeful of earth was turned.

"Boston, on the other hand, 'just grew,' like Topsy. That city has spent $40,000,000 widening its streets, and with no appreciable effect on traffic. Chicago is spending $100,000,000 widening and extending streets and improving its parks. These cities are beginning to see the need of city planning, and Duluth should begin to see the need of it before we have to spend these immense sums to correct our mistakes.

"We have many, many advantages over other cities here in Duluth, and some disadvantages. The advantages have been dwelt upon, and you are all familiar with them. They will take care of themselves. We must take up the disadvantages. Every man, woman and child in Duluth should be a member of this committee on city planning, in spirit at least, and should help remove these disadvantages. The men we have in Duluth are men of the type who are not afraid of disadvantages. They are men of energy and ambition, or they wouldn't be in Duluth. They have energy to put into something besides operating a porch rocking chair. We must build here not only the City Wonderful, but the City Practical and the City Beautiful."

BRIBERY LAID TO FORMER ALDERMAN.

Denver, Colo., May 24.—Former Alderman James O'Driscoll has been indicted by the grand jury in the district court on a charge of attempted bribery. It is alleged that O'Driscoll offered a bribe to A. A. Blakely, a member of the fire and police board. Thirty indictments were returned against ten defendants.

KANE LETS UP ON BANK EXAMINERS.

Washington, May 24.—Thomas P. Kane, acting comptroller of the currency, has abandoned compulsory annual meetings of national banks examiners at their own expense. Mr. Kane took the ground that it was a hardship to force examiners to go to such meetings, in many cases involving an outlay of several hundred dollars with no compensation.

Former Comptroller Murray ordered national bank examiners to meet in their respective districts annually and read prepared essays on banking conditions. This, it is said, was the cause of many protests, and in the case of one bank examiner, who was compelled to make a long journey at his own expense from a remote district, resulted in his resignation.

POPULATION WILL DOUBLE

Panama Canal Will Make Coast Boom, Says Paul Johnson.

"The population of the Pacific coast will double in the next five years as a result of the completion of the Panama canal," is the prediction of Paul Johnson of Klamath Falls, Or., formerly of Cloquet.

Mr. Johnson was in Duluth yesterday on a brief business trip, leaving last night for the Twin Cities.

"Just think for a moment what the canal will mean in immigration alone," continued Mr. Johnson. "The steamship companies will carry immigrants direct to San Francisco for $7 a head more than they are now charging to take them to New York. Every immigrant that comes to this country wants to go West, but few of them are able to raise the necessary railroad fare to take them across the continent. Out West we have forty acres for every man in the country. In the East they have about forty men to the acre. That is why the Pacific coast country is just beginning to grow.

Klamath Falls, my home, is going to be one of the great cities of the West. If Spokane has any reason for having 100,000 people, we have reason for having 300,000. We are the only outlet for 31,000,000,000 feet of standing timber to begin with. Everybody knows how scarce timber is becoming in this country, and we are the outlet for the greatest timber region left and also the greatest timber region that ever existed in this country. We have 400,000 horse power in the city limits, of which only enough is developed at present to light our city and run some planing mills. We have the best climate in the world, and agricultural land that cannot be beaten. Klamath Falls has grown from 1,000 to 7,500 in four years, and that is just a beginning."

DANIELS TALKS ABOUT THE NAVY

Says It Should Never Be Strong Enough for a Menace.

Washington, May 24.—In a vigorous defense of the purposes of the American navy, at a "North State dinner" given here last night in his honor, Secretary Josephus Daniels declared that "the only menace to our peace today is due to the buying of colonies in the East, the people of which did not come to us of their own free will."

The secretary declared he stood for a navy for defense, a navy for protection, but never for a navy for conquest. The only use of the navy, he said, was the same use that the public has for a policeman, and a navy should never be made strong as a menace.

The dinner was given by Frank P. Milburn of this city, a native of North Carolina. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky was toastmaster. The speakers included, in addition to Secretary Daniels, Secretaries Bryan and Redfield, Perry Belmont of New York and Representatives Webb and Small of North Carolina.

Secretary Bryan said:

"I am glad to have Mr. Daniels at the head of a department which has for its purpose protection, but which I hope never will have occasion to be made use of. I think it is all right to have some ships, some army, but I would not like to have at the head a man who is not only prepared, but burning, to test his guns on living targets."

Secretary Redfield said that in the American social strife there has been too much poverty at the bottom and too much profit at the top.

WEDDING AT BERLIN

half an hour earlier in the Great Elector's hall, a small room in the most ancient part of the castle. It was attended only by the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom.

In the meantime the guests who were to attend the religious services had assembled in the octagonal chapel at the other end of the castle. The room was richly decorated with flowers.

Among the guests were the United States ambassador, John G. A. Leishman and his wife and daughter; Joseph C. Grew, secretary of the American embassy, and his wife; Capt. Albert Niblack, American naval attache; Miss Yvette Borup of New York, who was a schoolmate of the bride at the Empress Augusta Institute, and a dozen excited schoolgirls whom the young princess insisted on inviting at the last moment in return for a personally embroidered present.

Choir of Male Voices.

A choir of men and boys was stationed in the high gallery encircling the chapel, just below the dome, where they sang hymns unaccompanied by instrumental music.

At the conclusion of the civil ceremony, the bridal procession was marshalled into line by Count August zu Eulenburg, grand marshal of the imperial court, and then proceeded the whole length of the castle through a long series of state apartments to the royal chapel. It was led by the bridal couple, the princess' train being borne by four of her girl friends.

The bride wore a worked gown of silver brocade, with a court train of the same material, embroidered with a myrtle and orange flower design and lined with ermine. The bride's veil, like her entire toilette, was of German manufacture. It was composed of a two-yard length of lace on which eighty Silesian girls had worked day and night for six weeks.

The last act in the robing of the bride was performed by the empress when she placed on her daughter's head the historic crown worn by Prussian princesses at their weddings.

Prince Ernest August of Cumberland was dressed in Prussian Hussar uniform.

After them came Emperor William with the duchess of Cumberland. Then followed in order the duke of Cumberland with the German empress, Emperor Nicholas of Russia with Queen Mary of England, King George of England with Crown Princess Cecilie, Emperor William's sons with their consorts, and fifty or more other princes and princesses of the royal blood.

Simple Lutheran Ceremony.

Dr. Ernest Dryander, the grand chaplain of the court, who had baptized Princess Victoria Luise and prepared her for her confirmation, performed the ceremony, which was the simple Lutheran rite. He then delivered the customary address of advice and admonition to the newly married couple.

As the rings were exchanged before the altar, a battery of artillery stationed outside the castle fired a royal salute.

The prince and princess, with Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria and the duke and duchess of Cumberland, returned to the White Hall of the castle, where they received the congratulations of the guests while seated beneath a canopy at small tables. The guests defiled past them, making profound bows and courtesies.

Day Began With Rain.

The wedding day of the Princess Victoria Luise, only daughter of the German emperor and empress, opened unpleasantly. The day was dark and overcast, and a penetrating drizzle made movements along the streets disagreeable.

From an early hour the streets were alive with people. Protected by rain coats and umbrellas, they watched the constant passage of brilliantly uniformed attendants on the many royal personages gathered here for the ceremony.

Bunting on Every House.

Every house was hung with bunting, and at most of the windows were bunches of evergreens. Bright-colored flowers graced porches and balconies. The many palaces and public offices had hoisted their largest flags, and when later in the morning, the wind strengthened in intensity and the downpour abated, these flew gayly in the breeze. The sky, however, remained gloomy, and many visitors from provincial towns were disconsolate, as the clouds threatened each moment to break again.

Every school throughout the empire was closed in honor of the occasion and the school children of the capital, in charge of their teachers, paraded the streets or took up their positions at advantageous points waiting patiently to see the various royal processions.

Crowds Cheered Princess.

The wedding functions themselves began rather later in the afternoon with the robing of the young bride, at which her mother, the German empress, presided.

Before she was robed for the ceremony, Princess Victoria Luise took a short drive in Berlin and was cheered vociferously by immense crowds assembled in the neighborhood of the palace.

The Perfect Baby Of The Future

A Simple Method That Has a Wonderful Influence upon The Future Infant.

Too much cannot be said for a wonderful remedy, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend.

It is more eloquent in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon all the cords, muscles, ligaments and tendons that nature calls into play; they expand without pain, without strain.

Mother's Friend must, therefore, be considered as a direct influence upon the character and disposition of the future generation. It is a conceded fact that, with nausea, pain, nervousness and dread banished, there is stored up such an abundance of healthy energy as to bring into being the highest ideals of those who fondly theorize on the rules that insure the coming of the perfect baby.

Mother's Friend can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. It is prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 239 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them for an instructive book to expectant mothers.

clock, an immigrant enters the United States. The dial also totals the number of immigrants who have entered the country since the convention began. Last night the number was 6,592.

A chart bears a record showing this year has been the best financially in the past fifteen. When the work was organized in the missionary field of the Baptist church, six societies were formed. This was in 1814. In 1901, the income from these societies was $935,266, while last year the income was $1,819,803. The chart shows that California leads all states per capita in gifts for the convention.

Occupying a prominent place is a "cheer up" booth containing figures bringing joy to the hearts of missionary workers, especially a poster which shows the organization has gained 40 per cent in membership since its inception in 1907.

To balance the "cheer up" booth is the "chamber of horrors," the main exhibit in which is a poster showing that one of the prominent churches in the country sent an offering of only 2 cents to the foreign missionary society last year. It cost 2 cents to return a receipt.

Reports of denominational education and on the progress of Protestant denominations toward spiritual unity, were made to the convention. The report of the education committee showed that more than half of the money invested in Baptist educational institutions is expended for two colleges—University of Chicago and Vassar. It was also pointed out that the funds for the University of Chicago came largely from John D. Rockefeller.

Some Colleges Neglected.

According to the report, many of the smaller Baptist institutions are being neglected and some of them are heavily in debt.

Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin of New York, in his report of the Northern Baptist convention's commission on a New World conference on faith and order, having for its aim the "union of denominational Protestants," declared the churches were rapidly developing a new spirit of unity and faith and order, and were slowly approaching the elimination of the differences of the past."

for the floods. The road was compelled to order new equipment for the train and this has been delayed by the floods in Ohio and Indiana. The company is unwilling to start the train with old or inadequate equipment, and it will therefore be several weeks or perhaps three or four months before the running time can be definitely announced, but the train will be put in service as soon as possible.

New Freight Rates.

Another very important announcement was made by the traffic commission in its report last evening. It is almost as important from a freight standpoint as the Soo's new train is from a passenger standpoint. It was to the effect that freight rates from the territory between Eau Claire and Spooner and Duluth on the Omaha road had been equalized with those to the Twin Cities. It opens up a new territory to Duluth jobbers and merchants, and it is believed it will be reflected in similar reductions in Soo Line territory. It is another step toward reducing the territory in which the Twin Cities have been given a monopoly on trade by unjust tariffs.

Ray Hall, assistant secretary of the traffic commission, also reported on the efforts being made to induce the members of the Western Trunk line commission to improve certain traffic conditions now existing. The rate on matches to Witchita, Kan., hoisting machinery to New Orleans and adjacent territory are being contested and equalization of the rates from Chicago and St. Louis to Duluth is being sought. An effort will also be made to have a change made in the rate on cotton and woolen mill products to Mankato. The report stated that the rate on calcium carbide from Duluth to Montana points had been reduced from $1.05 to 90 cents, that there had been an 8-cent reduction per hundred pounds on hoisting machinery to Arkansas and a lower rate to the Ohio river crossings.

As far as contemplated reorganization plans are concerned the only thing the committee may decide is whether to call the national committee. Many leaders assert that a convention is not necessary to carry out contemplated reorganization plans, that the committee can enact them. The Progressive Republicans, however, insist a convention is necessary.

Will Decide Later.

After several hours' discussion the executive committee tentatively agreed to call a meeting of the national committee sixty days after the adjournment of the extra session of congress, to determine whether a naflonal convention shall be called to consider conditions on the basis of representation.

The session of the executive committee was devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the need for a national convention. Committeeman Warren of Michigan made the motion to call a meeting, and practically every member joined in the debate that followed. There were no expressions of disapproval, the only questions were those of detail.

Would Oust Barnes.

New York, May 24.—A number of leading Republicans of the state strongly favored the removal of William Barnes, Jr., as chairman of the state committee, in speeches last night at a conference and dinner attended among others, it was given out, by a majority of the members of the state committee, held at the Republican club.

Newspaper men were not admitted, but according to Herbert Parsons, "straight from the shoulder" talks were made, urging the selection of a man, as yet unnamed, to take Mr. Barnes' place. Of the speakers, said Mr. Parsons, only Assemblyman Hinman of Albany and Senator Brown of Jefferson opposed a change of leadership. Seventeen speakers urged the chairman's removal, said Mr. Parsons, including Henry L. Stimson, Representative William L. Calder of Brooklyn, John T. Hodges, Former Governor Horace White and Mr. Parsons.

Barnes Not Invited.

Mr. Barnes was not invited to the conference. He sat down stairs in the grill room with friends. "I was elected to fulfill a function, and that function is to urge and promote the Republican doctrine to the voters," he said, referring to the conference. "The trouble with these people is that they are not satisfied with that doctrine. They want to change it, but they will have to put it before the electorate to do it."

The conference agreed on urging a change in the method of representation of delegates at the national convention.

by the Saturday Lunch club of Minneapolis, the Current Topics club of St. Paul and organizations of the smaller towns of the state. Invitations were sent to all mayors of cities in the state and many of them have sent acceptances.

The conference opened at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the banquet is set for 6:30 this evening. The doors are open to the public and the public sale of tickets for the banquet have been heavy. The speakers will be Speaker Henry Rines of Mora, W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, Former Senator Stockwell of Minneapolis, C. N. Ore of St. Paul, W. O. Clure of Minneapolis, Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth, Mayor M. A. Murphy of Virginia and others.

Basis of Opposition.

The opposition to the Eberhart program is based on several charges. One is that the governor is not acting wholly in the interests of the people; another that the public service corporations want the proposed legislation; another that the cities are better able to regulate their intra-city utilities than any state body; another that there are too many commissions now; another that the principle of state regulation does not accord with the movement toward greater democracy, and so on.

William E. Lee of Long Prairie, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1912 and prospective candidate for the same honor for 1914, was on the scene early this morning.

"There is no crying demand for state control of public utilities in the country," said Mr. Lee. "I know out in Long Prairie we are able to control our own utilities and we don't want anybody breaking in. We haven't any interest in Long Prairie in the amount the people of Duluth pay for water, gas, or electric light and I don't believe that the people of Duluth have any interest in the rates in Long Prairie.

"State control of railroads is right. The Minette bill giving the state control of telephone companies was right. But railroads, express companies and telephone companies do a business over the entire state. Other public service utilities are local and they should be controlled locally.

Not Progressive.

"The public utilities commission is not a progressive movement. The principle of the progressive movement involves greater power for the people, and the legislation proposed is designed to take power out of the hands of the people. It is not a movement from the people; it comes from the public service corporations themselves. I do not believe the people want it and I do not believe the legislature wants it. I do not see how a man can vote one way in April and another way in October without stultifying himself."

Asked as to the prospects of his becoming a candidate for governor again next year, Mr. Lee was noncommittal.

"The state machine has fooled the people before and it will fool the people again as many times as the people will allow themselves to be fooled," he said. "While the people allow the state machine to fool them there's no use in any man becoming a candidate for governor. The machine will multiply candidates on him and beat him. Whether the machine is to continue that game rests with the people."

Stiles P. Jones, secretary of the Voters League of Minneapolis, but participating in the public utilities conference not in that capacity but as an individual, arrived with Mr. Lee this morning.

"Recent changes in government in the United States have all been toward greater efficiency in city government," said Mr. Jones. "Municipal government have become more efficient while state governments have stood still. Duluth is better able to handle the subject of public utilities for itself than the state is able to handle it for Duluth. The same is true of other cities.

"The legislation proposed would only add a cog to the state machine. Public utilities would be taken out of city politics and placed in state politics. I believe that there is a smaller chance of public utilities corporations exerting a corrupting influence on the modern city governments in Minnesota than on the state government."

Mr. Jones is no stranger to Duluth. Twenty-six years ago he was as he expressed it himself a "cub reporter" on The Herald when it was published at the corner of Michigan street and Lake avenue.

CONGRESSMAN NEVER SWORN GETS MILEAGE

Washington, May 24.—Speaker Clark has settled a mileage problem, one of three affecting the rights of members to their traveling allowances. He ordered a check, covering the usual members' mileage, sent to William Baltz of Millstadt, Ill., who was elected to succeed William A. Rodenberg.

Mr. Baltz came to Washington to attend the extra session, but because of the floods in Illinois, hurried back home before he was able to take the oath of office. He now is suffering from nervous prostration and may not be able to attend the extra session at all.

Not on the Rolls.

The speaker recently ruled that Representatives Baltz, Henry George of New York and Timothy D. Sullivan of New York were not to be considered on the rolls of the Sixty-third congress so far as any question of a quorum of the house was concerned. Mr. Sullivan is said to be in a sanitarium in New York and Mr. George has been in Europe for his health ever since the closing weeks of the last congress.

Neither Mr. Sullivan nor Mr. George will be entitled to his mileage allowance until he appears personally in Washington. The three cases are the only mileage problems raised so far in this congress.

CAR HITS AUTO; ONE DEAD, TWO BADLY HURT

Fatal Collision Occurs on Chicago North Side.

Chicago, May 24.—Henry Wagner, 24 years of age, was killed, and Albert Fritz, 42 years, and William Cortes, 26, were seriously injured today when an automobile in which they were riding on the North side, was struck by a trolley car. The automobile was overturned and the occupants crushed beneath it.

MAN'S ASHES CAST FROM BUILDING'S TOP

Laborer's Dying Wish Is Carried Out in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 24.—Cast from the top of a 34-story building which he had helped to erect from the time its foundation stones were laid until its completion, the ashes of Jacob Gross, a laborer, were thrown to the winds today in compliance with his dying wishes. The ashes settled upon the shoulders of passersby, who brushed them off and complained of the inadequacy of the street cleaning department.

Gross, who was notified by physicians early in the week that his death from tuberculosis was near, asked that his body be cremated and the ashes strewn from the building he helped to erect. His attorney complied with the request, and distributed $1 each to six relatives, that being all of his estate.

OPPORTUNITY

A controlling interest in a mercantile business in this city, which has been in successful operation for over ten years, can be bought on very advantageous terms, owing to ill health of one of the shareholders. For a man with $20,000, who wishes to take an active part in the management, an unusually good opportunity is offered. A larger share could possibly be obtained later, but nothing less than $20,000 would buy the active controlling interest now. F 527, Herald.

KOREAN PLOTTERS' SENTENCES STAYED

Supreme Court Finds Flaw in Proof of Conspiracy.

Seoul, Korea, May 24.—The supreme court here today nullified the decision of the appeals court, which on March 20 sentenced six prominent Koreans to varying terms of imprisonment on a charge of conspiracy against the Japanese governor-general, Count Terauchi.

The court ordered a re-examination of the case by the Tai-Ku court of appeals on the ground that the judgment of the Seoul court had not made it clear whether actual preparation had been made by the conspirators for the assassination of the governor-general. The supreme court holds that both secret plotting and preparation are necessary for conviction.

OPEN HOME FOR OLD CONFEDERATES.

Washington, May 24.—Headed by Mrs. George Dewey, wife of the admiral, women of the Southern Relief association today opened their new home for Confederate veterans. A reception to the general public was one of the features of the dedicatory exercises.

A number of women prominent in social and official circles, among them Mrs. Dewey, already have fitted out rooms in the institution. Although formally opened only today, several dependent Confederate veterans and widows of veterans already are being cared for.

Is This Man Gifted With Strange Power?

Prominent People Say He Reads Their Lives as an Open Book.

Do You Want to Know About Your Business, Marriage, Changes, Occupation, Friends, Enemies or What to Do to Achieve Success?

TEST READING FREE TO ALL DULUTH HERALD READERS WHO WRITE AT ONCE.

Attention of the mystically inclined seems to be centered at present upon the work of Mr. Clay Burton Vance, who, although laying claim to no special gift of supernatural powers, attempts to reveal the lives of people through the slender clues of hand-writing and birthdates. The undeniable accuracy of his delineations leads one to surmise that heretofore palmists, prophets, astrologers, and seers of divers beliefs have failed to apply the true principles of the science of divination.

Asked to explain the method by which he gives his delineations, Mr. Vance replied: "I have simply resurrected an ancient science and moulded it into a key to human nature."

The following letter is published as evidence of Mr. Vance's ability:

Prof. Dixon, M. A., Director Lanka Observatory, member of the "Societe Astronomique de France," member of the "Astronomische Gesellschaft," Germany, writes:

Prof. Clay Burton Vance:

Dear Sir—"I duly received your letter and Complete Life Reading. I am perfectly satisfied with your Reading; it is in nearly all the items as exact as it could possibly be. It seems strange that you should refer to my suffering from throat trouble. I have just had a bad attack and usually have it two or three times per year. I shall certainly recommend you to my friends who desire a Life Reading."

Arrangements have been made to give free test Readings to all readers of The Herald, but it is especially requested that those who wish to avail themselves of this generous offer make application at once. If you wish a delineation of your own life, if you wish a true description of your characteristics, talents and opportunities, simply send your full name, the date, month and year of your birth (state whether Mr., Mrs., or Miss), and also copy the following verse in your own handwriting:

"Your power is marvelous,
So people write.
Please read my life—
Are my prospects bright?"

Send your letter to Mr. Clay Burton Vance, Suite 542-K, Palais Royal, Paris, France. If you wish you may enclose 10 cents (stamps of your own country) to pay postage, clerical work, etc. Please note that 5 cents postage is required on letters posted to France. Do not enclose coins or silver in your letter.

"TELEPHONE TALK SUPPLY UNLIMITED"

Company Makes That Its Defense Against Charge of Monopoly.

Washington, May 24.—Telephone conversation is not a subject for monopoly within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law, according to a brief filed today in the supreme court by the United States Telephone company.

The brief was in support of a request to the court to review the decision of the Federal courts in Ohio that the company's contracts with 300 local exchanges throughout Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are in violation of the Sherman law. The contracts bind the local exchanges to give to rivals of the United States company no long-distance business to points reached by the United States company.

The United States company claims that telephone companies cannot violate the law like manufacturers or producers of articles, who may control the price of or increase or decrease the supply. Its position is that the supply of telephone conversation is unlimited and cannot be restrained.

The company further claims that if its contracts are declared void, the effect may be to destroy the business, with an investment of $5,000,000, and leave the field to the Central Union Telephone company.

SAYS SULZER ERRED.

Carmody Says Mitchell's Appointment Was Illegal.

Albany, N. Y., May 24.—According to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Carmody, Governor Sulzer exceeded his authority in appointing John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, as state labor commissioner. Although the state senate twice refused to confirm Mr. Mitchell's nomination, the governor appointed him to the position after the adjournment of the legislature. In effect the attorney general's opinion holds that he had no power to make such an appointment.

SOMETHING LIKE THAT.

Wails the New York Sun: "The Democratic party is bound to bring about lower prices—which everybody wants for what he buys and loathes for what he sells. The Underwood tariff is to lower the cost of living.

"One of the many causes of the increase in that cost is high wages.

"So far as American manufacturing establishments affected by the tariff and changes therein are concerned it is the declared purpose of the Democratic party to permit no diminution of wages without a Federal inquisition and visitation.

"The manufacturer's profits are to be lessened. The pay of his workmen must not be lessened. It is the same buffet to political economy which the railroads have been forced to submit to. Up, wages! Down, rates!"

Well, it's something like that, dear Sun, terrible though it seems to you.

It most assuredly is the idea of the American people that the tariff cut shall come out of profits, and not out of wages. From the Sun's viewpoint, that's anarchy or worse; but the Sun's viewpoint is the profit-taking viewpoint.

Tariff reduction was not undertaken with the notion that wages were too high and must come down. When the average annual wage in manufacturing is between four and five hundred dollars a year, when adult male workers in the most highly protected industries are trying to support families on nine dollars a week, and when the profits in these industries are so great that they pay for new plants in a year or two, it is plain enough where the cut ought to be made.

And, in a measure, what the Sun says scornfully about "up, wages!" and "down, rates!" is precisely what the American people had in mind when they put the Democratic party in power commissioned to revise the tariff downward and to readjust the economic scheme of things in the interest of the common good.

Maybe the process has gone about far enough with the railroads. If the railroads are able to prove that recent and prospective wage increases, with other increases in the cost of living which have hit the railroads as well as the rest of us, are cutting unfairly into dividends, the country will witness undisturbed a reasonable increase in railroad rates. But only if the facts are proved.

What this country wants is fair wages, fair profits, fair prices. The adjustment isn't easy to make, and it is going to take a long time to make it. But making it is what the nation is bent upon, and in the operation the common interest is the one that will and should govern—not the interest of profit-takers who have grown so used to tariff-fattened profits that their withdrawal is as painful to profit-takers as it would be to cut off their ears.

Those who have become unduly impressed with the outcries that have been emitted by those whose profits are threatened by an honest tariff law should not overlook the fact that nothing else but an outcry was to be expected.

Then there's this to consider: Every citizen who happens to own even a $50 city bond is going to become an active booster, whatever he was before.

THE WANING OF THE LIQUOR HABIT.

In the British navy they serve liquor rations to those who want them.

In other days the custom used to be to mark "T" on the records after the names of the sailors who did not want their grog.

This showed how comparatively few were the teetotalers then.

Now, it is related, the practice has changed. The custom is to mark "G" after the names of the sailors who DO want their grog.

Which shows that the number of teetotalers has increased remarkably.

Commenting on this the Westminster Gazette reflects: "We remember a resident in a small country market town telling that fifty years ago he always counted the number of farmers who went home sober. At present, it is a case of counting those who go home drunk."

So it goes, the civilized world over. There is drinking, lots of it; but it is less open, less "the custom." This shows that it is no longer respectable and commonplace, as it used to be, and that it is getting ashamed to show its face in public.

Once, drinking was universal and drunkenness a commonplace. Now, there are more and more teetotalers, less and less drunkenness on the whole.

Once, traveling men had to drink with their customers. Now they are the soberest class of business men.

Once, railroad men were hard drinkers. Now drinking men can't hold their jobs.

This isn't coming through prohibitory measures—laws to compel men to be good before they want to be. It's coming through a gradual but sure appreciation of the mental, moral and physical havoc wrought by rum.

And somehow we still have more faith that this process will solve the liquor problem, coupled with proper regulation of the saloon, than that it can be solved by attempts to legislate it out of existence.

And the moral of that is, that when you pay your conspirators it isn't wise to use a check-and-voucher system.

REGULATING THE SALOON.

There is no occasion for hot tempers and harsh words in the discussion of the movement to regulate the saloon.

Also, the discussion will be more enlightening if careful distinction is made between the movement to abolish the saloon immediately and the movement to keep it within due bounds.

For our part, we are convinced that the city commission as a whole is trying to do the right and wise thing, and that whatever it determines upon will be what it believes to be the right and wise thing. It is trying to do what needs to be done, and what can be done. If it refuses to attempt to do immediately what can only be accomplished justly by degrees, it is unfair to charge that it has "cold feet" or that it is "owned by the breweries." Such talk is not argument, and it adds nothing of value to the discussion. A little less heat and noise and more light would get us all on faster.

If experience with sumptuary legislation has shown anything at all, it has proved beyond the possibility of dispute that attempts to go faster than public sentiment can follow are worse than wasted.

All will agree that the abuse of liquor is a terrible evil. Most will agree that there is little good in it, and that the world would be better off without a drop of it. But the world cannot be compelled to be good. It is getting better all the time, and more temperate; but it resents attempts to crowd it, however well meaning they are.

Liquor regulation that is wisely conducted will proceed with careful and unceasing attention to whether public sentiment is keeping pace. It may and should lead, but it must not race. When it gets out of sight and sympathy with public sentiment it is lost. Every experiment in prohibition, statewide or local, proves that. Prohibitory measures are effective where a ruling preponderance of public sentiment wants them to be effective; but they never have been and never will be effective where that ruling preponderance of sentiment is lacking. Where they go beyond the local unit, and into county and state units, they work in sections where the people want them to work, and they fall down miserably in sections where the people do not want them to work.

What is true of prohibition is true of regulation. Regulatory measures may go as far as public sentiment will follow, but when they outstrip public sentiment they become as waste paper.

Unquestionably public sentiment is progressing in the way the temperance advocates wish. But it must be coaxed, not driven. When attempts are made to drive it beyond its will, it inevitably recoils, and progress is lost.

It begins to look as if Duluth is placed in the northeaster corner of the country—if not the northeastest.

A CITY VOCATIONAL BUREAU.

A committee of the Washington board of trade has indorsed the idea of establishing a vocational bureau in the national capital, and the chamber of commerce and the retail merchants' association are expected to co-operate.

That's interesting. The idea, as presented by Professor Gustav Blumenthal, is that 75 per cent of the persons employed in this country are not engaged in the work for which they are best fitted. They are making a living, and "getting away with it" after a fashion, but they are not doing nearly so well by themselves and society as they would be if they had happened to land in the work for which they are best qualified.

That word "happened" tells the story. On the whole, occupations just "happen," so it is no wonder it is so rare to find a person doing the thing he is best fitted for. Some are trained by their parents for definite pursuits, though that is no sign that they are going to reach the work they were born to do. Others develop ambitions along definite lines, and by hard work and persistence manage to follow them out. These are the happy ones. The majority squeeze in wherever they can find room.

Work isn't work when it's what you like to do and know you can do better than anything else. It's play, or even better than play.

But work is real work when it is mere drudgery, done for the sake of the pay and because you have to do something to live.

Some time society is going to pay more attention to this point. It is going to study its young early, and let the education of each individual take a direction that will develop special capacities. It is going to make the attempt to see that each individual is educated for and does that which he can do best and most to his satisfaction and to the good of society.

But it's not easy. Professor Muensterberg and other scientists have a scheme by which they apply psychological tests to determine the fitness of applicants for a given work. Thus, a hundred telephone operators may be tested, and ten found fitted. This doesn't go far enough.

What is needed, of course, is expert help to determine what each individual is best fitted to do, and then practical help to see that he does that thing.

The Washington idea aims in this direction, and because it picks positions for persons its aim is broader than the Muensterberg plan, which merely picks persons for positions.

It is a thing worth study, and if the Washington plan is carried out its progress will be watched with interest. If it succeeds, the next step obviously will be to introduce the plan in the schools, so as to find out as early as possible what each pupil is likely to be best fitted for, and to shape his education and individualize it accordingly.

Charles D. Hilles is back in public view for the first time since last November. The groundhog has nothing on C. D. when it comes to long naps.

THE COST OF WAR.

If in no other way, war sooner or later must end because the ever growing burden of its cost will presently become too great for the world to bear.

Already it is so heavy that millions of half-fed people the world over groan under it.

And it gets heavier every day. The mere cost of "preparedness," without reckoning at all the cost of actual warfare in blood and tears and gold, is a staggering item.

In the pamphlet series of the World Peace Foundation is a table containing the total military charge for one year, the latest for which statistics are available, in each of the principal civilized countries of the world.

Great Britain and the continent contribute $1,682,271,000 to the total. The United States contributes $283,086,000. Only three nations exceed this figure—Germany with $318,446,000, Great Britain with $341,820,000 and Russia with $319,770,000.

The grand total is more than TWO BILLIONS AND A QUARTER—$2,263,332,000.

Estimating at two thousand dollars the annual producing capacity of the average adult worker, this wretched business absorbs the total wealth produced by 1,131,666 of the world's best workers.

Other millions of men in their years of greatest productive capacity are taken out of productive industries and their strength and intelligence devoted to idleness in uniform.

What for? To what end?

The most plausible excuse for it, and at the same time the silliest, is that the best assurance of peace is an ample armament.

Yet it is as true of the nations as it is of many individuals that the possession of firearms is a constant temptation to use them.

And it is no more civilized for nations to go armed to the teeth than it would be for doctors and lawyers and grocers and butchers to go about with a six-shooter in each hip pocket and a bowie knife in each boot—and it is no greater assurance of peace.

Peace would be surer if this item of armament did not cost the world a dollar except for international policing.

It's all right for the Balkan states to start another war. But you don't see Turkey doing anything like that right now.

THE MIND POISON OF HATRED.

In a speech at a dinner given in Baltimore in honor of Charles H. Grasty of the Baltimore Sun, Mr. Bryan with whimsical humor and good nature spoke of his office-seeking experiences, and said that he bore nobody any grudge.

There were so many responsible for his failures to win, he said, that his indignation, when scattered over them all, would not amount to much.

"And then I had another reason," he continued. "There is no load that will break a man down so quickly and so surely as a load of revenge. The man who tries to get even with others has few opportunities of gratifying his hatred; but he is all the time corroding himself."

Mr. Bryan has said many wise and true things, but nothing wiser or truer than this.

It is one of the most praiseworthy things about Bryan, and at the same time one of the surest evidences of his wisdom, that though he has been bitterly and venomously and often cruelly opposed, the spirit of vindictiveness has been utterly absent from his public acts, and speech, and apparently as completely absent from his mind.

The most wretched and most traitorous guest a man can invite into his heart is the spirit of revenge. No matter how determined that spirit is, or how ingeniously its host strives to work its will, it always harms him infinitely more than it can possibly harm its object.

It is a canker gnawing at his heart, and its havoc is genuine and permanent. It is a destroyer of character, an insidious poison that spreads rapidly and surely and does its work thoroughly.

Mr. Bryan is right. "There is no load that will break a man down so quickly and so surely as a load of revenge."

THE FUTURISTS.

Talking about Futurists, we think the Boston Globe has about hit it:

A cubist is a person who has hit
Art a bash in the slats, and then

And he called it "A Sunset," "My Beloved" or "A Plate of Hash," depending on his mood at the moment and just how far he was from the clutch of the insane asylum agents.

The kaiser is doing his best to make up for a lack of daughters by making a big fuss over the marriage of the only one he has.

LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS.

Minnesota clearly has advantages over some of the states that are not to be despised by any means. The particular advantage we have in mind is disclosed by the news that the New Hampshire legislature has just quit, and it is supplemented by the comfortable reflection that the Minnesota legislature ceased to trouble a month ago. It is strengthened still further by the fact that legislatures in Wisconsin and Illinois are still in session.

At that, Minnesota is worse off in this respect than most states. While sixteen states have no limit on the length of their legislative sessions, only two other states among the rest have ninety-day sessions, as Minnesota has. Thirty states were wise enough to confine their legislatures to briefer sessions—one each to seventy-five, seventy and sixty-one days, twenty-three to sixty days, two to fifty days, one to forty-five and one to forty.

Nor does it appear that the thirty states which get along with sessions less than ninety days long suffer materially by it, either.

Legislatures which are required to finish their work in fifty to sixty days seem to get about as much done as those allowed a longer time.

Which might—but it won't—teach the Minnesota legislature that it could easily shorten its sessions, and that while the Constitution limits the session to ninety legislative days, there is nowhere in that document a command that the full ninety days be consumed.

The objection to the sundry civil bill is that it is too blamed civil to certain classes.

AN UNTHINKABLE PROPOSAL.

It is related that the barbers of Trenton, in New Jersey, are proposing to raise the price for trimming Vandyke beards.

That's a movement which ought to be headed off immediately.

Whatever it is, the price of pruning Vandyke beards is already too high. In fact, in the interests of society it ought to be done free, and if the barbers won't do it free the government ought to subsidize it.

The Vandyke is the most lovely of beard forms. Its trim delicacy is a public adornment that could ill be spared. There is no other beard to be compared with it. There is no other that can take its place.

If it causes a little extra work for the barber, it's worth it. Trimming Vandyke beards is the most conspicuous public service the barber performs. As a public spirited citizen, the barber ought to encourage the practice of wearing them, not discourage it by prohibitive prices.

A Vandyke beard will make the most ornery visage look human. It turns a shy and retreating chin into a jutting crag of determination and character. It carries more than a suggestion of artistry and learning, and the most ordinary speech, emitted through and over a Vandyke, takes on new and strange beauty and fascination.

The landscape would be drear indeed without Vandykes. Not all the tender blooms of spring or all the luscious splendor of June foliage could make up for loss of them. The barber who aims a threat at them is a public enemy.

Josephus Daniels is the first member of the new cabinet to get up in the air. And it wasn't a battleship that did it, either, in spite of predictions.

SAYS COMMISSION IS ON TRIAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

If the commission favors the breweries in this new bill, then the commissioners show where they stand. They are afraid of the liquor element, and they are afraid they will lose their salaries.

Mr. Hicken is not afraid of any liquor element, but now we have a chance to know where the others stand.

Any money as rotten as that money will do the city no good, for the lawlessness and vice that go with it costs the city three times as much money as it gets out of the saloons.

No good ever came from wrongdoing, and wrong it will be to make any such poor excuse. The commissioners are afraid of the saloonkeepers and breweries if they fail to pass it, and the money side is just a loophole to fool the public. MRS. G.

The Problem of the Mails

Christian Science Monitor: If congress will add to the duties of the postoffice department it must furnish the equipment requisite for the new tasks imposed. There is no sense or justice in visiting upon potsal employes condemnation that belongs higher up. Rural delivery, postal savings banks, and the parcel post are admirable new features of the national postal system, too long delayed and still far from adequately appreciated or used. But to carry them on with a staff of workers not correspondingly increased makes inevitable intimations such as now find public expression concerning tardy handling of first and second-class mail matter. If, as it is charged, the department of late has been scamped in the congressional appropriations, then it is not surprising that some defects should appear, but we feel that they are surprisingly few, when we remember the enormous number of pieces handled and the vast territory over which distribution must take place. Criticism based on European contrasts overlooks fundamentally different geographical conditions.

Apparently there must be further readjustment, perhaps a considerable amplification of force and facilities, before the postal service of the country will be in position to handle the largely increased mass of matter without delays here and there. To an outsider it might seem that the pressure of parcel post matter was acting in a way to prevent prompt handling of the second class mail, if not occasionally the first class matter. Something seems to be needed, somewhere, to keep all kinds of matter always in motion from the beginning of a journey to the very end. Perhaps train service should be amplified; perhaps there should be more clerks; very probably there should be in many instances more room for matter that means new bulk. But we believe that both the postoffice authorities and the great army of employes are alike working to effect the needed improvements, and meanwhile we feel that in the trying times that have accompanied the introduction of a new and uncertain factor in the postal service great credit is due the department and its hard-working employes that the congestion at important centers has not been allowed to cause any serious inconvenience to general business. We believe the average postoffice employe, whatever his position, has some pride in keeping his particular part of the service on time, and doubtless this professional pride of individual men lifts the department over many a difficult place in time of stress.

Secretary Redfield's "Threat"

Editorial in the St. Louis Republic.

To understand the agitation of certain Republican newspapers and certain manufacturers at the present moment, it is necessary to go back further than Secretary Redfield's intimation that announcements of wage-cuts in protected industries will be investigated.

The high protective graft is one of the most shameless of abuses. Other forms of exploitation of the poor for the benefit of the rich have skulked in corners; but high protection has flaunted itself before the eyes of the world. In 1908, in the face of an all but irresistible demand for tariff reform the Republican platform declared in favor of a tariff high enough "to equal the difference in cost of production at home and abroad together with a reasonable profit to American industries."

Does it not seem strange today that the platform of the party which won the national election of 1908 pronounced in favor of a national guarantee of the profits of individuals?

This did not represent public sentiment, of course. The average man never even took time to think what it meant. But the men who framed the plank knew. And it was consistent. For years a government which had never guaranteed the profits of the farmer, the wages of the laborer or mechanic or the salary of the teacher or the salesman had guaranteed the profits of the manufacturer. The framers of the Republican platform of 1908 recognized that the wind of public opinion was taking a new slant. But they were determined to die game. And so they committed a great political existence to the proposition that the profits of the manufacturer should be guaranteed by the government.

This has been the tone of protectionist comment throughout the past five years. If lowering tariffs should lower prices the extravagant profits of these favorites of government were to remain inviolate, but the wage of labor was to suffer. And since the Underwood bill loomed large above the horizon mutterings of approaching wages-cut have been loud.

Now what has Secretary Redfield "threatened"? Simply investigation. He is a manufacturer of many years' standing. He knows something about tariffs and wages from intimate experience. In view of the threats that have been uttered, on the other side, he only declares that if wages are cut in any of the protected industries he will look into the reasons for such cut and report.

The beneficiaries of protection are afraid to take the ordinary hazards of business. They believe that the government in its reform of tariff iniquities should never go so far as to refuse to guarantee their profits. And they are afraid of publicity. If they should take a notion to lower wages just now by way of an object lesson to contumacious laboring men who vote the Democratic ticket they will resent as a despotic invasion of their rights any governmental investigation of the need for such cuts.

Why cannot the government continue to guarantee their profits and let them deal with their working people in their own way?

Lo, The Poor Broker!

New York World: A picture to make strong men shake with sobs is drawn these days of Wall Street destitute and desolate, the stock exchange a paupers' loitering place, proud brokers in rags of English cut tramping the streets with wistful eyes begging the prosperous passer-by for just one margin to buy a breakfast with. We are told that one tearful trader is changing his $30,000-a-year offices for $10,000-a-year diggings; that a calamity-stricken commission house has cut off practically all its branch offices; that another has gone short on forty clerks, and still another has exhorted a third of its employes to take a month's vacation without pay or submit to a 10 per cent reduction in salaries.

Such a picture wrings our heart. But even this inky cloud has got a silver lining. For every broker mourning his lost commissions there are a hundred poor infatuated fools turned, at least for the time, from their folly, bringing home their full week's pay, no more no less than they have honestly earned, neither impoverished by a gamble that went against them nor ruined by a gamble that threw easy money into their hands. For every broker who has to save rent there are a hundred families who for the first time know where their rent is coming from, for every poor broker's clerk dismissed there are a hundred other clerks who are escaping the dangers of dismissal and worse.

Yes, even in his darkest hour the poor martyred stock broker can console himself with the sweet thought of all the good his martyrdom is doing, can quote to himself even with failing breath those eloquent lines of the bard of Broad street:

"For every busted broker there's a thousand suckers saved!"

The Lesson of the Dandelion.

Newark Evening News: How doth the dandelion improve the shining hour? By sticking close to business with all its might and power.

It never gets discouraged, it never owns defeat; it works in zero weather, it works in summer heat. Though men declare against it and say its rootlets rob, the foxy dandelion stays firmly on the job.

A week the gardener knifes it as fiercely as a Turk; one day he grows neglectful, and the plant goes right to work. The day his caution lapses, the flowers quickly bloom and scatter seeds of trouble to fill his life with gloom.

So, like the dandelion, the hosts of graft advance; they both are used to waiting, they both are hardy plants; and the price of beating both is eternal vigilance.

In the Yellowish Mountains.

New York Mail: Speaking of geography, do you know where Mount Sir Sandford is? It is in the Selkirk range, in British Columbia. Outing says it is "among the most majestic and most beautiful mountains in the Rockies and Selkirks." Nine separate climbing parties have been baffled in the attempt to reach Sir Sandford's summit. Even as a preliminary to an attempt to climb it, your equipment has to be carried on human shoulders for a week. But "Mount Sir Sandford!" It is a vile name for a noble mountain. Not far away is "Mount Sir Donald." Do they bestow cheap titles on all their mountains in the Canadian Northwest? What have the poor mountains ever done that they should be subjected to such an indignity? The Canadians have also Mount Brown and British Africa has Mount Smith; but either of these is nobly named in comparison with Mount Sir Sandford and Mount Sir Donald.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Hand of the Potter.

Among the oldest of the arts of men we must surely mention that of pottery. The jars and bowls that the archeologist digs from ancient ruins speak of man's earliest life on this planet. Our remotest ancestors in their cave homes were workers in clay.

Their familiar industry shaped the theology of early peoples. As they modeled and molded bits of mother earth into useful forms so they themselves were being molded by powers outside of and greater than themselves. The Jewish prophet saw into the matter clearly when he wrote of his God, "O Lord, we are the clay and thou art our Potter."

Browning puts the truth in telling lines:

Ay, note that Potter's wheel, that metaphor, and feel
Why time spins fast, why passive lies our clay
He fixed thee 'mid this dance, of plastic circumstance
This present, thou, forsooth, would'st fain arrest
Machinery just meant to give thy soul its bent
Try thee and turn thee forth sufficiently impressed.

The force of the fact is felt by many who have never made any conscious philosophy of it. Life is being shaped not only by our own wills and purposes, but also by circumstances quite beyond our control. The round of experience to which we are daily being subjected determines character. There is a

Divinity that shapes our ends
Rough hew them how we will.

According to one view the circumstances of life are purely accidental. We are in a universe without plan or purpose. Man is a waif driven hither and yon like a bit of seaweed in the surf, the play of capricious forces.

According to another view, we are governed but by a force unloving and destructive. A colossal tyrant is enthroned in the heavens, ordering man's hampered and depressing career. There is small gain in this view over the first. As well believe in chaos as in some inquisitor holding his victim on the rack.

But according to the austere and beautiful thought of the prophet, the good God is the Power ordering and disciplining man. Hands of love are fashioning the rough material into vessels of use and beauty.

It is a long process through which the clay from the pit stands on the table at length as a rich and gleaming vase. The shapeless lump must endure the throwing, the turning, the delicate hand work, the glazing, the repeated visits to the fiery furnace. If clay could be endowed with consciousness it must often wonder at its cruel treatment.

Not otherwise men baffled and discouraged by the ways of Providence often ask hard questions. They demand the meaning, if there be any meaning, in such experiences as come to them. Materialism has no semblance of answer. At such times the faith of Isaiah is the only key to a great mystery. It is the sole faith that satisfies. Beside it unbelief is weakness and impotence complete.

Life may be regarded as a transforming process. A man is a calculated work of his Creator, to whose completion the wisdom and power of God will be devoted. Doubtless not until we can view life from its heavenward side will compensation for our hard discipline be apparent in souls brought into the symmetry and beauty of the Maker's image.

AN IMPOSSIBLE FUSION

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Too loyal and too patriotic to be Democrats, too respectable and too honest to be standpatters, a lot of United States senators, of whom Albert B. Cummins is the chief, are going up and down the earth preaching a crusade against the Democratic tariff bill and striving to bring Canaan and Egypt into hard and fast alliance, offensive and defensive. It will be recalled that last year these gentry, Cummins, Borah, Norris, Kenyon, Hadley, et al., holding to the principles of Theodore Roosevelt, voted for the election of William H. Taft.

And now it is proposed to "harmonize" these two forces, Rooseveltism and Taftism. Senator Cummins appears willing to shed a little of his virtue if Senator Gallinger will consent to discard some of his depravity, and thus the two may occupy a common ground and battle on Armageddon against the wicked Democracy. But Gallinger insists that he has got no iniquity to shed, that Cummins is the lost sheep, and that if he will find himself and fetch himself to the fold he will be admitted.

• • •

Mr. Dan Hanna and Mr. Frank Munsey, two veterans of last year's Armageddon, are also clamoring for harmony. They, too, would bring together and fuse into one what they insist is the purity that is Roosevelt and the vice that is Taft. Roosevelt with the shining face of an angel and Taft with the cloven hoof of the devil are "to get together" and reincarnate the party of Lincoln and Grant, of Aldrich and Cannon. These two commissaries of the army of Armageddon seem to hold that a citizen's politics is like his coat to be put on or cast off at will—changed with the fashions and cut and slashed with the shears of expediency.

Not so Col. Roosevelt; not so Prof. Taft, each of whom holds that a political merger is impossible without a fusion of ideas. Cummins and Munsey, Borah and Hanna, would have a standpatter like Payne of New York and a Progressive like Murdock of Kansas, steadfastly to hold to the ideas each has and be partners in the political game. That can't be done. You can't hold a party together made up of such antagonistic elements. As Lincoln put it: Either the progressives must all become standpatters, or the standpatters must all become progressives. To gain a victory the membership of a party must think together. Failing that, they will never vote together.

That is a truth that has been a hundred times tested and approved. Here is a case: In 1904 the Democrats were apparently united, but 2,000,000 Democrats did not think as did the head of the ticket, and the result was disastrous. And so it will be with the Republicans in 1916 if they "get together" without thinking together. Well, how are they going to think together? No two parties of our entire political history were ever farther apart than were the party led by Roosevelt in 1912 and the party led by Taft. The Taft set preferred Wilson to Roosevelt, and the Roosevelt set preferred Wilson to Taft. If Roosevelt had not been a candidate Wilson would have received 90 per cent of his vote, and if Taft had not been a candidate Wilson would have got an overwhelming majority of his vote.

We are told that all the wishes in the world would not fill the Arno, nor turn a plum into an orange. Cummins and Munsey, Borah and Hanna may wish till a turnip exudes blood before Rooseveltism and Taftism are sincerely fused. They may go through the motion, but it will be like the "harmony" in the Democratic camp in 1904. Political parties are not made to order. They are a spontaneous growth.

There is some speculation as to what Roosevelt is going to do. There is no law against a surmise, and here is mine: If the Wilson administration shall be successful—that is, if it shall be popular in 1916—Roosevelt will come out for Wilson if the Democrats should renominate him. On the other hand, if the Wilson administration is a failure and the people turn against it, Roosevelt will be in the field again as the candidate of his Progressive party, and he will be elected.

The United States senate is the weak link in the Democratic chain. The corridors of the north wing of the capitol edifice swarm with lobbyists beseeching senators "to queer" the Democratic tariff, and there are Democratic senators who will grant their petitions if they can muster the courage. The bill is to be fought inch by inch. It is threatened that it shall not pass before October. Every Republican senator—standpatter and progressive—is to make one or more speeches and when it comes to the reading of the bill for amendment every item is to be contested.

Now that is against the advice of Mr. Taft, who thinks, and correctly thinks, that the country demands a trial of what he incorrectly calls "free trade." And why not try it awhile? We have had protection for more than fifty years. The Wilson bill, that congressional ignoramuses prate about so garrulously as a free trade measure, was a highly protective tariff. Gorman, Smith, and Brice saw to that. It had but two redeeming features, and for them President Cleveland allowed it to become a law without his approval—free wool and free lumber.

Then why not try a low tariff awhile? It has been demonstrated that it is impossible to conquer foreign markets under a protective tariff. It is everywhere and by everybody admitted that we must have foreign markets for our surplus manufactures. Shall we continue to dump them abroad, selling them cheaper to foreigners than our own people can buy them?

That is a hardship on the manufacturer himself, for if allowed to exchange his products for the products of foreigners he would get a better price for his exports, and there are manufacturers, like Mr. Redfield, of the Wilson cabinet, who have their eyes open, and they know that the manufacturer would profit more by absolute free trade than anybody else in the land—I mean a manufacturer engaged in a legitimate business.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

Brilliant Agricultural Science.

THE FARMER OF TOMORROW. By Frederick Irving Anderson. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50 net.

"The farmer of tomorrow"—that's us, surely; for all of us intend to go to farming in that vague and dim future when we shall have accumulated a little surplus to get us started. Therefore a discussion of the farmer of the future has a personal application to all of us—at least to most of us.

And it will be well indeed if all those farmers of tomorrow will read this book carefully while they are the bookkeepers or salesmen or artisans of today. For it is a keen, sparkling discussion of agricultural economics and agricultural science, written in a crisp, snappy way that makes it very easy reading.

It begins with story of Jeremiah, who bought a farm for $150 an acre and who found that while he was getting $14 an acre in a good year, it was costing him more than that to produce his crop when he figured interest on his investment and all, as a businesslike farmer should. In a panic, he rushed to his neighbors, to find them all prosperously blossoming out with automobiles and the like. This led him to the discovery, interesting alike to farmers and consumers, that something like 70 per cent of the farmers got their land free by inheritance or from the government, so that they need not count its value as capital. The farmer of the future must do that, and he must earn dividends on his capital or go bankrupt. That seems to mean either much higher prices or a vastly greater productivity.

The author first considers the land itself as a factor in the "back to the land" movement, primarily its economic bearing on the question. The second half of the book is a detailed exposition of soil sanitation and similar subjects. The book will greatly interest those concerned in the problems of the producer and the consumer, and though apparently scientific, it has the great merit of being written in a clear, simple and highly readable fashion.

More Wallingford Stories.

WALLINGFORD IN HIS PRIME. By George Randolph Chester. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1 net.

Probably there is no more immoral literature afloat than Mr. Chester's highly entertaining tales of the crooked exploits of J. Rufus Wallingford and Blackie Daw. They gloss dishonesty over with a decorative coat with a fascination growing out of the attractive personalities of this precious pair of villains, and if they work to break down the moral fibers of their readers and give them a complacent outlook on crookedness, it is about what should be expected.

But there is no denying that they are entertaining stories, with a remarkable lack of monotony when the general similarity of the plans of all of them is considered.

In this volume Wallingford is at his craftiest, his ablest and his crookedest. He is marvelously fertile in schemes, and bewilderingly clever in carrying them out with the help of his associates Blackie Daw and Toad Jessup. There are also some new and diverting characters that did not appear in the former series.

You may read them if you seek mere entertainment, but if you have ever been tempted to lead a life of polished crime, it will be a good idea to keep a tight hold on your sense of honor and honesty while you do it.

Sabotage.

SABOTAGE. By Emile Pouget. Chicago: Charles H. Kerr & Co. 50 cents.

Possibly we misunderstand "sabotage." To us it looks like a settled policy of pestering your employer, giving him as little as you can for his money, and generally making a nuisance of yourself in the hope that he will resign and turn his business over to his workmen, putting them in a position to gouge as much profit as possible out of the workmen who have acquired in this manner or other industries, but who must buy from you. Maybe that's a wrong view of sabotage, but that's the way it looks to us. Therefore it is difficult to acquire the viewpoint of sympathy with the movement "weapon," the advance notice of the book calls it, and that doesn't tend to disturb our view of it—which is shown in this book, which is the classic work on the subject and tells how the workingmen of Europe are using "this new weapon." The work was translated by Arturo Giovannitti when he was in jail last summer because of Eastern strike difficulties.

Gettysburg and After.

GETTYSBURG. Stories of the Red Harvest and the Aftermath. By Elsie Singmaster. Boston: Houghton Mifflin company. $1 net.

It's marvelous, rather, what war pictures women writers can paint. Mary Johnston in her Civil war series has described war in a manner unexcelled by men writers, even though they fought themselves. And now Elsie Singmaster gives us a small volume of stories—sketches, almost, some of them—of Gettysburg and after that are as gripping as anything of the kind ever done. They tell of the battle of Gettysburg from new and various angles—of the women of the little village whose men were in the ranks; of a coward, so human that the humble among us, reading of him, will fear that in battle it might be our fate to be like him; of the hot fighting of the third day. They tell of Lincoln's dedication of the battleground on Nov. 19, 1863; of the dedication of a monument in 1910, and the pathetic story of a blind gunner whose name had been omitted from the graven list; of the last days of some of the veterans, with a pathos rather somber. Great pieces of writing and imagination, these stories.

Vividly Sketched Characters.

THE LONG WAY. By Mary Imlay Taylor. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.25 net.

This, the strongest work yet of this good writer, is a moving drama of love, of sisterly devotion and self-sacrifice that at first seems wasted but later resolves itself into a beacon light, pointing the way to half a dozen people blinded by tempests of passion. Strongly sketched are two sisters, Rachel and Eva Leven, representing two extremes of womanhood: The one strong, self-sacrificing, with true vision and high ideals; the other beautiful, weak, shallow and selfish. Eva compromises herself and imperils her good name, and Rachel takes the burden of the blame. Eva dances, and Rachel pays the piper until her sister awakens to a realization of her own unworthiness and the nobility of Rachel's sacrifice. The characters are very real, very human, and the story is very engrossing.

Good Story Padded.

GERTRUDE. By Edward Hungerford, author of "Little Corky," "The Modern Railroad," etc. New York: McBride, Nast & Co. $1.25 net.

We liked this book in the part where Joel Paddleford, losing his job at advanced maturity, fell heir to a country tavern and ran it successfully under the direction of Gertrude, his daughter. Before that we found it rather hard reading, with a great deal of writing in which not much happened. It occurred to us when we read that Joel, in his wandering about New York after he lost his place, found men setting out tulip bulbs in April that if the author would read the excellent garden books put out by his publishers he would find that usually tulip bulbs are set out in the fall. Too much of the book seemed like space-filling, and failed to interest. But the characters have reality, and the development of Gertrude's character is interestingly done.

A Show Girl's Experience.

IN ANOTHER MOMENT. By Charles Belmont Davis. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25 net.

Mr. Davis knows life on the Great White Way, and he has written a moving tale of it. It tells about beautiful Fay Clinton, who was lured from a country village by a rich Jew broker with a theatrical pull, who used as a bait Fay's selfish and good looking young cousin Geldine, with whom she was in love, giving him a New York job first. It tells about her success as a show girl, due to her grace and beauty; about her experiences at wine suppers and midnight revels; about her temptations; about the brutal selfishness of the man she loved; about the wiles of the broker who planned a long and nearly successful campaign against her virtue; about the insidious influences of the life she led; and about a chorus girl's angel who helped her, and who did not ask too great price for his help. The happy solution is rather forced, but we were glad it happened. The book is entertaining, and as we have said the man who wrote it evidently knows what he writes about.

A Tale of Two Secrets.

THE CREEPING TIDES. By Kate Jordan, author of "Time, the Comedian," etc. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.30 net.

Kate Jordan has written a tensely interesting story. It is about two people, each of whom have dark secrets in their lives, who are driven together when both are wrecks on the shoals of tragedy and who grow to love each other. But the dark secrets stand between, and out of them grows plot enough to knit together a novel that will surely hold the reader's interest from first page to last.

Among the Magazines.

Scribner's magazine for June opens with an article describing the three "glorious mountain highways" which have been opened up by "New Passes in Tyrol." The author, Charles I. Freeston, is well known by his "The High Roads of the Alps," and "The Passes of the Pyrenees." The scenery along these Tyrol routes is unsurpassed, revealing particularly the mountains around Jaufen, Broccone, and Gobbera passes. The accompanying pictures show the beauties of these Alpine mountains. Senator Lodge's "Early Memories" picture a wonderful group of great men of Boston, including Charles Sumner, Wendell Phillips, Motley, Parkman, and Robert C. Winthrop. The impression of Sumner softens the austerity which has long been the dominant tone in his portrait. Charles Eliot Norton reveals more "English Friends," among them Leslie Stephen and William Morris, and again gives some of the best Carlyle anecdotes that have seen the light.

The June Woman's Home Companion contains a further account of the fight for "Better Babies" which is now being carried on all over the United States. A number of photographs of prize-winning children are reproduced with this month's report. Other valuable articles are: "How To Take Your Vacation;" "The World's Greatest Lovers;" "Not One Minute to Lose," an article in which the author tells about the great work done by the National Consumers' league toward convincing the public not to buy goods made in sweatshops; "Fit for Company," an article in which the author shows the absurdity of the idea that extravagance and foolish preparations must be made for "company;" and the "Mother's Part," an article in which the author makes many practical suggestions to mothers in connection with the training of daughters. Fiction by a great variety of writers, art features contributed by many of our most talented illustrators, and twelve departments full of good reading and useful ideas, complete an issue unusually charming and serviceable to the reader.

In the June American Magazine Ida M. Tarbell, writing about "The Hunt for a Money Trust," describes and criticizes some of the workings of the New York stock market. In the same number Henry K. Pomroy, a former president of the stock exchange, replies to Miss Tarbell. Other interesting serious contributions to the number are: "The Reminiscences of Brand Whitlock, Mayor of Toledo, Ohio"; "Health and Horse Power," by Dr. Woods Hutchinson; "A Creed of Work for Women," by Laura Drake Gill; "The Joys of the True Walker," by Prichard Eaton; and "The Repertoire Theater in America," in which the dramatic editor of the American Magazine makes a thorough and entertaining report of certain aspects of the business of the stage. Fiction, notable for its liveliness and reality, is contributed by David Grayson, Arnold Bennett, Stanley R. Osborn, V. H. Cornell, James Francis Dwyer and Louis Graves.

The second installment of "Garden Making and Some of the Garden's Stories," by Grace Tabor, in the June St. Nicholas tells "the story of the wicked dwarf" (aphids) and just the information which garden makers of all ages want at this time of year. Ingenious lads will want to read "A City Greenhouse" by F. Lovell Coombs, author of "The Young Railroaders." It tells how a city boy may be ignorant of many things about a farm, yet when the times comes prove that he has a fund of worth-while knowledge.

In Harper's Magazine for June, Sydney Anderson has an interesting article on "The Mosque of Eyoub." This ancient mosque at Constantinople, for centuries jealously guarded by the Turk, is no longer closed to unbelievers. But when Mr. Adamson entered the court one day, set up his easel, and began to paint, it caused a commotion. Indeed there was almost a riot, but Mr. Adamson was finally permitted to stay and paint, and the result is seen in the illustrations which accompany this article. W. D. Howells continues his interesting account of his trip to Spain, dealing this time with "Some Sevillian Incidents." "Cayenne—the Dry Guillotine," by Charles W. Furlong, is handsomely illustrated with photographs. The fiction includes: "Mr. Warner," by Jane Anderson; "The Man in Front of Mannering's," by Cornelia A. P. Comer; "The Geniuses," by V. H. Cornell; "Slim Uncle Piet," by Victor Rousseau; "David," by Lucine Finch; "Huntfords Fair Nihilist," by Howard Pyle, with illustrations by the author.

Woman's World for June features Herbert Kaufman's editorials, "The Dirge of Doubt," "Morgan," and "Giving the Working Girl a Chance." The fiction for the number includes "The Little Lamp," a love story, by Mary Roberts Rinehart; the constitution of "Anne St. Cross," by Ella W. Peattie, and a story of the play, "The Conspiracy," in which Burns Mantle, "Some men," by Anne Gardner, is also continued in this issue. Dr. Frank Crane gives some valuable "Hints on the Art of Living," including short articles on "Jealousy," "Love and Liberty," "The House Tyrant," etc.

The story of a month's events—its catastrophes, discoveries, inventions, and achievements—is graphically told by 339 terse articles and 396 unusual illustrations in the June number of Popular Mechanics magazine. The two great national disasters, the Omaha tornado and the Ohio-Indiana floods, are the subject of six pages of illustrations which tell better than words can the havoc wrought and the courage displayed as a result. Speaking of the flood in an editorial, H. H. Windsor invokes "that wonderful spirit of accomplishment that swept the fever from the Panama zone and dug through mountains to connect two oceans" to "solve the problem of our ever-recurring floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, and then to execute the engineering plans that will turn the annual panic of waters into a permanent source of power." Mr. Windsor contributes two other strong editorials, one describing a successful plan for securing clean restaurants, now enforced in Jacksonville, Fla., and the other decrying the practice of sending magazines by freight.

The Smart Set seems to be making good its recent threat to publish material that other magazines won't—or, as The Smart Set expresses it, are too timid to—print. Such a story as Barry Benefield's "Bachelor Embalmerus," in the June number, about a boy in a small Southern town who studied embalming by mail and then instructed his mother in the work so that she could embalm his body in the event of his death, is a good long way removed from the field of the average American periodical. Edna Kenton's "Sisters" is another story that the Smart Set is publishing this month as a protest against what it calls the excessive oldmaidishness of the usual magazine editor. This is a very daring exposition of a feminine theory of sex freedom which is urged by some of the more radical of our modern thinkers.

In the June Strand the two serials—"The Poison Belt," by A. Conan Doyle and "Unto Caesar," by Baroness Orczy—are continued, while "The Wooing of Wee MacGregor," by J. J. Bell is concluded. Among the articles is one entitled "Arts and the Artful," by F. Frankfort Moore, which relates some amusing stories connected with the auction picture business. It is well illustrated by Dudley Hardy. "Some Gardening Experiments," by S. Leonard Bastin will fill the amateur with wonder, while "A Revolution in Rowing," by T. H. Brigg, the celebrated mechanical engineer, should attract the attention of all oarsmen.

The Wide World for June contains a wonderful amount of interesting articles interspersed with many exciting stories of hairbreadth escapes and curious happenings. Irma Blood relates how her mother once fought a tiger in India and routed him, though her only weapon was a feather pillow. A most amusing story entitled "The Spoofing of HI-Unk" is contributed by a Western writer named Constance Skinner. Thomas W. Wilby brings to a conclusion his account of how he circled the states in a motor car while C. Douglas Robinson describes "The Haunted Treasure Caves" of the Transvaal.

This week's Life is a globe-trotters' number from cover to cover. There is a tremendously interesting picture of Antony and Cleopatra going down the Nile in a flying machine; also a delightful sentimental picture of a lady and two monks. The center page cartoon is a representation of the pioneers and the automobile, the two being contrasted in a very dramatic half-tone picture by Angus MacDonall.

"The Road to Happiness," by Graham Horne, opening novelette in Young's Magazine for June, is a particularly human portrayal of the girl from the country who invades the theatrical realm with a view to winning fortune; but there is this difference between Peggy Smith and her usual prototype—she seeks the stage through no motive of vanity, but because her father, a whimsical inventor, has exhausted the family fund. Through the influence of a young woman, formerly from Peggy's home town, the girl becomes a member of a Broadway chorus. Being naive and wholly unspoiled, Peggy finds her new life delightful. She fails to see beneath the glitter the subsequent folly and sadness, and is whirled along by the spirit of revelry. At one of these midnight parties she meets George Wentworth, a wealthy young man about town. The boy makes an effort to send her back home, but Peggy exclaims that it is "too late," merely meaning that she has had a taste of this mad, unconventional life and cannot return to a humdrum existence. He misunderstands, and thinking that she has already become a victim of the metropolitan whirl pool, offers to "protect" her. Peggy grows to love George with all the devotion of her simple little heart and the boy is completely won by her sweet, pure nature. The intervention of the Wentworth family begins the complication that, in spite of the marriage of the young people, leads to ultimate tragedy.

"The Trail of Yesterday," by Charles Alden Seltzer, starts in the June Outing. It's a Western novel of the cow country, in which an Eastern girl is made to pay the hard price of another's grudge. Stewart Edward White tells a most alluring story of "Climbing for Goats in the Cascades." The real vacation spirit is made evident throughout the whole issue by the many practical articles on woods living and wilderness travel. All outdoor enthusiasts are offered a really helpful article on their particular form of recreation.

A bright, humorous novelette, by Henry C. Rowland, open June Ainslee's, "Auld Jeremiah" is its title. "Auld Jeremiah" is an amusing, erratic old Scotchman, who possesses an enormous fortune and hates all his relatives too much to leave it to them. The events that lead up to its final disposal make a sparkling, entertaining story. The adventures of two young artists who earn their way painting advertisements along a railroad, and incidentally fall in love with each other, are by no means the least of these interesting incidents.

ONE OF THE CLEVEREST ILLUSTRATORS

JOHN WOLCOTT ADAMS.

John Wolcott Adams is recognized as one of the cleverest illustrators in the magazine field today. Mr. Adams has achieved his distinction not as an illustrator of other men's stories but as a creator in his own field. His work tells its own story. It is largely historic and of Colonial and early republican history, for Mr. Adams' own family was helping to make American history, for Mr. Adams is a descendant of that Adams who was president of the United States. Mr. Adams' work appears in the Century and other magazines in which the standard of illustration is of the highest.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THE COWARDICE OF THE SUICIDE

When a man runs away from a fight or a battle he is oftentimes looked down upon with disgust. His friends hold him in disrepute. But such an act of shame is as nothing as compared to the utter cowardice of the man who takes his own life. It usually happens that the suicide, by committing such a tragic act of folly, is not one stricken down hopeless by disease. He is most apt to be, on the other hand, one who by his own foolish selfishness and gloomy wilfulness has gotten himself into a position from which there is no escape without disgrace before the public eye.

The mind of the victim is crowded to the overflowing point with the most intense dread of exposure and of public condemnation. He is so deeply engulfed by his fears and anxieties of mind that mole hills become magnified into mountains. There is little appreciation of the fact that death by his own hand does not remove the disgrace, but on the contrary compels those nearest to him to shoulder his shame and to fight his battle alone.

The suicide compels his dearest ones to face the consequences of his own acts which he himself is afraid to face.

Somehow it occasionally happens that the victim is dominated by an idea that his self-inflicted act is a brave one. There is a skin-deep picturesqueness about the bravery of a man with nerve enough to swallow poison or finish his days by means of the bullet.

The very fact, however, that a suicide should voluntarily plan to escape disgrace which he is afraid to face and fight out to a just finish, but would rather place his shame upon other shoulders, is simple clear-cut proof of an unbalanced mind. For a healthy, earnest and courageous-minded person will be unwilling to let others suffer, where such suffering can be avoided.

These facts can be clearly recognized and forcibly presented to a discouraged and depressed individual contemplating the suicide route for an escape; they will serve to give him a better grip on himself. A better view and a new angle on his responsibilities will be obtained. He will be apt also to see and feel the downright "yellow streak" he would be displaying by such a foolish act.

Neither poison nor the bullet offers any refuge from disgrace. It merely transfers the latter to the shoulders of others.

The world's censure does not last long when disgrace is bravely faced and the individual takes his medicine like a man. A "quitter" is not popular anywhere, or at any time, so, therefore, if any individual contemplating suicide will quietly steady his nerve and bravely meet his disgraces and exposures there will be a sense of relief to him once the worst is known.

New thoughts, new feelings, and different sources of comfort will open up and come to him, dissipating his dreads and fears about being unable to face and live through the trials of the future. To take a new fling, and start all over again, but with a clean record as a MAN, will afford new glimpses of life and its joys which formerly were impossible to conceive.

CORONER'S JURY LEARNS NOTHING

Open Verdict in Killing of Hibbing Greek Is Returned.

Hibbing, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Coroner Pengilly conducted an inquest today into the killing of James Karasa or Caras, a local Greek, who was fatally wounded late last night on the private driveway to the Whitney roadhouse about a mile and a half east of town presumably by hiwhwaymen. The jury found that Karasa came to his death by a shot fired by party or parties unknown to the jury and that Tom Fotopolous who was with him at the time of the shooting and has since been under arrest be further detained and examined. The latter will be detained a few days but it is said the authorities believe he told the truth and that unknown highwaymen did the killing.

Tom Fotopolous, also a Greek, who is section foreman for the Great Northern at Kelsey was with Karasa when the latter was killed. The two rode from Buhl on the electric car leaving Buhl about 10 p. m. and according to Fotopolous' testimony at the inquest today they left the car at the roadway to the Whitney roadhouse and as they started along the road two men jumped from the brush ordering them to throw up their hands. He dived into the brush and he heard shots.

Sees Companion Dying.

When he looked out his companion lay on the ground groaning and the holdups had fled. He went to the Whitney place and telephoned to Chief of Police McFadden, who hurried out in an automobile. Karasa died about five minutes to 11, the bullet having passed through the breast between the fifth and sixth rib. Dr. Brooks, who examined the corpse, testified as to the injury.

Wesley Housekrecht, a passenger on the car, testified that he noticed the two Greeks as he got on the car at Chisholm. They occupied a seat across the aisle and were gabbering in Greek, appearing to be quarrelling. Something was said about money, one replying in English "Go to hell."

The police chief also testified as to the search made for the alleged holdups after hurrying to the scene of the crime.

Karasa was about 21, single, and ran a shoe shining parlor here until recently, when he sold out. Fotopolous claimed he came to town to see Karasa about getting him a job, as they came from the same town in Greece.

WAITER CHARGED WITH TILTING LID

Thomas Carincos Arrested for Selling Liquor in Bismarck Cafe.

Thomas Carnicos, waiter at the Bismarck cafe, under John Crinklaw's saloon at 206 West Superior street, was arrested last night on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

The arrest was made by two patrolmen who had been sent out in their citizens' clothes to see what they could see, learn, hear or buy in the Bismarck, following reports made to the new administration that the cafe has not been conducted along the best lines.

The police claim that the waiter did not collect for the drinks in advance, which constitutes a misdemeanor. The waiter's contention is that he got the money before buying the drinks and was merely acting as the agent of the customers. The waiter was released on $100 to insure his appearance in police court this morning.

Carnicos was arraigned in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty, although it was earlier reported that he would not stand trial. His hearing was set for Thursday morning and bail continued at $100.

NEW YORK MEN CAN SELL NO ALIEN MEAT

Are Unable Under Law to Adopt Plan of San Francisco.

New York, May 24.—The importation of frozen or chilled meat from Australia as a means to break the high cost of living, as is being tried in California, apparently is barred here by Federal statutes, it has been discovered. Local jobbers who were considering the trial of Australian meats declare that the Federal authorities are enforcing the law which prohibits all men engaged in interstate commerce from selling beef or mutton or veal that has not had both an antemortem and a postmortem inspection by government employes. As it happens that practically all of the New York jobbers are interstate dealers, the obstacle appears a formidable one.

DANIELS STANDS PAT ON NAMES.

Washington, May 24.—Although Rear Admiral Winslow protested against the use of "right" and "left" instead of "port" and "starboard," the giving orders to the helmsmen in the navy, Secretary Daniels has announced that the change which he recently ordered would stand.

Admiral Winslow based his protest upon the similarity of sounds of the words "right" and "left" when given as orders in a strong breeze. The general board, to which Secretary Daniels referred the protest, did not agree with the admiral, however, and recommended that the change stand.

ARMY SURGEONS ARE CONQUERING MALARIA

Report on Work Is Made Public By Surgeon General.

Washington, May 24.—Army surgeons who have succeeded in minimizing typhoid in the military establishment have been equally successful in eliminating malaria as a military disease, according to statistics just published by Surgeon General Torney. The records for ten years disclose that the number of admissions to hospitals on account of malaria, which in 1903 were 60.83 per cent of the entire enlisted strength, were reduced last year to 14.22 per cent, with the prospect of further reduction this year.

GREEKS AND BULGARS IN SEVERE BATTLE

Bulgarian Troops at Serres Mutiny—Commander Kills Himself.

London, May 24.—Severe fighting has been resumed between the Greek and the Bulgarian troops in the vicinity of Saloniki. The infantry and artillery of both forces are hotly engaged near that city, according to dispatches received here from Athens.

The dispatches refer to the situation as having become "extremely grave."

When the last message was sent, King Constantine of Greece, who had just arrived at Saloniki with the general staff of the Greek army, was endeavoring to arrange a neutral zone between the two armies.

Bulgarians Mutiny.

Saloniki, May 24.—The losses of the Greek troops during the fighting against the Bulgarians are given today as one captain killed and 250 men killed and wounded. Hostilities have been suspended.

A mutiny has broken out among the Bulgarian troops at Serres, the men demanding to be disbanded. When their commanding officer found that he was unable to quell the disturbance he committed suicide.

KILLS HER BABY.

Fergus Falls Woman Admits Crime to Fargo Authorities.

Fargo, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olga Stansrud, aged 35, of Fergus Falls, Minn., has been arrested here and is said to have confessed she killed her 2-weeks-old baby in a field near here by pouring carbolic acid down its throat after making arrangements to leave the child at a receiving home. The arrest of a man carrying a grip containing baby clothes the woman made, has added spice to the case. An attorney has been secured to defend the woman who appears to be extremely unsophisticated and obsessed with the idea her disgrace must be concealed at all costs.

LATEST HAPPENINGS IN AUTO WORLD

RUSH HALTED BY WEATHER

Auto Dealers in Duluth Are Given Chance to Breathe Again.

Some Agents Have Sold Nearly All of Their Season's Allotments.

The continuation of the wet weather has been dampening to the sales business of local auto dealers but they seem to be just as well pleased with the let-up, for they have certainly been rushed all spring. One auto company in the city, dealing largely too, has already sold 85 per cent of its allotment and is trying hard to get the factory to let it have more—and the season is just beginning. This is also true of other companies. Now that there has been a let-up in the rush, the offices of the various garages and sales houses are catching up on detail work, which has been allowed to go every which way while attention was given to the selling of cars.

• • •

The meeting of the Twin Cities-to-Duluth Highway association, held at Rush City on Thursday of this week, was a most enthusiastic and, it is believed, fruitful one. Several auto enthusiasts from Duluth were present, and the Duluth Auto club was represented officially by H. J. Mullin. A committee was appointed to take up the highways matter, the route along the Northern Pacific road being the one chosen, with the state highway commission. Representing St. Louis county on the committee are Dr. J. D. Park, H. J. Mullin and George F. Lindsay.

This week the Mutual Auto company received seven carloads of autos to fill orders already taken. Of the autos that arrived, fourteen were Fords and six were Overlands. All were delivered to the purchasers within twenty-four hours after their arrival.

E. J. Filiatrault of that company is visiting the Ford and Chalmers factories in Detroit and the Overland factory in Toledo in an endeavor to get the Mutual's allotments increased. The company has sold over 85 per cent of its allotment, and with the season still ahead of it, Mr. Filiatrault feels that provisions must be made for more demand which is practically certain.

Mike Godfrey of Coleraine came to Duluth last Sunday and on Monday morning drove back to his home town in a new 1913 model Chalmers 6-cylinder touring car, which he had just purchased from the Mutual Auto company.

Auto owners, chauffeurs, prospective auto owners and prospective chauffeurs who are attending the night school for the study of motors, conducted by the Y. M. C. A. at Haley's garage, 310 East Superior street and 309 East Michigan street, are learning a lot about autos that they did not know before. The classes meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening and are doing actual work on autos in order that they may get not only the theoretical but the practical experience. For instance they are getting some valuable tips on tire troubles, blowouts and punctures, the bete noir of road tourists.

No precautions which may be taken will guard against the occasional picking up of a nail or a sharp and destructive piece of glass, or against a stone bruise which may spell disaster at any time, but the owner who knows can minimize these troubles by intelligent instructions to his chauffeur or intelligent driving if he himself be handling the wheel. It must be obvious that a car cannot be driven over a rough road, or one prolific in "thank-ye-ma'ams" as it would over smooth macadam without inviting trouble. Over such roads the car must be nursed and favored.

And when the tire trouble comes, as come it must to every tourist, it is at least well for the owner to be able to oversee the work of his driver, see that the latter takes no chances on pinching the inner tube in making the replacement and that each holding lug is properly adjusted. A knowledge of temporary and makeshift blowout patches is also a most valuable acquisition in times when the intelligent use of a section of an old leather shoe has been made to serve as emergency blowout patch and thus saved a tour from an untimely ending on the road far from any relief station.

M. W. Turner, the auto and vehicle dealer at 218-220 East First street, is back from Hibbing where he delivered a Jackson car to a merchant of that city. Mr. Turner made the distance overland and says that the roads are fairly good. He sold another Jackson car while there, but it had to be shipped by rail owing to the bad weather making the roads almost impassable. Mr. Turner says that the demand for Jackson cars is very good both in Duluth and outside. Delayed shipments delay delivery and are caused by the great tax on the factory from an excess if orders. Mr. Turner this week sold a two-ton Avery truck to the Jean Duluth farm, and most satisfactory reports on its work have been made. Mr. Turner says that the farm and implement business has been very successful so far this season.

The Interstate Auto company reports that the demand for Mechelin tires is increasing all through the district controlled by the company as agents, and it keeps the office buly, aside from local orders, sending tires out by express to the surrounding territory.

The same company is displaying the famous Batavia tire with its vacuum non-skid feature, and autoists who look it over are rapidly becoming enamored of it. It is claimed that a trial is always a sure convincer. This is the first time that this tire has been shown west of Chicago. It is the highest priced tire on the market and it is a guaranteed product, for if it fails to stand up under a 5,000-mile test, a new tire is given.

"Time was when automobile buyers considered only one thing in making their purchase, and that was—how fast can the car go," says N. L. Blake, manager of the Electric Service and Supply company, local branch manager for the Locomobile Company of America, "but now the question is becoming more and more, 'How safe is the car under the conditions of driving to which I will put it.'"

There are a great many reasons for the increase in the number of automobile owners who are demanding safety first: Dished wheels, broken axels, broken steering connections, broken transmissions, and other accidents have taught the automobile buying public that in a vehicle possessed of the enormous power of the average automobile with its high speed capacity, only the very best in materials and workmanship can be safely used.

The treatments to which all steel which enters into the construction of the Locomobile is subjected, are so severe, and require such a high standard of excellence in the raw product before it is finally treated, that few steel concerns care to bid on Locomobile specifications. It is only those that are equipped with facilities for turning out the very highest standards of steel, that send in their quotations.

The Locomobile company was the first to bring the present methods of heat treatment to their high standards, and all Locomobile steels are treated in the Locomobile heat treating plants; oftentimes by secret methods that bring the strength of the steels to the highest possible point.

Not only does this working out of strength apply to Locomobile steels, but in the wood used in the wheels, only the very finest second growth hickory is used, and the supply of this wood is so limited that it is practically impossible for many manufacturers to get it; but Locomobile options on second growth hickory wood lots have been dated ahead from several years past, assuring a steady supply.

It is this attention to the details which aid in securing the very maximum strength, that makes the high grade car, such as the Locomobile, a car of practically everlasting endurance.

"Merchants delivering to customers by motor truck, overlook an important point when they fail to persistently advertise that fact," says J. T. Peacha of the Interstate Auto company, local agents for the Kissel and Fiat cars. "It is so generally recognized by everyone that delivery by motor means quicker and more certain service, that its adoption is a big card for any firm, and if it is such an asset, why not make the most of it?

"If I were in a business where delivery was necessary, I would not only adopt trucks, but I would use liberal space in the newspapers advertising that fact. Where this has been done, it has brought prompt and unmistakable results. 'Delivery by motor' has a meaning that appeals to everyone, for one has only to observe to know that the motor-driven vehicle outdistances the horse four miles to one under average traffic conditions, and there are few purchasers that do not desire as early delivery as possible.

"It is acknowledged that a motor truck running through the streets is in itself a good advertisement for the firm whose name appears on it, but it might be made a much more valuable one if well advertised in the local papers. I believe that any merchant trying it will find out that I am correct."

Two touring cars equipped with chemical rubber filler in their tires will leave the city the beginning of the week for an extended touring trip. One, a Cadillac, belonging to S. D. Ives, will be driven through Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan. Mr. Ives expects to visit most of the larger cities in the East. The other a Jackson, belonging to Thomas Walker, will be driven through the western part of the state, practically all over the Cuyuna range. This car is also equipped with chemical rubber. Neither one of these autoists are carrying extra tires, tubes or repair outfits, and many of their friends who are automobile owners are looking forward with interest to their return so that they may learn what results chemical rubber will give on such a severe test. Mr. Walker stated this morning that this is the first time that he had ever planned a trip of this nature without a feeling of dread of the tire troubles that he might have to experience.

C. G. He wanted six wagon loads but the authorities would not permit it, fearing a blockage of traffic.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

A most gorgeous addition to the list of prizes for the third annual 500-mile international sweepstakes race, which will be staged at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30, is found in a gold and silver punch bowl, valued at $2,000, which has been donated for the event by Findeisen & Kropf, of Chicago, manufacturers of Rayfield carbureters. The only stipulation which is attached to it is that the winner must be equipped with a carbureter of the firm's make to claim the prize. Besides the bowl, a cash prize of $1,000 is offered by the concern, under the same conditions which determine the award of the trophy.

The dimensions of the punch bowl are extraordinary, its height being about thirty inches. Twelve cups and a huge ladle go along with it. The man who wins it ought to experience little difficulty in arranging a celebration afterward for his friends.

Another prize has been presented by Emil Grossman, maker of Red Head spark plugs, who proposes to give $500 to the winner, provided his car is equipped with his spark producing devices. The payment of the money will be on the weekly installment plan, it being Grossman's idea that the gift will be much more appreciated, especially during the cold months of the following winter, if it is doled out piece-meal instead of being handed over in a lump sum.

Drivers Insured.

That automobile racing is 146,100 times more dangerous for the participants than the ordinary profession has developed through the action of the Stutz Motor Car company in insuring its team of six men, who will drive cars in the third annual 500 mile international sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30. The London Lloyds took the risk, the policy being for $20,000 in case of injury or death of $1,000. The policy is effective only while the drivers are on the track. In other words, for two and one-half days, estimating their attendance at an average of two hours a day for the next month.

Calculated for a year, a premium of $1,000 on $30,000 for two and one-half days amounts to a rate of 487 per cent. The regular rate, figured on the basis of $5 on $1,500 for a year is .003 1-3. This is just 146,100 times less than the racing percentage.

Sixty drivers and mechanics will start in the long grind May 30.

Millionaire Driver.

E. C. Patterson, general manager of Collier's Weekly, is the latest addition to the list of millionaires who will drive racing cars in the third annual 500-mile international sweepstakes race. Patterson has just nominated himself as relief driver of the Mercedes-Knight car which he has entered in the race, and will take the wheel whenever Pilette, the Belgian pilot, feels the need of a rest during the long grind. He has already made an enviable reputation for himself as a breaker of city-to-city road records, and being anxious to experience the thrills of track racing he applied to the contest board of the American Automobile association for a driver's license, which has been granted. Millionaire Patterson is now officially known as driver No. 150.

Handling 100,000 People.

Handling a crowd of 100,000 people is no easy task, yet the management of the Indianapolis motor speedway has found a way to do it without confusion, and at the same time providing for the absolute comfort and safety of every person in attendance at the 500-mile races. Year by year this system has developed until today, it is not surpassed even by the methods of the United States army. In fact, army methods have been followed by the speedway management, and more elaborate preparations than ever are being made to take care of the gigantic crowd which will undoubtedly attend the third annual 500-mile international sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30.

When the speedway was first opened it was the intention to have a policing system similar to the famous Jeffersons Guards of the St. Louis exposition. Capt. William P. Carpenter, commissary officer of the Second Infantry, Indiana National Guards, has proved himself to be unusually efficient along these lines. Under his direction the Speedway Guards were organized and today this organization numbers 350 men, all of whom have had active military experience and who have learned well the lesson of obeying orders and doing their duty. The commissioned officers are assigned to sections, each with a detail of men under his command.

Capt. Carpenter will take his men to the speedway grounds the night before the race, and there they will pitch camp in regular military fashion. Early in the morning the men will line up for roll call. The first duties of the day begin with what is called the "combing process." The guards are dispatched to every part of the speedway grounds, which are more than a mile in extent, and, forming a skirmish line, they work towards the main gate, rounding up all the fence climbers who may have entered the speedway during the night expecting to cheat the gateman out of the necessary admission tickets. Past races have revealed the fact that from 50 to 150 of these men enter the speedway grounds during the night, hoping to remain there undetected during the race.

This duty performed, the Speedway guards are then assigned to the posts they will occupy throughout the day, and are ready to receive the crowds which begin pouring through the gates early in the morning.

Crooks who are commonly found where large crowds gather long ago learned that the Indianapolis motor speedway is not a safe place for them to ply their trade, and consequently the offenders with whom the speedway guards have to contend, are usually merry makers who permit their enthusiasm get the better of them, to the discomfort of their neighbors. Intoxicated persons, and others who are guilty of petty misdemeanors are promptly rounded up and ushered to the office of a justice of the peace who is on the grounds and who holds court all day. The justice assesses fines or detains the culprits as he see fit, while those who are guilty of more serious offences are sent to the Indianapolis police station. City police, special officers and a large force of expert Pinkerton detectives are also stationed all over the grounds and help to preserve perfect order. There has never been any serious disorder at the speedway during the four years that racing events have been held at the big track. During the first races held the speedway guards were frequently called upon to arrest gamblers and bootleggers who gathered in the vicinity of the speedway, but the drastic measures adopted toward these offenders soon convinced them that they had better walk the straight and narrow path during race time. So perfect is the police and guard systems that visitors have only a sense of safety, and the speedway management, believing that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, permits nothing to go unpassed which will ward off all possible danger.

Kerosene as Fuel.

Ray Harroun, winner of the Indianapolis speedway 500-mile race in 1911, and one of the best known racing drivers in the country, recently proved, in several tests, that kerosene costing one-half as much as gasoline, will give more miles per gallon; twice as much mileage, dollar for dollar; more speed; practicaly as good acceleration, and no more carbonization or smoking than gasoline. The tests were made under the strict observation of a writer for one of the well-known trade papers, and consisted of a cross-country run from Chicago to Indianapolis and on the Indianapolis speedway.

In his test Mr. Harroun used an Overland Model 69-T, five-passenger touring car, with four-cylinder motor, 4 by 4½ inches, and weighing, with load, 3,330 pounds. He also used one of the new carbureters, on which he has been working for the past two years, so designed as to utilize kerosene as a motor fuel. In traveling the 224 miles of all kinds of roads between Chicago and Indianapolis, Mr. Harroun used thirteen gallons of kerosene, testing at 43 deg. Baume, three pints of oil and two quarts of water. At an average speed of 20 miles per hour the result shown was 17¼ miles per gallon of kerosene, 596 miles per gallon of oil and 448.2 miles per gallon of water. In the entire run the motor did not miss once, had normal power, the smoking was barely noticeable, and in every way performed as if running on gasoline. Though slightly warmer than when gasoline was used, the motor was in no way overheated in any stage of the run.

On arrival at Indianapolis, further tests were made, four different fuels being used. These were kerosene testing 49 deg., motor spirits testing 62 deg., and gasoline testing 60 deg. On the first quality of kerosene a mileage of 22.2 per gallon was attained, while gasoline produced only 20 miles per gallon. The cost of kerosene, 8 cents per gallon, was exactly one-half of that of the gasoline. In ton miles per gallon, kerosene was again the winner, showing 26.64 as against 24 with gasoline. The cost per ton mile figures show .0029 cents for kerosene and .0067 cents for gasoline. The cost per mile for kerosene was shown to be .0036 cents, and for gasoline .008 cents.

If the results of Mr. Harroun's test can be taken as a criterion, a new era can be looked for in motor fuel production. The former racing driver is planning to seek official recognition for his carbureter, by entering the same Overland car used in these tests, in the fuel economy section of the Algonquin hill climb. He further plans to enter the Overland and two other cars in the Chicago-Boston non-motor-stop reliability race to be held in July, under the auspices of the Chicago Automobile club. In case these entries are made, nothing but kerosene will be used for fuel.

"As an evidence of the decline of the six-cylinder car in Europe," said Ray R. Cook, who handles the foreign business of the Cadillac Motor Car company, and who recently returned from an extended business trip abroad, "Charles Raoul-Duval, our Paris dealer, took in trade a high grade six-cylinder car of European standard make which originally sold for about $4,500. He allowed a good sum for it and after carrying it for some months Mr. Raoul-Duval says that he has refused price after price from time to time and that now he would be glad to get $500 for it. He stated that his only hope of getting rid of it was to land some American tourist, as there seems to be almost no market for that type any more among European motorists."

Selling four pleasure cars to different members of the same family is something of a record, but that very thing has been accomplished by a salesman of the Kissel Motor Car company of Hartford, Wis. This extraordinary sale of Kissel Kars was made in Detroit, H. Houghton and Stanley Houghton purchasing Kissel "Sixes," Chester Houghton a "Fifty" and Roy G. Houghton a "Forty." The buyers are all members of the manufacturing firm of H. Houghton & Sons, and to further commit the concern to the Kissel, a fifth sale of a "Fifty" was made to Mr. Albright, another official of the company.

One hour and fifteen minutes was consumed by a Kissel Kar four-ton truck equipped with a dump body in delivering a full load of lumber to a destination seven miles distant and returning to the starting point. The work was done for the South River Brick company of South River, N. J.

The same day a team of horses hauling a two-ton load of lumber, half the burden carried by the truck, occupied four hours and thirty minutes in making the identical trip. On this basis, the usual time consumed by horses on the trip in question—it would take nine hours to deliver by horses the same tonnage that the truck delivered in an hour and a quarter.

BASEBALL HAS CAPTURED PARIS

Negotiations Under Way for Purchase of Ball Park in the Bois de Boulogne---Frenchmen Now Taking Pride in Being Athletic.

Paris, May 24.—Baseball has come to Paris, and has taken the city virtually by storm. Negotiations are under way for the purchase of a ball park in the Bois de Boulogne; sporting houses are stocking baseballs, bats, masks and gloves to meet an increasing demand, and the American baseball vernacular is being translated into French.

All this is the direct result of a few exhibitions of the great American game witnessed near Paris recently, but France was ripe for the innovation. Grafted on a newly awakened love for outdoor sports and living that has grown up in France recently, baseball bids fair to become the most popular and fashionable method of its expression.

Several hundred curious spectators journeyed to Colomb a few days ago to see the game played officially for the first time under the auspices of the "Racing club." As the match progressed the Parisians became more and more fascinated, and by the end of the ninth everybody present promised himself a try at the new game, which will, in all probability, be officially adopted by the leading Paris athletic clubs.

Frenchmen today take pride in being athletic. It is the fashion to "go in" for some kind of outdoor sport. A soft arm and a pallid complexion are coming to be scorned. This change in Frenchmen is one result of what has been called "the new spirit in France;" the spirit of confidence, of action, of morality. It is well exemplified by Maurice Barres and a younger school of writers who believe a man can write just as good poetry and philosophy in riding-breeches or after a game of tennis as with long locks, butterfly neckwear, and a dull and unhealthy eye.

Frenchmen are determined in 1915 to avenge their poor performances in the last Olympic games. The country is being searched systematically for promising athletes. A number of well-known men, among them the Marquis de Polignac, have undertaken a campaign to arouse the country to its responsibilities in this connection, and already athletic competitions to bring out Olympic material are being arranged in every little village in France. From these the winners will assemble in county competitions, and so on, until gradually by elimination there will be picked out the best team of athletes which France can produce. France is making up her mind to surprise the athletic world in 1915, and the growing popularity of "le sport" will aid materially in this end.

Queen of Smugglers Arrested.

The richest woman in the city of Constance, Switzerland, Madame Osel, known as the "Queen of the Smugglers," has just been arrested and given fifteen months' imprisonment for introducing saccharine into Germany.

For years Madame Osel has been directing the operations of a band of smugglers who derived good profit from this contraband trade. She made not less than 150 per cent on a considerable capital, and she is rated by the commercial agencies as worth $200,000. Her favorite method has been to send her agents across the frontier in motor cars. They traveled as tourists, and their cars were constructed with secret receptacles in which the saccharine was hidden.

On a recent visit to Lindau, Madame Osel was recognized by the German police. She jumped into her car and started for the Swiss frontier at full speed, but a telephone message beat her to the barrier. The gate was closed. She recognized the inevitable, and quickly submitted to arrest.

Theft As a Sport.

A curious society, the members of which stole for the pleasure and excitement in theft as a sport, has been discovered in the Folie-Mericourt quarter of Paris.

Three members of the organization are now in custody. One, a stone-cutter named Albert Bachez, spent all his spare time in the planning and execution of difficult and daring thefts. His only reward was the admiration and praise of his colleagues. The results of his endeavor were exhibited as proof of his success, and were then donated to the society and stored in its rooms. Bachez scored easy work, but any difficult task suggested by the society at once aroused his remarkable faculties, and was carried out with amazing cunning.

But as was to be expected, Bachez one day made a miscalculation. He was caught stealing some valuable bronze art-objects in the Bastile quarter of Paris, and is now awaiting trial.

Alfonso's Courage.

Alfonso of Spain has returned home. His Paris visit was short, but not so the memory of his fatalistic courage. When the king was told that George of Greece had been assassinated at Saloniki, his only comment was: "It will be my turn next." A close friend who heard this remark urged the king to agree never to go out on horseback again unless accompanied by a strong escort. "If," replied the young monarch, "I am never to be allowed to go about as I wish, I can only hope that my turn will come quickly."

Five actual attempts have been made on the life of King Alfonso in the past ten years, the last occurring at Madrid, April 13, of this year.

BY BRUCE.

With different stage settings and with the weather somewhat milder, though the threats continue to threaten, we met the enemy yesterday afternoon and at the conclusion of the battle the issue was ours by the confectionery count of 3 to 2. She was one of the best games of the present season, and we had the double satisfaction of defeating the pitcher for whom Philadelphia last year offered $10,000 in real money.

Henry Clay Blancke, the poet pitcher, was in excellent mood yesterday. His damp and extreme spitter was jumping with quick and snaky moves, and his curves possessed breaks that shot in a thoroughly deceiving manner. The admirer of Keats was master of the situation at most every stage of the journey, and at the conclusion of the lurid contest penned a few well chosen words back to dear Sundusky.

From the sylvan scene of a lumber camp the scene was shifted yesterday to that of an industrial exhibition. The huge piles of lumber were removed from the middlewed ground of the outfield and placed against the fence. The early comers and those who simply go to a baseball game because ennui persists in kicking 'em in the shins, had the opportunity of reading of various articles of wearing apparel, several brands of brew and various comestibles. Our ball park is rapidly taking on a metropolitan air. Next week they are going to remove all of the players and permit the fans to read the signs undisturbed.

Poet Had Everything.

During the course of the pastiming but five hits were gathered from the delivery of the author of "Sandusky's Dassied Dells." The poet had most everything, one of the blows gathered from his serpentine twists being of the order of the scratch. Control was also something that Henry Clay had in abundance; in fact, his control was so perfect that he was able to hit Warner on the little finger in the eighth round. Mr. Blancke had been reading Henry James of late and declares that he is quite immune to excitement and flightiness.

But one fly was lofted to our outfielders during the afternoon, Mr. Miller of Sandusky taking care of this. The burden of the relief fell on the shoulders of Messrs. Meniece and Wilke, those gents doing the bulk of the reething, though of necessity aided and abetted by the hero of the hill.

At two times when the visitors became threatening double plays cut 'em off, Schreiber to O'Brien to the Sycamore.

In the eighth Herr Warner was perched on third and Brother Brier was on first. Brier started for second and our Mr. Wilke heaved the pill to the bag. Schreiber came in on the gallop and taking the spheroid relayed it hurriedly home in time to nip Warner in the act of scoring. Sprightly playing.

Leverett Springs Surprise.

For five rounds the visitors were set down with one hit, said hit being the lodge member of the scratch referred to above. In the sixth Friend Leverett pickled one to center field after two strikes had been declared. This surprised everyone, the Minneapolis team most of all. Then to add insult to injury the touring pitcher swiped the second sack. From this eminent point of vantage he counted the first of the visitors' runs when Cosgriff doubled to the right center patch.

Our first was uneventful. After Rhoades had singled in the second and then been chucked out trying to stretch his effort into two bases. Schreiber hit the ball over the paling in left field for a one count home run.

In the third Blancke started festivities by whiffing. O'Brien walked, but was thrown out at second. McGraw also drew transportation. Miller singled and McGraw moved up. Mr. Meniece, the well known onion fancier of Woodland, at this highly psychological and intense moment, strode to the bat. As he emerged from the bench a well rendered cheer went up. Reaching to his left hip pocket Mr. Meniece took a small object therefrom and took a bite of it. The inevitable onion. Whereupon he swatted one to left for two bases and McGraw and Miller counted.

In the ninth Grodnick was hit on the little finger. He swiped second to show that some men can perform heroic feats in the very throes of exerniciating pain and a moment later counted on Manager Bob Unglaub's long double to center field. The situation looked somewhat shaky, but the next two men went out and the league leaders dropped the first game of the series here.

Darby Plays the Spartan.

In the third inning Darby O'Brien was hit on the right thumb. Umpire Kissane holds that there is a distinct distinction between being swatted on the thumb and little finger. He refused to permit the orator to take his base. Late last evening Mr. Kissane was working on his opinion in this matter. While he refused to be interviewed, your correspondent learned that the review of the case is to be a lengthy one, various details to be touched upon.

O'Brien was in evident pain. But he has been reading ancient history with Mike Kramer during the past rainy days and they perused together the story of the Spartan youth and the fox, a thrilling little thing. Remember how the fox got a first class meal off the higher ribs of the Spartan youth while he stood and pretended he didn't have a thing under his little college blouse?

Recalling this deed of extreme fortitude, O'Brien on the way to the bench to have someone take his place, hastily retraced his steps and went to first amid rousing cheers. Thus do we find that reading not only improves the mind of man and youth, but also succors him in times of dire need.

Chicken was an enigma to the visitors and pitched a nice game all the way through. Passes and errors and hits worked well for the Red Hose, all coming in fortunate combinations. The score:

PITCHER WILSON HOLDS VIRGINIA CREW HITLESS

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—Wilson held Virginia hitless in yesterday's game and the locals took the first contest of the series by the score of 6 to 0. Watkins was on the mound for the visitors and he was found for nine blows during the game. During the game but four of the Rangers reached first base, two errors and two walks being the means of transportation. The game was the fastest played in the Northern league during the season, it being completed in an hour and fifteen minutes.

Edmunds singled in the third, Breyette made a mess of a throw and then Fishback singled, filling the bases. Foster's single counted two. Altman hit a sacrifice fly and Larson singled. Two singles and a double in the eighth scored two more runs.

Win Third Straight.

Philadelphia, May 24.—Philadelphola won the third straight game from Cincinnati here yesterday, the score being 4 to 1. The visitors escaped a shutout through a home run drive into the bleachers by Almeida. The double plays were made by the home team. Only thirty batsmen faced Brennan. Bescher, who made a pair of doubles, was the only man in addition to Almeida to get as far as second base. Both times Bescher was left at second, he being the only visiting player to be stranded on the circuit.

Philadelphia tied the score in the fifth inning on Cravath's double, an error by Tinker and a double play. In the seventh, Cravath drew a pass, took third on Brown's wild throw to catch him napping and scored with Luderus on the latter's home run drive over the right field fence. Suggs took Brown's place in the eighth and Knabe went on his single and Magee's double.

Yesterday's game wound up Philadelphia's stay at home, during which the team won 15 contests and lost 3.

Six Pitchers Used.

Kansas City, Mo., May 24.—Louisville coming from behind after the locals had taken a lead of three runs in the first two innings won a 9 to 6 victory over Kansas City yesterday through consistent hitting. Niehoff, the Louisville third baseman, was the individual star, getting a single, a double and a home run in four times at bat.

The visitors got away to a lead of two runs in the first on a stolen base and singles by Ingerton, Hulswitt and Stansbury. However, the locals, in the home half of the same inning, scored four runs on doubles by Barbeau and Kritchell, a passed ball and three singles. The locals added another run in the second on a walk and Walker's double. The sixth, seventh and eighth and ninth was a grand parade of runs for the visitors who had no difficulty in hitting the local pitchers. In the ninth, Niehoff hit a home run over the right field fence with Weinberg on base. The score: R. H. E.

WATCH DATE FOR SUMMER OPENING

ELKS ORGANIZE BASEBALL TEAM

The Elks' baseball team of Duluth has organized for the season and it is expected that the team will be the strongest in the history of the antlered herd of our fair city. Frank Wegman is the catcher of the team as well as the captain, and John Doran is the manager. Already a number of games have been arranged, St. Cloud Elks being one of the early opponents of the Duluth boys.

Schmirler and Joe Deller will do the flinging for the team and Helmer Grenner will be at first, Girard will hold down second and Kelley will be at third. Stevens is to play shortstop and Bailey, Wendlandt and Tresise will play the outfield.

It is planned to play several games at home during the present season. It is believed that several of the strongest Elk teams of the state will be brought here some time after the present month.

RALPH COMSTOCK TO HURL SUNDAY

Crack Minneapolis Pitcher Will Go in Against the White Sox.

Ralph Comstock, the star pitcher of the Northern league, and incidentally one of the best dressed baseball players in captivity, will make his first appearance in Duluth tomorrow when he will mount the mound and give the fans here an exhibition of the skill that so far has enabled him to walk through the Northern like grim old Father Time, armed with his scythe.

Those well qualified to know declare that this same Comstock is one of the greatest pitchers in baseball at the present time and that he will be back with the Minneapolis American association team before the season is much over. He beat Schauer in Superior Thursday and it is expected that he will have a great battle here in the Sunday contest.

With the attraction of the great Minneapolis pitcher on the mound and the Minneapolis team here for a Sunday contest, it is expected that the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a game in the history of the sport here will be on hand.

Travers Defends Title.

New York, May 24.—The issue for the Metropolitan golf championship title, will be fought out today between Jerome D. Travers, the present champion, and Alfred D. Kammer on the Foxhills Golf club course.

Travers, by steady playing, has easily defeated everyone opposed to him. In the third round yesterday, playing against Chisholm Beach, Travers, after winning by 7 up and 5 to go, played out the bye-holes and made a new amateur competitive record of 70 for the course.

Kammer defeated E. M. Wild of Cranford, N. J., 4 up and 3 to play, in his semi-final match.

PENNSY-NAVY RACE ON AT ANNAPOLIS.

Annapolis, Md., May 24.—With storm clouds hanging over the river and strong probabilities of rain and wind at any time, conditions for the Pennsylvania-Navy boat race here this afternoon were not bright early today.

Coach Ward of the Quakers had his men out early for their final paddle that they may limber up a little after missing their practice yesterday.

The races will be rowed over the inner course if weather conditions at 4 o'clock permit. In addition to the Pennsylvania-Navy varsity and freshman contests, an eight-oared race with the Ariel Boat club of Baltimore, and the "middy" third crew and a four-oared race between the midshipmen and the Arundel club, also of Baltimore, are on the pregram.

WAR VETERAN RUNNER ISSUES CHALLENGE.

Detroit, Mich., May 24.—J. L. Smith of Detroit, 67 years old, champion runner of the Grand Army of the Republic, last night mailed to Lieut-Gen. B. H. Young, Louisville, Ky., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, a challenge to be laid before the Southern veterans at their encampment at Chattanooga next week. Smith invites any Confederate soldier to meet him on the cinder path for a race at any distance from a quarter of a mile to ten miles. He stipulates the race is to be run during the G. A. R. encampment next September.

Smith is a veteran of both the Eighth New York heavy artillery and the Tenth New York infantry.

LUTHER McCARTY AND PELKY MEET AT CALGARY.

Calgary, Alta., May 24.—An immense crowd has gathered here today to witness the fight of Luther McCarty, world's white heavyweight champion, and Arthur Kelkey, the challenger. It is expected that the largest crowd that ever witnessed a fight in Canada will be present at the ringside, five miles from here, when the gong starts the 10-round go, at 12:45 p. m. (mountain time).

Both men are in excellent condition. McCarty has trained down to 200 pounds, while Kelkey is ten pounds heavier.

Eddie Smith of Chicago will referee the fight.

JIMMY BRADY STOPS CHICAGO EDDIE EVERS.

In a wire to the sporting editor of The Herald, news comes of the victory of Jimmy Brady last evening over Eddie Evers of Chicago. The boys, according to the dispatch, fought before a private club, the Duluth boy scoring five knockdowns before the referee stopped the fight in the fourth round. Brady was substituted at the last moment for Frankie White and more than made good. Harry Forbes refereed the mill.

Will Buy Pitchers.

Chicago, May 24.—The Chicago Nationals will add two or three pitchers to their staff within a week, according to a dispatch from Buffalo, which said President Murphy was authority for the statement as the team passed through that place yesterday on its way West. Among the men signed, Murphy hinted, was "Rube" Schauer of the Superior, Wis., Northern league club. Schauer is playing his first season of professional ball, but his work looked good in the eyes of Scout McGurn.

Trott Shades Hayes.

Winnipeg, Man., May 24.—Sammy Trott of Columbus, was awarded the newspaper decision over Grover Hayes of Philadelphia in a 12-round bout here last night, as the result of a wild swing in the eleventh round which caught Hayes on the jaw and floored him for the count of five. Hayes got up groggy and bleeding from the nose, but managed to finish the bout. Outside of this round the fight was even.

Annual Track Meet.

Madison, Wis. May 24.—The pick of the high school athletes of Wisconsin arrived last night for the annual track and field meet of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association today. Twenty-four schools are entered. The entry list of more than 300 sets a record.

Track Meet Opens.

Huron, S. D., May 24.—Large delegations of athletes from the colleges and universities in South Dakota are here for the annual track and field meet which opened yesterday.

JOHNNY COULON RANKED AS VERY GREAT FIGHTER

Johnnq Coulon ,in the writer's opinion, is the greatest fighter at his weight in the world. One writer who would thrive in a nest of snakes, or who would be a happy man with a blackjack, was ever loath to admit Coulon as the champion of the bantam division. It doesn't matter what he thinks anyway. He failed to swerve opinion to his side, and now Coulon is voted the champion of his class, says the New York Globe.

Coulon has always been willing to defend his title. He has engaged in more battles than any premier of any other division. He has never resorted to any subterfuges to escape a match with a dangerous man. He has fought them all, and when he would hear of the increasing list of would-be champions Johnny always enthused.

"The more the merrier and the bigger the bank roll," was Coulon's way of looking at it.

There is but one man in the country today who is ripe for a championship mill with Coulon, and that is little "Kid" Williams of Baltimore. This youngster gave Johnny quite an argument in the Garden some months ago, but when they meet again don't try to dope out the result of the meeting on that previous performance. Coulon wasn't right that time. He had just returned from a long vacation, and when he went boxing his judgment of distance wasn't the best, nor was he as accurate in his punching as he usually is.

Smart Little Boxer.

Just the same Williams is one darned smart little fighter. He has walloped them all right up to Coulon, and he is in line for a whack at the title.

The only trouble is that Williams has a manager who will not win him any great amount of popularity. He is a fellow who believes money can hold a conversation. He thinks that betting is the force of argument and to declare Williams' desire to fight Coulon he is willing to bet any number of thousands. And because he has talked so big he thinks now that his boy is entitled to be called the champion. Foolish thought.

Coulon has just returned to the ring after a long absence due to illness. He will listen to reason for another bout with Williams. And Williams's manager will not have to dig into the subtreasury either to make himself understood when it comes to articles of agreement.

Knocking New Yorkers.

The speed of the manager of Williams may be gleaned from a letter he has just sent out regarding the recent bout between Abe Attell and George Cheney, who is under the same management as Williams. The manager claims that Billy Joh robbed Cheney of a well-earned victory by declaring Attell the winner. He says that the police of Baltimore are so incensed at the verdict that they are now thinking of barring out-of-town referees in that city.

New Yorkers know Billy Joh and they know that no more competent official is there in the ring today. Billy Joh is a fellow who has the courage of his convictions, and who fears not the hoots and jeers of a home crowd. When he gave Attell the decision it was his honest opinion that Attell won.

He has nothing in common with fighters or their managers, and his record is too good to be besmirched by some dissatisfied person, particularly one of the Kid Williams' manager type.

WALTER MILLER LANDS A MATCH

Duluth Wrestler to Meet Tom Sontag at Great Falls, Mont.

Walter Miller, the little Duluth wrestler who has been steadily working to get into the very best of shape for the past three months, this morning received a wire from Great Falls, Mont., accepting his terms for a finish contest with Tom Sontag. The little Duluth boy will go to Calumet within a week and there put on the finishing touches in his conditioning with Ted Tonemon, who will come from Chicago to put the Duluthian in the very best of condition.

Terms have been reached in the Joe Carr contest and Walter is to meet the husky Minneapolis middleweight at Athletic park on Independence day. Miller declares that he is in better condition at the present time than he was at any time last winter. Then ill health and a cold that hung on persistently conspired against the very best of condition. Walter has been taking the very best of care of himself and is confident that he is going to make a grand showing on the mat.

HERRMANN REPLIES TO FULTZ'S LETTER.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 24.—August Herrmann, president of the national baseball commission last night sent a letter to David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, in which he replied to a letter recently received from the latter, complaining of the transference of baseball players from one club to another, which, Mr. Fultz, said, involved a decrease of salary.

In his reply, Mr. Herrmann pointed out a section in the national agreement in which it was set forth that the purpose of the organization was to give baseball players every opportunity to rise in their profession and to protect their rights. He said that the transference of a player from one major league to another carried with it his contract and that the player could not lose in salary until the contract expired.

He also said that a player taken from a minor league by a major league club always received an increase in salary depending on his value to the major league club. Before a player is released from a major league club to a minor league club, Mr. Herrmann declared that the waiver rule would keep him in the major leagues if any other club desired his services and that if he was not claimed, his salary was a matter of personal negotiation with the minor league club which secured him.

Mr. Herrmann added that a player could not expect a minor league club to pay the same salary that a major league club could, as its receipts were much less.

USE OF SPIT BALL INJURES DIGESTION.

Chicago, May 24.—Excessive use of the spit ball has injured Ed Walsh's digestion and has thus affected his condition, so that he has not yet reached his best form this year, according to Dr. James H. Blair, club physician of the Chicago Americans, in a report made yesterday on the pitcher's condition. Walsh is quoted as saying his arm is "far from right," and attributing his success in the game with New York last Sunday to his "headwork." According to the doctor, saliva needed for Walsh's digestion has been used on the ball, but with care, the pitcher may be in his old-time form in a month.

McLOUGHLIN IN EAST TO MEET AUSTRALIANS.

New York, May 24.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, the lawn tennis champion, arrived here yesterday from California, and after a short conference with R. D. Wrenn, he made haste to get into action on the courts of the West Side club, where he will be one of the American team to meet the Australians in the international matches for the Davis cup.

McLoughlin believes the Australian trio, Rice, Naught and Jones, a strong one. He saw them in action in San Francisco and was greatly impressed with Jones' single play.

McLoughlin will practice in this city until the Davis cup matches in June. His only outside appearance will be in Boston next Wednesday, when he will meet R. N. Williams, also of the American team.

EASTERN ATHLETES HOLD TRACK MEET.

Cambridge, Mass., May 24.—With the track soggy and the field slippery from the rain of the last two days, the athletes competing at the twenty-seventh annual championship meeting of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic association began the final events in the Harvard stadium this afternoon.

As to the outcome of the meet there was no doubt apparent anywhere today. Dartmouth qualified twenty-one athletes in the trials yesterday, more than twice as many as her closest rival.

There were nearly half a dozen athletes competing today who were regarded as having strong prospects of setting new records. Most prominent perhaps was Capt. Norman E. Taber of Brown, who ran in the last Olympic games and who was expected to make new marks for the half mile and the mile run.

H. P. Bailey of Maine, hammer thrower, expected to better his yesterday's performance of 153 feet, 8 inches. Marc Wright, the Dartmouth captain, was regarded as likely to develop a new pole vault record.

Two Boxing Matches.

New York, May 24.—Two heavyweight boxing matches were staged at Madison Square Garden last night; George Rodel, "The Boer," besting Soldier Kearns in eight out of the ten rounds, and Jim Coffey, "The Dublin Giant," outpointing Jim Flynn of Pueblo after a hard session. Coffey exhibited much cleverness, Flynn at times standing still while Coffey rained a shower of lefts and rights to his face and head. Flynn did a lot of rushing and worked mostly for the body, having his opponent backing away during the last rounds, but Coffey's cleverness at long distance work was too much for the Western man. Coffey weighed 193 pounds and Flynn 191.

Motorcyclist Killed.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 24.—While learning to race a motorcycle in Luna park motordrome here yesterday, Julius Sirn, a young amateur, was instantly killed. He had been repeatedly warned not to go above the white stripe half way up on the saucer-shaped track. When he tried to increase his speed, so as to ride above the white stripe, he lost control and struck a post at the top of the track and was killed.

GOAT-GETTING AN ART USED BY MANY PUGS

"Years ago, I fought a rather rough fellow named Duffy, a hard, skin-glove battle, over in Pete Hart's old roadhouse at Laurel Hill, L. I.," writes Jack Skelley. "I remember, in the first round, he started at me like a mad bull, and, as he drove me against the ropes, glared at me, shouting: 'Now I've got ye for the poultry ye put in de papers!' I could not help laughing as he taunted me again and again about the 'poultry,' and, when I went to my corner, I asked my principal second what Duffy was driving at.

"'Pay no attention to him, Jack, he's only trying to get your goat,' answered my handler, as he laughed.

"I quickly recalled having written rather a roasting challenge to meet all comers at the old featherweight limit—115 pounds—and Duffy, being a bit thick, swallowed the deft as a knock to himself. I really got his goat instead of him having mine. He gave me a tough battle, however, and I had to fight like a Trojan to win. It was the first time an opponent ever tried to get my goat, I never forgot it. It was really comic. I might mention that they did not use the expression 'get your goat' in those days, but some other slang words that meant the same.

That Wicked Glare.

"Those who saw John L. Sullivan fight in his palmy days can recall the wicked glare that so often put the fear of God into the heart of an opponent. He would often sit in his corner for five minutes before the call of 'time' with fire in his gleaming eyes, and have the other fellow frightened before a blow was struck. The big fellow most always got his antagonists' goat before they toed the scratch. Besides, he had a thundering sub-cellar voice that often caused a victim to lose his nerve."

When Tug Wilson, the so-called English champion, tried to evade Sullivan's wallops by dropping down continually in their four-round battle at Madison Square Garden, John L. would roar: "Stand up and fight like a man, you English stiff!" These taunts only made the tricky Briton more slippery and careful of the big fellow's punches, for he continued to drop down round after round without a punch. If he had stood up and fought fair under Queensbury rules, Sullivan would have almost annihilated him. But the cunning Englishman managed to stay the four rounds, and got away with more coin than he ever had before or since.

The late Ike O'Neil Weir, the Belfast Spider, was not only a "goat" getter, but a comedian as well within the roped arena. He was a wonderfully clever boxer, and could outpoint any man near his weight. He would waltz around the ring, cutting all kinds of queer capers in the middle of a grueling skin-glove mill. He certainly got his opponent's "goat" by his comic antics. Why, he often danced a jig while fighting for big money, and then would say to his oppinent: "I'm going to hit you right on the bridge of the nose. Look out!" Like a flash his straight left would shoot out and land about the "poultry," and, when I went tallaking to the other chap? Well, I should certainly say it was. There's no man in the ring today, not even Packey McFarland who had the brilliant science of poor Ike Weir. May his soul rest in peace!

Griffo a Wonder.

Another marvelously clever boxer was Young Griffo. He often used to make his opponents look like "thirty cents" by his lightning speed, shower of blows and cutting taunts. "'Ere, pal, I'll give you a boxin' lesson," hed sing out to the man he was fighting. And he would generally follow his remark with a rain of punches that came so fast and furious that his opponent would become bewildered and confused. Griffo, like Weir, was also full of comedy within the ropes. It was certainly a treat to see him perform. He never had in this country the punch, however, he must have left the wallop in Australia—but he could outbox any fighter of his day in his class.

I've often noticed that Packey McFarland, when in fistic action, has a particularly sardonic smile that generally gets the "goat" of his opponent. In his mill with Jack Britton, I saw that tantalizing sneer worked to perfection, as Packey would cleverly throw off one of Jack's wicked leads. McFarland has fine, piercing little X-ray eyes that seem to look through his opponent. He smiles that taunting smile at the psychological moment, and maybe it does not have its proper effect! Ask Jack Britton, Leach Cross, Young Ahern, the dancing master, or any of the clever boys who have been up against the great Packey. Believe me, he's phenomenal in more than one way. Not only with his fists, but with his quick brain as well. As I've often said before, a classy champion must have not only the fine physical qualifications, but the mental ability as well to out-know and out-think an opponent. I know, of course, that McFarland does not lay claim to any championship in any of the divisions, but he's certainly a champion in his own class.

PRESENT-DAY SECONDS KNOW LITTLE OF BOXING

A boxer is usually knocked out by blows delivered to the following three points of contact: Blows delivered about the jaw and neck paralyze the nerve centers in the brain presiding over motion and co-ordination. Solar plexus blows interfere with circulation and respiration through shock to the nervous system. The boxer struck a low foul blow is disabled and paralyzed through severe pain, generally being perfectly conscious.

There is practically no danger of permanent injury following a knockout when the contestants are normal physically, properly trained and matched. The few records of fatalities in boxing, football and baseball are almost invariably traceable to some organic lesion existing prior to the contest.

The proper treatment of a boxer who is knocked out is to allow him to remain on his back, correcting any cramp position that he assumes when he falls; fan him so that he may have a plentiful supply of air, and do not crowd about him. If pulse, respiration and color remain good, there is absolutely no danger, though he remain unconscious for some time thereafter.

Danger Signals.

Danger signals (indicating a pathological condition that existed previous to his having engaged in the contest, and which can be determined by a thorough physical examination) are a pale, ashy-gray color, weak and rapid heart-beat, cold and clammy skin and impaired respiration.

When these symptoms are apparent the proper immediate treatment is stimulant administered hypodermically, guarded inhalation of ammonia or salts, accompanied by massage of the extremities with alcohol.—(The foregoing is a statement of Dr. I. W. Powell, former football and baseball star and a close follower of the boxing game for many years.)

The sport of boxing has in recent years been improved upon in many ways, perhaps in every way save one—the art of "seconding." That is, the care given a boxer by his aids in the interval between rounds.

In the long, grueling contests of years ago there were many men of known ability whose services as "seconds" were in great demand, and they were well paid. There are some now, but not so many. The limited-round contest and the fact that precautions are taken to eliminate brutality and serious injury are mainly responsible for this, but even then too little attention is paid to the selection of men for work in the boxer's corner.

Seconds Don't Know.

Nowadays it is no uncommon sight to see four or five men in a boxer's corner, none of whom know more than enough to fan him, rub his legs, feed him stimulant and apply a sponge of cold water. There are times when this is all, and more, than a boxer needs, but this treatment is generally resorted to indiscriminately without a knowledge of why, or what is most needed, and often when it is not needed at all. However, there is nothing particularly harmful in this unless it be overdone, and then when it is the boxer finds more relief out in the ring fighting than he does in his corner under treatment by his seconds.

It should be borne in mind that the one-minute interval between rounds is for the purpose of rest and all unnecessary disturbance in the boxer's corner should be carefully avoided. Rest and air are of far more value to the tired boxer than useless suggestions and dousing of cold water for the want of something better to do. Advice should be given by one man, and the boxer should not be required to talk.

Years ago many seconds were pretty fair surgeons, knew something of medicines and their effects, were good judges of physical condition and could pass first-class examinations in "first aid to the injured." Their business required that they know these things, and they were constantly seeking knowledge on the subject. They were called upon to act in time of emergency and their treatment was heroic, but intelligent.

In the long, hard finish fights that took place under the London prize ring and Queensbury rules many a man has been snatched from the verge of defeat by the clever work of one of his seconds. Sometimes it was by the advice and encouragement of his advisor, the man who did the talking in the corner; sometimes by the second whose business it was to relieve the tired aching limbs of cramps that came, and sometimes by the man who knew how to keep the eyes from closing or who knew the proper stimulant to give at the right time. These men knew how to husband the strength and get the greatest good out of their fighter's powers of endurance.

Men suffered frightful punishment in the ring encounters of those days and many followers of the modern ring wonder how they stood it. It was because first, their methods of training were different and it was a matter of great concern that they enter the ring physically fit; and, second, because their seconds knew how to care for them.

Of course, the glove contests of today are mild as compared to the bare-knuckle or small glove finish fights of old and seconds are not called upon to do what was required of them then, but, nevertheless, it would be better for the boxing game and all concerned if the seconds of today were better qualified to render their service.

There would be fewer mistakes, such for instance, as dragging an unconscious boxer who has been knocked out to his corner and placing him upright on a chair before beginning the treatment he needs, and at once. This is usually done as a result of excitement and lack of experience on the part of the seconds who do not realize that the knocked-out boxer is better off where he falls just at that moment than he would be anywhere else.

TO CURE A HORSE OF KICKING.

A contributor to Farm and Fireside says that his horse stopped kicking when he gave him the following treatment:

"We filled a stout gunny sack with sand and suspended it from the ceiling with a rope directly in the rear of the kicking horse in such a position that its heels could have a good play upon it. This mammoth pendulum, needing but a forceful touch, would swing with clockwork precision as soon as the horse began to play its gymnastic stunts upon it. At the first kick the bag would swing away only to return with great momentum, giving the horse as good as it sent. Of course this unexpected state of affairs resulted in a general mixup between the horse and the bag of sand for a few minutes, but the bag held its own, returning all it received with interest, till the horse, coming to the full realization that there was no use to combat, was perfectly cowed.

"The bag was allowed to hang for about a week to insure an absolute cure, and up to the present time there has been no need of repeating the process."

James McGee, the Pawtucket aviator, has announced his intention of trying for the British Aero club's $50,000 prize for the first transatlantic flight accomplished in seventy-two hours. He plans to leave Newport July 4 in a machines equipped with water planes. He will head straight for the coast of Newfoundland and plans to make a landing there. In the meantime vessels will have been stationed along the route across the ocean, 300 to 500 miles apart. These vessels will be informed by wireless of the aviator's departure from Newfoundland and will be kept in close touch with his progress by the same means. McGee thinks the flight will be easy provided the seas are not high when he attempts to alight near the relief ships. He has had considerable experience in flying.

At the Lyceum

The Kinemacolor pictures will be shown at the Lyceum only tomorrow and Thursday of next week as regular road attractions have the other days during the week. Tomorrow's program is headed by a thrilling Kinemacolor drama "His Brother's Keeper," the scenes of which are located in the East and West. It is the old story of two brothers loving the same girl but treated in a novel manner. Zermatt and Gorner Grat will also be shown. Zermatt and its regions called by the poet "The Very Sanctuary of the Spirit of the Alps." Panoramas of mountain and valley, glacier and snow expanse are shown in Kinemacolor. Several beautiful scenes of sunlight and moonlight on the Matterhorn will also be shown. The black and white program will consist of a Kalem drama, "River Pirates," and an Edison film, "When Greek Meets Greek," featuring Mary Fuller and a comedy by the Vitagraph company, "Bingles Mends the Clock."

On Thursday only, the fashions in ladies and misses walking suits will be shown, also a two-reel dramatic subject, "The Mighty Dollar," which is a well staged and exciting drama produced by the English Kinemacolor company. A very unusual scene is that of a boiler room accident in which the explosion is shown with startling realism.

"The Witness For the Defense" in which Blanche Bates will appear at the Lyceum on Monday night will assuredly prove an event that no playgoer of discrimination can overlook. Miss Bates, who is one of the most accomplished actresses now before the American public, will portray the role of Stella Ballantyne, the wife of an English officer in the Indian service—a man given to drink and brutality. He abuses and bruises her until her patience is overtaxed and she is frantic in her desperation. They are living in a tent in India at Chittiput on the plains of Rajputana. An old friend of Mrs. Ballantyne—her youthful sweetheart—now a distinguished barrister, traveling through India, visits the unhappy woman and the truth of her sordid life is revealed to him. As he leaves her, she is recalled to her former life of happiness and freedom, and strikingly compares it with her present. She determines to commit suicide, when her husband in a drunken frenzy enters and taunts and goads her beyond endurance. There is a shot, and he is dead. Two years later, after there has been a trial, she is acquitted on the testimony of Thresk, her old lover, who has honorably perjured himself to secure her acquittal.

The succeeding acts of the play are in the refined atmosphere of an old English home in rural Sussex. But behind the peaceful life of the heroine, who has gained the love of a gallant young English officer, lurks the terrible secret of her past. Disquieting rumors have reached the household of the young Englishman whom she is going to marry. Mrs. Ballantyne, horrified and soul-tortured, is confronted by Thresk who is cross-questioned by the family lawyer. With unerring woman's instinct, she decides to bare her soul to the man she loves and reveal to him the truth about her past. Her lover, on learning the facts, takes her to his arms, and the play ends with the promise of happiness for her.

Only a great actress could do justice to such a role as Stella Ballantyne, and it is a foregone conclusion that Blanche Bates will again give one of her consummate portrayals of tense emotionalism such as may always be expected of this gifted actress. She will have the support of a notably fine company.

After having attracted for over three months the largest attendance ever ever known in the history of the Empire theater, New York, John Drew will come to the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday matinee and night in his highly successful, up-to-date, brilliantly witty comedy, "The Perplexed Husband."

This is the newest play by the author of "The Walls of Jericho," a quickly moving comedy, packed full of humorous characters, funny scenes and even funnier lines. In a word, "The Perplexed Husband" tells how the idea of votes for women can be laughed out of the best of families.

Mr. Drew has never had a part that suited him better than Thomas Pelling, the tea merchant, who after a brief absence from home returns to find his wife mad about votes for women and his home filled with suffragettes. The play and the performance were unanimously declared in New York "John Drew's best in years." From the first curtain to the last "The Perplexed Husband" is a shower of witty lines, a brilliant composition of comical scenes and ingenious situations.

The distinguished company supporting Mr. Drew this season includes Miss Mary Boland, as leading lady; Miss Nina Sevening, the well known English actress, formerly a member of Miss Ethel Barrymore's company in "Mid-Channel," Alice John, Hubert Druce and Margaret Watson.

The story of "The Perplexed Husband" concerns Thomas Pelling, the husband of Sophie, an attractive woman who knows nothing whatever about Ibsen or "the new woman." He comes home after a long journey to find two apostles of the feminist movement installed in his home and his wife, for no reason whatever, estranged from him. He demands that the two fanatics leave his home, but his wife says that if they go, she will go with them. Pelling's sister comes upon the scene and suggests that the trio should be fought with their own weapons and on their own ground. Let Pelling introduce some lady into the house. If his wife can encourage a stranger, so can he. He may do it under the pretext that he is converted and feels the necessity of converting someone else, of saving some brand from the burning. Then will be seen what will be seen.

After a number of amusing situations incidental to the intrusion of a beautiful girl into the family, the sting and pang of jealousy causes Mrs. Pelling to grasp the fact that in her own peculiar case the domestic instinct is stronger than the political one.

"Maggie Pepper," Charles Klein's play of department store life in which Miss Rose Stahl will appear at the Lyceum for two days early in June, has a big, human appeal because it brings home to those who deal with department stores the fact that the girls who work behind the counters are human and not merely the parts of a big machine. There is no actress on our stage today who could so forcefully humanize Mr. Klein's heroine as does Miss Stahl. The secret of this lies in the fact that the actress has made a study of these girls and their lives. Long before Mr. Klein wrote "Maggie Pepper" for her she had gone among them and learned of the special problems which they had to meet, and, in many cases, helped them meet crises in their careers. Miss Stahl is an actress who has made her own life. Convent bred, she began her career as a newspaper reporter and from that worked into her present field. It was a long, hard struggle before she achieved her place on our stage and the memory of this struggle has made her particularly sympathetic with the problems of the girls who have to make their way in life. But beyond all this "Maggie Pepper" is a play which has won success through its truthfulness in characterization, the wit of its dialogue and the every-day sort of folk who pass to and fro in its telling.

Among the early bookings at the Lyceum will be Frances Starr, remembered for her wonderful work in "The Easiest Way" and "The Rose of the Rancho," who will appear here in her new play, "The Case of Becky," coming direct from a three months' engagement at David Belasco's own theater in New York city.

Theatrical stars may come and go, but every up-to-date theater-goer knows what to expect when Eddie Foy is announced for an appearance and the smashing sort of entertainment he will present. This season, Eddie Foy is under the management of that enterprising firm of producers, Werba & Luescher, who gave us last season "The Spring Maid."

Mr. Foy's name is a guaranteed trade mark for fun for the simple reason that during the many years he has starred he has always been the star of a great show. He has always given the public not only the best in himself but the strongest companies and most lavish production money could procure.

This year New York voted his production, "Over the River," the hit of the season and as a consequence Mr. Foy enjoyed six months' record-breaking business at that famous home of musical comedy, the Globe theater, New York. Duluth gets the original production and company, including the seven merry children of Eddie Foy, but likewise that scintillating and fashionable Globe theater beauty chorus, of which so much has been written.

SCENE FROM "THE PERPLEXED HUSBAND"
In Which John Drew Will Be Seen at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31.

At the Empress

At the Empress for four days commencing Sunday matinee, May 25, there is booked a lively program of high-class vaudeville.

As a headline attraction the famous comedian Billy Wyse will be seen with a large supporting company in the miniature musical comedy, "King Bolo." This is one of the most fantastic of musical comedy playlets. The cast is composed of two men and six women, picked for their good looks and ability to sing and dance. The songs in this clever concoction of fun are of a catchy kind. They will be remembered long after the show has left town.

Madge Hughes, the clever singing comedienne who will present a great line of songs and patter, is making the hit of vaudeville bills wherever she plays. Her manner of presentation takes immediately. Her characterization of a tough girl is considered the best yet seen.

A team of musical comedy stars is Housely and Nicolas, who will give an assortment of songs and musical comedy incidents. Their comedy songs and their funny antics, it is believed, will make a good impression with Duluth theater-goers.

Arthur Browning and his dog Spot will be included in the bill. The eccentric dancing of Mr. Browning, who appears in the makeup of a tramp, contains many complicated steps. A revelation in canine training will be demonstrated by Spot, the dog mathematician. His mind-reading stunts are the talk of audiences wherever Mr. Browning and Spot have shown.

First run photo plays, plays of comedy and dramatic nature will complete this program of feature acts.

For the last half of the week, commencing with the matinee on Thursday, May 29, another list of feature vaudeville acts is booked. First will be Patricola and Meyers, "a lively pair," who present an act of singing and whirlwind dancing. Following them comes a pair of clever people who are well known in Duluth, having played here many times, Nelson Leavitt and Harriet Dunsmore. They will give a protean comedy playlet entitled "The Woman Next Door." Another clever team is Mott and Maxfield, who present an oddity, "The Traveling Salesman and the Manicurist." This little sketch is replete with songs, jokes and dances. Another big feature is Jesse L. Lasky's artistic novelty, "Mlle. Fleurette" in "Visions D'Art."

Indications point to a most successful rehabilitation of the musical tabloid policy for the coming season. A department handling exclusively "tabs" has been made, with offices on the third floor of the Majestic Theater building, in charge of Sam Thall, whose reputation as a theatrical man is one of the best in the country.

"The Girl From Luxemburg," a tabloid musical show, the only company with a New York record, will be seen at the Empress in June. There will be no advance in prices, though the show is said to be much more meritorious than others of its kind.

Fuller Mellish, who has won notable success with William Faversham in the all-star cast production of "Julius Caesar," retired from the cast Saturday evening and joined the stock company of Jessie Bonstelle at Toronto Monday. Here he is to appear in a number of character roles in which he has won distinction with notable artists during the past several years.

Whitford Kane, the celebrated English character actor, who portrays the role of Christopher in "Hindle Wakes," will conclude his engagement with that company next week, after which he returns to London for a brief trip, coming back to New York next month to resume his professional activities under the direction of William A. Brady, by whom he has been engaged for a new play to be done in the early fall.

• • •

Jose Collins, whose engagement as the feature of the "Follies of 1913" has just been announced, was one of the sensations of the past season. She was en route to Australia, stopped in New York a few days, was engaged to sing the prima donna role in "The Merry Countess" and did so with such success that she remained for thirty-eight weeks without cessation and is now signed for five years to come for this country.

Henry Mortimer, who is now appearing in New York as Count Fehrenburg in "The Five Frankforters," will return to stock work during the summer. Among the notable companies with which he has appeared during the summer seasons in the past are Utica, Seattle, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Oakland, Chicago, Providence, Washington and Boston. His first stock engagements were with the T. Daniel Frawley companies in important Eastern and Western cities.

• • •

Edward Fielding, now appearing with Mme. Nazimova in "Bella Donna," reckons that in playing Jean to the Sapho of Olga Nethersole in London more than 1,000 times he expended enough energy in carrying her upstairs for that period to push a freight car loaded with merchandise three and six-tenths miles on a railroad track with a normal grade, which, all things considered, seems to be an unusual feat until you figure it out.

• • •

Florence Rockwell, now appearing as leading woman with Robert Mantell, was the first to produce the travesty on the high cost of living, now done at the Princess theater, New York, under the title "Food." The original production was made before the Twelfth Night club of New York, which is the famous professional club of the dramatic profession, and won instant success as a travesty. It now occupies a prominent place in the program of the Princess theater, where only short plays of unusual merit are produced.

The first of the plays by Eugene Brieux, who wrote "Damaged Goods," to be produced in the United States was "The Three Daughters of Mr. Dupont," which was done by Laurence Irving in New York several years ago and with whom Henry Mortimer, now appearing in "The Five Frankforters," made a success in the role of Lignol. Arthur are already making engagements, and have succeeded in placing Jefferson De Angelis under contract for the comedy role of the mayor.

MORE PLANTS ARE ORDERED

L. A. Simonson Will Distribute 1,000 Additional Strawberry Plants.

Special Prize Offered—Seeds for Monroe School Children.

L. A. Simonson, member of the West End Commercial club's garden committee, who is taking special interest in strawberries, announced last evening at the meeting of the club that he intended putting up a personal prize of $10 to the child raising the best crop of strawberries next year from twenty mother plants planted this year. This prize will be given in addition to other prizes which are offered by the club, whose total now aggregate over $80.

The 1,000 plants offered by the club were exhausted early yesterday afternoon. At 2 o'clock Mr. Simonson was notified by the principal of the Adams school that she had cash to pay for 712 plants. On receiving this notice Mr. Simonson telegraphed for an additional 1,000 plants and expects to have them on Tuesday. They are ordered to be shipped by express.

Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the committee, announced last night that he would distribute free seed to the children of the Monroe school on Monday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock. He requests that the children call at his office in the Anderson-Thorsell building, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, for the seed. This school was the last to enter the club's contest and came in too late to receive seed direct from Washington. Since that time Dr. Oredson received a small assortment of seed from the agricultural department and these will be apportioned among these children.

James Maghan, who has charge of the financial part of the contest, stated that he had already $80 subscribed to the prize fund. He said that he expected to make this $100 before June 1.

FIRST STEP AGAINST BILLBOARD NUISANCE

Swedish-American National League Will Not Patronize Them.

The first actual step to do away with unsightly billboards was taken last night at the meeting of the Swedish American National league. The league voted to do no billboard advertising this year but to confine its advertising exclusively to the newspapers. The action was taken on the objection of several of the members to all billboards in general.

Announcement was made that Lieutenant Governor Burnquist would be the principal speaker at the midsummer festival to be held by the society on June 24. Rev. E. Elmquist of Minneapolis, former West end pastor, will also appear on the program for an address.

The general program for the day was outlined. This includes a parade in the forenoon winding up at Lincoln park, where the speaking program will take place. The afternoon will be devoted to sports of various kinds.

MAYOR PRINCE TALKS TO MOTHERS' CLUB.

Social centers were given a stamp of approval by Mayor Prince at the monthly meeting of the Mothers' club held at the Bryant school last night. He commended its activities in the establishment of a social center club and said that it was to be compared with the work of the city commissioners.

The mayor suggested that the example set by this club should be followed by other schools and churches, stating that the halls of other buildings could easily be used for this purpose. He said that its work had a great uplifting influence on the community. He extended an invitation to the girls and boys of the school to visit the commissioners at the city hall, for he said "You are the ones who will have to run this city in the future."

Following his talk a program of music and exercises was given by the children. Miss Katherine King, principal of the school, was in charge of the program.

DENIAL MADE BY BOARD OF CONTROL

No Negro Prisoners Imported to Work on New Buildings.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—The state board of control has issued the following statement:

"In a story published yesterday, the statement is made, regarding the meeting of the board of control with representatives of the Citizens' association of Stillwater Thursday, that the meeting resulted 'from the recent importation of 125 prisoners, including 110 negroes, from Washington to work on the new buildings.'

"There is not the slightest color of truth to this statement. No prisoner has been imported from anywhere. At the request of the Federal government and under a statute of this state which permits it, the board agreed to allow the government to send for a temporary period—to be recalled by the government at any time—Federal prisoners for whom there was no room in the Federal prisons. Work on the Federal prisons at Leavenworth, Kan., and at Atlanta, Ga., has been greatly delayed, and as a consequence the government finds itself unable to care for all of its prisoners, and request was made of the board, as well as of the managers of state prisons in other states, for the temporary accommodation of these prisoners. This, the board acceded to, and this was done without the slightest reference to construction of any kind to be done at Stillwater, and without such construction in mind.

"The report further says, speaking of the language of the chairman: 'Mr. Vasaly said that the board of control in importing the Federal convicts had been actuated by a desire to promote the best interests of the state and make a large saving in money.' The chairman of the board made no such statement, and did not in any way connect the matter of Federal convicts with the best interests of the state or any saving in money.

"No definite decision has been made as to what will be done at Stillwater. Bids will be taken and it will depend largely upon the amount of the bids."

TAKES DRINK; DIES.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—"Give me one more drink; it may be the last," said a ragged and weary stranger as he walked into a saloon Friday and stopped before the bar. Without another word, he drained his glass, walked to the rear of the saloon and sat down. Suddenly a heavy fall was heard. The man was picked up dead. A letter in his pocket bore the name Edward Bottbusley, St. Louis, Mo.

"Heart disease," said the coroner at a first glance. There is suspicion of suicide.

SKUNK'S BITE FATAL.

Laporte, Minn., Man Dies From Effects of Being Bitten.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—William H. Toombs of Laporte, Minn., died here at the home of his brother Wednesday afternoon after several months' suffering from a bite on the finger received from a polecat. He came to Cass Lake last Sunday to receive medical treatment, but hydrophobia symptoms set in on Wednesday and he became violent, and it was necessary to strap him to the bed. Funeral services were held at the residence yesterday morning by Rev. H. F. Parshall and the body was taken overland to Laporte for burial.

SMITH TO DECIDE

Whether State's Name Can Be Used in Mahnomen Injunction.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Whether an action can be brought in the name of the state to enjoin the village council of Mahnomen from issuing saloon licenses, will be passed upon by Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith. Andrew Johnson of Mahnomen petitioned the attorney general to make the state a party to such a suit, and a hearing was held by Mr. Smith and his assistants Friday.

Johnson asserts that the village is in the territory ceded by the Indian treaty of 1855, before statehood, to the Federal government. This treaty provided that no liquor should ever be sold in the territory ceded, and it was under its terms that the sensational raids were made by "Pussyfoot" Johnson during 1910 and 1911.

The petitioner was represented at the hearing by J. T. Van Meter, county attorney of Mahnomen county, and opposing interests by C. M. Johnston, Detroit; Former Judge A. M. Spooner, and E. E. McDonald, Bemidji.

IRONTON'S NEW HOTEL.

Brainerd Contractor to Rush Work on $50,000 Structure.

Ironton, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The construction of the new Spina hotel to be erected at a cost of $50,000 for Mr. Spina who owns Duluth and Mesaba range property will commence in a few days by Contractor C. B. Rowley of Brainerd. Work will be rushed to an early completion.

Plans and specifications for the drainage and septic tank to be built in connection with the new sewer system, were submitted to the village council Thursday night.

The council is anxiously awaiting the engineer's estimate and plans for the water works system to be installed, and as soon as they are accepted the work will be started.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Ironwood, Mich., May 24.—The funeral of Charles Johnson who was killed in a runaway was held today from the Finnish National church. The harness broke as he was driving down hill and the horse ran away throwing Johnson out on his head. He was 55, a native of Finland and had lived in this section twenty-five years. A wife and four children survive.

IRONTON WANTS ROAD.

Ironton, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of this village are much interested in the construction of a good road to the new town of Riverton on Rabbit lake.

Ironton will give $300 towards its construction, the town of Klondike will appropriate a like sum and the county commissioners have been asked to contribute $300, which, it is thought, will be sufficient to repair the road for travel. The Soo line, in building its spur to the Pennington mine, cut the road in two, but it has agreed to build a bridge over the road, and will do the work at once. The Soo has also made some repairs to the road at Blackhoof lake, and if the present plans are carried out there will be a fine highway connecting Ironton and Riverton.

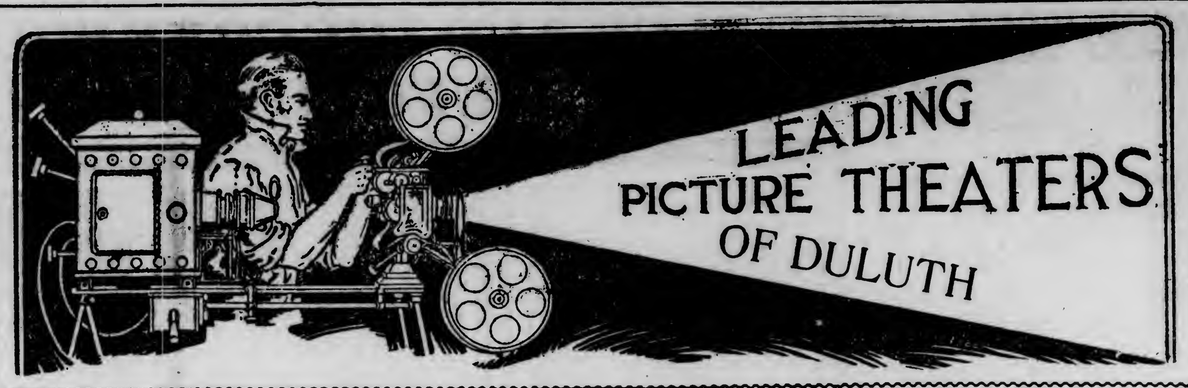
May Identify "Mystery Man."

Rochester, Minn., May 24.—Officials of the state hospital for insane are endeavoring to locate Capt. Robert Bartlett, the explorer, whom they believe may be able to identify "J. C. R." the "man of mystery," who indicated that he knew the explorer and that the latter would be able to give information concerning his life previous to the injury which resulted in his present condition.



MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY

We have yet to come upon satisfactory explanation of a general tendency to disclaim fondness for tragedy since the time Shakespeare presented "Hamlet," "Othello" and "Romeo and Juliet" to the present rage for grand opera.

Some people do not care for tragedy, they go to the theater to be entertained and have their minds turned from the dark phases of daily existence as a measure of relief, and this sounds so good when it is convincingly put that we come to believe it as a matter of habit. That is the trouble with us—our minds are badly cramped by erroneous habits of thought—for we go along believing and saying the same old thing in spite of the fact that we are more often bored than entertained by stories supposed to put us into a happy frame of mind, and sigh for some dramatic presentation that shall stir our souls.

We go to the little theaters, as to the big ones, from natural love for a great many things that charm us in the presentation, whether or not we laugh or cry. The love of beauty, for one thing, is universal, and most of us instinctively recognize what is fine in music, in acting, in all the details that make up a complete and satisfactory performance, whether the trend of the story be comic or tragic, but we are most deeply impressed by the vibrant quality of genius in the story pictured or told, that genius which soars untrammeled and carries us where it will.

The theaters always have something of mortality in drama mellow, military and Western—the slaughter by poison, gun and knife goes merrily on—but those of us who view the wanton and ruthless killing from a seat in the orchestra or balcony are getting so accustomed to the destruction of life by violent means that it may be safe to say death is becoming less tragic to frequenters of the moving picture show.

Tragedy of the noblest kind acts as a tonic. It revives rather than depresses us, strengthens and purifies us, because most of us are rudely great at our best, however puerile we may be at our worst. There is far more tragedy in living strenuous lives than in shuffling them off and tucking our feet comfortably under the sod, "not gone, but forgotten."

Here's what a pastor of the First Reformed Church of Valley Stream, L. I., says after seeing a moving picture based on the story of Bunyan's immortal "Pilgrim's Progress," returned to his congregation, handed in his resignation and said:

"I realized I was wasting my time, for I had before me living characters whose actions as they unfolded their sublime story were far more potent than anything I could say in the pulpit. A religious subject, thus tactfully and reverently treated, in my opinion, will do more to advance the cause of religion and to uplift humanity than a thousand eloquent preachers ever can hope to accomplish by their oratory."

The clergyman then procured a motion picture projecting machine, proceeded to Freeport and gave an exhibition at which, it is declared, every member from every church in the town was present. The peculiar phenomenon, in so large a gathering of churchgoers to hear a pastor, was that none fell asleep.

Thomas A. Edison, in a recent conversation about the use of Kinematography in public schools, said: "I want to put in a little drama—a short one—showing some simple story that will interest the children and will teach a moral; something where the good boy gets rewarded and the bad one is punished."

This sort of thing treated in a book would simply disgust or irritate the average boy; but when he sees the actual deed and the rewarding going on before his very eyes, the effect is different; he cannot escape the impression that here is actual life and that right doing is an admirable thing and yet many leading lights of the theatrical profession refuse to look upon pictures seriously. It was only recently that Lewis Waller, the well known English actor, before leaving our shores, said the people want light musical comedy or sensational drama to take the place of moving pictures, and if they do not get either they will take the "movies."

Reports come continually from all quarters of the globe showing gigantic strides by motion pictures and the conversion of theaters for their exploitation. Among the latest of European cities to fall in line is the city of Berlin. Five of the largest theaters in the city have become picture houses. That is why so many well known theatrical managers and players, as well as play writers and authors are flocking to the picture standard.

The motion picture is not an heir to the traditions of the dime museum, the skating rink, the shooting gallery and the chamber of horrors. Its existence as a means of education is as certain as the existence of the alphabet.

The Lyric theater, commencing tomorrow matinee, will show a feature produced by the noted Mr. Montgomery adapted from the play of Lincoln J. Carter, from the scenario written by the famous playwright, Richard Willis. The story is a very interesting one, telling of a party of treasure seekers, which brings a series of exciting and tragic happenings, surrounded by ancient scenes of an old Aztec temple. A selected company of players make this a beautiful drama, presented in two parts by the 101 Bison company. It will be shown Sunday, May 25th; Monday, May 26th, and Tuesday, May 27th.

For Sunday only this popular family theater will present a feature motion picture, Pauline Crushman in "The Female Federal Spy." This is undoubtedly the most timely and elaborate war-time masterpiece ever produced. The mammoth battle scenes, the Louisville theater riot, the ambush at Lewiston Gap, the thrilling rides, the cavalry charge, the daring hand-to-hand encounter, the escape of the plucky heroine, based upon the spectacular career and exploits of that unique and fascinating figure of Civil war, Major Pauline Crushman.

For Monday and Tuesday it presents Pathe's Weekly, "Sheriff's Baby," in that Biograph style. For Memorial day Abraham Lincoln's Memorial address will be produced in pictures.

BROPHY ACCUSED OF BREAKING NEUTRALITY

F. E. Coles Also Held in Bonds of $5,000 on Same Charge.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 24.—William H. Brophy, general manager of the Phelps-Dodge Mercantile company, with stores in Arizona, New Mexico, and Mexico, and F. E. Coles, assistant manager, were held to answer in the United States court yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws. Bonds were placed at $5,000 each by United States Commissioner G. L. Taylor, and the defendants will answer at the October session of the Federal court at Phoenix.

Brophy, who is one of the wealthiest men in southern Arizona, and his assistant are charged with having sold 9,000 rounds of ammunition to L. J. Perez, Constitutionalist consul at Naco, Ariz.; Gen. Bracamonte of the Sonora state troops, and Gonlzario Martinez of Naco, Sonora.

The water was not deep, and Fladley received only a bad wetting. A carpenter near by carried him from the stream and he was taken to his hotel. Fladley came to Rochester a few days ago to consult local surgeons. With him are his wife and a brother, A. P. Fladley, also of Rutland, N. D.

DOING GOOD BUSINESS

Remedial Loan Association Has Made an Excellent Beginning.

Chattel Mortgage Loans Are Only Ones Taken as Yet.

Despite the fact that this is the dull season of the year in the loan business, the Duluth Remedial Loan association, which has been organized in compliance with the remedial loan society bill which became a law at the last session of the legislature, has been doing a good volume of business.

According to Harry A. Berg, manager, only about half of the applications for loans which are received are accepted, and the daily average since the society started in business about two weeks ago has been three loans a day. The loans have been averaging $50 each.

No salary loans are made, according to Mr. Berg. Neither are real estate mortgages accepted as security. A straight chattel loan business is all which is being attempted at the present time. Mr. Berg has one assistant, who is known as the "outside" man, and whose work consists of making appraisals on chattels offered for security.

The schedule on which the remedial society operates conforms to the recent law. An interest charge of 1 per cest per month is made on all loans. In addition, a scale of fees are charged at the following rates: $1.75 for loans from $10 to $25; $2.75 from $25 to $50; $3.75 from $50 to $75; $4.75 from $75 to $150, and $5.75 from $150 to $200.

In Minneapolis, where a remedial loan society operates, no loans of less than $25 are made. In Duluth, however, the minimum loan is $10. According to Mr. Berg, about one-third of his applicants for loans have been customers before of other loan societies, commonly knows as "loan sharks." In one or two instances the accounts with the "loan sharks" have been closed up and new ones opened with the remedial society.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

FOURSCORE and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a large sense we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work that they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from this earth.

(Delivered at Gettysburg, Nov. 19, 1863.)

For the second time the Blue and the Gray will meet on the historic battlefield of Gettysburg, where fifty years ago they fought and bled for supremacy and where the onslaught and invasion of the South was stopped forever, the Civil war ending the next spring, after four years of fighting.

This time the Blue and the Gray will meet as one body of men, who are gathering on the historic battlefield to celebrate the famous battle of half a century ago. The gathering at Gettysburg is to be held this year from July 1 to 4 and will be attended by all the Civil war veterans of this country, who engaged in the battles at Gettysburg the first four days of July, 1863.

The semi-centennial celebration is in charge of a commission chosen from among Civil war veterans and Grand Army men throughout the country, each state being allowed a representation.

On the Minnesota commission is Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell of Duluth, who was named captain of the First Minnesota when it was mustered out in 1865 and the company reorganized. He was a member of Company C during the war and was a corporal at the battle of Gettysburg.

Capt. Pressnell is now arranging for the delegation that will leave Duluth June 28 for St. Paul, from where the entire Minnesota delegation will leave the following day for Gettysburg, arriving there the morning of July 1. In the party will be all the old soldiers who took part in the battle of Gettysburg, all the veterans of the Civil war, members of the G. A. R. and Governor A. O. Eberhart and his staff.

Tented City.

The battlefield has been arranged especially for the occasion and each state has been given a section, where the veterans will live during the encampment. Thousands of tents are to be put up for the delegates to the gathering. Parades, maneuvers, drills and addresses by prominent men throughout the country will feature the celebration.

The old soldiers in Duluth and on the range, who are eligible and who will take the trip at the expense of the state, $25,000 having been voted by the last legislature as the state contribution to the fund, are the following: Capt. Pressnell, Duluth; Capt. Franklin Paine, Duluth; C. E. Harris, Duluth; Charles E. Holt, Duluth; W. P. Strickland, Duluth; Col. Charles H. Graves, Duluth; George H. Durfee, Grand Marais; James Meyer, Virginia, and Charles McNamara, Eveleth.

Col. Graves was captain of the Thirty-fourth Infantry during the war. He is now minister to Sweden and has written Capt. Pressnell that he will try to arrange his affairs so that he will be able to attend the encampment. His successor as minister to Sweden has not yet been named by President Wilson, but it is thought that he will be allowed to return here in July.

Capt. Paine was sergeant of Company L, First Minnesota and with Capt. Pressnell, is the only surviving members of the original company now living in Duluth. Mr. Harris was in Company I, Seventh Wisconsin; Mr. Holt, Company C, Sixth Ohio; Mr. Strickland, Company K, One Hundred Twenty-first New York; Mr. Durfee, Company K, First Minnesota, and Mr. Meyer, Company F, One Hundred Thirty-fourth New York.

Others Eligible.

There are several more Civil war veterans who are eligible to attend the encampment at Gettysburg, but they are unable to get away. Those mentioned above will all leave here together and will join the Minnesota delegation at St. Paul, June 30.

The members of the First Minnesota had just finished fighting in Virginia, when they received orders to advance to Gettysburg, where the South had just made its famous charge. The Southern army was then advancing, led by Gen. Pickett, who later directed the charge.

Capt. Pressnell gives a short account of the part taken by the Minnesota soldiers at the battle as follows:

"The First Minnesota companies arrived at Gettysburg on the morning of July 2, after tramping for a number of days, coming on the field just as the fighting started. The entire regiment from Minnesota took part in the battle all of July 2, and all but two of the companies the following day. Of the entire regiment 215 men were either killed or wounded during the two days' fighting and 56 are now buried in the national cemetery at Gettysburg. The day the First Minnesota arrived and took part in the fighting Gen. Reynolds was killed.

"The following May the men were mustered out and the entire regiment reorganized. They were finally mustered out in July, 1865, arriving at St. Paul on July 26."

Fired First Shots.

Of the above photographs the most interesting is the one showing a group of old soldiers. These men claim the distinction of having fired the first shots at Gettysburg on July 1, 1863, and to have actually opened the battle. The men are all living in various sections of the country. C. E. Harris, standing, is a resident of Duluth and will accompany the local delegation to the encampment. His photo, taken during the war, is also shown, as is the one of Capt. Pressnell, when he was 21 years old. He was a corporal when the above photograph was taken.

Ranks Are Thinning.

Statistics now show that each year 50,000 old soldiers are dying and that at the present rate, but few veterans will be living ten years from now. Two years from now, in 1915, the semi-centennial celebration of the surrender of Appomattox will be held and by that time nearly all of the 200,000 old soldiers now living will have fought their last battle, which they must inevitably lose. Their ages at the present time range from 70 to 90 years.

The encampment at Gettysburg this year will without a doubt bring a larger number of old soldiers out than this country will ever see again.

The government records give a list of 2,261 engagement in which life was lost, which, with the minor actions and skirmishes, brings the total to 6,800. A journey over these battlefields would take one more than 25,000 miles back and forth through nearly all the great states of the South requiring many months. If one was to attend a lecture for a hour each evening to hear the lecturer speak for one minute on each battle and skirmish, it would require one's attendance every night for 113 consecutive nights.

The war between the states was the crucible of a great people who tempered their principles with their courage and blood on the points of bayonets and sabers, at the muzzles of guns and cannons, on land and sea. It was the inquisition of republican institutions that lasted about 1,500 days, with an average of nearly two battles a day, and a mortality from all causes of nearly 400 every 24 hours, nearly 17 every hour, or one every three and a half minutes.

Recent investigations show that the total enrollments of both Federal and Confederate armies were 3,500,000, including re-enlistments, or an approximate fighting strength of 3,000,000 soldiers. Thirty armies of the magnitude of that with which Alexander the Great undertook to conquer the whole world could have been gathered from the ranks of the American civil war.

"THE INALIENABLE RIGHT TO REST"

New Standard in Court Decisions on Labor Legislation.

By JOSEPHINE GOLDMARK
Of National Consumers' League.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The supreme court of Mississippi has established a new standard for other states to follow. It has handed down a decision which marks a new epoch in the progress of labor legislation.

This decision, which has passed almost without comment, sustains the validity of the Mississippi 10-hour law enacted in March, 1912. Other courts have sustained other 10-hour laws, but the new and startling feature of the Mississippi decision is that for the first time in the history of the United States it upholds, as a reasonable health measure, a general law regulating the hours of labor in manufacturing industries applying to men and women alike.

Hitherto no general statute regulating the hours of work for men in private employment has been sustained. Only in occupations manifestly dangerous to health have the courts held that a man's hours of labor may be limited by law, or in an occupation like the railroad service, where public safety is at stake.

Thus, laws have been upheld establishing a maximum period of work for railway employes, on the ground that such workers must have sufficient periods of rest to enable them safely to operate trains. It is recognized that the safety of the public depends upon the physical fitness of railway employes.

Almost twenty years ago the United States supreme court upheld the validity of the Utah law which limits the work of men in mines and smelters to eight hours in one day. But this decision concerned the employment of men in a dangerous underground occupation in which workers are subjected to great heat and noxious gases. The law was specifically upheld on the ground of these dangers to health. In a word, the occupation was deemed by the court sufficiently dangerous to justify the interference of the legislature with the laborers' so-called freedom of contract.

On the other hand, in the well known bakers' case the United States supreme court held, in effect, that the occupation of a baker was not sufficiently dangerous to health to warrant the limitation of working hours by the state.

The Mississippi court in the Newman Lumber company case has broken new ground as far as the work of men is concerned. Its decision rests upon precisely the same principle as that on which similar laws applying only to women have been sustained by many courts, including the supreme court of the United States itself, namely: The broader conception of public health and welfare; the right of a state, under its police powers, to preserve its people from the overfatigue and exhaustion which follow excessive hours of labor not only in the dangerous trades but in any modern manufacture.

The laws limiting the hours of labor for women have, it is true, been sustained on the grounds of women's greater disabilities in industrial competition and the direct relation between the health of women and the next generation. But the lives of men, as well as women are subject to the laws of physiology; and upon men as well as women though perhaps less immediately, falls retribution when the physiologic limits have been passed. In either case it is society which finally pays the cost, and in this fact lies the justification of the state's intervention.

"Some day, perhaps," said the Mississippi court with fine discrimination, "the inalienable right to rest will be the subject of litigation."

The inalienable right to rest! This fine pharse is indeed a new note, replacing the more usual judicial preoccupation with the "freedom of contract" guaranteed by the Constitution—a theoretical "right" to be preserved at all costs, even when its means in actual practice no freedom but freedom to starve. To this kind of constitutional "right" the Mississippi court refers in no uncertain language:

"We pause here to remark the notable fact that it is rare for the seller of labor (the workman) to appeal to the courts for the preservation of his inalienable rights of labor; this inestimable privilege is generally the object of the buyers' (the employers') disinterested solitude. Some day, perhaps, the inalienable right to rest will be the subject of litigation, but as yet this phase of individual liberty has not sought shelter under the state or Federal Constitutions."

The Mississippi law in question prohibits the employment of any person more than ten hours a day in manufacturing or repairing "except in cases of emergency, or where public necessity requires." The J. J. Newman Lumber company, which operates a saw and planing mill plant and a logging railroad, was indicted for employing a workman more than ten hours. The company filed a demurrer to the indictment, which was sustained by a local judge. The state appealed, and the supreme court of Mississippi handed down an extended opinion answering the objections to the statute and overruling the demurrer.

Not content with this decision, the lumber company applied for a second hearing of the case and upon the reargument the court again affirmed its original decision.

"It is well known," says the court, "that, in the work connected with the running of machinery, the operator is subjected to a mental as well as physical strain. In many cases the nearness to machinery makes the work dangerous in case of an overtaxing of the strength of the worker, or any lessening in his alertness. We can readily understand that all this was in the minds of the legislature when the law now under discussion was considered.

"Besides, it would not be unreasonable for the legislature to decide that it would promote the health, peace, morals and general welfare of all laborers engaged in the work of manufacturing or repairing if they were not permitted to extend their labor over ten hours a day, and the legislature could also decide that the best interests of the people in the state would be promoted by limiting the time of work of this numerous class of its citizens to the time mentioned. In fact, when we consider the present manner of laboring, the use of machinery, the appliances, requiring intelligence and skill, and the general present day manner of life, which tends to nervousness, it seems to us quite reasonable, and in no way improper, to pass such a law as limiting a day's labor."

Again on the reargument, the court said, in its second opinion:

"The concentration of the human mind and muscle, for many consecutive hours upon the watching and manipulation of rapidly moving machinery, tends to weary the worker, and to weaken his reasoning faculties, and, ultimately, to permanently impair his physical and mental efficiency. Yet, competition forced the laborer to take the risk or starve."

The urgent question now arises whether the ultimate authority, the supreme court of the United States, will sanction the advanced stand of the Mississippi supreme court and thus open the way for legislation in other states.

Counsel for the lumber company cited the decision in the bakers' case as the controlling precedent for holding invalid the Mississippi ten-hour law. The court replied: "A careful consideration of that case fails to show us that it should control the case before us."

Eight years have now elapsed since the bakers' case was decided. In the interval, with this decision as precedent, it has been considered practically impossible to obtain relief by law from the twelve-hour day still prevalent in many industries for men, especially in those continuously operated.

Now the supreme court of Mississippi reopens the question and invites a new answer. Two years more will probably intervene before the validity of the Mississippi law will come before the supreme court of the United States, and the question of limiting men's hours of labor by law will again, after a lapse of ten years, be presented to the highest tribunal of the land.

No Need Being Old or Wrinkled Before 75

Lillian Russell says any woman who has wrinkles before she's 75 is herself responsible for them. Sunshine and fresh air she considers more valuable as complexion preservers than nostrums and cosmetics.

The chief objection to cosmetics is that at best they only temporarily cover up defects. There are certain true aids to Nature, which may be applied with directly opposite effect. Ordinary mercolized wax, for instance, actually removes a bad or oldish complexion, by gradually, almost imperceptibly, peeling off the wornout scarf skin. Just one ounce, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entirely new and natural complexion, with an exquisite girlish color. Of course cutaneous blemishes like pimples, freckles, fine lines, moth patches, liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin.

To prevent or remove wrinkles, a face bath which also produces natural results, is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is immediately effective and gives no untoward after-effect.

Many informal affairs are being given for Mrs. Robert Smith, whose approaching marriage to Townsend W. Hoopes of Hunter's Park is of interest to her many friends. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Frank J. O'Donnell of 702 Woodland avenue and Mrs. T. A. Wells of 320½ Seventh avenue east entertained at a daintily appointed luncheon at the Spalding hotel in compliment to Mrs. Smith. A color scheme of pink and white was effectively carried out with a basket of pink and white sweet peas as a centerpiece and corsage bouquets of the same flowers marked the places of the guests. The bouquet of the guest of honor was of lilies of the valley and pink roses. Besides the hostess and Mrs. Smith covers were laid for Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, Mrs. R. E. Denfeld, Mrs. Robert Spiegel, Mrs. F. W. De Vey and Mrs. R. E. Townsend.

Mrs. J. A. Keyes entertained at an informal afternoon tea today at her home, 2029 East Third street, in honor of Mrs. Smith and Miss Frances Multhaner, whose wedding to Chan Smith of this city will take place this summer. Killarney roses in effective arrangement were used in the parlor and in the library bowls of yellow cowslips were used.

Several informal dinner parties have been given this week for Mrs. Smith, and Miss Multhaner has been the honor guest at several affairs this spring.

Musical Symposium.

Discussions of plans for the work of the Matinee Musicale and reports from the delegates who attended the biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago last month featured the Matinee Musicale symposium at which Mrs. John A. Stephenson was hostess this afternoon at her home, 1931 East First street. The active members and the special members, consisting of the teachers and others who are given a special membership on account of being unable to enjoy the full privileges of the club, were the only guests.

Mrs. Stephenson arranged the affair for Saturday that the teachers might attend, as the matter of special work with the schools for next year was brought up for discussion.

"We hope to help in the choral work in the public schools," said Mrs. Stephenson this morning, "and our members will co-operate with Miss Clara Thomas, music supervisor, and the teachers in any way possible. A vague plan is to have some sort of a concert by a big school chorus or to have contest work among the various schools and this is one of the problems which we will discuss this afternoon.

"Other plans brought out at the convention will be submitted for the discussion of the members to see what is practical for our club here to take up and how they can be worked out."

Mrs. Stephenson was assisted in receiving by Mrs. K. A. Ostergren, Mrs. George S. Richards, Mrs. J. N. McKindley and Mrs. John Millen and during the social hour Mrs. Millen poured coffee in the dining room assisted by Miss Valborg Gunderson, Miss Mary Bradbury, Miss Loretta O'Gorman and Miss Marguerite McDonald.

Pink peonies in large clusters were arranged in the living room and in the dining room ward roses and white sweet peas were used with asparagus ferns.

OBSERVATIONS

On Spending One's Spare Time in Profitable Reading.

How much idle time we all waste that might be spent at the profitable and pleasurable pastime of improving our minds!

What a splendid thing it is to pass a certain proportion of the time we have from labor and the daily round of duty, in reading? And to know how to read with the maximum of profit and satisfaction?

The mere habit of reading is not enough. I have known persons who were omnivorous readers, and yet they were vulgar, unrefined and totally lacking in the finer culture. This was because they read unwisely and not well. Indeed, they were distorting their minds and warping their morals by the sort of reading they indulged.

Most people make the mistake of confining themselves wholly to fiction, and not only to fiction, but fiction of the most deplorable sort. Those persons who read every new novel that comes out with an alluring title doubtless find pleasure in it, but surely not much culture or profit. They haunt the libraries for the latest "best seller," and spend their surplus means in buying up the newest thrillers. Heaven help them!

In reading, I believe it is a safe rule to eschew every book that has not been out for at least ten years, and then only if it has stood the test of time and is still to be found in good libraries. It is a deplorable fact, yet a true one, that there is little literature being produced in this time in our own country, or, for that matter, in any other. Why not turn, then, to the classics, and enjoy their rich offerings?

When one once forms the taste for the right sort of reading, the sort he may have been enjoying before becomes flat, stale and insipid. When one can read the gems of Hugo, of Scott, of Dumas, of Thackeray, of Dickens, of Hawthorne, of Poe and scores of others whose works are immortal, why waste time on the modern trash? Read the classics, and then when your friends ply you with the query, "Have you read so-and-so?" (meaning some late novel), come back at them with, "No, I have been reading Henry Esmond, or David Copperfield. Have you read it?" in the vernacular, that "will hold them for a while."

Don't read, either, merely fiction. Read poetry—a good poem every day is a great intellectual vitalizer—and history and biography. It will widen your horizon wonderfully and whet your appetite for the best the world has to offer.

BABY SHOW AT TEMPLE

About 300 Children Under 3 Years of Age Weighed, Measured and Tested By Doctors---Winners Will Not Be Known for Some Days.

T. W. Hugo, head of the committee in charge of the Baby show held yesterday afternoon at the Masonic Temple, closing the Infant Welfare exhibit conducted by the Scottish Rite Masons this week, said when asked how he felt about the show:

"Well babies to right of us; babies to left of us; and babies in front of us—that almost expresses it."

"Walloped and thundered?" completed the mother of the grown up only daughter.

"Well, yes," he completed, "they did wander a little."

And they did. About 300 babies were entered for examination for health, weight, size, disposition, and other details connected with their little lives and probably 200 brothers and sisters hardly more than babies were there with baby and mother. Mr. Hugo estimated that there must have been at least 500 people present during the afternoon at the exhibit, and the music was furnished by the infant orchestra of cries, coos, gurgles and bawls.

Everyone was good-natured—only mothers were very insistent that their infants should not miss getting into the hands of the doctors and nurses for examination, and Miss Heikkila, the infant welfare nurse and her assistant were two busy women for three hours yesterday, weighing and tabulating the babies who were then passed on to Drs. Robert Graham, F. C. Bowman, A. L. McDonald, S. H. Boyer and A. J. Braden, who measured and tested them. Caps and aprons were missing when the nurses finished, but they say it was only part of the fun and they did not mind.

Fine Healthy Babies.

"Really," said Dr. Braden, "I have never seen such a collection of fine healthy babies as we had here this afternoon. I am not saying this simply because they are Duluth babies, and it is no idle boast. They were exceptionally fine. The scales we had here to weigh them on are the tested scales standard for babies up to 3 years. Ten per cent of them were too heavy for the scale and we had to get an extra large scale to weigh them on. There were no special defects and no noticeable falling off from near perfection for any one cause or another."

A pile of filled in record blanks several inches thick was the testimony taken of Duluth's babies at the show, and it will be impossible to check up for the awarding of the prizes for several days when the three babies measuring nearest perfect will be announced.

Many interested women attended the show and were amazed at the number of healthy romping kiddies gathered there, some good natured and some not good natured, but it was all part of the performance, and "I would not have missed it for anything," was the general expression.

Duluth babies will also have the distinction of appearing as moving picture actors, as several films were taken at the show yesterday preceding the talk by Dr. C. W. Rowe on "Feeding." Dr. A. T. Laird talked last evening on "The Tubercular Aspect of Infant Diseases," closing the series of talks on infants and their care given during the week's exhibit.

From pictures, charts, exhibit and the talks the Infant Welfare Exhibit proved a gold mine of information from which the most casual visitor could not help but draw helpful hints, and Duluth's fine crop of babies should be finer after the lessons given by the Scottish Rite Masons during the week in this exhibit.

KINDERGARTEN FESTIVAL

Little Ones Delight Large Audience at Central High School.

A DAINTY little "Bo Peep" drill by children of the Franklin kindergarten under the direction of Miss Ethel Ericson; a Poppy drill by Jackson school kindergarten children directed by Miss Marion Cunningham and a Darky Lullaby by children of the Madison kindergarten were the three best numbers on the program given last evening at the kindergarten festival at the Central high school assembly hall by the little folks from the various schools under the auspices of the Duluth branch of the kindergartner's union.

Seven little girls in frocks of white with pink bowed shepherdess crooks went through a song and dainty little dance in perfect style with accurate time and precision remarkable for such little folks, and the poppy drill by fourteen wee girls was prettily put on, the little singers wearing red poppy caps and carrying baskets of red and white poppies.

Minature darky mammies simply convulsed the audience with their lullaby song, their costumes and make up being perfect.

The program opened with a number by the Washington Kindergarten orchestra under the direction of Miss Mabel Culkin with its own little director with baton who led, and other numbers by the children were several little solos by Miss Margaret Bradley prettily given; Mother Goose songs and games and exhibition games by the Jefferson and Webster and Washington schools, the last named playing a Brownie game which was effective.

Assisting on the program were Miss Maude Matteson who sang "Lovely Spring" in her usual charming manner, responding to a hearty encore with "I Don't Want Nothing 'Cept You." Mrs. Neil B. Morrison sang an April song and for an encore gave two Mother Goose songs set to music by Gaynor, which pleased the audience. Mrs. Robert Bruce Liggett read Riley's "Little Orphant Annie."

Girls of the normal training class gave an exhibition of folk games and the program closed with a flag salute by all the children.

EAST END CHILDREN APPEAR IN PLAY AND PROGRAM OF SONGS AND DANCES

ONE of the delightful affairs of the week and one which interested a large number of families was the program given by pupils of Miss Wilson's Elementary school Thursday morning at the Y. W. C. A. hall at the closing exercises for the year. A delightful little play, "The Spirit of the Mountains," was given with charm and spontaneity by pupils of the third grade as the chief feature of the program.

Little Miss Mary Cotton as Elsa, the dainty little mortal who was stolen by the gnomes, was delightful in her role and her five companions, played by Joan Robson, Ruth Williamson, Florence Draper, Charlotte Dowling and Louise Bridenthal, were natural and pleasing, and Master Harvey Williamson as the "Spirit of the Mountains" carried his role with fine effect. The five gnomes, Masters Donald Welles, John Magle, Caroline Robinson, Ruth Wanless and Stewart Peyton, added color to the scene with their parts.

The program was opened with a march by all the students of the school and the rest of the program was made up of musical numbers given by the pupils of the different grades, and some little rhythm and song numbers were daintily gone through with by the youngsters.

The members of the primary department gave "The Fox" by Terhune, followed by a song and piano solo by Master Stephen Jones and the first grade pupils cunningly given.

Marjory and Dorothy Merritt and Stephen Jones gave several little songs and piano numbers and were delightful in their childish naturalness, and Mary Roswell Horr in a piano number, "Me-ow, Me-ow" and "Somewhere," a gracefully acted little flower song, was irresistible.

A series of French songs, poems and dialogues by the various grades were exceptionally good.

Miss Wilson has made a feature of her French and music work and the little play which she directed was unusual for the naturalness of expression and freedom manifested by the children.

The music work of the school is under the direction of Miss Vera Berta Schmied, who has accomplished much with the youngsters in rhythm and time work. The musical numbers were just an example of the daily work of the school.

Other pupils taking parts were:

LITTLE GIRLS WILL HAVE TAG DAY FOR TUBERCULAR CHILDREN

"God is our first love's duty,
To whose eternal name
Be praise for all the beauty
Of this Country, and it's fame;
But ever have we reckoned
Thine, fairest flag, its second.

"Woe to the foe or stranger,
Whose sacrilegious hand
Would touch thee or endanger,
Flag of our own dear land!
Some hands would fain discard thee,
Ours should be raised to guard thee.

"Then wave, thou first of banners,
And in thy genial shade
Let creeds, opinions, manners
In love and peace be laid;
And there, all discord ended,
Our hearts and souls be blended."

A sale of miniature silk United States flags has been arranged by the Red, White and Blue society for Flag day, June 14, and the young girls of that society will sell little flags at 5 cents apiece for the benefit of the children, suffering from tuberculosis at Nopeming sanitarium.

This society was organized over two years ago with the object of bringing some extra comforts and pleasures to the children confined there and they have accomplished much toward this end since the opening of the pavilion, having given a library of children's books, a flag, Christmas and other holiday gifts, and having entertained the patients with several little entertainments and visits.

Mrs. Josef Lonegren, treasurer for the society and one of the committee of four women who act as advisors to the young members, said, in speaking of the plan: "The sale of these little flags on Flag day has the double beauty of showing honor to our country and our flag and of aiding in a charitable work. Four thousand little silk flags have been ordered and the girls of the society will be stationed on the corners to sell them to all who will buy."

The idea received the indorsement of R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, in a letter to the commissioners, recommending the granting of permission to this society for the tag day privilege on June 14.

The officers of the Red, White and Blue society are: Miss Gladys Anderson, president; Miss Alice Rabe, vice president; Miss Edna Rossom, secretary; Miss Lillian Bergstrom flower chairman, and Mrs. Josef Lonegren, treasurer.

The four mothers acting as the advisory committee are: Mesdames August Anderson, F. B. Rossom, N. A. Bergstrom and Josef Lonegren.

"HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS"

Duluth Woman Discusses Need of Scientific Management in the Home.

Extracts from the paper on "Household Economics" read by Mrs. J. A. Keyes of this city at the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday at Virginia will interest Duluth housewives. She said in part:

"The subject of Household Economics is so comprehensive and so all inclusive that it might be treated from any number of standpoints.

"All over the world there seems to be a movement toward the readjustment of the position of woman in social and industrial fields as well as in the home, manifested in various ways all indications, however, that on the part of woman herself there is an intellectual awakening that is destined to be one of the most potent forces of the present century.

"The woman's club movement is one of the great factors in her development, through organization and co-operation, her interests are broadened and she gets a larger insight into the conditions which affect the position of women and children.

Two Great Divisions.

"In the study of economics there are two great divisions. Production and consumption.

"The department of economics which deals with production considers how wealth is brought into existence, and how the many useful things are produced. The department dealing with consumption considers how these useful things, this wealth is used and enjoyed.

"If political economy is the science of wealth it should be as much concerned with the way in which wealth is consumed as in the way it is produced.

"With a clearer conception of its true relation to the whole subject of wealth, there must result an increased respect on the part of economists for the industrial and economic functions performed by women, and also an increased interest on the part of women in the study of economics.

"To properly superintend or perform the various duties growing out of the household needs, which usually falls to woman, requires the knowledge of chemistry of foods, of cleansing processes, as well as some knowledge of agriculture, physiology, hygiene and general sanitation. Added to these, the modern housewife must have a good working knowledge of heating plants, ventilating systems and household plumbing. If she wishes to avoid a plumbers' bill when often a little intelligence added to some hot water and lye would solve the difficulty.

"Housekeeping should rank as a profession as truly as any other occupation, and it rests with the woman of the presnt day to recognize this.

Scientific Management.

"Scientific management as recently developed in man's field of interests, has roused the thought of the American woman to the question whether this system may not be equally adapted to her domain.

"The purchaser should also be posted on the dishonest practices of dealers in giving short weight and measurement, and also on the adulterations in foods.

"With all our modern appliances such as fireless cookers, vacuum cleaners, electric toasters, public laundries and with much of the food preparation done out of the home, the woman of tomorrow will evolve a simplified system of housekeeping and instead of being overworked and on the verge of nervous prostration, she will have leisure for self culture and will maintain the ideal of the home as an enobling and spiritualizing force which we like to associate with the thought of the American home."

FOR VIOLINIST.

Arrangements for Recital Are Perfected By Patrons.

THE list of patrons for the testimonial concert which will be given on Monday evening, June 2 for Miss Valborg Gunderson at the Pilgrim Congregational church has grown too large for publication, but the women interested in the affair are pushing arrangements to a close and the evening promises to be one of the big musical treats of the season.

Having the truly artistic value her playing has been highly praised. She commenced her work when she was 10 years old and has been studying for the past six years with F. G. Bradbury. Her aim is to become a concert violinist and artists who have heard her have given great encouragement

Custance of the evening canticles, the chorus from the golden legend of Sullivan, "O Gladsome Light;" Stainer's "I Am Alpha and Omega;" Garrett's anthem, "In Humble Faith and Holy Love," and the Sanctus from "St. Cecilia messe Solennells," by Gounod. High School Notes

LAWRENCE DOW.

STANLEY GROGAN.

ELVA SMITH.

VIRGINIA HARRISON.

The three-act farce comedy "Her Gloves" will be presented by the senior class of the Central high school on class night, Wednesday, June 11. Eleven people are included in the cast and these have been rehearsing regularly under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance, who put on the senior class play. Those who will take part in the sketch are: Lawrence Dow, Walter Sleeper, Harold Pond, Stanley Grogan, Ralph Bogan, Elfva Smith, Virginia Harrison, Violet Huber, Vernie Larsen, Clara Fider and Mabel Harker.

"Pride and Vanity" was the subject of the address to the boys and girls of the Central high school in chapel Tuesday morning by President Vincent of the state university, who stated that while the limited development of these traits is recognized as important, too much stress laid on them tends to moral depravity. Dr. Vincent urged the rounding out of characters with high ideals as the basis of success. The address was a topic for discussion in many of the classes, and occasioned no little favorable comment on the part of the student body.

• • •

"All education is self-education whether alone or in the colleges or schools," said Dr. Vincent, in his interesting and instructive talk on "College and Life," Tuesday afternoon at the Commercial club at the meeting planned by the collegiate alumnae at which the senior girls of the Central high school together with those of the Normal and Irving high were their guests.

Following Dr. Vincent's address six members of the senior class of the Central high school presented a cleverly worked out farce in three scenes, "A Mid-summer's Night's Dream," under the direction of Miss Rita Kendall. The scene of Pyramus and Thisbe was reproduced with Dorothy Wachtel taking the part of Peter Quince, the director. Florence Whipple in the role of Pyramus and Marjorie Ballie as Thisbe were well supported by Marjorie Milne as the "Wall" and Clara Fider and Vernie Larsen as the lion and "Moonlight" respectively.

After the play a reception was held at which the girls were the guests.

• • •

The pictures of world-famous mathematicians, bought by Miss Agnes E. Wells' mathematical classes from the proceeds of the entertainment given by Miss Sara Ruth Bates at the high school recently, have arrived and will be hung in the class rooms after being mounted and framed. Pictures of the following were purchased: Sir Isaac Newton, Euclid, Blaise Pascal, Archimides, Niccole Tartaglia, Girolame Cardane, John Napier, Pythagoras, Thales of Milletus, Descartes, Fibonacci, Viete, Pierre de Fernat and Gottfried Wilhelm von Lubnitz.

• • •

The weekly meeting of the "Stump" the society for the development of the various phases of public speaking was held Thursday afternoon. Walter Zimmerman, chairman of the committee to arrange for the club banquet, submitted a report, and final arrangements for the annual affair were completed. The banquet will be held in the high school lunch room next Thursday evening and several honor guests have been invited. A toast list is included in the program for the evening. Plans will be made to perpetuate the society and its work.

• • •

Several preliminary arrangements relative to the annual junior-senior ball have been completed by the committee appointed from the junior class to take charge of the function. The biggest social event of the year will be held June 12 in the new Masonic temple through the courtesy of the Masonic bodies.

Those on the committee are: William Culkin and Pearl McCormack, chairmen; Mary McLean, Ivy Holgate, Ruth Allen, Beatrice Forsythe, Lucille Biebermann, Paul Flynn, Gilbert Denfeld, Harold Bradley and Leo McNally.

The pupils of the high school were especially fortunate this week in regard to speakers. Following the stirring address of Dr. Vincent on Wednesday morning, Prof. W. C. Seymour gave one of his famous lectures in chapel Friday. To those who keep in touch with high school activities, Dr. Seymour is no stranger, and he needs no introduction to those who have attended the school in recent years. Mr. Seymour is a devoted student of history and on many occasions have the high school students been treated to his biographical lectures on well known figures of history.

The subject of this lecture was Marquis de Lafayette, the brilliant young Frenchman, who left home, fame and fortune to throw in his lot with the struggling forefathers in the Revolutionary war.

Dr. Seymour said in conclusion: "No true history of the American nation will ever be written that does not devote a page to Lafayette who through his disinterested loyalty and impetuous bravery, well deserves the respect and appreciation of our country."

• • •

That the graduation dresses this year will be plain and not elaborate as has sometimes been the custom heretofore, was the substance of an announcement by Principal Leonard Young to the girls of the senior class during the twenty-minute period Thursday morning. Mr. Young also said that the giving and receiving of flowers will be discouraged and even prohibited, stating that the board of education will furnish all the necessary flowers on class and commencement evenings.

• • •

Unqualified success attended the dancing party given by the Zenith board at the Oatka branch of the Duluth Boat club last evening. Between seventy and eighty couples, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Young and members of the high school faculty, enjoyed a program of sixteen dances. The dance was given in an effort to raise money to be used toward the publication of the Zenith, the annual of the senior class.

• • •

The annual senior farewell dance will be held in the school next Thursday evening, May 29. Elaborate preparations are being made for the function and indications are that the last social affair to be given by the class of 1913 will be the best in its history. The decoration effect will be appropriate for Memorial day. The senior class has extended an invitation to all members of the school and their friends. Mildred Miller and Kenneth Harris are at the head of the committee in charge of the dance.

• • •

The monthly meeting of the senior class was held on Monday afternoon in the assembly hall. Ray Jacobson, treasurer, read a report relative to the financial status of the class. The members decided to levy a tax of 15 cents besides the regular dues on each person in the class, in an effort to swell its somewhat depleted coffers.

• • •

Prof. F. S. Washburn, state entomologist, from the University of Minnesota, gave a very interesting and instructive stereopticon lecture Thursday to the students of the normal school and to the children of the training department. He spoke on "The Fly," and why it is dangerous. He showed that the fly cannot help being dangerous because it breeds only in filth, and therefore the best way to rid a city of flies is to clean up garbage and refuse piles. One of the most dangerous disease germs the fly may carry is typhoid, not only because of the severity of the disease, but because a person once having it may carry the germs for seven or eight years. He brought home the importance of the evil by showing that if one of the three batches of eggs which one female lays should live, in a year their descendants would number enough flies to extend 2,000 times around the equator, if placed end to end.

Mathilda Runsvold, Ida Johnson and Ella Olson are spending a few days at their homes in Two Harbors.

• • •

A special meeting of the senior class was held Friday to talk over arrangements for commencement. Committees were appointed to write up the class history, class prophesy, valedictory and will. Miss Strong suggested several suitable songs. Miss Ely, among other things, suggested that the class of 1913 leave a table for the school, instead of a picture.

The others present were: Corcella Collins, Beatrice Spengler, Edwin Skinner, Galen Pearson, Hamilton Phelps, Carl Gebauer, Robert Finkenst and Robert Congdon.

SUMMER VACATION AT $5 PER WEEK

In the Woman's Home Companion several contributors tell how they took their vacations—economically and attractively. Many practical suggestions are made. Following is an account of a vacation planned and taken by eight school teachers:

"We are eight girl school teachers, and we rented a log cabin on the third ridge of a mountain in Vermont at $100 for the entire season. It had five rooms comfortably furnished with enough beds, tables, chairs, rockers, a couch, oil stove, some kitchen utensils, a rough dishes, plenty of hooks and shelves; but best of all was the open fireplace. We brought trunks containing the needed amount of clothing, linen, pillows, and blankets, and with a few curtains, college pennants, etc., we made our little 'summer home' quite attractive.

"We learned of a near-by farm where we were able to purchase eggs, butter, home-made bread, pastry, etc. We got our own breakfasts, gathered our own berries and bought sugar, coffee, etc., from the village in quantities.

"On the ridge below us was a larger log cabin where they kept boarders. Here we had our 'big meal' once a day (at noon). They charged 25 cents—but we had a regular dinner. In the evening we 'fixed up' our own tea.

"Sometimes we got up at 5 a. m. and took long tramps. We made it a point to take a nap if for only a half hour every afternoon, either in hammocks or on a blanket in the spacious porch.

"Through the acquaintance of some young people (made at the boarding house and surrounding cabins) we received invitations to play tennis, attend camp fires, or go rowing, and we, in turn, gave little twilight parties around the burning logs.

Eight Girls For Two Months.		One Girl's Expenses For Two Months.
Rent	$100	$12.50
Dinner at noon. 126 (63 times $.25)		15.75
Rig hired five times at $2	10	1.25
Groceries	44	5.50
Miscellaneous, cards, stamps, and fare for one girl		10.00
		$45.00

"Thus making it $5 a week per girl for nine weeks."

WHEN A MOTHER SHOULD WATCH HER DAUGHTER

In the Woman's Home Companion appears a most interesting article entitled "The Mother's Part"—an article full of practical suggestions, an extract from which follows:

"In the years from 10 to 15 a mother's watchfulness over her daughter health should be constant—though as far as possible not evident. At this time a girl is maturing a system of her being which is of the utmost importance in her whole life, as well as in the scheme of creation. It is a system making tremendous demands upon her vitality. She is developing organs whose perfecting is necessary not only to her life as a complete woman but to her health and her nervous balance. This system must be developed at this time, or never. No amount of subsequent care or regret can obtain for the young woman the birthright which her mother should have insured for her when she herself was in ignorance of its importance and how to gain it.

"To mature these important organs, to meet the demands of the nerves during this time, a young woman needs all her blood and vitality. If the demands of other systems claim a girl's nutrition and vital power at the time nature has set for the growth of the organs characteristic of her sex, she is forever a stunted woman who can meet only at heavy cost the demands life makes of women.

"Most mothers understand that a maturing girl must not be overworked physically. The average American girl does not do any more physical work than is good for her during these years. But by the system laid out in the schools and permitted in the homes to rule the girl, the average conscientious girl is under continuous mental and nervous strain from her school tasks. All the nourishment and support her blood can give is seized by her unresting brain. There is no material to build the organs which at this time are asking first consideration. The result is lack of development or unbalanced development.

"What symptoms can we expect will follow? What symptoms do we see? The months go on and the young woman comes into the high school. Statistics tell us that 65 or 70 per cent of school girls enter business and the higher institutions of learning manifestly out of health."

MAY TAKE STUMP AGAINST GOVERNOR

MRS. C. D. SEVIER.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, wife of a stock broker of New York, has announced her intention of taking the stump to defeat Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas in the fight for the United States senatorship of that state if he persists in erecting a state building on ground next to the Alamo in San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Sevier is the daugher of a ranchman and was Miss Clara Driscoll of Austin before her marriage to Mr. Sevier, who was at one time a senator in the Texas legislature. Mrs. Sevier saved the Alamo to the Lone Star State three years ago by purchasing it before a hotel syndicate could do so. She turned the property over to the state with the proviso that it should be improved by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The Daughters desire to have a Spanish garden on the site of the old mansion but the governor will not consider it.

THREATENED TO HORSEWHIP PROFESSOR

MISS W. A. BOETTCHER.

Miss Wilhelmina Agnes Boettcher is the noted Boston nurse who recently threatened to horsewhip Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard university because of a letter which Miss Boettcher wrote the professor expressing her views on evolution which he characterized as "abnormal." Miss Boettcher is about ready to make known to the world a brand new science, psycho-evolution, so-called, by which it is possible to determine the age of the human soul. She claims to be able to read the soul's history in the hands and nails of the individual. Miss Boettcher has been working on her theory of evolution for twenty-five years.

FIVE-DOLLAR LIMIT ON WEDDING GIFTS

Unless one limits the price paid for wedding gifts to a certain amount, one is likely to be carried away by enthusiasm from time to time, to the tune of a good many generously spent dollars, says the New York Sun.

There is a woman, who has many friends, and therfore receives many wedding invitations, who limits her expenditure for each wedding gift presented to any one outside her family to $5. Whenever she sees something really attractive for less than that amount, she buys it, provided it is suitable for a wedding gift, and puts it away in anticipation of an impending invitation.

There are many beautiful and useful and distinctive gifts which can be bought under the $5 limit. If the bride is of a sentimental turn of mind and dislikes exchanging her gifts, try to choose something which will not be duplicated or which, if duplicated, will still be useful. Always choose the present with some knowledge of the bride's tastes and needs in view.

A certain young bride who was setting up housekeeping in a very modest way received eight pie knives. It happened that she could not make pie, and her husband, paragon among men, did not care for it; so one pie knife, for use when pie loving guests were present, would have supplied their wants abundantly. Putting her sentiment in her pocket, the young bride took seven of the pie knives, which strangely, she thought, all came from the same dealer, back to the shop and asked to have them exchanged.

"I am sorry, madam," said the smiling clerk, "but those were bought at a sale and are not exchangeable."

This anecdote draws attention to another admonition for the gift giver: if you are willing to have you gift exchanged, make sure beforehand that there is no reason to prevent an easy and satisfactory exchange, both to the shop-keeper and the bride.

Something Suitable.

As for choosing something which the bride is sure to like, that is something difficult. Some young women with strong opinions and a distinct idea of what they want their house to look like after they have settled it have been really made miserable by the necessary presence of some kindly-sent gift in their living room. If the giver avoids certain things she runs little risk of giving anything which will be really disliked.

Pictures for instance, are a bad choice unless something really wonderful can be given. For $5, of course, a very good carbon print of some standard work of art could be bought and well framed. But perhaps the bride does not like the "Age of Innocence," or Whistler's famous mother or any other choice which you might make. Therefore, taboo pictures.

Among the suitable $5 limit gifts are any of the attractive wicker lamps in the shops. Occasionally, at a sale, a $5 lamp large enough to serve in living room or sitting room can be found; one for a dressing table or bedroom stand can always be had for $4. These lamps are finished in mahogany and some of them have mahogany bases; they are also finished in various shades of brown and green enamel and stain and some are enameled white.

The shades are faced with silk or cretonne, which gives the lamp a definite color value, so know something about the color scheme for the house you are helping to furnish before you send the lamp. A white enameled one with cretonne of blue, pink, green or yellow, as the case might be, would be lovely in almost any house, for almost any house boasts one bedroom with white enamelled woodwork and hangings and furnishings in white and blue, pink, green or yellow, as the case may be.

If you want to give something which will not be duplicated do not give a small cut glass dish. Few persons possess more cut glass than they want, but on the other hand few displays of wedding gifts are without several cut glass dishes of a size suitable for jelly and pickles. A small glass cream pitcher decorated with silver deposit, not the smallest size, but one large enough to hold cream for berries or cereal or dessert, is somewhat unusual, and can be had for $3 or $4. For $5, too, a cream and sugar set that is worth while can sometimes be had, and few homes are too generously supplied with cream and sugar sets, useful on the breakfast and luncheon table and at afternoon tea with the after dinner coffee service.

Wicker furniture is a boon for the spring bride if she is to live out of town. A chair which she can use for veranda, lawn or bedroom can be bought for $5; if you want to spend more on the chair stain it and cushion it yourself, for extra charge is made for one which is cushioned and colored.

Among the smaller wicker furnishings which would probably find favor with the bride are wood baskets tea trays, small stands or tabourets for books or plants or to be used as seats, magazine stands or muffin stands.

Books are a good choice only if you know the deficiencies in the bride's library and know her tastes; an electric flatiron or toaster is a labor saving gift of value which comes within the limit; a card case, fan, change purse or umbrella handle would make an acceptable personal gift, and there are many other interesting and attractive articles which come within the limits of the $5 gift.

YOUNG JAPANESE WOMAN IS ARTIST

MISS WAKANA UTAGAWA.

Miss Wakana Utagawa is one of the new women of Japan. She is a young Japanese painter who has just arrived in New York. For the last three years she has been entertaining the European society with her charming paintings. She is only 22 years old, but she has been painting ever since she could hold a brush. Her family has been famous for painters. Toyokuni Utagawa, the most famous of the "Ukiyo-ye" painters, was her forefather. In fact for generations her family were all painters. Her paintings are of purely Japanese style and although she studied painting in London it does not influence her painting at all. She believes that the Japanese painting is much higher than that of Europe. She will exhibit her paintings in New York and Boston.

SHOWER OF BRIDAL RECIPES

If you want something a little out of the ordinary as a gift for the bride-to-be try the following plan, says the New York Star. It was worked out very effectively by a girl who lived too far from a friend who was to be married to arrange any of the customary wedding "showers."

She bought one of the small wooden boxes with hinged covers which are filled with a hundred blank white cards and index cards of yellow, pink or blue. These cards are labelled with the letters of the alphabet or else with the titles "Bread," "Cake," "Desserts," "Fish," "Preserves," "Soups" and so on through the menu. Then she sent several of the blank cards to each of her friends who knew the engaged girl and asked them to write thereon their favorite recipes. Each recipe was to be signed with the name of the donor.

The result was gratifying. When she had received all the cards she found that she had a collection of really choice and tried recipes. There were no exact duplicates, although there were two interesting recipes for tomato bisque. She herself made out her cards after the others had come in in order that she might give recipes under the headings which were most poorly written up.

There was one card from a cousin of the bride which gave her grandmother's recipe for sponge cake—and her grandmother was famed for this same cake. Another gave an old family recipe for green tomato pickles. Still another gave a Southern recipe for fruit cake which was once served to President Jefferson, according to tradition. A friend who taught domestic science sent several neat tabulations of food values. Another friend who lived in Italy wrote three recipes for cooking macaroni as the Italians do it. The girl's own mother gave by request recipes for the girl's four favorite desserts and the mother of the bridegroom gave her recipe for pie crust, bread and a meat dish of which he was very fond.

When the box was classified and finished it was really wonderful. The cards were all signed and each was written by the person who gave the recipes. Three from a country friend which gave recipes for jams and jellies were decorated with borders of little jam pots and jelly bags and preserving kettles.

In spite of the fact that the gift was so interesting the amount of work given by each contributing was very small.

The whole thing, of course, was a surprise to the bride until she opened the package containing it when it was mailed to her.

WHEN WOMEN USE BOMBS

They Have Made Some Bloody History With High Explosives.

Pearson's Weekly: Women do not often use bombs, but when they do they usually make fairly effective play with them, as witness the recent dastardly outrage at Mr. Lloyd George's house at Walton-on-the-Hill.

In this instance, however, no lives were lost, luckily. Very different was the result of the explosion of a bomb that was placed by a dissatisfied work girl under the bench where she was working in a cartridge factory near Antwerp, on Sept. 6, 1889.

The building was stored with explosives, and the infernal machine, which was fitted with a time fuse, was intended to fire these in the middle of the night after the employes had left, and so wreck the premises.

But the bomb exploded prematurely, with the result that the perpetrator of the outrage, a young girl named Marie Chantrelle, was blown to pieces, together with nearly 100 of her unfortunate fellow workers.

The First Case.

Probably the first woman to take an active part in a bomb-throwing outrage was Sophie Peroffskaja, who was hanged at St. Petersburg on April 15, 1881, for complicity in the murder of the Czar Alexander. Two bombs were used on this occasion, and each was carried by a woman hidden in her muff and handed to the actual throwers at the critical moment just as the Czar was passing.

The other woman was named Jessie Holjmann, and she was arrested and sentenced to be executed. But though equally as guilty as Sophie Peroffskaja, she was ultimately reprieved for a reason that offers for women a loop hole of escape from death under criminal codes of all civilized countries. She went into exile in Siberia, where she died, and her child, which proved to be a girl, is now earning her living as a music teacher in a London suburb.

In Westminster.

In January, 1885, a woman, now living in Paris, carried a package of dynamite into Westminster hall and deposited it in the crypt. The stuff was fastened round her waist under a cloak she was wearing, and a male accomplice accompanied her and helped to fix the fuse and detonator.

The resultant explosion did about $50,000 worth of damage and seriously injured two police constables. The woman and her companion escaped.

Women who lend themselves to these dangerous enterprises do not always get off scot free, however, as witness the case of the young female anarchist, Rosa Nitouche, who lost her life in a criminal explosion at Barcelona in June, 1896.

The occasion was a religious procession in the street, and Rosa, who took a prominent part in it, made pretense to faint, with a view to causing a certain amount of delay and confusion. The arrangement was that the "comrades" were to take advantage of this in order to hurl their bombs amongst the processionists, taking care, of course, not to throw them anywhere near her.

Owing to misunderstanding, however, the very first bomb thrown fell within a foot or two of the prostrate girl, killing her instantly. This, perhaps, was not greatly to be regretted; but, unfortunately, fifteen genuine processionists, mostly women and children, shared her fate, while fifty others were more or less seriously injured.

In Paris in 1892.

On Nov. 8, 1892, a woman garbed as a laundress was seen in a Paris street carrying in her arms an iron pot, known there as a boilerette, and which is commonly used by French washerwomen for boiling small articles of underlinen in.

No one appears to have taken any particular notice of her, and she presently deposited her burden on the doorstep of the office of the Carmaux Mining company, whose employes were just then on a strike. This done, she walked quickly away.

A little later two policemen came along, and, seeing the derelict boilerette, they removed it to the nearest police station, where it presently exploded. Six gendarmes were blown to pieces.

Subsequent investigation by experts showed that the iron pot had been filled with gelignite, one of the most powerful explosives then known, and it was surmised that not less than 15 or 20 pounds of the stuff had been used. The identity of the woman who carried out this horrible outrage has never been revealed.

The bureau of commerce estimates that there are at least 200,000 motorboats in the United States.

LAWRENCE DOW.

STANLEY GROGAN.

ELVA SMITH.

VIRGINIA HARRISON.

The three-act farce comedy "Her Gloves" will be presented by the senior class of the Central high school on Thursday, Wednesday, June 11. Eleven people are included in the cast and these have been rehearsing regularly under the direction of Prof. A. F. M. Custance, who put on the senior class play. Those who will take part in the sketch are: Lawrence Dow, Walter Sleeper, Harold Pond, Stanley Grogan, Ralph Bogan, Elfva Smith, Virginia Harrison, Violet Huber, Vernie Larsen, Clara Fider and Mabel Harker.

• • •

"Pride and Vanity" was the subject of the address to the boys and girls of the Central high school in chapel Tuesday morning by President Vincent of the state university, who stated that while the limited development of these traits is recognized as important, too much stress laid on them tends to moral depravity. Dr. Vincent urged the building up of characters with high ideals as the basis of success. The address was a topic for discussion in many of the classes, and occasioned no little favorable comment on the part of the student body.

• • •

"All education is self-education whether alone or in the colleges or schools," said Dr. Vincent, in his interesting and instructive talk on "College and Life," Tuesday afternoon at the Commercial club at the meeting planned by the collegiate alumnae at which the senior girls of the Central high school together with those of the Normal and Irving high were their guests.

Following Dr. Vincent's address six members of the senior class of the Central high school presented a cleverly worked out farce in three scenes. "A Mid-summer's Night's Dream," under the direction of Miss Rita Kendall. The scene of Pyramus and Thisbe was reproduced with Dorothy Wachtel taking the part of Peter Quince, the director. Florence Whipple in the role of Pyramus and Marjorie Baillie as Thisbe were well supported by Marjorie Milne as the "Wall" and Clara Fider and Vernie Larsen as the lion and "Moonlight" respectively.

After the play a reception was held at which the girls were the guests.

• • •

The pictures of world-famous mathematicians, bought by Miss Agnes E. Wells' mathematical classes from the proceeds of the entertainment given by Miss Sara Ruth Bates at the high school recently, have arrived and will be hung in the class rooms after being mounted and framed. Pictures of the following were purchased: Sir Isaac Newton, Euclid, Blaise Pascal, Archimedes, Nicolo Tartaglia, Girolamo Cardano, John Napier, Pythagoras, Thales of Miletus, Descartes, Fibonacci, Viete, Pierre de Fernat and Gottfried Wilhelm von Lubnitz.

• • •

The weekly meeting of the "Stump" the society for the development of the various phases of public speaking was held Thursday afternoon. Walter Zimmerman, chairman of the committee to arrange for the club banquet, submitted a report, and final arrangements for the annual affair were completed. The banquet will be held in the high school lunch room next Thursday evening and several honor guests have been invited. A toast list is included in the program for the evening. Plans will be made to perpetuate the society and its work.

• • •

Several preliminary arrangements relative to the annual junior-senior ball have been completed by the committee appointed from the junior class to take charge of the function. The biggest social event of the year will be held June 12 in the new Masonic temple through the courtesy of the Masonic bodies.

Those on the committee are: William Culkin and Pearl McCormack, chairmen; Mary McLean, Ivy Holgate, Ruth Allen, Beatrice Forsythe, Lucille Biebermann, Paul Flynn, Gilbert Denfeld, Harold Bradley and Leo McNally.

• • •

The pupils of the high school were especially fortunate this week in regard to speakers. Following the stirring address of Dr. Vincent on Wednesday morning, Prof. W. C. Seymour gave one of his famous lectures in chapel Friday. To those who keep in touch with high school activities, Dr. Seymour is no stranger, and he needs no introduction to those who have attended the school in recent years. Mr. Seymour is a devoted student of history and on many occasions have the high school students been treated to his biographical lectures on well known figures of history.

The subject of this lecture was Marquis de Lafayette, the brilliant young Frenchman, who left home, fame and fortune to throw in his lot with the struggling forefathers in the Revolutionary war.

Dr. Seymour said in conclusion: "No true history of the American nation will ever be written that does not devote a page to Lafayette who through his disinterested loyalty and impetuous bravery, well deserves the respect and appreciation of our country."

• • •

That the graduation dresses this year will be plain and not elaborate as has sometimes been the custom heretofore, was the substance of an announcement by Principal Leonard Young to the girls of the senior class during the twenty-minute period Thursday morning. Mr. Young also said that the giving and receiving of flowers will be discouraged and even prohibited, stating that the board of education will furnish all the necessary flowers on class and commencement evenings.

• • •

Unqualified success attended the dancing party given by the Zenith board at the Oatka branch of the Duluth Boat club last evening. Between seventy and eighty couples, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Young and members of the high school faculty, enjoyed a program of sixteen dances. The dance was given in an effort to raise money to be used toward the publication of the Zenith, the annual of the senior class.

• • •

The annual senior farewell dance will be held in the school next Thursday evening, May 29. Elaborate preparations are being made for the function and indications are that the last social affair to be given by the class of 1913 will be the best in its history. The decoration effect will be appropriate for Memorial day. The senior class has extended an invitation to all members of the school and their friends. Mildred Miller and Kenneth Harris are at the head of the committee in charge of the dance.

• • •

The monthly meeting of the senior class was held on Monday afternoon in the assembly hall. Ray Jacobson, treasurer, read a report relative to the financial status of the class. The members decided to levy a tax of 15 cents besides the regular dues on each person in the class, in an effort to swell its somewhat depleted coffers.

• • •

Yesterday was peace day in the schools throughout the country and was fittingly celebrated in the high school. Talks were given in the English and history classes and each student of senior English prepared a short original paper on this important subject.

• • •

The Thallan society, recently organized among the students of higher mathematics, will hold its second and last meeting of the year on next Wednesday, May 28, when an initiation of junior eligibles will take place. A banquet will probably be held at the same time.

MAY TAKE STUMP AGAINST GOVERNOR

MRS. C. D. SEVIER.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Sevier, wife of a stock broker of New York, has announced her intention of taking the stump to defeat Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas in the fight for the United States senatorship of that state if he persists in erecting a state building on ground next to the Alamo in San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Sevier is the daugher of a ranchman and was Miss Clara Driscoll of Austin before her marriage to Mr. Sevier, who was at one time a senator in the Texas legislature. Mrs. Sevier saved the Alamo to the Lone Star State three years ago by purchasing it before a hotel syndicate could do so. She turned the property over to the state with the proviso that it should be improved by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The Daughters desire to have a Spanish garden on the site of the old mansion but the governor will not consider it.

SUMMER VACATION AT $5 PER WEEK

In the Woman's Home Companion several contributors tell how they took their vacations—economically and attractively. Many practical suggestions are made. Following is an account of a vacation planned and taken by eight school teachers:

"We are eight girl school teachers, and we rented a log cabin on the third ridge of a mountain in Vermont at $100 for the entire season. It had five rooms comfortably furnished with enough beds, tables, chairs, rockers, a couch, oil stove, some kitchen utensils, rough dishes, plenty of hooks and shelves; but best of all was the open fireplace. We brought trunks containing the needed amount of clothing, linen, pillows, and blankets, and with a few curtains, college pennants, etc., we made our little 'summer home' quite attractive.

"We learned of a near-by farm where we were able to purchase eggs, butter, home-made bread, pastry, etc. We got our own breakfasts, gathered our own berries and bought sugar, coffee, etc., from the village in quantities.

"On the ridge below us was a larger log cabin where they kept boarders. Here we had our 'big meal' once a day (at noon). They charged 25 cents—but we had a regular dinner. In the evening we 'fixed up' our own tea.

"Sometimes we got up at 5 a. m. and took long tramps. We made it a point to take a nap if for only a half hour every afternoon, either in hammocks or on a blanket in the spacious porch.

"Through the acquaintance of some young people (made at the boarding house and surrounding cabins) we received invitations to play tennis, attend camp fires, or go rowing, and we, in turn, gave little twilight parties around the burning logs.

"Here are the approximate figures for our expenses:

Eight Girls For Two Months.	One Girl's Expenses For Two Months.
Rent.....$100	$12.50
Dinner at noon. 126 (63 times $.25)	15.75
Rig hired five times at $2... 10	1.25
Groceries..... 44	5.50
Miscellaneous, cards, stamps, and fare for one girl	10.00
	$45.00

"Thus making it $5 a week per girl for nine weeks."

WHEN A MOTHER SHOULD WATCH HER DAUGHTER

In the Woman's Home Companion appears a most interesting article entitled "The Mother's Part"—an article full of practical suggestions, an extract from which follows:

"In the years from 10 to 15 a mother's watchfulness over her daughter's health should be constant—though as far as possible not evident. At this time a girl is maturing a system of her being which is of the utmost importance in her whole life, as well as in the scheme of creation. It is a system making tremendous demands upon her vitality. She is developing organs whose perfecting is necessary not only to her life as a complete woman but to her health and her nervous balance. This system must be developed at this time or never. No amount of subsequent care or regret can obtain for the young woman the birthright which her mother should have insured for her when she herself was in ignorance of its importance and how to gain it.

"To mature these important organs, to meet the demands of the nerves during this time, a young woman needs all her blood and vitality. If the demands of other systems claim a girl's nutrition and vital power at the time nature has set for the growth of the organs characteristic of her sex, she is forever a stunted woman who can meet only at heavy cost the demands life makes of women.

"Most mothers understand that a maturing girl must not be overworked physically. The average American girl does not do any more physical work than is good for her during these years. But by the system laid out in the schools and permitted in the homes to rule the girl, the average conscientious girl is under continuous mental and nervous strain from her school tasks. All the nourishment and support her blood can give is seized by her unresting brain. There is no material to build the organs which at this time are asking first consideration. The result is lack of development or unbalanced development.

"What symptoms can we expect will follow? What symptoms do we see? The months go on and the young woman comes into the high school. Statistics tell us that 35 or 70 per cent of the school girls enter business and the higher institutions of learning manifestly out of health."

THREATENED TO HORSEWHIP PROFESSOR

MISS W. A. BOETTCHER.

Miss Wilhelmina Agnes Boettcher is the noted Boston nurse who recently threatened to horsewhip Prof. Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard university because of a letter which Miss Boettcher wrote the professor expressing her views on evolution which he characterized as "abnormal." Miss Boettcher is about ready to make known to the world a brand new science, psycho-evolution, so-called, by which it is possible to determine the age of the human soul. She claims to be able to read the soul's history in the hands and nails of the individual. Miss Boettcher has been working on her theory of evolution for twenty-five years.

GRADUATING CLASS OF THE DULUTH NORMAL SCHOOL.

The girls of the kindergarten class Monday morning during chapel gave a very pleasing exhibition of motion songs. The girls of the senior department were: Gladys Roskilly, Mabel Bailey, Eva Potter, Ruth Geddes, Margaret Clark, Henrietta Peacha, Helen Grimes, Alpha Anderson and Mabel Smith.

Tuesday afternoon the regular program was dispensed with in order that the senior girls might attend the reception given by the Collegiate alumnae and College club at the Commercial club rooms. Seniors from both the Central high school and normal were present. Miss Wells, mathematics teacher in D. C. H. S., presented the high school girls, and Miss Strong, rhetoric teacher at the normal, presented the normal seniors.

President Vincent of the University of Minnesota gave a very interesting address on "College and Life."

A second candy sale was held Wednesday by the members of the Thalian and Greysolon societies. This was given especially for the children of the model school, because the last one was held while their classes were in session. Several of the girls enjoyed a spread in the lunch room Thursday. The following were present: Nora Olson, Myrtle Jenson, Emma Anderson and Dorothy Hanson.

• • •

Irene Campbell was compelled to return to her home in Ely, Thursday, on account of illness.

• • •

Prof. F. S. Washburn, state entomologist, from the University of Minnesota, gave a very interesting and instructive stereopticon lecture Thursday to the students of the normal school and to the children of the training department. He spoke on "The Fly," and why it is dangerous. He showed that the fly cannot help being dangerous because it breeds only in filth, and therefore the best way to rid a city of flies is to clean up garbage and refuse piles. One of the most dangerous disease germs the fly may carry is typhoid, not only because of the severity of the disease, but because a person once having it may carry the germs for seven or eight years. He brought home the importance of the evil by showing that if one of the three batches of eggs which one female lays should live, in a year their descendants would number enough flies to extend 2,000 times around the equator, if placed end to end.

• • •

Mathilda Runsvold, Ida Johnson and Ella Olson are spending a few days at their homes in Two Harbors.

• • •

Ella and Victoria Hawkinson entertained at a delightful spread Saturday evening, in honor of the latter's birthday. Their guests were: Myrtle Jensen, Nora Olson, Grace Hanneman, Idella Bradley, Mathilda Renswold, Ethel Beatty, Martha Mobeck and Lida Johnsen.

The folk dancing class met Thursday afternoon for the last time.

• • •

Callista Coffey, who has been staying at Torrance hall, was taken ill last week. She is now in St. Mary's hospital.

The junior class entertained the seniors at a picnic in Chester park Saturday. Elizabeth Cox, Lucille Hoar, Minnie Engstrom, Maude Amberg, Mary Breen and Gladys Hughes had charge of all arrangements.

• • •

• • •

A special meeting of the senior class was held Friday to talk over arrangements for commencement. Committees were appointed to write up the class history, class prophesy, valedictory and will. Miss Strong suggested several suitable songs. Miss Ely, among other things, suggested that the class of 1913 leave a table for the school, instead of a picture.

• • •

On Friday F. S. Lyons of Minneapolis spoke to the seniors.

• • •

The eighth grade of the model school enjoyed a delightful cabin party Saturday. A picnic lunch was served at the cabin of A. Baldwin, at Lester river. Margaret Green, Mary Baldwin and Katherine MacGregor had charge of the arrangements. Miss Netty Harrington, teacher of the grade, was guest of honor. The others present were: Cordelia Collins, Beatrice Spengler, Edwin Skinner, Galen Pearson, Hamilton Phelps, Carl Gebauer, Robert Finkenst and Robert Congdon.

FIVE-DOLLAR LIMIT ON WEDDING GIFTS

Unless one limits the price paid for wedding gifts to a certain amount, one is likely to be carried away by enthusiasm from time to time, to the tune of a good many generously spent dollars, says the New York Sun.

There is a woman, who has many friends, and therfore receives many wedding invitations, who limits her expenditure for each wedding gift presented to any one outside her family to $5. Whenever she sees something really attractive for less than that amount, she buys it, provided it is suitable for a wedding gift, and puts it away in anticipation of an impending invitation.

There are many beautiful and useful and distinctive gifts which can be bought under the $5 limit. If the bride is of a sentimental turn of mind and dislikes exchanging her gifts, try to choose something which will not be duplicated or which, if duplicated, will be useful. And always choose the present with some knowledge of the bride's tastes and needs in view.

A certain young bride who was setting up housekeeping in a very modest way received eight pie knives. It happened that she could not make pie, and her husband, paragon among men, did not care for it; so one pie knife, for use when pie loving guests were present, would have supplied their wants abundantly. Putting her sentiment in her pocket, the young bride took seven of the pie knives, which strangely, she thought, all came from the same dealer, back to the shop and asked to have them exchanged.

"I am sorry, madam," said the smiling clerk, "but those were bought at a sale and are not exchangeable."

This anecdote draws attention to another admonition for the gift giver: if you are willing to have you gift exchanged, make sure beforehand that there is no reason to prevent an easy and satisfactory exchange, both to the shop-keeper and the bride.

Something Suitable.

As for choosing something which the bride is sure to like, that is something difficult. Some young women with strong opinions and a distinct idea of what they want their house to look like after they have settled it have been really made miserable by the necessary presence of some kindly-sent gift in their living room. If the giver avoids certain things she runs little risk of giving anything which will be really disliked.

Pictures for instance, are a bad choice unless something really wonderful can be given. For $5, of course, a very good carbon print of some standard work of art could be bought and well framed. But perhaps the bride does not like the "Age of Innocence," or Whistler's famous mother or any other choice which you might make. Therefore, taboo pictures.

Among the suitable $5 limit gifts are any of the attractive wicker lamps in the shops. Occasionally, at a sale, a $5 lamp large enough to serve in living room or sitting room can be found; one for a dressing table or bedroom stand can always be had for $4. These lamps are finished in mahogany and some of them have mahogany bases; they are also finished in various shades of brown and green enamel and stain and some are enameled white.

The shades are faced with silk or cretonne, which gives the lamp a definite color value, so know something about the color scheme for the house you are helping to furnish before you send the lamp. A white enameled one with cretonne of blue, pink, green or yellow, as the case might be, would be lovely in almost any house, for almost any house boasts one bedroom with white enamelled woodwork and hangings and furnishings in white and blue, pink, green or yellow, as the case may be.

If you want to give something which will not be duplicated do not give a small cut glass dish. Few persons possess more cut glass than they want, but on the other hand few displays of wedding gifts are without several cut glass dishes of a size suitable for jelly and pickles. A small glass cream pitcher decorated with silver deposit, not the smallest size, but one large enough to hold cream for berries or cereal or dessert, is somewhat unusual, and can be had for $3 or $4. For $5, too, a cream and sugar set that is worth while can sometimes be had, and few homes are too generously supplied with cream and sugar sets, useful on the breakfast and luncheon table and at afternoon tea with the after dinner coffee service.

Wicker furniture is a boon for the spring bride if she is to live out of town. A chair which she can use for veranda, lawn or bedroom can be bought for $5; if you want to spend more on the chair stain it and cushion it yourself, for extra charge is made for one which is cushioned and colored.

Among the smaller wicker furnishings which would probably find favor with the bride are wood baskets tea trays, small stands or tabourets for books or plants or to be used as seats, magazine stands or muffin stands.

Books are a good choice only if you know the deficiencies in the bride's library and know her tastes; an electric flatiron or toaster is a labor saving

SHOWER OF BRIDAL RECIPES

If you want something a little out of the ordinary as a gift for the bride-to-be try the following plan, says the New York Star. It was worked out very effectively by a girl who lived too far from a friend who was to be married to arrange any of the customary wedding "showers."

She bought one of the small wooden boxes with hinged covers which are filled with a hundred blank white cards and index cards of yellow, pink or blue. These cards are labelled with the letters of the alphabet or else with the titles "Bread," "Cake," "Desserts," "Fish," "Preserves," "Soups" and so on through the menu. Then she sent several of the blank cards to each of her friends who knew the engaged girl and asked them to write thereon their favorite recipes. Each recipe was to be signed with the name of the donor.

The result was gratifying. When she had received all the cards she found that she had a collection of really choice and tried recipes. There were no exact duplicates, although there were two interesting recipes for tomato bisque. She herself made out her cards after the others had come in in order that she might give recipes under the headings which were most poorly written up.

There was one card from a cousin of the bride which gave her grandmother's recipe for sponge cake—and her grandmother was famed for this same cake. Another gave an old family recipe for green tomato pickles. Still another gave a Southern recipe for fruit cake which was once served to President Jefferson, according to tradition. A friend who taught domestic science sent several neat tabulations of food values. Another friend who lived in Italy wrote three recipes for cooking macaroni as the Italians do it. The girl's own mother gave by request recipes for the girl's four favorite desserts and the mother of the bridegroom gave her recipe for pie crust, bread and a meat dish of which he was very fond.

When the box was classified and finished it was really wonderful. The cards were all signed and each was written by the person who gave the recipes. Three from a country friend which gave recipes for jams and jellies were decorated with borders of little jam pots and jelly bags and preserving kettles.

In spite of the fact that the gift was so interesting the amount of work given by each contributing was very small.

The whole thing, of course, was a surprise to the bride until she opened the package containing it when it was mailed to her.

WHEN WOMEN USE BOMBS

They Have Made Some Bloody History With High Explosives.

Pearson's Weekly: Women do not often use bombs, but when they do they usually make fairly effective play with them, as witness the recent dastardly outrage at Mr. Lloyd George's house at Walton-on-the-Hill.

In this instance, however, no lives were lost, luckily. Very different was the result of the explosion of a bomb that was placed by a dissatisfied work girl under the bench where she was working in a cartridge factory near Antwerp, on Sept. 6, 1889.

The building was stored with explosives, and the infernal machine, which was fitted with a time fuse, was intended to fire these in the middle of the night after the employes had left, and so wreck the premises.

But the bomb exploded prematurely, with the result that the perpetrator of the outrage, a young girl named Marie Chantrelle, was blown to pieces, together with nearly 100 of her unfortunate fellow workers.

The First Case.

Probably the first woman to take an active part in a bomb-throwing outrage was Sophie Peroffskaja, who was hanged at St. Petersburg on April 15, 1881, for complicity in the murder of the Czar Alexander. Two bombs were used on this occasion, and each was carried by a woman hidden in her muff and handed to the actual throwers at the critical moment just as the Czar was passing.

The other woman was named Jessie Holjmann, and she was arrested and sentenced to be executed. But though equally as guilty as Sophie Peroffskaja, she was ultimately reprieved for a reason that offers for women a loop hole of escape from death under criminal codes of all civilized countries. She went into exile in Siberia, where she died, and her child, which proved to be a girl, is now earning her living as a music teacher in a London suburb.

In Westminster.

In January, 1885, a woman, now living in Paris, carried a package of dynamite into Westminster hall and deposited it in the crypt. The stuff was fastened round her waist under a cloak she was wearing, and a male accomplice accompanied her and helped to fix the fuse and detonator.

The resultant explosion did about $50,000 worth of damage and seriously injured two police constables. The woman and her companion escaped.

Women who lend themselves to these dangerous enterprises do not always get off scot free, however, as witness the case of the young female anarchist, Rosa Nitouche, who lost her life in a criminal explosion at Barcelona in June, 1896.

The occasion was a religious procession in the street, and Rosa, who took a prominent part in it, made pretense to faint, with a view to causing a certain amount of delay and confusion. The arrangement was that the "comrades" were to take advantage of this in order to hurl their bombs amongst the processionists, taking care, of course, not to throw them anywhere near her.

Owing to misunderstanding, however, the very first bomb thrown fell within a foot or two of the prostrate girl, killing her instantly. This, perhaps, was not greatly to be regretted; but, unfortunately, fifteen genuine processionists, mostly women and children, shared her fate, while fifty others were more or less seriously injured.

In Paris in 1892.

On Nov. 8, 1892, a woman garbed as a laundress was seen in a Paris street carrying in her arms an iron pot, known there as a boilerette, and which is commonly used by French washerwomen for boiling small articles of underlinen in.

No one appears to have taken any particular notice of her, and she presently deposited her burden on the doorstep of the office of the Carmaux Mining company, whose employes were just then on a strike. This done, she walked quickly away.

A little later two policemen came along, and, seeing the derelict boilerette, they removed it to the nearest police station, where it presently exploded. Six gendarmes were blown to pieces.

Subsequent investigation by experts showed that the iron pot had been filled with gelignite, one of the most powerful explosives then known, and it was surmised that not less than 15 or 20 pounds of the stuff had been used. The identity of the woman who carried out this horrible outrage has never been revealed.

The bureau of commerce estimates that there are at least 200,000 motorboats in the United States.

"FATHER AND THE BOYS"

Sit Down Together to Discuss Ways of Improving Duluth.

Hear Talks By F. E. House, Watson S. Moore and C. P. Craig.

Father and the boys sat down to dinner together last evening at the Commercial club.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the public affairs committee, but the members had been requested by the chairman, Jullus H. Barnes, to bring their sons along, and most of them who had sons of the proper age took advantage of the invitation. It was the largest meeting of the committee ever held, and there were probably thirty or forty young men ranging from 13 to 20 years of age in attendance. They listened to the proceedings with much interest and gave close attention to the reports.

Mr. Barnes was unable to be present owing to the serious illness of his son, and in his absence L. B. Knox, president of the club, presided. Mr. Nolte the vice chairman of the committee being out of the city.

Three speakers had been secured for the special benefit of the young guests, and they gave short talks as a special feature of the meeting. The speakers were F. E. House, Watson S. Moore and C. P. Craig. Mr. Moore took the place of G. G. Hartley who was on the program, but who was unable to be present.

Railroading.

Mr. House gave a most interesting history of railroading, which was most happily worded. He avoided statistics as far as possible, and touched more on the human side of railroad development, telling of the first "rails" which consisted of wooden poles laid lengthwise along the ground. Then came the angle irons and later cast iron rails.

Mr. House explained the reason for the standard gauge. "It was just the width necessary for two small mules to walk abreast," he said. "That gauge happened to be the same as the diameter of the driving wheels on the first engine. It is a peculiar fact that three of the fundamental principles of the modern locomotive were included in the first locomotive built. These were the direct connection between the cylinders and the driving wheels, the water jacketed boiler, and the multiple tube boiler. These three fundamentals have been retained in the most modern engines."

Needs of Traffic.

While Mr. House's talk was in a semi humorous vein, there was an undercurrent of seriousness. "When you hear your fathers talking about the overcapitalization of railroads," he said, "remember this. The day has come when the traffic of this country can no longer be handled on a capitalization of $64,000 a mile, which is the present capitalization of our railroads. One of the greatest of railroad experts has said recently that the railroads of this country should spend $1,000,000,000 a year for the next ten years on better terminal facilities in order to properly handle the traffic of this country. Whatever the merits of the agitation against the railroads may be, it is a fact that it is getting exceedingly difficult for railroads to borrow money to finance these extensions. You must know that the railroads borrow a great deal of money. They do not build extensions and terminals by simply putting back the money they earn. Unless the customers of the railroad and the railroad can get together in mutual confidence and can instill that confidence into the market, the shippers must pay the bill. They will pay in restricted business and in delays because of freight accumulations at terminals."

Watson S. Moore gave a witty little talk, punctuated with several new stories which seemed to be just as much appreciated by the older guests as the younger. He ended with a little plea for enthusiasm for Duluth.

Enthusiasm.

He referred to the school savings banks and the habits of thrift engendered by them.

"Get an interest in the city," he said to the younger guests. "Save your money and invest it in some Duluth property. That will give you an interest in the city. Believe that you are living in the best city in the United States. Get the missionary spirit and preach Duluth in Duluth and outside."

C. P. Craig gave a review of what the Commercial club had done to further the agricultural development of this section. He told how less than ten years ago the state agricultural college had refused to send a man to this district to look over it because they did not feel the district was promising enough to warrant the college paying the traveling expenses of the man. "Now hardly a week passes that we do not have six or seven of them here," said Mr. Craig. He dwelt on the importance of suburban traction lines, and showed how Duluth and the Commercial club have been pioneers in many lines of agricultural development.

Mr. Barnes, although unable to be present on account of the illness of his own son, found time to write a letter to be read to the young guests. "It has seemed to me," said Mr. Barnes, "that properly presented and understood, civic interest and civic work would have the same fascination for boys and young men that any sport or game should have. If youths can only get early enough in life the idea of loyalty to their city and of a sober and determined effort to better living conditions we will have a most welcome aid for the club."

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS ASK SOME CHANGES

Adopt Resolution Favoring Segregation of Colored Employes.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 24.—The twenty-first annual convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' association ended last night after the election of officers and the selection of San Francisco as the next place of meeting in 1915. The association has heretofore held annual meetings but in the future will have biennial conventions for the sake of economy.

While it was anticipated that there would be a contest for offices, the election proved to be a quiet one. R. E. Ross of Ludlow, Ky., was elected to succeed George Wood of Portsmouth, N. H., as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Wood has held the office for twenty years. He withdrew in favor of Mr. Ross. P. J. Schardt of Milwaukee was re-elected president. The other re-elected officials are: Vice president, George H. Fair of Topeka, Kan.; auditing committee, James W. Warren of Pawpaw, Ill., and H. C. Harvey of St. Paul.

The offices of auditor and editor, which are appointive, were not filled. It was decided to include the referendum in the convention organization.

Argue Over Color Line.

When the report of the resolutions committee was read, there was much discussion over the clause which favored the segregation of white and colored clerks. It was finally decided to approve the clause, but leave it to the officials at Washington to decide what action can be taken in the matter.

Other resolutions favored a non-contributary plan of retirement; that railway mail clerks be admitted to government hospitals on the same basis as soldiers and sailors; that they be allowed the same privileges of transportation for themselves and their families as are railroad employes under the Hepburn act; that they shall have an 8-hour working day, six days a week, and that they receive a 15-day vacation with pay each year.

STEEL INSTITUTE MEETINGS PUBLIC

Decision Follows Talk By Gary, Quoting President Wilson.

New York, May 24.—E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, quoted President Wilson at the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel institute as saying that honesty had nothing to fear from the Democratic administration, and added:

"Let us accept that statement as coming from President Wilson to mean just what he said, and let us feel assured."

When Judge Gary took his seat a moment later, a resolution calling for public meetings of the institute hereafter instead of executive sessions was adopted. Several of the so-called Gary dinners at which the government alleges the prices of steel were fixed by manufacturers, were held under the institution auspices, and all meetings heretofore have been secret.

Judge Gary in his talk alluded to what he called the "disposition of legislative bodies to tinker with questions they are not very well prepared to discuss or decide," mentioning particularly the passage of laws "calculated to produce classes."

Before adjourning the diners drank a toast standing to the memory of the late J. P. Morgan. Judge Gary announced that the next session of the institution will be held in Chicago in October.

GOURDAIN'S WIFE DENIES HE'S DEAD.

New Orleans, La., May 24.—Immediate relatives of Louis A. Gourdain here refuse to give credence to the report that the widely known manipulator of swindling schemes died recently in London. Mrs. Gourdain, who has resided here since her husband's disappearance in 1908, after his escape from an asylum for the insane in Washington, D. C., declared Gourdain was still alive, but would give no intimation of the source of her information.

For several years Gourdain was one of the most picturesque figures of New Orleans. His eccentric ways made him no less notable than his banks and lottery shops.

Bishop Cameron Mann also will be in attendance, and about sixty members of the North Dakota clergy are expected. The convocation continues until Monday night.

The question of Indian missions will be given special attention, Devils Lake lying so close to the Fort Totten reservation where the Episcopal church is doing much work that an unusual opportunity is afforded to consider that field of activity.

"FATHER AND THE BOYS"

Hear Talks By F. E. House, Watson S. Moore and C. P. Craig.

Father and the boys sat down to dinner together last evening at the Commercial club.

It was the regular monthly meeting of the public affairs committee, but the members had been requested by the chairman, Julius H. Barnes, to bring their sons along, and most of them who had sons of the proper age took advantage of the invitation. It was the largest meeting of the committee ever held, and there were probably thirty or forty young men ranging from 13 to 20 years of age in attendance. They listened to the proceedings with much interest and gave close attention to the reports.

Mr. Barnes was unable to be present owing to the serious illness of his son, and in his absence R. B. Knox, president of the club, presided. Mr. Nolte the vice chairman of the committee being out of the city.

Three speakers had been secured for the special benefit of the young guests, and they gave short talks as a special feature of the meeting. The speakers were F. E. House, Watson S. Moore and C. P. Craig. Mr. Moore took the place of G. G. Hartley who was on the program, but who was unable to be present.

Railroading.

Mr. House gave a most interesting history of railroading, which was most happily worded. He avoided statistics as far as possible, and touched more on the human side of railroad development, telling of the first "rails" which consisted of wooden poles laid lengthwise along the ground. Then came the angle irons and later cast iron rails.

Mr. House explained the reason for the standard gauge. "It was just the width necessary for two small mules to walk abreast," he said. "That gauge happened to be the same as the diameter of the driving wheels on the first engine. It is a peculiar fact that three of the fundamental principles of the modern locomotive were included in the first locomotive built. These were the direct connection between the cylinders and the driving wheels, the water jacketed boiler, and the multiple tube boiler. These three fundamentals have been retained in the most modern engines."

Needs of Traffic.

While Mr. House's talk was in a semi humorous vein, there was an undercurrent of seriousness. "When you hear your fathers talking about the overcapitalization of railroads," he said, "remember this. The day has come when the traffic of this country can no longer be handled on a capitalization of $64,000 a mile, which is the present capitalization of our railroads. One of the greatest of railroad experts has said recently that the railroads of this country should spend $1,000,000,000 a year for the next ten years on better terminal facilities in order to properly handle the traffic of this country. Whatever the merits of the agitation against the railroads may be, it is a fact that it is getting exceedingly difficult for railroads to borrow money to finance these extensions. You must know that the railroads borrow a great deal of money. They do not build extensions and terminals by simply putting back the money they earn. Unless the customers of the railroad and the railroad can get together in mutual confidence and can instill that confidence into the market, the shippers must pay the bill. They will pay in restricted business and in delays because of freight accumulations at terminals."

Watson S. Moore gave a witty little talk, punctuated with several new stories which seemed to be just as much appreciated by the older guests as the younger. He ended with a little plea for enthusiasm for Duluth.

Enthusiasm.

He referred to the school savings banks and the habits of thrift engendered by them.

"Get an interest in the city," he said to the younger guests. "Save your money and invest it in some Duluth property. That will give you an interest in the city. Believe that you are living in the best city in the United States. Get the missionary spirit and preach Duluth in Duluth and outside."

C. P. Craig gave a review of what the Commercial club had done to further the agricultural development of this section. He told how less than ten years ago the state agricultural college had refused to send a man to this district to look over it because they did not feel the district was promising enough to warrant the college paying the traveling expenses of the man. "Now hardly a week passes that we do not have six or seven of them here," said Mr. Craig. He dwelt on the importance of suburban traction lines, and showed how Duluth and the Commercial club have been pioneers in many lines of agricultural development.

Mr. Barnes, although unable to be present on account of the illness of his own son, found time to write a letter to be read to the young guests. "If it has seemed to me," said Mr. Barnes, "that properly presented and understood, civic interest and civic work would have the same fascination for boys and young men that any sport or game should have. If youths can only get early enough in life the idea of loyalty to their city and of a sober and determined effort to better living conditions we will have a most welcome aid for the club."

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS ASK SOME CHANGES

Adopt Resolution Favoring Segregation of Colored Employes.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 24.—The twenty-first annual convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' association ended last night after the election of officers and the selection of San Francisco as the next place of meeting in 1915. The association has heretofore held annual meetings but in the future will have biennial conventions for the sake of economy.

While it was anticipated that there would be a contest for offices, the election proved to be a quiet one. R. E. Ross of Ludlow, Ky., was elected to succeed George Wood of Portsmouth, N. H., as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Wood has held the office for twenty years. He withdrew in favor of Mr. Ross. P. J. Schardt of Milwaukee was re-elected president. The other re-elected officials are: Vice president, George H. Fair of Topeka, Kan.; auditing committee, James W. Warren of Pawpaw, Ill., and H. C. Harvey of St. Paul.

The offices of auditor and editor, which are appointive, were not filled. It was decided to include the referendum in the convention organization.

Argue Over Color Line.

When the report of the resolutions committee was read, there was much discussion over the clause which favored the segregation of white and colored clerks. It was finally decided to approve the clause, but leave it to the officials at Washington to decide what action can be taken in the matter.

Other resolutions favored a non-contributary plan of retirement; that railway mail clerks be admitted to government hospitals on the same basis as soldiers and sailors; that they be allowed the same privileges of transportation for themselves and their families as are railroad employes under the Hepburn act; that they shall have an 8-hour working day, six days a week, and that they receive a 15-day vacation with pay each year.

SHRINERS PLAN VISIT TO FARGO

Transportation—J. L. Thomas, W. J. Johnson and Col. L. Ayres.

Finance—A. P. Cook, A. S. McDonald and Thomas Merritt.

Music—Prof. A. F. M. Custance, W. J. Johnson, J. W. McDonald, A. S. McDonald and A. H. Paul.

Press—Frank H. Hamm and A. W. Lane.

The local Shriners will participate in the program which has been arranged for Shrine day, June 6, by the Nobles of El Zagel temple of Fargo, as one of the events of the grand Masonic homecoming week and Shrine festival. And temple will be represented by its crack patrol which will take part in the competitive drills, and a number of local Shriners with their families.

The Third Regiment band is also expected to be taken along. A special train will be engaged. It will probably leave Duluth some time on Thursday evening, June 5, and return Sunday, June 8.

STEEL INSTITUTE MEETINGS PUBLIC

Decision Follows Talk By Gary, Quoting President Wilson.

New York, May 24.—E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, quoted President Wilson at the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel institute as saying that honesty had nothing to fear from the Democratic administration, and added:

"Let us accept that statement as coming from President Wilson to mean just what he said, and let us feel assured."

When Judge Gary took his seat a moment later, a resolution calling for public meetings of the institute hereafter instead of executive sessions was adopted. Several of the so-called Gary dinners at which the government alleges the prices of steel were fixed by manufacturers, were held under the institution auspices, and all meetings heretofore have been secret.

Judge Gary in his talk alluded to what he called the "disposition of legislative bodies to tinker with questions they are not very well prepared to discuss or decide," mentioning particularly the passage of laws "calculated to produce classes."

Before adjourning the diners drank a toast standing to the memory of the late J. P. Morgan. Judge Gary announced that the next session of the institution will be held in Chicago in October.

GOURDAIN'S WIFE DENIES HE'S DEAD.

New Orleans, La., May 24.—Immediate relatives of Louis A. Gourdain here refuse to give credence to the report that the widely known manipulator of swindling schemes died recently in London. Mrs. Gourdain, who has resided here since her husband's disappearance in 1908, after his escape from an asylum for the insane in Washington, D. C., declared Gourdain was still alive, but would give no intimation of the source of her information.

For several years Gourdain was one of the most picturesque figures of New Orleans. His eccentric ways made him no less notable than his banks and lottery shops.

SPECIAL MINNESOTA N. D. FAIR RATES.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Special 2-cent rates to the North Dakota state fair have been made effective from points in Northwestern Minnesota as well as from points in North Dakota. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific have both given orders to make that rate effective from all points north of Barnesville and Winnipeg Junction, and west of Bemidji, and north to the Canadian boundary. These are the most liberal rail rates ever granted a North Dakota exposition.

STILL IN PRISON.

North Dakota Murderess's Term Expires But Her Future Is Problem.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though her term in the state penitentiary for the murder of her adopted daughter, "Babe" Wright, has expired, Mrs. Stella Wright is still in the state prison, and Warden Talcott is at a loss to know what to do with her.

Two months ago Mrs. Wright was injured at the prison, falling and hurting her left hip so seriously that she must use crutches. In addition to the injury she also is suffering from an infection in the neck.

Her legal residence is Ramsey county, but she declines to come here, and she has no means of support, nor any relatives that are known of in this district.

SENATE SENDS QUESTIONS OUT TO MANUFACTURERS

Answers Returned Must Be Made Under Oath.

Twenty-Nine Inquiries Cover Cost of Labor and Materials.

Washington, May 24.—Senator Simmons, chairman of the senate finance committee, has made public a list of twenty-nine questions relating to the tariff, prepared by majority members of the committee which will be sent to the manufacturers of the country. To avert any clash over this action in the senate, the majority will send with their list the original sixteen questions proposed by Senator La Follette, although most of his questions are incorporated in the majority list.

The committee announced in a statement that if manufacturers or persons who have filed briefs or have made written or oral protests to the finance committee will send answers before the bill is reported back to the senate, they will be printed.

"But," the statement added, "neither the report of the bill to the senate or the final action by the senate on the bill will be delayed for answers.

The preliminary questions relate to the manufacturer's identity, the commodity produced, the raw materials used in production, whether they are produced here or abroad, and if imported, from whence; cost per unit of raw material and cost per unit of similar product in foreign countries.

The other questions are as follows:

"Are you interested in any other concern exporting this commodity? If so, give name, amount of product exported and the actual selling price of this product here and abroad.

What Wholesale Prices.

"What were the wholesale prices charged by you and by any concern in which you are interested for this commodity in the domestic market, and what were the prices charged when sold in foreign markets during January, April, July, October, 1912, and in January, 1913?

"What was the cost of transportation of your product from your factory to the foreign markets; giving the names of markets for the same periods specified?

"What country or countries are your chief competitors in the foreign markets to which you export?

"Is there a tariff differential for or against you in any of the countries to which you export this commodity? If so, what is the amount of such differential? What rates of duty have you paid?

"Are You in a Trust?"

"Are any of these producers organized into a trust or combination to control the price or output, or for any other purpose, and have you any connection or interest, directly or indirectly, in such trust or combination?

"What proportion of the production of this commodity in this country is produced by such trust? What proportion by the independent producers?

"Is there any difference in the price charged for this product in the domestic market by the independent producer and the trust producer?

Cost of Production.

"What was the cost of production in your plant per unit of your product for the fiscal years 1910 and 1912? Give cost of materials, labor, overhead charges and depreciation charges in separate items, and in as much detail as possible. In this connection, give capitalization, amount of common stock, preferred stock and amount of bonds issued; amount of actual cash or its equivalent in property received in consideration of stocks and bonds; rate of dividend paid on preferred stock and common stock, and rate of interest borne by bonds for the past ten years; how much of your earnings for each of the years 1910, 1911, 1912 have been credited to surplus and how much devoted to additions to the plant; salaries paid during each of the foregoing years to each of your principal officials; statement of assets and debentures, 1910, 1911 and 1912, and comparative balance sheet for these years.

"Give value for which the property shown in the above statement of assets and liabilities was assessed for taxation in 1912, and transcript of your labor roll for January, April, July, October, 1912, and January, 1913.

Amount of Wages.

"State amount of wages paid per annum for the years 1910, 1911 and 1912, and total value per annum of your product for the same years and the character, quality and age of the machinery used in manufacturing your product.

"What part of the duty under the Payne-Aldrich law represents your profits as a manufacturer?

WANT AN ANIMAL PURE FOOD LAW.

Chicago, May 24.—Federal legislation to regulate the manufacture of food products for animals along the lines of the present pure food law was asked of congress by the American Feed Manufacturers' association at its fifth annual meeting here.

Dr. G. K. Haywood of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, Dr. S. C. Woods of Orono, Me., and Dr. T. L. Haescher of Minnesota, urged a standardization of feed to be regulated by Federal inspection.

A bill to be presented to congress, will be drafted by a committee composed of representatives from the American Feed Manufacturers' association, the Millers' National federation, the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association and the Association of Feed Control Officials.

BRIBERY LAID TO GRAIN INSPECTORS.

Topeka, Kan., May 24.—An investigation into charges of bribery made against inspectors of the state grain department, has been ordered by Governor Hodges, who in a letter to Attorney General Dawson asked that the persons making the charges be called upon to testify.

According to reports placed before the governor, E. R. Smith, a grain dealer of Greensburg, at a meeting of grain men at Dodge City Thursday asserted that the grain inspectors in Kansas City had been bribed in order to grade grain low in the interest of the grain speculators. Wheat that was graded No. 2 at Greensburg was graded No. 4 at Kansas City, Mr. Smith is said to have charged.

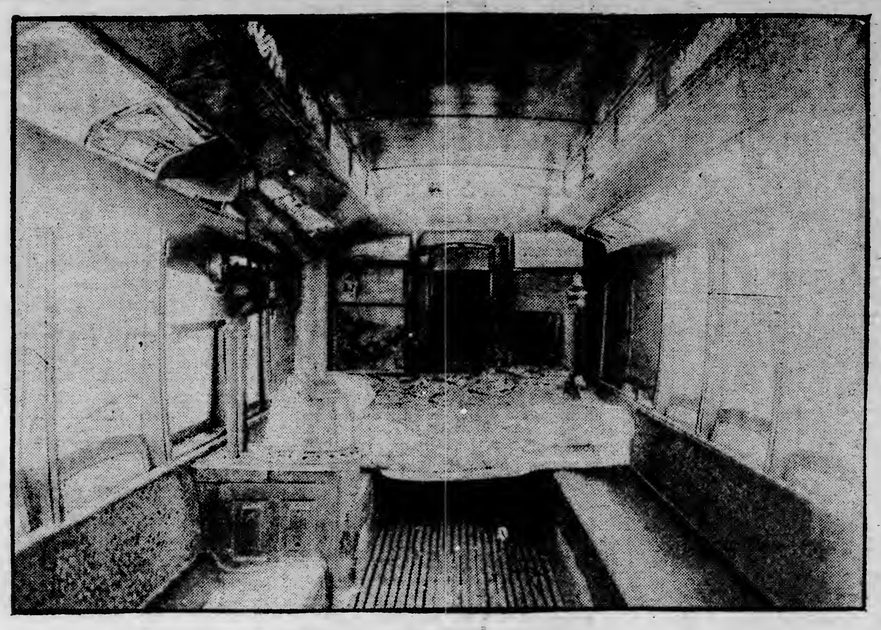
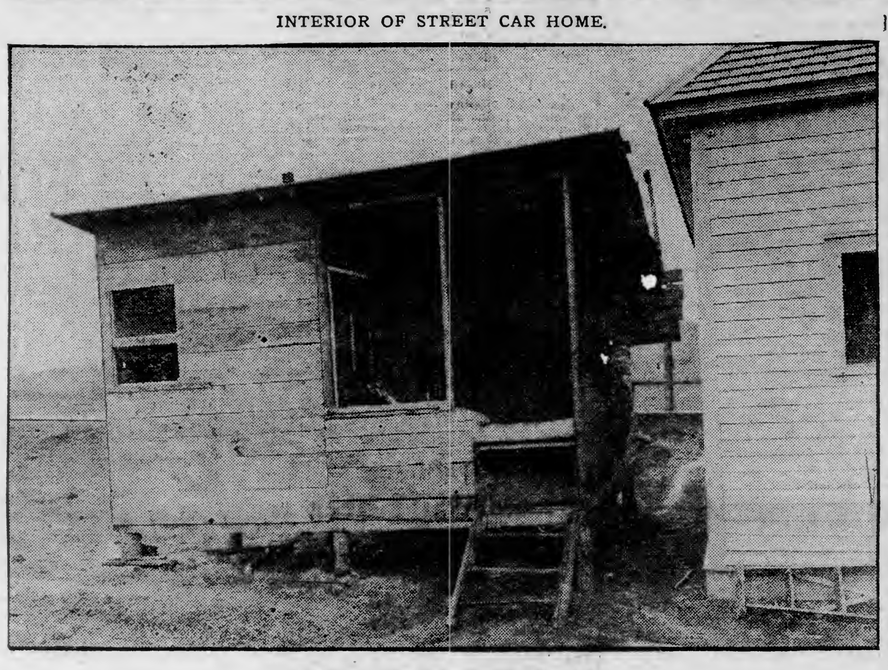
WHAT DULUTH IS DOING TO STOP THE PROGRESS OF THE WHITE PLAGUE

Work of the Health Department Nurses Along Educational and Charitable Lines, and of the Free Clinics in the Courthouse---Duluth's Army of Outdoor Sleepers.



INTERIOR OF STREET CAR HOME.



WHERE ONE SUFFERER SLEEPS.

—Photos by Gallagher.

AN OLD STREET CAR PROVIDED BY THE DULUTH STREET RAILWAY SERVES AS A HOME FOR ONE SUFFERER.

Hand in hand, a little boy and a little girl timidly made their way along First street, coming from the east, as far as the Federal building.

"We must be pretty nearly there," squeaked the little boy to the little girl, 'cause here's the postoffice. I know, 'cause I was there with pa once. They said it was right near there."

"Let's go as far as the corner and maybe we can see it," counselled the little ones together. Suiting action to the word, never loosening the clasp of their hands, they went ahead, both heads bobbing in every direction.

"Oh, there it is," cried one, pointing with free hand towards St. Louis county's new million-dollar courthouse. "Uh-huh," said the other, "let's hurry or we'll be late."

Hastening their gait the two turned up the hill and went as far as the door. At the portals their courage began to ooze away. The structure looked too imposing, too magnificent, for two little children like them. They stood gazing at it, almost ready to let go hands in oredr to better facilitate their flight, when a kindly old man came up from behind them.

"Well, well, taking in the sights of the big city, are you, and all alone, too," he greeted them. "Don't you want to go inside and see that, too?" he queried.

Faces Flushed.

"Wuh, uh, we came to see the doctor," spoke up the little girl, recovering from her fright after a second look at the old gentleman's face. Both their faces were red, too flushed to come from natural exertion. Their eyes were too bright and their breathing too spasmodic. The old gentleman's smile softened into pity. He saw two little children in the clutch of the dreaded white plague. It was Saturday morning and although it was yet scarcely 9 o'clock, an hour before the clinics are started, he knew that they had come to be examined by the nurses and the doctor. Taking the unengaged hand of the little girl he led the two to the waiting room pending the arrival of those who are in charge of the tuberculosis work for the city and county. The examination showed that both were afflicted with tuberculosis, well along in the first stages.

They had been sent to the clinic by their father, who had learned of the work being done in Duluth through his own experience. They hadn't carfare and had walked three miles, alone, to the courthouse to get the benefit of medical advice and attention. Both the brother and sister are now at the Nopeming sanitarium and the father is taking outdoor treatment under the direction of the visiting nurses employed by the health department.

Free Clinics.

Since the first of the year 160 persons have come to the free clinics which are conducted at the courthouse every Tuesday and Saturday morning. Of these, ninety-eight were adults and sixty-two were children. These figures do not include those who return at regular intervals for further examination, advice or additional assistance of one kind and another.

The campaign which is being conducted in Duluth against tuberculosis is assuming steadily increasing proportions and as the value of the work which is being done becomes better known, its effectiveness grows proportionately. The walls of skepticism, doubt and ignorance are being swept away and as the light of knowledge penetrates, so does the value of the efforts being put forth bear added results.

The pioneering in Duluth was done by the Anti-tuberculosis society. The work has now been taken over by the city, under the direction of the health department, which is as it should be. Miss Louise E. Schneller and Miss Eda B. Kerr are the visiting nurses who are now attending to Duluth's share of the anti-tuberculosis work.

Big Field to Cover.

For them every day is a day crammed to overflowing, for they have a vast field to cover, and it's constantly getting larger and the duties more numerous. Since the first of the year 161 new cases have come under their attention. About 100 have been closed, either through moving to other climates, going to sanitariums, or at the behest of the Grim Reaper. They now have 352 patients who are visited at regular intervals. In between these visits they somehow manage to find opportunities to investigate the new cases which are being constantly reported. In addition to the 352 cases mentioned there are 220 others upon whom they endeavor to call as regularly as possible. Most of these are in the doubtful stage, needing observation and advice. Then each Tuesday and Saturday morning one or both the nurses attends the clinic.

Those who are taking the open-air cure at home get counsel and assistance in building their open-air sleeping quarters, of which Duluth has a considerable number. Part of them are put up on rear or front porches, either above or below; some are individual shacks away from their homes and in two or three instances old street cars have been impressed for such use, proving excellent refuges for those who are battling the white plague through the outdoor treatment. Considerable ingenuity and individuality has been shown in the construction of the shacks and the remodeling of the abandoned street cars. They are so arranged that the patient gets the full benefit of the air and yet is not subjected to unnecessary hardship through having the elements beat directly upon him. Neat conveniences of various sorts are provided and in a few instances stoves have been installed for use in the bitterest of the winter. It is seldom that they are lighted, however, for the person who is in deadly earnest in the desire to win a victory from one of the most consuming of all diseases does not take any chances of losing an iota of advantage unless forced to do so by the direst of circumstances.

Secret of Mysterious Power Revealed at Last

How Prominent People Have Gained Wealth and Fame.

Simple Method that enables anyone to control thoughts and acts of others, cure diseases and habits without drugs, win the love and friendship of others and read the secret thoughts and desires of people though thousands of miles away.

"TO UPLIFT AND BENEFIT MANKIND," SAYS THE REV. JAMES STANLEY WENTZ.

WONDERFUL BOOK DESCRIBING THIS STRANGE FORCE AND A CHARACTER DELINEATION POST FREE TO ALL WHO WRITE AT ONCE.

The National Institute of Sciences of London, England, has appropriated $25,000 toward a fund for the free distribution of Prof. Knowles' new book, "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of Eastern Yogis, and explains a wonderfully simple system for the development of Personal Magnetism, Hypnotic and Telepathic Powers, and the curing of diseases and habits without drugs. The subject of practical character reading is also extensively dealt with, and the author describes a simple method of accurately reading the secret thoughts and desires of others though thousands of miles away. The almost endless stream of letters requesting copies of the book and character delineations indicate clearly the universal interest in Psychological and Occult Sciences.

That Prof. Knowles' system is exciting the interest of the brightest intellect of the present day is clearly shown by the scores of recommendations, among which the following, from representative British publications, the clergy and the medical profession are striking examples:

The Christian Age.—"Professor Knowles' System has cured disease, corrected bad habits, strengthened memory, and proved highly beneficial in the cultivation of personality and Personal Influence."

The London Weekly Times.—"Professor Elmer E. Knowles' Complete System of Personal Influence and Healing provides the embryo enthusiast with just such knowledge as could be adapted to his own personal circumstances and inclinations."

The London Mail.—"Professor Knowles' System embraces a great deal of erudition in a form which can be readily grasped by all who have the ability to read and understand simple prose. No better help towards success in life could be desired."

Modern Society.—"No modern investigation along psychological lines has received so large an amount of praise as that accorded to Professor Elmer E. Knowles for his marvelous System of Personal Influence and Healing. Here at last is a man who is at once a great scholar, a born teacher and a practical helper—for the instruction papers reveal a nature which is sympathetic and of good fellowship for an ambitious, yet largely misguided population."

Prof. Elmer E. Knowles, author of the new book "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces."

The Rev. James Stanley Wentz, says:—"No one can give the system a careful perusal without becoming satisfied that in giving this knowledge to the world, Prof. Knowles is actuated by the earnest desire to uplift and benefit mankind. I heartily recommend this course to all who desire to develop and cultivate their inner forces."

A Leading London Physician. Dr. R. N. Pickering, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., L.S.A., in a letter to Prof. Knowles, says:—"I consider your system the most complete and accurate literature upon the subject. You have treated the science with much ability."

A Prominent American Physician. A. W. Fisher, M.D., Ph.D., M.E., Principal of the Douglas Institute, writes:—"Your system is very useful to me in my practice."

"Rich and poor alike benefit by the teachings of this new system," says Prof. Knowles, "and the person who wishes to achieve greater success has but to apply the simple rules laid down." That many wealthy and prominent people owe their success to the power of Personal Influence there is not the slightest doubt, but the great mass of people have remained in utter ignorance of these phenomena. The National Institute of Sciences has, therefore, undertaken the somewhat arduous task of distributing broadcast, without regard for class or creed, the information heretofore possessed by the few. In addition to supplying the books free, each person who writes at once will also receive a character delineation of from 400 to 500 words as prepared by Prof. Knowles.

If you wish a copy of Prof. Knowles' book and a Character Delineation, simply copy the following verse in your own handwriting:

"I want power of mind,
Force and strength in my look.
Please read my character
And send me your book."

Also send your full name and address (state whether Mr., Mrs., or Miss), write plainly, and address your letter to: National Institute of Sciences, Dept. 864-B, No. 258, Westminster Bridge Road, London, S.E., England. If you wish you may enclose 10 cents (stamps of your own country) to pay postage, etc. Postage on letters to England, 2 cents. Do not enclose coins or silver in your letter.

CARPENTERS ASK WAGE INCREASE

Demand Is Submitted at Meeting of Union Committee and Contractors.

A wage scale of 50 cents an hour was demanded last night by a committee of the carpenters' union from the contractors of the city. The demand was made at a joint meeting of the union men and the contractors held at the offices of the Builders' Exchange in the Lyceum building. The demand was for a raise of 5 cents an hour, the present scale being 45 cents. The carpenters submitted that they are the lowest paid of any of the building trades and that they are the only class of building skilled labor that is required to furnish and keep in shape the necessary tools.

It is believed that the increase will be allowed, but no definite action was taken last night by the contractors.

LONGSHOREMEN AGREE TO SCALE.

Seattle, Wash., May 24.—An agreement concerning wages has been signed by representatives of the Puget Sound Shipping association and officers of the International Longshoremen's union, by which the association agrees to pay 45 cents an hour for day work and 55 cents for overtime, or night work. The scale is to continue in force until Dec. 31, 1914.

The association covers all Puget Sound ports and those of British Columbia. It maintains the open shop. Local unions were inclined to hold out for union recognition, but yielded to their international officers.

HARVARD GETTING DEMOCRATIC.

St. Louis, Mo., May 24.—Harvard university is becoming more democratic, declared President Abbott Lawrence Lowell, speaking to 300 members of the Associated Harvard clubs at the seventeenth annual convention.

"The democratic spirit which we have all wanted to see more prevalent at Harvard, and the lack of which has been a cause of criticism, is growing into an actual fact," he said. "This development has been aided by the erection of four or five dormitories on the campus for the special use of freshmen, who are thus brought into closer contact with one another, to the end that there shall be no distinction of northerner, southerner, easterner or westerner."

In honor of the visiting Harvard men, a performance of "The Perpetual Student," a musical travesty, was given last night at a prominent cafe.

VICTORIA STATUE FOR WASHINGTON

One of Lincoln May Also Be Presented to England.

New York, May 24.—Plans for the erection of a statue of Queen Victoria in Washington, the presentation of a statue of Abraham Lincoln to the British people, and the holding of a historical costume ball, all in connection with the celebration in 1914-15 of 100 years of peace among English-speaking races, have been worked out at a meeting of American committeemen in charge of preparations for the event.

It was given out that the statue of Queen Victoria will be erected under the direction of a committee of women whose names will be announced later.

The movement to present a statue of Abraham Lincoln to Great Britain was the result of the administration which British delegates who visited this country evidenced for Lincoln in Chicago.

WILSON DECIDES PRISONERS' CASES.

Washington, May 24.—President Wilson yesterday disposed of twenty-eight appeals for clemency, restoring civil rights in thirteen cases, granting two pardons, commuting the sentences of seven prisoners and denying the applications of six.

The five-year sentence of Albert Schoenle, for embezzling funds of the Central National bank, St. Louis, Mo., was commuted to one year and a day.

Harry T. Lee, who pleaded guilty to abstracting money from the National Bank of Lawrence county, Newcastle, Pa., also received a commutation of his five-year sentence to a term of one year and a day. The prisoner's father had mortgaged his home and paid off the entire amount of $1,805, under the impression that his son would not be prosecuted.

The president also commuted to thirteen months the five-year sentence imposed on Silas Rich at Portland, Or., for falsifying records of the National Bank of Salem, Or. The trial judge and prosecuting attorney say the sentence was excessive.
